"Listen, Darling" Comedy of Romance in a Trailer

"Listen, Darling," which comes to the Palace Theatre November 12, 13 and 14, featuring Freddie Bartholomew and Judy Garland, is a rollicking comedy of adolescent youth.

Adapted from Katharine Brush's magazine story of the same name, it deals with the exploits of two members of the younger generation who take it upon themselves to find a suitable husband for the mother of one nnd run into an amazing set of complications in so doing.

"Illegal Traffic" Hits "Shakedown Racket"

These are the ramifications of the "getaway and shakedown" racket, a new method of gangsterism, which is spotlighted by Paramount in the new crime drama, "Illegal Traffic." With J. Carrol Naish, Mary Carlisle and Robert Preston playing the chief roles, the picture will be on view locally next week, November 15-16, at the Palace Theatre.

150 Real Cowboys Ride In "Hopalong" Story

One hundred and fifty cowboys, including some of the best riders and ropers of ranch, rodeo and screen, are in the cast of "North of the Rio Grande," latest screen adventure of "Hopalong" Cassidy, which opens Tuesday, November 15, at the Palace Theatre.

Will Lew Ayres Follow Gable and R. Taylor to Fame in Doctor Roles?

Lew Ayres has his fingers crossed. The history nf actors who have been featured as doctors or in pictures dealing with doctors shows that almost invariably these roles are lucky. Many have stepped to stardom portraying medical men and in nearly every case some member of the cast has been helped considerably by the pictures.

NORTH MICHIGAN SKATING ASSN. IS PLANNED

A. L. Livlogston Named Vice-President of Proposed Orgaoization

Application has been made to the Amateur Skating Union of the United States for permission to farm an organization to be known as the Northern Michigan Skating Association which would have governing powers over ice and roller skating in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula of Michigan.

Officers elected by the proposed association are: D. H. Barnes, Petoskey, president; Archie Livingston, Charlevoix, first vice president; Glenn S. Bain, Petaskey, second vice president; Ben Wright, Alpena, third vice president; Wilson J. McDonald, Petoskey, secretary-treasurer; and members of the executive committee, Norman Wells, Herman Meyer, Walter Kring, Ray Herrick, C. L. Johnson and H. C. Spitler, of Petoskey, Myrt Riggs of Chehoygan, and Ned Herrick of Harbor Springs.

The new association hopes to receive official sanction by the end of November when a membership drive can be started and plans can be laid out for the coming season.

The territory asked for by the new association includes the counties of Arenac, Gladwin, Clare, Osceola, Lake, Mason and all others lying north to the Straits of Mackinac. This leaves the Upper Peninsula still in the Michigan Association but it is understaad that skating enthusiasts in that area are planning to ask for an association in the Upper Peninsula.

Vote Less Than Two Years Ago

Charlevoix county failed to cast the record vote of two years ago when the presidential vote totaled 5,483. Weather conditions taken into consideration, however, the vote was a very satisfactory one. In Charlevoix the polling place was jammed during the afternoon, requiring voters to wait as much as 40 minutes in line.

Amendment 1 and 2 Defeated

While Charlevoix county decidedly defeated amendments Nos. 1 and 2, referendum No. 4, and approved amendment No. 3, outstate reports indicate that Nos. 1 and 2 will go down to defeat, and that amendment No. 3 and the referendum on welfare reorgnnization will carry.

Get Ready for Wioter!

It is time to get your car prepared for cold weather. Your radiatnr should be flushed, cleaned aod checked for leaks and then protected from frost. Your battery should be tested and if necessary re-charged and perhaps replaced with a new Willard. Cables and connectinns should be checked for defects. Often a battery has been condemned when only a cable or cnnoection is to blame. A chaoge to lighter nil and grease is also necessary. Let us prepare your car for winter! Won't you try our service? ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL TO OPEN THURSDAY

Friday, November 11, Armistice Day, marks the apening of the annual Red Cross roll call drive in Charlevoix caunty.

From that date until Thursday, November 25, Red Cross volunteers will give their time soliciting funds for this great organization which meets disasters in their many farms thruout the world.

The Charlevoix county drive is being organized again this year by Clarence B. Meggison, county chairman. Mrs. A. C. Leslie of Boyne City, who succeeds Charles Hamlin as roll call chairman, is foremost in assisting with the work. Other officers named at the recent annual election were Fay A. Bradley, Charlevoix, secretary; Mrs. R. F. Sloan, Charlevoix, treasurer; Harry A. Craig, Charlevoix, disaster chairman; William C. Bellinger, Charlevoix, accident prevention chairman.

Cooperating in the annual drive will be chairman of the cities and tawnships of the county, together with school groups and civic organizations who have joined in putting this county "over the top" again. The membership fee is $1, of which fifty cents is retained by the county chapter.

The personnel of the Charlevoix city committee will be announced as soon as available.

RURAL TEACHERS' CLUB MEETS AT WALLOON LAKE

Anna Warner, secretary, announces a meeting of the Rural Teachers' Club of Charlevoix county for Thursday evening, November 17, at the Walloon Lake school.

A cooperative supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock. Group insurance will be discussed.

THREE LOSE LIFE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

The driver of the Grimes car, which was traveling at a high speed, apparently underestimated the angle of the long, open curve and swung off the highway hitting the Cotton car head-on. The terrific impact demolished both machines.

The injured were brought to Charlevoix Hospital in a small truck by Charles Faculak, a farmer living near the scene of the accident. Those killed were removed to the See Funeral Home. Grimes was later taken to Harbor Springs, Mr. Cattan to Woodland, and Mrs. Mary Yank to Traverse City.

Mr. and Mrs. Cotton were on a northern Michigan motor trip and had been visiting at Traverse City. They live a mile and a half southeast of Woodland on a farm.

Grimes, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, is survived by his aged mother, Mrs. Mary Case, who made her home with him; two sons, Kendall and Wilbur of Ann Arbor. Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday at Harbor Springs.

From the opening af the Christian dispensation there has been doctrinal strife concerning the governing principle of Christian conduct. High sounding phrases have been used that have led no place. Is there a law or a rule that the ordinary Christian can follow that will guarantee a conduct that can merit the approval of God? We will try and answer this question Sunday.

Sunday afternoon there will be a C. E. rally at the Charlevoix church. Two other churches will be represented, the Ironton and Central Lake Congregational churches. Rev. Hastie, pastor of the Cheboygan church, will have charge of the arrangements and Miss Helen Boyd, our denominational young people's director will be present to have charge of the discussians. A potluck supper will be served between 6 and 7.

Last Friday a large group of men met at Ironton to set out trees along the roadside. The trees were given by Mr. Hemmingway. In a few years they will present a beautiful view. Several trees were placed around the church.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through this office. Charlevoix Courier.—Adv.3tf.

BIG ATTENDANCE ANNUAL BANQUET

Larry Lind, secretary of the Ludington chamber of commerce, was the guest speaker of the evening. His talk dwelt largely upon conventions. He congratulated Charlevoix on the number of conventions obtained for the 1939 season and stressed the necessity of general community cooperation with civic groups in providing entertainment for these visitors as a means of enticing them to return to this city again. He pictured the obtaining of conventions as a highly competitive business wherein the successful bidders must show something more in the line of entertainment and recreational facilities than other communities in order to keep in line.

Music during the evening was furnished by the "Gents of Swing." Miss Betty McFarland entertained with two tap numbers. Showman Callandar's trained bear forgot his act after seeing so much food within reach, but according to reports his unscheduled performance provided probably more entertainment than had be gone through his routine tricks.

Is your car battery up to the demands of cold, winter weather. Have it charged now by GAMBLE'S slow process method, insuring longer life. Our rental charge is 5c per day.—Adv. 45t1.

HOW the RED CROSS SERVES the NATION

STAND BY FOR RESCUE—A trained First Aider in Red Cross Highway First Aid Station prepared to aid the injured.

A DAY BRIGHTENED—Red Cross nurse's visit to a shut-in brings healing touch.

A YEAR'S RECORD

July 1, 1937—June 30, 1938

Minor disasters were unusually frequent; 102 tornadoes, floods, and other catastrophes brought the Red Cross into action to feed, clothe, give medical care and rehabilitate 93,000 people.

War veterans and their dependents, numbering 220,000, aided during the year.

Men in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, numbering 35,000, helped in personal and family problems.

Safety in water sports, and first aid in accidents extended through training 82,000 Life Savers and 276,000 First Aiders. Fight against deaths from motor accidents extended through 2,265 Highway First Aid Stations.

How to care for the sick in the home and guard the family's health taught 55,000 persons, through Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick courses.

Volunteers made 520,000 garments for disaster victims and the needy; brailled and printed 720,000 pages for the blind.

YOUTH SERVES—Junior Red Cross boys and girls view nations on world map where children cooperate for good will.

Mrs. James Simmons, who has been confined by illness for many months, has gone to Flint to spend the winter with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr and Mrs. Dwight McGeagh. She left with Mrs. McGeagh and Mrs. Paul Londo, who were her recent guests here.

A surprise birthday party last Friday evening for Rev. H. J. Pulsipher, pastor of the Church of God, was a pleasant affair. Fifty members of the church gathered at the Pulsipher home, bringing ice cream and a large birthday cake. They also presented Rev. Pulsipher with a nice gift.

Mrs. Dora Hamilton, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Raber of Petoskey, spent last week visiting the former's brother, Clarence Billington at Galesburg, and sister, Mrs. Gertrude Fessenden at Battle Creek. They also visited relatives of Mrs. Raber at Howell, Lansing and Grand Rapids.

A. L. Livingston, who has been incapacitated for some time with an injury to a leg muscle, returned Tuesday from University Hospital, Ann Arbor, where he went to have a cast removed. Mrs. Livingston, who accompanied, submitted to a minor operation and is remaining in Ann Arbor until recovered.

Miss Virginia Taylor was hostess to a group of friends at her home Monday evening at a pre-nuptial shower in honor of Miss Naomi Block, whose marriage to Alwood Zavitz of Detroit, will be an event of the near future. The evening was spent in playing bunco and prizes were awarded to Miss Daisy Dutcher and Miss Ruth Turpin. Other guests included Misses Mary Louise Gallagher, Sybil Levinson, Marjorie Carey and Mesdames, Helen Howe, Wm. Bergman, Lowell Baird, Russell Curtis, Al Farmer, Wayne Belding, Ivan Falconer, Milton Block and Harold Dutcher. Dainty refreshments were served and Miss Block was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Armistice Day

Recent events have proven what an empty victory the World War turned out to be. Hate, Jealousies—passions that have been smouldering for years burst into flame and only the cool judgment of experienced statesmen averted catastrophe.

With the memory of 1918 still fresh and the late crisis a vivid reminder of the past, we fervently pray that our trust in the wisdom of our leaders will never be misplaced.

Tourist Dollars

Michigan's central location in the Mid-West where millions of people dwell has made the state a favorite with tourists.

It's Big Business, and no fooling! Figures compiled by the American Automobile association, the U. S. department of agriculture, and the four tourist associations of the state indicate that Michigan had approximately 10,700,000 visitors during the past resorting season. This was a 10 per cent decrease from the 1937 volume, or a 1938 estimated gross income of $300,000,000.

Noticeable was the growing popularity of week-end trips.

In the "tourist" classification of legislation will be fishing and hunting bills, state park bills, and conservation measures in general. Along with more good roads, northern Michigan wants improved facilities for accommodating and entertaining the out-of-state visitors.

Milk Price-Fixing

Marketing agricultural surpluses at a profit is the objective sought by influential groups of Michigan growers.

Milk producers are toying with the idea of a state milk price-fixing act which would guarantee n fair basic price to the dairy industry and at the same time not penalize the consumer. A legislative commission is studying the plan which comes from the East, and a bill will be ready for introduction in Lansing next January.

Michigan apple and potato growers are determined to do something in a cooperative way to combat the advertised virtues of Maine and Idaho potatoes and Washington apples. These two products mean millions of dollars a year to Michigan growers, yet the Michigan home market has been unable to compete with imported foodstuffs.

Standardized grading and packaging of apples and potatoes are also sought by growers who propose that the state join them in financing a marketing-advertising campaign.

Upper Peninsula farmers are interested in spud prospects, for climatical conditions there are ideal for good potato growing and there is plenty of room for expansion

24 Million Fish

Because Michigan is famed for good fishing, the state conservation department goes to elaborate preparations each year to restock our lakes and streams.

Workers began the perennial task this week of distributing 24,803,000 small fish—brook trout, brown trout, rainbow trout, bluegills and black bass. Perch planting will be done in December.

Increased pollution of streams due to industrial waste is a serious handicap to efforts of the conservation department to replenish the fish life for tourists. The state stream control commission, headed by Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner, received a report from Secretary-Engineer Milton P. Adams that several beet companies have been ordered to submit plans for adequate waste disposal by February, 1939, and to have plants in operation by October, 1939.

Goiter, Jitter-Bugs

Use of iodine for thyroid disturbance, as sponsored by the state bosrd and health and county medical associations, has reduced goiter in Michigan from more than 30 per cent to 1 per cent.

Osteopathic physicians in Detroit heard Dr. Edward A. Ward, of Saginaw, past president of the American Osteopathic association, warn that swing addicts will develop thick ankles and frayed nerves.

Gasoline—What Is It?

Pigs are pigs, and gasoline can be cheap and inferior and still be gasoline to many motorists.

Out of the recent price war has come a suggestion thut producers, refiners and the state department of agriculture co-operate in grading gasoline so that the consumer is fully informed what he is getting.

The state regulation would be done without added taxes.

Finger-Printing

A state law requiring the fingerprinting of a person applying for a permit to carry a concealed weapon is advocated by a committee representing the Prosecutors' association, the Michigan Sheriffs' association and the Police Chiefs' association in co-operation with the state police.

The same committee also seeks a law making it a crime to sell ammunition to persons under 18 years of age without the written authority of a parent or guardian.

CENTRAL DRUG STORE

USE, DON'T SPEND MONEY

By Hester Renwick Fraser
Consumers' Counsel

Consumers' Bureau, Michigan State Department of Agriculture,

Using money, instead of spending it, will make your dollar go farther.

The secret of using money, as compared to spending it, lies in your confidence in the article at the time it is purchased.

In buying silk stockings, the elasticity of silk hose has much to do with their durability. Pure silk hose will have more elasticity than silk mixed with other fibres. Well made hose will stretch from 8 to 11 inches at the top of the stocking.

A thread count will determine the weight and further serviceability. A 2-thread hose is very sheer; a 3-thread, sheer; a 4-thread, sheer but not dressy; a 5-thread usually comes with lisle foot and top for service weight. It is not the price of hose that determines its durability. It is the quality of the material of which it is made, and the care with which it has been made It is not the gauge number of the machine that is so important, but it is important to know that all of the needles of that machine have been used. If each thread of a heavier part of the stocking has not been picked up and carefully joined to each thread of a thinner section, runs will appear. Where all gauges of a machine have not been used, runs will appear on either side of the back seam A ringless hose will show no shadows in the weave. Funn fashioned hose is designed to fit the leg. The color in practical hose will not run when washed, or from perspiration. All hose will wear longer if washed in suds and warm water after each wearing.

Use your money, rather than spend it, when buy hose, by determining (1) the accurate size and length; (2) the quality grade of the stocking; (3) the number of threads; (4) careful manufacturing; (5) ringless; (6) full fashioned or circular knit; and (7) consider any special knit construction.

Carefully purchased hose will serve a greater purpose and make your dollar go farther.

"Chinese Horse Laugh" a thrilling Arizona West story by Nina Wilcox Putnam appears in This Week, the magazine with next Sunday's Detroit News. Be sure to read this fast-moving yarn.

68,734 WOMEN SCAN HOME JOBS

Better living at home through better homemaking practices attracted 68,734 homemakers in Michigan during the past year. A total savings of more than $46,000 was reported as the result of better use of things at hand by the women who comprised community groups.

A cross section of rural homes in the 83 counties reveals many differences, but the likenesses of problems in clothing, shelter, and food are most important from the standpoint of the home economics extension staff at Michigan State College.

The 2,474 local leaders who helped carry the ideas of better homemaking back into their home communities report a variety of activities.

Parents of children of all ages met to talk over the problems they meet as modern fathers and mothers. A total of 3,679 were reached in 27 counties during 1936-37. The importance of the projects has attracted parents in nearly every section of the state. Some phase of these meetings has been held in 78 counties since it was established in 1929.

Clothing reached 20,542 women with information on how to buy textiles and adapt style features. Garments ranged from play suits for the children to tailored coats and suits for adults.

The refinishing of old pieces of furniture as the foundation for a more attractive home vied with a study of color, the making of curtains and slip covers which reached 20,799 women. Braided rugs as useful additions to many rooms are made from old clothing, both wool and cotton, and others from dyed feed sacks found in most farm homes. Savings of $26,000 were reported as a result of the home furnishings.

Home economics extension is under the direction of Edna V. Smith, state leader, who with her staff, brings better homemaking practices to well settled sections and also to the crossroads in all sections of Michigan.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

Special License Plates

Of the thousands of letters coming into the department of state these days, many are requests for special license plate numbers. Hundreds usk for plates with their initials on them, others request special combinations such as WOO, DOG, etc., which they think will make their automobiles run faster, smoother and longer.

Some people want the smallest numbered license plate they are able to obtain and others desire the largest and longest numbers available. One individual requested a license plate numbered 1234567890.

Under the new system, a majority of the counties receive license plates bearing two letters designating their counties and numbered from one to five digits. Therefore, requests for special lettered and numbered license plates may be obtained through the department of state local branch offices in the different counties.

A large number of Michigan motorists have had the same numbers on their license plates for several years. The department of state tries to please the individual motorist to the greatest extent possible in the matter of issuing special plates.

Forty stitches were necessary to close the wound.

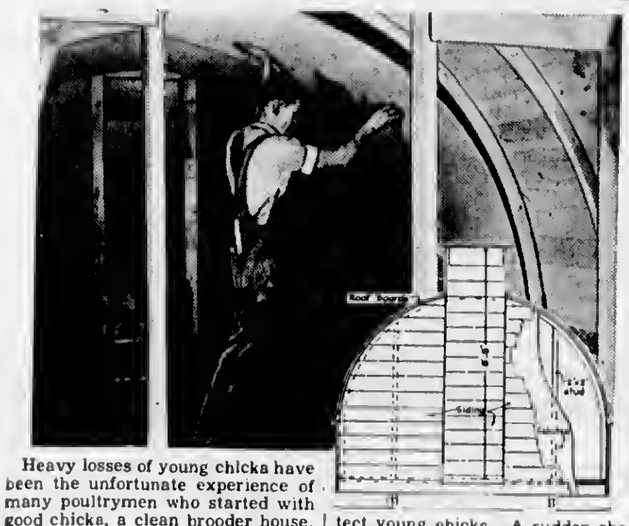
CHICK LOSSES LOWERED IN INSULATED HOUSES



Heavy losses of young chicks have been the unfortunate experience of many poultrymen who started with good chicks, a clean brooder house, a stove in good working order, correctly balanced feed and an adequate supply of fresh clean water. Sudden weather changes are known to cause such losses as baby chicks are sensitive to cold and drafts.

In agricultural experiment stations brooder houses are commonly supplied not only with artificial heat but also with insulation to retain the heat and maintain temperatures at a steady level.

As shown in the illustration, a new brooder house is being insulated with cane fibre board to protect young chicks. A sudden sharp fall in the outdoor temperature at night will not affect chicks in this house because the heat will not leak away as rapidly as it will in an uninsulated house. Fuel is conserved, thereby reducing the cost of brooding chicks in such an insulated house.

Brooder houses can be kept dry and free from drafts only by correct ventilation. Insulating a brooder house is a long step toward getting proper ventilation, which depends on even temperature and the elimination of drafts.

MICHIGAN RANKS HIGH IN DAIRY PRODUCTION

Estimated 905,000 Cows Gives State High Place in Nation

Dairying in Michigan is operating under trimmed sails but bidding strongly for national honors in adding to the Niagara of milk which flows annually into bottles and packaged products.

For national rank Michigan is in ninth place in fluid milk, fourth as a butter making state, eighth in cheese, sixth in evaporated milk, sixth in making ice cream and fourth in the production of dry milk. All this from 905,000 dairy cows. The figure is 9,000 more than a year ago but 10,000 less than in the last census.

A. C. Baltzer, extension dairyman at Michigan State College, is assisting in the drive to place dairying as a more profitable industry in the state. He estimates its importance in the fact that 80 per cent, or 160,000 Michigan farms, report having cows.

Kalkaska — What a pickle this giant cucumber would make! Lewis Hill of Rapid City brought one to the Leader office here recently that weighed five pounds and 12 ounces. It measured 16 inches in length.

Found Early Bank Notes

Nashville—Two bills, relics of the wild cat days when banks in Michigan cities issued their own money, were found here recently by Mrs. Findlay Trnxler. One was a $1 bill issued by the Bank of Marshall in 1857, and the other a $2 bill of the Bank of Clifton, dated 1861.

"Patsy Adjusts Matters"

By SARAH E. McCAHEY
© McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

"IT IS just as well that your firm has decided to pay its clerks by check hereafter, as I have never felt very safe in handing out a lot of money to the young women from your office when they called for the payroll—large payrolls are attracting thieves these days." The teller of the Merchants' National bank smiled pleasantly at Margaret Beirne as he cashed her first check under the new office rule.

Margaret blushed. It was many a day since anyone had called her "young." Thirty—young! It was a nice of that teller, though, to think of her risk in carrying the payroll. Not many these days gave much thought to anybody except themselves. As she walked slowly homeward she felt she must be getting "mushy" to let a few considerate words from a mere business acquaintance make such an impression on her.

Life was getting terribly monotonous, just the same. The same old routine, day in and day out! How did others stand it?

Hadn't she acted as mentor, chaperon and confidante to nearly a hundred girls who had passed in and out under her supervision over a large number of girls in a mercantile house? Hadn't she given encouragement and a helping hand whenever needed? She wasn't throwing any bouquets at herself, either, when she admitted that she had done all these things.

Just now there was a new girl—Patricia Smith. The blondest girl she had ever seen—almost too attractive for a business office. She had been with them now for almost six months, and the readiness with which she took every suggestion and correction showed her eagerness to made good. She hadn't any mother, either, poor kid! Well, just another responsibility! Maybe she'd be thanked for it, maybe not.

With Patricia's advent the inevitable had happened. Nearly every single man in the outer office had found an excuse to visit the inner office, to consult Miss Beirne on matters about which they couldn't be told a thing. Patricia Smith kept her eyes on her book at such times and raced through her letters.

It rained hard the following night and she was hurrying out just behind Patsy when she noticed a green roadster, which swept the curb just as Patsy reached it, and a man's voice called out:

"Come along, kid—don't you know it's raining?"

Patsy tossed her head and kept on her way, but Miss Beirne walked right up to the man. She pointed her finger at the traffic officer in the middle of the street.

"See that policeman?" she said sternly. "If ever I see you or your roadster around here again, I'll call him."

"So you're Miss Beirne! I've heard a lot about you," the young man said with a laugh, as he darted into the traffic.

The day came when Miss Beirne sadly felt it her duty to tell Patsy she had gone as far as she could get in that particular office.

"Stay here as long as you like," she told her, "but my advice is to get into an accountant's position in the banks or bonding houses, where you'll have a better future."

"As long as I work, I'm going to stay right here," said Patsy, decidedly.

Returning home from the public library several nights later, Miss Beirne got caught in a traffic jam just long enough to glimpse Patsy Smith in a luxurious limousine, resplendent in an evening gown of orchid velvet, with a glittering bandeau drawn low on her forehead. The attentive young man of the green roadster was with her.

It was such a shock that she lay awake half the night thinking up a way to diplomatically approach Patsy and show her the folly of being seen about with a man so evidently not of her work-a-day world.

"Patsy," she began solemnly the next morning, "I'm going to speak to you just as your mother would."

"I'm glad of that, and I hope you will be my mother some day," was the unexpected reply of Patsy. "You like my father, don't you?"

"Why, child, I don't even know your father," said the startled Miss Beirne.

"You've talked a terrible lot about him," murmured Patsy.

Patsy nodded.

"That's who I mean. He chose this office for me to demonstrate my ability to earn my own living should I ever have to. I'm to leave when my year is up and marry Bobby Burns. 'Member the night you threatened Bobby with a policeman?" Patsy laughed. "You should have heard my father laugh when I told him about it!"

"Why didn't you tell me?" asked Miss Beirne, reproachfully, striving wildly to remember some of the things she had said to Patsy.

"I wanted you to like me for myself, and not altogether because of father. Don't worry! He talks about you the same way you talk about him."

"Roger Smith your father!"

"He's my dad," laughed Patsy.

AMBITIOUS YOUTH

"Get yourself a wedge job!" That's the advice Walter B. Pitkin gives young people eager to get a running start in life. Lumberjacks use wedges to topple mighty trees, says the psychologist and author in the current Rotarian magazine, and youth can use the same device to crack open the doors of opportunity.

"To get a wedge job, develop an accessory skill," Pitkin counsels young men and women, explaining that high competence in a low field is necessary first of all. "You seek work that brings you into close contact with some man at or near the top. The work must be humble. But your skill at it must be, as the movie advertisements say, supercolossal, if not positively mastodontic."

Many of today's "big shots" started as aides to private secretaries, then became private secretaries, then executive secretaries, and so on up, he says. For that reason mastery of stenography, bookkeeping, or a similar skill gives a young person with ability and ambition an unparalleled opportunity to learn about company trends and conditions. As he makes himself useful in small jobs, bigger jobs will come to him.

Law may be a wedge skill, Pitkin informs impoverished young attorneys looking for clients. By studying new and proposed laws as they affect a specific business, an able lawyer may create a job for himself. Facility in writing may enable a young man to make technical reports and scientific abstracts readable to the public, and thus make himself useful to an industry. Door-to-door selling, mechanics, photography, and many another skill may be used to serve a similar purpose.

"No skill, well mastered, is too slim or inconsequential to be laughed off, if you think hard enough about how to use it as a wedge," concludes Pitkin. "Use it ingeniously, not to begin at the bottom and work up, but to crack into the "big stuff" with a very small tool."

President Roosevelt occupies a dual role—president of the United States and head of the new deal party, and he transfers himself to the latter when he wishes to speak against Democrats who refuse to wear the new deal yoke and for those who have trailed along without expressing an opposing idea. The use of the Democratic label by the new deal is merely nominal and for convenience. Democrats of the old school have been pushed out of the way to give room for the Corcoran and Cohen experimentors. — Wayne (Neb.) Herald.

The log of Howard Hughes' recent round-the-world trip shows that among the foreign countries he passed over were England, Poland, Siberia, Canada, Maine and Vermont.

FLIRTING WITH DEATH

Who hasn't held his breath witnessing the chances taken by drivers who "jump" the line on two-lane highways? Why they do it passes comprehension. The time or advantage such drivers gain by their recklessness is usually nil. Apparently they are so constituted they cannot resist the impulse, when they come up to another car, even if it is making 50 miles, to plunge ahead.

Hazards of this foolishness are realistically presented in the report by two Yale faculty members, based upon camera-timing investigations. In 20 per cent of cases less than a second intervened after a passing car had got back into its lane and an approaching car had whizzed by. Stop saving seconds and start saving lives.—Iron River Reporter.

the temperature down near freezing, the boys couldn't get their collars buttoned up. All but Bob Sloan, however, cause that swelling in his neck has got nothing to do with deer hunting. After the way he had it snupped when that truck bumped into the back end of his car, it's a wonder he has a neck left at all.

As near as I can find out, the usual bunch and mayhe some new ones are going deer hunting. The general exodus will start Friday, November 11, for those parties hiking to tne upper peninsula usually like to get an early start. Many local parties are going east, too, most of them leaving Sunday. The conservation department expects to license 160,000 hunters. They estimate there's 150,000 buck deer, so it looks like there wouldn't he any more bucks after the season is over. The average of successful hunters is only about 1 in 4, so a lot of those 150,000 bucks won't need to worry.

If you haven't already done it, read Bruce Barton's article on President Roosevelt in the last issue of Collier's. You'll find out what's wrong with the present Democratic administration.

Join the American Red Cross! The annual roll call drive starts Friday, Armistice Day, and continues until Thanksgiving Day. Your money couldn't go to a better cause.

If somebody doesn't get smashed up where US-31 enters Bridge street from the south it will be a wonder. The way motorists tear into town on that stretch of highway is a holy fright. The casualties so far huve been limited to four or five dogs, but you can never tell when it's going to be a human.

It all goes to prove that it depends a lot upon whose foot the shoe is on. Charlevoix taxpayers Tuesday defeated a proposal to bond for $36,000 for a city hall and fire station and thus lost a federal gift of $29,000 toward the cost. The organized opposition to the proposal rested largely with a group who, under a previous city administration, worked hard to put the proposition across, even going forward to the extent of paying a nice sum for the plans which were used at the present time. Seems rather inconsistent and leads one to believe that political jealousy stops at no point, even if the city's welfare is involved. We may not be in favor of the principles of the federal relief spending program which would have made possible that $29,000 gift, but when our children and grandchildren are paying their share of the national debt now being piled up it would have been sort of comforting to them to be able to point to a city hall and say: "Well, we got that much for our money."

Republican county committee chairmen have come and gone—but we want to take our hat off to Clarence Meggison, the present county chairman, for organizing a committee which put on the most aggressive campaign this county has seen in many years.

PRODUCTION CREDIT REPORTED SUCCESS

Annual Meeting at Gaylord Showed '38 to Be a Banner Year

The Gaylord Production Credit Association enjoyed a banner year in 1937 and 1938 according to reports made November 2nd at the annual meeting of stockholders held in the Gaylord auditorium.

Each of the ten counties covered by the association were well represented in attendance. A lunch was served at noon, followed by entertainment and speeches which were of interest.

A. J. Townsend, secretary-treasurer, gave a fine talk on the condition of the association. During his talk, it was revealed that the association had loaned approximately $250,000 during the past year and now has a membership of 789. The legal reserves and undivided profits now amount to $12,005.00.

The election was held and David McConnell was re-elected as director to represent Alpena county. Arnold W. Ostrander was elected as director to represent Cheboygan county.

DETROIT ARCHER FIRST TO KILL HIS BUCK DEER

Joseph Herbert of Detroit holds the honor of killing the first deer with a bow and arrow during the present 15-day season.

Herbert killed his buck last Thursday in Iosco county.

The season opened for the 200 archers November 1 in Iosco and Newaygo counties. Last year William Van Vorst of Lowell killed the first deer of four that were slain during the first special season for archers.

DISTRICT W. C. T. U. PRESIDENT SPEAKS HERE FRIDAY

Mrs. Marguerite Smith of Gaylord, district president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, will be guest speaker at the annual roll call luncheon of the Charlevoix Union to be held at 1 o'clock Friday, November 11, in the Congregational church dining room.

The meal is cooperative and everyone is asked to bring their own table service.

OCTOBER TOPS SHIPPING THROUGH LOCKS AT SOO

Shipping through the Soo in October was heavier than during any previous month of 1938, the monthly tonnage report shows.

Total tonnage for the month was announced as 7,140,944, compared with 9,841,735 in October last year. The total for this year is 35,253,216 compared with 83,381,282 on the corresponding date last year.

DEER SEASON TO OPEN ON TUESDAY

The Molasses River Game Refuge, in the Ogemaw Forest, and the Lundeen Refuge, in Montmorency county, have been greatly reduced in size and a considerable portion of both are now open to deer and bear hunting. Posters will give the hunters the extent of the closed areas. All of the Gladwin Game Refuge, in Gladwin county has been opened and the Iosco Game Refuge, near East Tawas, has been abandoned and hunters ought to find great shooting over these two areas where protection for many years has brought a great increase in the deer population.

Charlevoix will send its usual contingent of hunters into deer cover of both the upper and lower peninsulas. The exodus will start this week with many parties leaving Friday, Armistice Day.

GAYLORD WINNER OF SATURDAY TILT

The second Gaylord touchdown was as sudden as the first. A Charlevoix fumble on their 10-yard line paved the way. Fesler was held at the line, a pass was incomplete, Lovelace hit the line for 3 yards and Cullitton went around right end to score. A kick for extra point failed and the score stood Gaylord 13, Charlevoix 6. There was still 9 minutes left in the fourth quarter.

Charlevoix's valiant effort to score in the final moments was cut short by the whistle after a gain of nearly 40 yards.

Saturday's contest closed Charlevoix's six-geme schedule.

INFORMATION BUREAU VERY USEFUL

PROVIDES WIDE AND VARIED SERVICES FOR CITY

Annual Report by Gordon B. Todd Reveals Distribution of Literature and Numerous Functions

Statistics which revealed that the services rendered at the Board of Commerce information bureau are numerous and varied in nature were given by Gordon B. Todd, secretary, at the recent annual banquet.

His report showed that 52,428 pieces of literature were mailed during the past year, which included city and county folders, fishing, hotel and camp literature, Beaver Island folders, etc. A total of 6,324 letters were mailed. The offices directed 1,809 people who asked information regarding rooms, hotels, cabins, restaurants, fishing. Through the efforts of Mr. Todd, Charlevoix literature has been placed in 352 chambers of commerce throughout the United States and Canada.

Through fine cooperation with the police department, 350 unlicensed peddlers were denied the privilege of soliciting in the city and others were properly licensed in accordance with city ordinance.

Mr. Todd's duties have included contacting many concerns in an effort to locate some manufacturing industry in Charlevoix. This matter has been approached carefully with the aim of obtaining manufacturing firms, if any, that are reliable and would be a benefit to the community.

Tourists and officials who have visited the Charlevoix information bureau state that it is one of the most complete and up-to-date to be found. The office is open week days and Sundays from May 1st to November 1st and up to September 1st was open every evening. From November 1st, the service is maintained every day and four hours on Sunday as long as the bus line continues operation. It is believed Charlevoix has the only information bureau in Michigan which maintains service at night and on Sunday, as most close at noon on Saturday. By thus remaining open the office has provided a real service to Charlevoix.

The officers and directors of the Board of Commerce are now making plans for the coming summer season and they invite all citizens to their meetings to express any ideas they may have which will benefit the city's efforts along tourist, promotional lines.

FRED BRADLEY DEFEATS LUECKE FOR CONGRESS

Fred Bradley won the contest for representative in congress by 2,223 votes, according to complete figures from his headquarters.

He defeated John Luecke, of Escanaba, who is serving his initial term as representative of the Eleventh District at present.

The final figures, Mr. Bradley said, were: Bradley 40,823 and Luecke 38,600.

RECREATION ROOM IS OPENED FOR CHILDREN

WPA Recreational Leaders Supervising Program at High School

Through the cooperation of the board of education and Supt. O. P. North, the dining room in the high school building has been made available to the local WPA recreational staff to conduct a supervised program of recreation for children.

The program is in operation daily except Saturday and Sunday. Children under 12 years of age are admitted from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m.; children 12 to 14 years from 7:00 to 9:00 p. m., and those over 14 years from 7:00 to 10 p. m.

Three ping pong tables are in operation and a fourth is being prepared. Two were financed by city council and others donated by individuals. Many other games are available, but in view of the fact facilities do not meet the requirements, the management would appreciate donation of all kinds of small games. Those having such donations may call telephone 493.

SPORTSMAN'S CLUB PLANTS GAME FISH

AROUND 60,000 RELEASED FROM STOVER CREEK PONDS

Club Will Winter Feed 25,000 Steelhead This Winter As Experiment, Planting in Spring

With the exception of 25,000 steelhead trout which will be fed through the winter for release in the spring, the Charlevoix Sportsman's Club has planted fish reared during the summer in their Stover Creek ponds.

The steelhead, now advanced fingerlings, were hatched at Oden and transferred to the ponds. The venture will mark the first of wintering over fish and they should be near legal size when planted in the spring.

According to Roy Ranger, president of the club, this year's plant was one of the finest ever released. It is estimated around 60,000 fish were reared, a smaller number than in previous years, but resulting in better growth during the season through elimination of over-crowding in the ponds.

The steelhead, numbering around 15,000, were released at Horton Bay and in the south arm of Lake Charlevoix. Approximately 25,000 German brown trout were planted in various places along Monroe creek. The brook trout, numbering over 25,000 were planted in Horton, Monroe, Bull Stover, McGeagh and Price creeks. Guy Lincoln, superintendent of the state fish hatchery at Oden, assisted in the work.

In addition to the fall plant of fish, several releases were made during the summer. One consignment of legal-sized steelhead was planted in south arm and small mouth bass were also released.

VOTE AGAIN ON THE BOND ISSUE

COUNCIL AGREES TO RE-SUBMIT ISSUE DECEMBER 7TH

Charlevoix Tax Payers Claim That Numerous Amendments Submitted Nov. 8 Confused Voters

Tax payers of the city of Charlevoix will again have the opportunity to vote for or against the proposition to bond the city for $36,000, this amount to be used in connection with a federal grant of approximately $29,000 for the building of a city hall and fire station. The proposition, requiring a two-thirds majority, lost by only 11 votes when it came before the people at the general election November 8.

The general opinion of Charlevoix tax payers is that voters were confused by a deluge of amendments at the recent election, and simply voted "NO" without considering the merits of the local issue.

At Tuesday evening's adjourned meeting of the council it was decided to present the issue again at a special election Wednesday, December 7th.

BOSS - SMITH MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED

Newly Weds Will Make Their Home at Birmingham, Michigan

At 8 o'clock Saturday evening Miss Margaret Boss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Boss of South Barnard, became the bride of Stewart Smith, son of Mrs. Mary Smith of Birmingham, Michigan. The ceremony was solemnized in the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Harold C. Ringenoldus, pastor of South Barnard Reformed church, officiated and used the double ring ceremony.

The bridal party entered the living room of the home to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Miss Freda Hurd at the piano.

The bride was lovely in a floor length wedding gown of white embroidered net over satin, fashioned with a wide border of taffeta and a bolero jacket of embroidered net. Her finger tip veil of tulle was held in place with a wreath of pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a bridal bouquet of white chrysanthemums and pink roses, tied with a white satin ribbon.

Her sister, Miss Edna Boss, as bridesmaid, wore a yellow net gown trimmed with green, over yellow satin. On her head she wore a wreath of yellow and white baby chrysanthemums. Assisting the groom as best man was Ruben Wangberg of Birmingham. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Boss wore wine colored crepe with white trim.

Following the recessional, Mendelssohn's wedding march, a wedding repast was served by Miss Fern-Joyce Thomas and Miss Esther Klooster, at which time the bride cut the three-tier wedding cake.

After a short wedding trip through southern Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Smith will be at home after November 25 at 292 Willits Ave., Birmingham, Michigan, where Mr. Smith is employed as bank teller.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Boss, Jake Boss, Oscar Boss, Lawrence Boss, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Boss and sons Dale and Dean, Miss Freda Hurd of Birmingham, Miss Fern-Joyce Thomas of Royal Oak, Miss Esther Klooster, and Rev. and Mrs. Ringenoldus.

TOWNSEND CLUB WILL HOLD TWO MEETINGS

Special Mass Meeting at Court House Scheduled November 21st

Two meetings of the Charlevoix Townsend Club have been announced by its officers.

The regular meeting is scheduled at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening, November 17, at the court house, and on Monday evening, November 21st, a mass meeting will be held. The speaker for this special meeting is L. F. Cligh of Kalamazoo. The mass meeting will open at 7:30 p. m.

The public is invited to all sessions and especially the mass meeting, at which the Townsend plan will be fully explained.

Alward Kills 150 lb. Buck

Sam Alward of Atwood filled his hunting license at daybreak Tuesday morning, when he killed a 150 pound buck at the Indian Gardens, south of Norwood, near old Antrim City.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE IS STARTED

THIRTY-THREE REPORT FOR INITIAL SESSION

One Veteran Returns from Team Which Last Year Won Three Championships, Was State Runner-Up

With the football season completed and gear stored away, practice for the 1938-39 basketball season has been started at Charlevoix high school.

Thirty-three candidates reported to Coach Ray Kipke at the initial practice session and out of this number only one is a veteran of the squad which last year won conference, district and regional championships and advanced to the finals of state competition in class C before being eliminated at Grand Rapids by St. Augustine of Kalamazoo.

Thus Coach Kipke is confronted with the task of replacing such stars as Keith Carey, "Chick" Gallagher, Charlie Richardson and Dick Bergman, whose graduation last spring broke up one of the strongest basketball combinations to represent Charlevoix high school in many years.

Lewis Brown, who played most of the season as center a year ago, is available, and from last year's first reserve team are Bert Pearl, Harry Withers, Tom Carey, Bob Goss, Bruce Henley, Bill Bissell, Bub McGhan, Ernie Nowland, Robert Bergman and Charles Supernaw. This group is all first-string material. There are also many promising younger candidates in the thirty-three reported for practice.

Charlevoix's schedule has been completed with possible exception of games during the Christmas holidays. Plans are under way to schedule Grand Rapids Union during the holidays, otherwise an alumni contest will be arranged. The tentative schedule follows:

Dec. 9—Petoskey here.
Dec. 15—Harbor Springs there.
Dec. 21—Gaylord here.
Dec. 28—Rogers City there.
Dec. 30—Petoskey there.
Jan. 6—Mancelona there.
Jan. 13—Gaylord there.
Jan. 20—East Jordan here.
Jan. 27—Boyne City there.
Feb. 3—East Jordan there.
Feb. 10—Grayling here.
Feb. 17—Boyne City here.
Feb. 24—Harbor Springs here.

COUNCIL HOLDS ITS REGULAR MEETING

Pass Pay Roll of $4,779.62 and Discuss Other Problems

Charlevoix's city council, at its meeting Monday night, passed a pay roll of $4,779.62, covering disbursement of the various departments of the city.

A communication from the directors of the Charlevoix Board of Commerce asked the council to use its efforts towards the removal of advertising signs along the route of all main line highways entering Charlevoix. Action of a like nature has been taken by cities and villages throughout the state and has the approval of the state highway department. Charlevoix should get in line and take active steps toward the elimination of this situation.

Another recommendation was made by the Chamber of Commerce directors which calls for the installation of blinker lights at the intersections of Carpenter avenue and State street, also at other points along US-31. These matters were placed in the hands of various committees.

The City of Charlevoix will be represented by two delegates at the coming Michigan Municipal League meeting at Detroit. A motion was passed to this effect.

The lake park front problem, regarding the elimination of the present driveway from Antrim to Mason street, was again thoroughly aired by those in favor of its elimination, and opposed by those favorable to its retention. The solution of the matter was put over until a meeting of the council with all members present.

NORTHERN FUNERAL DIRECTORS MEETING HERE

Members of the Northern Michigan Funeral Directors' Association numbering 25 met Wednesday evening for a district meeting at the See Funeral Home on State street.

In addition to the business session, entertainment features were provided, including the showing of several reels of Charlevoix scenes and summer activities by Gordon Todd, secretary of the Board of Commerce.

POND FOR BROWN TROUT AT LOEB CREEK PLANNED

Flood Rights Given by Mrs. Anna Loeb; Plan Has Wide Backing

A plan which may result in the establishment of a German brown fishing pond on Loeb creek has been undertaken by the Charlevoix Sportsman's Club.

According to Roy Ranger, president of the Club, consent has been given by Mrs. Anna Loeb to flooding a part of the Loeb creek bottom south of M-66 to form the pond. It is believed a pond three-quarters of a mile long and the width of the ravine through which the creek runs, could be made with a 10 or 12 foot head of water.

The project has the backing of the Sportsman's Club, the board of supervisors and Charlevoix Board of Commerce. Necessary surveys, legal steps and preliminary work is to be started at once.

Such a pond would prove one of the most popular features in this vicinity if carried through to successful conclusion.

RED CROSS FORMS CITY COMMITTEES

SOLICITATION OF MEMBERSHIP NOW UNDER WAY

Local Headquarters Established at Charlevoix Insurance Agency—County Committees Named

With the organization of committees completed, the annual Red Cross roll call drive, which opened last Friday, is now in full progress.

Clarence B. Meggison, county chairman, and Mrs. A. C. Leslie, roll call chairman, have completed organization of groups throughout the county who will conduct the membership campaign.

The work in Charlevoix will be carried on by three groups again as in previous years, representing the north side, valley and south side. On the north side group are Mrs. Robert Bridge, Mrs. Clinton Cooper, Mrs. C. S. Webster, Mrs. Henry Partridge, Mrs. Arthur Ranger and Mrs. O. J. Hammond. In the valley are Mrs. Albert Cook, Mrs. E. J. Hiller, Mrs. Harold Miller, Mrs. Charles Lamphear and Miss Lillis Flanders. The south side group is composed of Mrs. Ray S. Hamilton, Mrs. E. J. Edwards, Mrs. Harold Hallett, Mrs. Oscar Nelson and the Misses Genevieve Supernaw, Mary and Nellie Adams.

Mrs. Gertrude Dick will conduct the campaign for the Junior Red Cross in the grades and Supt. O. P. North will have charge of the senior grades of the public schools.

Mrs. A. C. Leslie will head the solicitation committee in Boyne City, and Mrs. Ole Hegerberg heads the committee in East Jordan.

Charlevoix headquarters for the drive have been established again this year in the office of the Charlevoix Insurance Agency and memberships will be received there by Mrs. Robert F. Sloan, treasurer of the county chapter.

SECOND MEETING OF BURGESS H. M. CLUB

The second meeting of the Burgess Home Management Club will be held Tuesday, November 22, at the home of Mrs. Lee Sneathen.

The lesson will be presented by Mrs. Ida Burns on "Furniture and Furnishings in the Home."

A pot luck dinner will be served at noon. Everybody welcome.

REGION HIT BY FIRST FALL SNOW

SNOW AND COLD THE WEATHER DEER HUNTERS LIKE

Traffic Jam at Straits of Mackinaw Over Week End—Beaver Island Hunters Have Stormy Trip

Charlevoix and Northern Michigan were held fast by the first touch of winter over the week end. The storm started with a stiff west wind and continued from Saturday to Monday almost continuously. Saturday night the thermometer dropped to below freezing, registering below 26 Monday morning. Snow covers much of Northern Michigan, three inches falling at Elk Rapids and plows were used to clear the highways. In this immediate territory the ground was covered to a depth of an inch or more.

Hunters hoping for snow were granted their wish, despite the fact that transportation across the Straits of Mackinac was greatly retarded. Five transports were utilized, but the storm held up hundreds anxious to cross. Hunters bound for Beaver Island were held in Charlevoix all day Saturday. Sunday afternoon the mail boat Mary Margaret left Charlevoix carrying some 23 passengers and several automobiles. The return trip was accomplished during the night, the boat leaving this port again Monday with about 10 hunters and passengers, among whom were Ray Ashdon and Dan Dalton of this city. Among down-state hunters were residents of Grand Rapids, Traverse City, Kent county, Mancelona, Gaylord and other points.

In the city of Charlevoix over 200 deer hunting licenses were issued. Willard Olney, age 79, veteran Charlevoix deer hunter, was among those applying locally for a license to kill his buck. Charles Pierce, age 81, of Marion township, was another old timer to apply for a small game license. Throughout the state it is estimated that over 160,000 hunters will hit the back trails in quest of the elusive buck.

LAKE FISHERMEN LOSE THOUSANDS IN STORM

Heavy Winds Bring Netting Operations to a Stand-Still

Charlevoix and Beaver Island commercial fishermen will count their losses into the thousands of dollars because of high winds Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

A heavy east wind Saturday practically halted what has been the best lake trout spawn fishing in recent years. Catches running from one to six tons per boat were being made since the season opened last Thursday.

Beaver Island fishermen were unable to lift their nets and Charlevoix operators were hampered by a heavy easterly blow Saturday. Winds shifting to the west Sunday halted all operations. The loss in nets, set shoal during the spawning run will be high, not considering the loss of fish which would have been taken had the weather permitted.

Capt. Leroy Allers of the mail boat Mary Margaret termed Saturday's blow the hardest he had experienced this year. His boat was badly buffeted and required over four hours returning from the island. A special trip planned for Sunday to accommodate deer hunters headed for the island and to pick up accumulated fish, was called off.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

One of the troubles with the election just past was the use of borrowed money to control the nomination and election of Representatives and Senators in Congress and Governors of states. It is a hopeful sign that voters swung from Democratic policies and thus displayed a dislike for such methods. The control of political contests by public money predicates control of the entire public policy. Unless it is stopped it will be useless to attempt to arrest centralization of power at Washington. It is bad enough when our politics are controlled by money from unseen sources and special interests, but it is still worse for the government to use its credit and its taxing power to control the congress and states and even a presidential election. For by this means, those in power may perpetuate themselves in power. To tolerate this policy is to invite dictatorship—a dictatorship of borrowing on one hand, of taxing on the other and of absolute control of the people as a consequence.

Notice Art Ranger is building a second story onto his house on Lewis street, making it two-story instead of bungalow type.

Here's a good chance to start an argument. Will bet a plugged nickle that Willard Olney is the oldest local resident deer hunting this year. If he's not, bet you another plugged nickle that I'll soon find out who is.

Bill Wallace and the Missus have moved into that new house up on the Belvedere avenue bluff. It's got everything needed in a modern home just as Bill said it would.

Michigan football fans got two disappointments last week end. The first was when Northwestern held Michigan to a scoreless tie and thus robbed them of a tie for the Big Ten conference championship, and the second was when the Green Bay Packers drubbed the Detroit Lions Sunday.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Swinging of the pendulum of public opinion in protest against labor radicalism—the 1937 sit-down strikes in automobile and manufacturing factories, retail stores and even private utility plants—has returned the Republicans into power and responsibility in Michigan.

It was not so much an affirmative vote of confidence in Frank Fitzgerald and the remainder of the Republican state and legislative ticket. It was a ballot protest.

For many months political observers have been aware of a "jelling" of public opinion against the over-enthusiastic demonstrations in Michigan of the CIO. Lewis' defeat in the Detroit municipal election was a forerunner. Gallup polls have consistently shown that the CIO was in high disfavor with the electorate.

In the judgment of this commentator, the November election afforded the people of Michigan their first opportunity to spank the sit-downers. And in doing so, they had to spank Frank Murphy and his administration. It was just inevitable.

CLARK SCHOOL NEWS

Monday—It is snowing hard today, evidence that winter has at last decided to move in.

We had two birthdays November 14th. Betty Warner was five years old and Leona Warner was six.

We are drawing names for Christmas today. We shall have plenty of time to pick out the best present for Santa to bring.

This month we have wild geese flying across our windows. We have many turkeys and other Thanksgiving pictures on the hulletin board.

Friday afternoon we went on a nature hike. We went to Harwood Lake and along the shore to the other road back. We observed how plants and animals get ready for winter.

CENTRAL LAKE

(Too late for last week)

The Shumackers have moved from across the road from the Bay View schoolhouse, to the Smith farm at Creswell.

Mrs. Doris Morse Emery and children of Flint visited over the week end with her father, Chas. H. Morse, east side of Central Lake.

The nice weather of the lost three weeks has made it fine for farmers to harvest their crops, and we can forget our present bad weother.

The Pentacostal church is being wrecked, and a new building is being erected oposite the Hodges home, east, at Central Lake. In the meantime, the Methodists have kindly consented to having the Pentecostal people use their church for services.

Lyle Morse hos completed a new porch on his residence at Bay View. He has been working every weekday on the map making for Antrim county, so as to take a vacation during the time the hunters are roaming the woods, making it dangerous for such work.

The first snow of the season fell about 9:30 a. m. Tuesday, November 8th. It is the latest that ye correspondent can remember. Friday's 65 degree mark was the warmest. Grand Rapids registered 77. Now for the next two weeks, we expect records broken in the opposite direction. The coldest ever, at this season of the year.

William Clark, living two miles north of Eastport was taken ill Sunday, and Monday morning was taken by the ambulance to Petoskey hospital. He is about 76 years of age. It was not known Tuesday whether an operation was necessary or not. He was at one time mail carrier between Eastport and Elk Rapids. His children live in Detroit.

Saturday, the Misses Arlene and Marvel Knowles, and Doris and Dorothy Morse (twins) called on their former Bay View teacher, Otho Mathias, at Mancelona. They found him feeling quite well, although the doctor orders that he stay in bed. January first he will go to Gaylord Sanitorium. He would like all his former pupils, teachers and others, to write to him, as it is pretty lonesome lying in bed so long. Such acts of kindness should certainly be rewarded. All hope for his complete recovery.

Farmers have had a remarkable fall for harvesting their crops, and many have done quite a lot of fall plowing.

Though bad weather Sunday the following were attendances at Sunday school: Creswell 28, Turner 9, Grand View 19.

Chas. Morse and Mrs. Cora Dunlap and daughter and baby left Sunday for Upper Peninsula, where Mr. Morse will hunt deer, and the latter will visit relatives.

Mrs. William Grace has returned from a four weeks' visit with Mrs. Jeanette Brace Devlin at Cadillac. They have a new baby girl at the Devlin home there.

J. A. Packer and others are leaving this week for the Upper Peninsula to be ready for deer hunting this week Tuesday. Mr. Carlton Meggison left for there last Friday.

Edward Dawson has been trucking for Gerald Telgenhof, Tom Wynsma and Guy Liskum the past week. Wood was hauled for the former, and carrots for the two latter.

Wellington DeForest is moving this week to the Walt Cornett farm two miles west of town. He has been living on the Cross place at Greenwood, west of town, the past summer.

Mrs. Jay Emery and children have returned to Flint where Mr. Emery is employed. Business has picked up in the auto business since election. They had been visiting at the Chas. Morse home.

Maurice Dawson and family have moved back from the William Brace farm at Bay View, to the O. R. Morse farm at Bay View, where they will reside this winter. Mr. Dawson has been working on the barberry project.

Mrs. Lilian Underwood of the Central Lake Pentacostal church conducted devotional at Sunday school meeting at Holland church last week Tuesday. Pentacostal people are assisting in Rev. Robie's meetings.

Edward Dawson and family, who have been living on the former Coburn place at Bay View the past five years, will move to Eastport this week, the farm they have resided on having been sold to Jay Youngedike. Mr. Younkedike has also purchased the former Milan Greenmand property, now occupied by John Shonks and mother. Mr. Youngedike, now on the Thomas place at Snowflake, will move to their new home in the spring.

Assignments of speakers for the Thanksgiving exercises next Sunday are: Creswell, Alfred Christensen; Turner and Ball, Rev. Dorr Garret; Grand View, Rev. Lester Nelson, music Mrs. Nelson; Bay View, Rev. Harry Batterbee; Greenwood, Rev. Lee Donelson; Bush, Rev. Grover Jackson; Jordan, Paul Gardaer. Time of each meeting: Creswel, Bay View, Greenwood, Jordan, 10:30 a. m.; Boll 1:30 p. m., Grand View and Bush 2:30 p. m. All invited to these services. Music ot Bay View, Batterbee sisters.

Revival meetings under the management of Sky Pilot Robie of Union Springs, New York, are progressing nicely, and many converts are expected. The meetings started last week, Wednesday evening, and are continuing through November. Friday evening will be Sunday school evening, and Grand View young people are planning on attending in a body. Sunday school people from all over the county ore expected to attend. Next Thursday evening a Thanksgiving service will be held, to which everybody in the county is invited to attend.

William Clark, an old resident of Eastport community, passed away at Petoskey Lockwood Hospital last week Wednesday afternoon. Funeral services were preached by Rev. Botterbee of Green River at the funeral parlors of Mr. Dawson at Ellsworth, last Saturday afternoon. About 35 people attended the services, mostly relatives from Detroit and Eastport. Mr. Clark had been stopping at a cottage on the Harry Mason farm north of Eastport, the past summer. The Harry Mason family deserve much praise for the care of Mr. Clark, who has been at their home most of the time the past few years. He was stepfather of Mrs. Mason. Deceased will be much missed by friends and relatives. He was at one time driver of the Eastport-Elk Rapids mail stage.

Ye correspondent received Sunday a ticket from a state policeman of Traverse City Post, for parking on the pavement south of Creswell. This was done as we stopped to get some Sunday school people at the Smith farm, not thinking just where we were parking. I suppose a great many accidents are caused in this way, as one car coming from each way and passing the parked car is liable to run into it, causing loss of life. This is a good warning to us to be more careful in the future. The State Police was very courteous in his reprimand, for which we thank him. He was told that we were on our way to Creswell Sunday school with a load of young people. We suggest that every violator of traffic rules be given triangular metalic license tag, white, yellow, or red, numbered with violations. White, for violation, yellow for drunk, red for deaths. "K" on red, standing for death; "D" on yellow for drunk; every "white" violation to pay $1 for it, "yellow" $2, "red" $3. All these payments to go into the school fund. Estimated receipts — $10,000,000. When one meets these signs, take precautionary measures in driving!

The outcome of this year's state election was one of the best things that ever happened to the people of this country. The reign of lawlessness, and spending on is ending, and business in every direction can now pick up. Here's one of our pupils in school that we taught in 1936's program: Have supervisors of the state assign work to needy people regardless of "how many cows or pianos they have" just so they ore not getting the needed income. Have the men do work nearest their residence if possible; hurry to get work on main roads done, then go to sideroads, or work for farmer. People in town when work on public projects is done, go to work for business places or factories. When working for other than state, farmers pay one-half the men's wages, and business men or private people pay half. Wages in country $3, city or town $5. Board of Supervisors, state or national boards audit accounts, and money be paid out to employees from county treasury, on order of county clerk. Money being sent to county treasurer from Washington or Lansing, according to whether nation or state funds are used. In this way, no overbearing administrators have anything to do with it, and all money comes through regular official channels. Extra clerks for assistance of township, county, state, or national work employed, should take civil service examination, and political party have nothing to do with administration of welfare work. This plan was elucidated by 12-year-old boy.

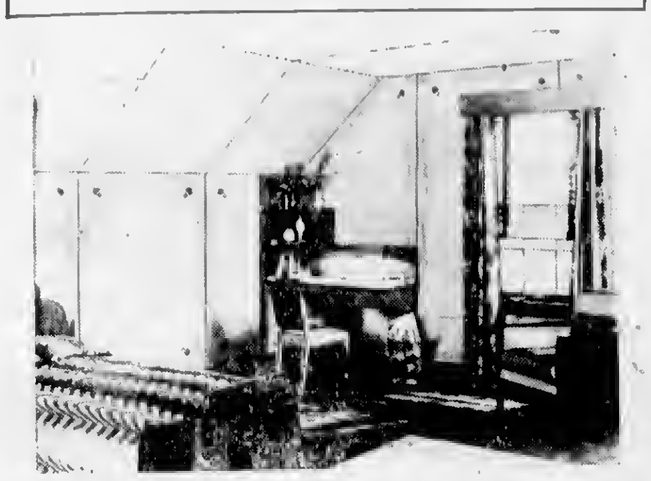
REMAKING THE HOME

By JANNETT ALLEN



An extra room or guest room is waiting for you in your own home: in that unfinished attic of yours

All very well, you say, to have that extra space, but can you afford it? Oddly enough, you not only can afford it, but actually can save money by doing it in the proper way.

There is no mystery about the process. If your attic is properly refinished with a board that insulates as it builds, you will save about 50 per cent of the heat loss through your roof. Too many houses apparently are trying to heat the great outdoors by allowing their heat to leak out. The roof area of the house is the main culprit in this respect.

By turning the attic into a finished room with insulation board walls, you thus obtain an extra room which will pay its own way and provide an annual dividend in fuel economy. The heat leakage which, with cold weather, takes big bites out of the family purse, will be reduced.

The extra room which will so cleverly add living space and cut fuel bills may take many forms, according to the needs and tastes of the family. I know one that was turned into a game room, another into a children's library, a third into a photography dark room.

The simpler the wall finish of the extra room, the better. Large sheets of cane fiber board lend themselves especially well to the attic finishing job, since they cover a lot of surface with little carpentry. Left in the natural tannish color the walls will make pleasing background for any sort of furnishings. If color is desired, paint may be used. Calcimines and water paints should be applied directly to unsized cane fiber board though calcimine may be applied to the board over a varnish size to facilitate removal by washing. It should be sized before oil or varnish paints are applied.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

By B. C. Mellencamp

Weeds in Seeds Peril to Buyers

Average farm seed purchasers know too little about what they can acquire in the form of new weed hazards, if inquiries coming to the farm crops department of Michigan State College are a guide.

Although the present state seed law in Michigan appears adequate it does not regulate farm to farm sales.

"Beware thy neighbor is the rule at times," says R. E. Decker, farm crops specialist at the college. For he finds that ignorance on the part of both seller and buyer often leads to spread of weeds.

What are these typical weed seeds that might find spread in Charlevoix county?

With alfalfa and clover seeds, says Decker, a purchaser might find seeds of such weeds as buckhorn, wild carrot, dock, sorrel or some of the mustards. It is even possible to acquire sticky cockle or hulled quackgrass.

Oats can contain mustard which sticks in the oat hull, quackgrass or Canada thistle. Wheat sometimes include chess and cockle.

Even city seed buyers need to beware. For in purchases of poorly cleaned lawngrass seed there might be chickweed or crabgrass. These two weeds are among the most serious worries of those who try to maintain an attractive greensward.

Considerable protection is offered in the state law. This requires anyone offering seed for sale, except that moving from farm to farm, to have this seed tagged, showing purity, stating the percentage of foreign seed, percentage of inert matter and the percent germination with the date of the germination test.

Cherry Growers Initiate Gigantic Advertising Campaign

Last week a fine representative group of leading cherry growers of northern Michigan met at Traverse City to discuss the advisability of launching an advertising campaign to increase the consumption of cherries. In spite of the fact that a very, very poor crop was harvested this year, the cherry market has been demoralized by a large carryover and a poor demand.

Many of the cherry growers express themselves as being very favorable to levying a charge of something like a quarter of a cent per pound to be used in advertising cherries. Some even thought if necessary one half cent per pound would be a good program. It was definitely proven that the cranberry growers had made a success of advertising their product. The same is true with orange growers, pineapple growers, grapefruit growers, and others who have demonstrated the necessity of advertising their product.

After lengthy discussion a committee was selected to meet with committees from two other districts in the state to decide on a program. We are glad that the chairman of this most important committee is John Porter, East Jordan, who is sold on advertising and who is representative of both the grower and the canner. All cherry growers in this county will watch with interest the development of the advertising program.

Farmers Becoming More Interested For Building Septic Tanks

There is no question but that farmers are now equipping themselves with all the modern conveniences that may be found in the city. With the coming of electricity and the conveniences made possible as a result, many inquiries have been received in regard to appliances, etc.

It would seem that among the most important conveniences would certainly be a means of sewage disposal. This last week two septic tanks have been built in the county under the supervision of the local county agent. On Tuesday one was built for James Rayman, south of Charlevoix, who is in the process of finishing his new house. They are delighted with the prospect of having an up to date bathroom for the first time. Then on Wednesday a septic tank was built for Theodore LaCroix, East Jordan. The entire job was completed in one day including the digging out of a hole 7x5x6½ feet, which is some kind of a record, I believe.

Not alone this, but another tank will be built for Lavern McGhan next week. This makes around 35 septic tanks that have been constructed by farmers in this county with indications pointing to many more in the near future. Yes, agriculture marches on.

USE, DON'T SPEND MONEY

By Hester Renwick Fraser
Consumers' Counsel

Consumers' Bureau, Michigan State Department of Agriculture,

Using money, instead of spending it, will make your dollar go farther.

The secret of using rather than spending money, lies in your confidence in the article at the time you purchase it. Will the notions you buy serve your purpose?

There is a needle or every purpose. The gold-eyed needle is considered the better needle. Ordinary sewing needles are called sharps. There are special needles for quilting, embroidery, and millinery. Needles are long for millinery, 3-sided for fur, half-mooned for upholstering, etc.

Rustless straight pins are brass and are most economically bought by the box. The safety pin with a guarded coil will not catch in material.

Buy zippers that are washable and guaranteed. Standard lengths for zippers are: shirt placket 7 inch; dress plackets 9 inch, with a guard. There are zippers for snowsuits and for corsets, with plush facing, and celluloid zippers for trimming.

Quilt and blanket binding of sateen, can be colorfast and durable. To prevent fraying, buy a satin binding with a generous allowance for turn-under. Pure silk seam binding is most practical. It will not fray, is colorfast and will launder. Rayon binding will not stretch.

Silk thread has elasticity and is therefore good for seams and should be used for all materials except linen and cotton. Mercerized thread is used for linen and cotton materials. Elastic thread must be used on the bobbin of the sewing machine and will shirr while stitching and then stretch.

Mercerized belting is heavy and durable. It will prevent waistelines from wrinkling, and skirt tops from stretching.

There are scissors for every use. Be sure they will hold a sharp edge. Make a list of notions that will serve your purpose and make your dollar go farther.

"Only two per cent of the American people are crazy," says one medical specialist. How does he account for that small number being in so many places at the same time?

The Dionne Quintuplets have graduated! Having served their screen apprenticeship, they are now revealed as full-fledged entertainers—singing, dancing, making music and fun—in their third and what is heralded their best feature picture, "Five Of A Kind."

A 20th Century-Fox production, opening Saturday, November 19 at the Palace Theatre, "Five Of A Kind" provides a striking setting for the delightful little ladies, as it whirls in and out of Broadway, highlighting the exciting action and romantic excitement of two rival newspaper and radio reporters.

"It has been two years since Yvonne, Annette, Cecile, Marie and Emelie emoted before the camera in a 20th Century-Fox feature, and in those two years they have "grown up."

Korda's "Drums" Thrilling Cavalcade of Conquest

All the thrills, danger and romance of life on the North West Frontier of India will be brought to the screen of the Palace Theatre on Thursday and Friday, November 24 and 25, when "Drums," Alexander Korda's magnificent technicolor production, is presented.

MERMASH
Has What it Takes to Produce Eggs!

On the farm of one of our customers, the hens were divided into two pens of 90 each. The group fed Mermash produced 532 eggs in 12 days. The other group on another mash produced 427 eggs in 12 days.

A GAIN OF 105 EGGS FOR MERMASH

Each group of hens was fed one-half mash and one-half grain at the rate of 25 pounds of feed per day per 100 hens.

In 12 days the Mermash group got 135 pounds of Mermash and produced 8¾ more dozens of eggs. At 30 cents per dozen, the Mermash group produced $2.62 MORE INCOME IN 12 DAYS.

With eggs at 30 cents per dozen, Mermash returned $1.94 more per cwt. than the second feed did.

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVED IN HIGH SCHOOL

R. L. Lewis Speaks on "World War" and Present Conditions

Armistice Day was fittingly observed at 10:15 a. m. Friday in the auditorium of the Charlevoix high school, with a short program.

Attorney Rollie Lewis spoke briefly, his topic being "The World War and the Future Outlook for War." During his talk he told the student body facts of the present condition of the war torn countries overseas, both in regards to the strife of 20 years ago and present conditions.

The school band, under direction of its leader, Max Smith, played several appropriate selections.

SPECIAL MEETING FOR NFLA STOCKHOLDERS

Session at Boyne City Is Being Planned for Near Future

All farmers of Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet and Otsego counties who have federal land bank or commissioner loans will be invited to attend a special national farm loan association stockholders' meeting to be held at Boyne City.

Secretary-Treasurer, H. C. Bedell, is now preparing letters which will go to every association member and commissioner borrower, inviting him and his wife to attend and be guests of the association at lunch on that day. Every invited farmer will be provided with a postcard on which to reply whether he will attend or not so that adequate preparations can be made for a large enough hall and for the lunch.

The meeting will be for all farmers whose farm mortgage loans are being serviced through the Boyne City office and it is intended to bring out points in which the farmers interested can be more conveniently or more economically served.

Secretary-Treasurer Bedell says he plans to have a free-for-all discussion during the afternoon session and hopes that many farmers will come to the meeting with the definite purpose of taking part in the roundtable talks. Various problems will be discussed with special reference to this particular territory, and the conditions prevailing here.

Republicans in Control

The beneficiaries of the ballot protest were the Republicans who return to authority again at Lansing.

Whereas Governor Murphy had an unruly state senate, with the balance of power in the hands of republicans and a few conservative Democrats, Mr. Fitzgerald will have no legislative alibis in 1939.

The senate is under republican control 23 to 9, while the house is predominently GOP, 74 to 26.

Presiding over the Senate will be 80-year-old Luren D. Dickinson, of Charlotte, a man of remarkable mental power who returns to Lansing for his eighth term as lieutenant governor. Dickinson's popularity is an indirect compliment to the "oldsters" in Michigan, many of whom favor the Townsend Plan. Fitzgerald catered to Townsend support with a promise to ask the legislature to pass a resolution urging Congress to consider the $200-a-month pension scheme.

Case and Brown

Within a few thousand votes of Murphy was Leon D. Case, secretary of state who publishes a weekly paper at Watervliet. Case led Nowicki, Starr, Fry and Hundry in popular support.

Next to Dickinson and heading other Republican nominees for state office was Vernon J. Brown, aspirant for auditor general. Brown is editor-publisher of the Ingham County News at Mason and is completing his tenth year of service in the legislature.

Significant also is the fact that Case and Brown consider their newspapers to be "independent" in politics.

Van Wagoner in Power

The No. 1 man of the Michigan Democratic party today is Murray D. Van Wagoner, commissioner of the state highway department.

Two weeks before the balloting his department conducted a secret "straw vote" throughout the state. It showed Fitzgerald to be a sure winner and estimated the plurality at 45,000.

Van Wagoner, a practical politician, had foreseen the election result last summer when he weighed the advisibility of becoming a candidate for governor in open opposition to Murphy. Reviewing summer political events, you will recall that Leo J. Nowicki, who opposed Murphy's labor policies and served sit-downers with a snappy ultimatum while the governor was away on a speaking tour, was also in a willing mood to sidetrack Murphy in the primary, if he could. Furthermore, Edward Fry, state chairman, had openly spanked the governor at Mackinac Island in a caustic statement that was almost unprecedented. His brother, Theodore Fry, had made no secret of his dislike of Murphy's policies and was quite reluctant to become a candidate for a fourth term.

All this is political history.

Campaign Financing

The attitude of so-called "Big Business" in the recent campaign was unexpected.

Whereas you might have thought that industrial plutocrats would rush into the Republican state central committee's arms with open checkbooks—considering the labor grief which they have experienced and the possibility of a baby Wagner act and a wage hour act in 1939—they actually did nothing of the kind.

In fact, the state committee was secretly disappointed.

Automobile manufacturers were cool as proverbial cucumbers. James Thomson, the Jackson chairman of the Republican state committee, spent fully half of his time trying to scrape together enough money to meet each week's payroll. Officers of General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and other companies were adamant to pressure.

With no campaign gift strings of this kind attached to him, Fitzgerald may surprise legislators with a liberal labor program. It is possible.

One Amendment Wins

Only one amendment, the "Good Roads" prohibition of gas tax and vehicle license diversion, survived the general protest vote November 8.

This amendment was backed by the Good Roads Federation who utilized every media to publicize it. Newspaper advertising was employed on a state-wide scale to present arguments for adoption.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY WINS MANY HONORS

Exhibitors at Cadillac Potato and Apple Show Are Listed

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

The Cadillac Potato and Apple Show, held November 2, 3 and 4, is now history. However, the ribbons and premiums won by many Charlevoix county exhibitors will always serve as a reminder of the high quality of exhibits and the close competition throughout the 31 counties that made up the show area.

In the open classes Harry Behling, Boyne City, was the largest winner. Showing four perks of potatoes, he won second with a beautiful display of Chippewas, third with White Rurals, fifth with Irish Cobblers, and ninth with a peck of Russet Rurals. In addition, he won three first places with fifty pound sample of Russet Rurals, White Rurals, and Chippewas. In this same fifty pound class Lewis McDonald, East Jordan, won a red ribbon. Another exhibitor from East Jordan, Elmer Hott, also came in for his share of recognition when his peck of Katahdins came in fourth place. Elmer Hott has now been showing Katahdins for three or four years and has never been lower than fourth place.

The Smith Hughes exhibit from East Jordan won second in the group competition. In the individual class fourth place was awarded to Gayle Brintnall, fifth to Donald Shepard, seventh to John TerAvest, eighth to Clarence Staley, ninth to Donald Holland, tenth to LeRoy Nichy and 11th to Brice Vance. Each exhibit was of Russet Rural pecks. In the "any other variety" class Curtis Nicloy came out on top when his wonderful peck of Russet Burbanks won first place.

In the 4-H club competition the Peninsula 4-H club won second and within the club in the individual classes eighth place went to Raynor Olstrom, ninth place to LeRoy Nicloy, eleventh to Howard McDonald, twelfth to A. G. Reich, and thirteenth to Albert McDonald. In this same competition Albert Rontly of Charlevoix won tenth place.

Eveline Orchards, East Jordan, was the only exhibitor from Charlevoix county in the apple department. Their winnings were first on a plate of Star King, seconds on plates of Wagner and Wealthy, and third on plates of MacIntosh, Northern Spy, Jonathan and Delicious.

Thus again Charlevoix county maintained its reputation among the counties in this section. In fact, if a careful study were made of the amount of premium money won in all probability we would follow Emmet county, which by far had the greatest display of any county. Another year the show will be held at a new location and it is hoped that the same high record will result.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Milk Borne Disease Outbreaks in Michigan

No one can be too particular as to the source of his milk supply. Recently Muskegon had an outbreak of typhoid fever traceable to a typhoid "carrier" on a milk route. Following this outbreak Muskegon has been debating a requirement for the pasteurization of all milk supplies brought into the city, figuring that proper pasteurization would make impossible such epidemics.

Milk is one of the mediums through which typhoid may be spread. The state department of health has collected data concerning milk borne typhoid fever outbreaks since 1913 as well as outbreaks of certain other diseases. To the user of raw milk particularly, a review of these outbreaks should serve as an indication that you cannot be too careful as to the source from which that milk comes. You should deal only with the dairyman on whom you can place dependance for taking every precaution necessary aimed to control the spread of disease.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

3,000 New License Plates Sold Daily

The sale of motor vehicle license plates for 1939 is progressing at the rate of approximately 3,000 pairs a day, department of state figures show.

These figures include plates for all classes of motor vehicles, including passenger cars, dealers cars, commercial vehicles and motorcycles.

Plates for 1939 were placed on sale October 27th, so ordered by Leon D. Case, secretary of state, as an aid to automobile manufacturers who bring out new models in the fall.

About two thirds of these license plates go on new cars; the other one third on earlier models. Motorists who own earlier model cars, and desire to have new 1939 license plates on their cars, may have them by surrendering their 1938 plates when they purchase the new ones.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday morning service, 10:45.

Sunday school, 12 o'clock.

Meets first Wednesday evening each month at 7:45 p. m.

We cordially invite the public to our service and reading room.

Reading room open Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

"Soul and Body" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, November 20.

The Golden Text (Isaiah 26:8) is: "Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Psalm 63:1): "O God, thou art my God; early will I seek thee: my soul thirsteth for thee, my flesh longeth for thee in a dry and thirsty land, where no water is."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 224): "Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in body instead of in Soul, in matter instead of in Spirit."

MICHIGAN LEADS AS FISHING STATE

TOPS ALL OTHERS IN SALE OF ANGLERS LICENSES

Popularity With Out-State Sportsmen Also Recorded With Peak Issuance of Permits

Michigan's position as the leading fishing state in the union is clearly established in figures just released by the bureau of fisheries of the department of commerce.

The tabulations show that more resident fishing licenses were sold in Michigan than in any other state, the total being 587,496 for the fiscal year 1936-37. Minnesota, closest to this state, sold 538,668 licenses. Other states among the largest purveyors of anglers' permits were Illinois with 416,700, Ohio with 394,269, Indiana with 392,813 and Pennsylvania with 359,528. New York sold 500,345 but they were combined hunting and fishing licenses.

Michigan also led in the number of non-resident fishing licenses sold, its total being 136,465, which included 43,537 of the $2 annual permit and 92,298 of the $1 permit good for 10 days. Wisconsin was second largest seller of out of state licenses with a total of 111,814. Minnesota and Maine also were among the larger distributors of permits to residents from other states.

Although Michigan was first in the number of licenses sold, its total revenue from the permits was only fifth largest, a number of other states charging higher fees than this state. New York took in $1,059,187, net, from its sales. California, which ranked only seventh in sales, received the second largest total fees, $629,581, gross. Pennsylvania was third with a net revenue of $559,822, Minnesota fourth with a net of $499,109 and Michigan fifth with a net of $495,668.

Michigan's revenue, compared to its sale of licenses, was low in contrast to that of several states in which the sale of licenses was considerably smaller.

The number of regular resident fishing licenses sold in all of the states totalled 4,292,905 which brought in a total revenue of $9,309,949. More than 83,000 anglers' licenses were sold to women and children although many states permit women and children to fish without a license.

In 1932-33 there were only 4,858,058 licensed anglers in the United States. Part of the increase in the number of licensed anglers since is due to the fact that more states are applying the license provision than did previously.

"For Richer—Or For Poorer?"—A Romance of Marriage and Money

Be sure to read this singularly appealing story of the love of a girl with high ideals, eager to make any sacrifice for the man who has asked her to marry him. Opening chapters of this superb new novel—with illustrations in color—will be found in The American Weekly, the great weekly magazine with the November 20 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

CONTINUOUS SHOW

In "As You Like It," the immortal Shakespeare made one of the characters of the play say.

"—All the world's a stage and all men and women merely players."

If Shakespeare were alive today he would, in modern language, say:

"The world is a continuous show, from the cradle to the grave—birth, christening, betrothal, marriage, divorce, funeral — employing every stage accessory that genius has invented and money made available."

Civilization has progressed, but man is fundamentally unchanged in thought and habits since the time of Shakespeare.—By Frank B. Craig.

In Michigan the principal reason for transferring beaver from one place to another is to prevent damage, as in the flooding of fields and highways, due to the animals' dam-building activities.

YOUR MICHIGAN—AND MINE
True Stories of Human Interest
(Michigan Press Association)

Hard-Working Thieves

Caro—Recently a theft was reported here which must have been committed by strong-backed and hard-working burglars, for seven tons of cheese were stolen from the warehouse of a local factory. This included 135 cheeses each weighing 75 to 100 pounds each.

Shades of the Past

Bad Axe—Although wildcats may be rather common in some sections of the country, they are a rarity here, most of them having disappeared along with the tall timber. Thus it is to be expected that a wildcat shot by Roy Hicks while he was hunting near here recently will be stuffed and placed on exhibition.

Just a Little Bump

Dearborn—Two stories up is quite a distance for any person to fall from, but that's what happened to two-year-old Doris Statsenburg. The outcome was more pleasant than usual in such cases, for when she was taken to the hospital for observation, doctors could find nothing more serious than a bump on her head.

Hot Potatoes at Belding

Belding—Some potato vines got hot and started an unusual fire here a short time ago. While a rural mail carrier was driving over a field, some potato vines wound around the drive shaft of his car. He was back in town again before the vines became hot enough, from friction, to burst into flames and set the car on fire.

Pious Bees at Evart

Evart—Bees which made honey in the cornices of the Baptist church here must have been pious insects. Recently workmen removed 400 pounds of fine quality honey from the cornices, the result of several years' effort by the bees.

Early Michigan Map

Buchanan—Both valuable and interesting was the 106-year-old map of Michigan found here by Walter Squier. It was published in Philadelphia in 1832. Population for the entire state at that time was listed on the map as 31,262.

Golden Rule in Action

Belleville—A working example of the golden rule was enacted here when 48 local men went to the home of Mrs. Glen Wing, bereaved widow, to help with fall work on the farm. Crops were taken in, winter wheat sown, and tools stored. Meat for dinner, which was served by 10 neighbor women, was furnished by business men of the village.

"NO SOCIAL SECURITY OUTSIDE ONESELF"

Dr. H. C. Link, eminent psychologist and author, spoke these words from the lecture platform recently: "The ten commandments are as essential to the development of character and personality as the multiplication tables are for the mind's development." And he added that we do not question learning the multiplication tables. Why, then, do we question the learning of the principles for good living?

Dr. Link gave histories of cases he had treated and proved through them that there is no social security to be obtained from outside one's self. He said that among cases of over-privileged children and young people, where, of course, there was no fear of economic security, there was still a case of fear. Of what were they afraid? They were afraid of fear, of the unknown. And Dr. Link also stated that there are greater opportunities for character and personality development among the under-privileged than among the over-privileged. Among the under-privileged children, the spending money they obtain is worked for. No expected amount is doled out to them regardless of the tasks performed. And every child is developing character who does chores for what he obtains.

ON MAKING PEACE

It isn't the will for peace that is of the ultimate concern in pacifism. What is vital is that this term stop signifying a good intention and start to represent a system of new methods in human relations. Nothing feraile can be expected in this connection until pacifism passes on from being a free and easy desire to become a difficult aggregate of new technics. — Jose Ortega y Gasset, Spanish philosopher, in the Rotarian Magazine.

"OUR TURN TO SQUAWK"

Last Wednesday night, the writer heard an address via radio, by Paul de Kruif, complimenting Governor Murphy's new health plan, his new plan for socialized medicine to be worked in this state. Michigan is to be a pioneer state in another GREAT MOVEMENT for social justice.

Who will finance the new plan? YOU AND YOU AND YOU ! ! ! You, the middle-class American who is now carrying the load for about three-fifths of the rest of the people. For all the people who were "born too tired to work" or too proud to get out and take anything, or "too good" for the kind of jobs you and I work at in order to get by. We take them because we put independence and pride above government handouts and loafing. Yes, we hard-working middle class people love work (any kind of work) for what it does to our characters and our ambitions and our pride.

But WE ARE SAPS! Not because we work, but because we are allowing ourselves to work as we are. Do we, who pay for the lives of ease and idleness of those who won't work get any consideration from the government? Does the present government figure out how we could buy good food cheaper, as they are doing for those whom we are supporting? Does it figure out how we can make our dollars go farther by cutting expenses?

NO. We now work six months of our year to support those people who live off us—government jobs, bureaus, relief projects, welfare, etc. And Governor Murphy now plans a new health project for GREATER SOCIAL JUSTICE. Have YOU received ANY BENEFITS from the other schemes for social justice? You are paying for these schemes. Do you want to finance MORE social justice this time under the banner of "health?"

It has certainly paid millions of people to squawk about their misfortunes and their handicaps. They get 50 per cent of your income now for doing so. It's time you squawked about your rights if you want the use of even 50 per cent of your income—and even the CHANCE TO KEEP ON EARNING AN INCOME!

This is not half-witted propaganda. If you will sit down and take thought of what greater social justice you have, or WHAT you get FREE from the government and discover even TWO things, this writer will admit defeat! But be very sure in listing your government donations that they don't come out of the property tax, sales tax, unemployment tax, income tax, gas tax, luxury tax and the dozens of other hidden taxes. You pay those taxes—if you work indepently of the government.

You better start "yelling" now for your own interests for a change—instead of someone else's. It won't be selfishness on your part if you do so. It will show common sense and character. America is called "the land of the free and the home of the brave." The middle class must be very brave now if it will save its freedom; and, therefore, freedom of all the people!

WELFARE CHANGE PROPOSAL IS TURNED DOWN

Referendum Expected to be Beaten by 20,000 Votes in State

The welfare reorganization bill was defeated at Tuesday's general election, virtually complete returns show.

With 500 precincts missing, there were approximately 20,000 more "No" votes than "Yes" votes. The proposal was decidedly unpopular in non-industrial counties where fear was expressed that it would abrogate the principle of home rule and would result in a permanent relief burden upon the state and counties.

Wayne county gave the bill a majority of approximately 60,000. It had the backing of organized labor and Governor Murphy and was endorsed by Democratic delegates to to the state convention October 3.

One of three amendments to the State Constitution was upproved. Voters piled up a decisive affirmative vote for a proposal to ear-mark weight and gas tax for highway purposes only. The proposals to provide four-year terms for county officers and appointment of Supreme Court justices were defeated.

SIX BOATS PROVIDING SERVICE AT STRAITS

Operating on Irregular Schedule to Accommodate Deer Hunters

Six boats were in operation at the Straits of Mackinac to handle the annual deer-hunting season traffic rush.

The hunting schedule went into effect November 10 and will continue through November 30. During this period the five state-owned and one leased carferry will run at random schedule night and day.

State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner predicted a 30 per cent increase in hunting season traffic at the Straits over that of a year ago. On this basis, the bouts will carry 17,600 hunters this year using nearly 6,000 cars.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

November 15, 1938

The common council of the city of Charlevoix met on the above date at an adjourned meeting with Mayor Bridge presiding.

Aldermen present: Curtier, Erber, Hallett and Wood. Absent—Heise, Hooker.

Alderman Erber offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Alderman Cartier.

Resolution

Resolved by the common council of the city of Charlevoix that the erection of a City Hall and Fire Station for the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, according to the plans and specifications presented and filed by the city engineer and heretofore approved by the council, be and hereby is declared a necessary public improvement.

Resolved Further, that the estimate of the cost of such building including all necessary accessories and equipment is the sum of $64,500 as made by the city engineer be and the same is hereby approved and placed on file.

Resolved Further, that it be, and hereby is declared necessary and expedient for the city to avail itself of the proposed offer of the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works of a grant of 45 per cent of the total cost of such building to aid in the erection of said building, the remainder of such total cost, namely, the sum of not to exceed $36,000 to be paid and borne by the city of Charlevoix.

Resolved Further, that it be, and hereby is, declared necessary for the city of Charlevoix to raise the sum of $36,000 to defray that part of the cost of construction and erection of said building together with the necessary accessories and equipment to be paid and borne by the city, by borrowing said sum of $36,000, and the issuance of its general obligation bonds therefor as evidence of said loan.

Therefore Be It Resolved, That the question of the issuance of said bonds in the sum of $36,000 to defray that part of the cost of said improvements to be paid and borne by the city be submitted to the vote of the qualified electors of the city of Charlevoix at a special election to be held therein on the 7th day of December, A. D. 1938, and that the form in which such question shall be submitted on the ballot for said election shall be substantially as follows:

Instructions to Voters

To vote in favor of such proposal make a cross (X) in the square ( ) opposite the word "YES".

To vote against said proposal make a cross (X) in the square ( ) opposite the word "NO".

Proposal

Relative to the issuance by the city of Charlevoix of its general obligation bonds in the sum of $36,000 to defray a part of the cost of building a City Hall and Fire Station together with the necessary accessories and equipment thereof, to meet the requirements of the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works for a proposed grant in aid of such building and construction in accordance with plans and specifications therefor on file in the office of the city clerk.

Vote on The Proposal

Shall the city of Charlevoix, Michigan issue its general obligation bonds in the sum of $36,000, the principal sum to be payable serially with interest at a rate not to exceed four per cent per annum, payable semi-annually for the purpose of defraying that part of the cost of the building and construction of a City Hall and Fire Station with the necessary accessories and equipment therefor remaining after deducting from the total cost thereof estimated at the sum of $64,500, the sum or amount of the grant of the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works equal to 45 per cent of such cost and not to exceed the sum of $29,025, all as proposed in and pursuant to a resolution of the common council of said city adopted November 15th, 1938.

YES ( )
NO ( )

Resolved Further, That the city clerk be, and hereby is, instructed to cause to be delivered to the Board of Election Commissioners of the said city, a certified copy of this resolution, and of the proposition to be submitted to the qualified electors at such special election, and that said election commissioners be, and they are hereby, instructed to cause the ballots for the submission of said proposition to be prepared, printed and delivered to the Board of Election Inspectors of said special election as provided by law, and that the vote cast upon said proposition at such election be received, counted, canvassed and returned in the same manner as is provided by law for the election of city officers.

Resolved Further, that the city clerk cause notice of said special election, and of the proposition to be submitted to the electors thereat, to be published by publication of such notice in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper printed, published and circulating in the city of Charlevoix in at least two issues of such newspaper immediately preceding the day of said special election, and by posting one of said notices in three public places in each ward of said city, at least ten days before the date of such election.

Resolved Further, that for the purposes of said special election the said city clerk be, and hereby is, instructed to cause notice of the registration of electors to be given and published according to the election laws of the state of Michigan, applicable to special and general elections, and to register such qualified electors of said city as shall apply therefor in the manner and upon the days provided and prescribed by law, and that such city clerk be at his office at the times and hours prescribed by law for the purposes of such registration.

Adopted at a reghlar meeting of the common council held in the council rooms in said city, on the 15th day of November, 1938 by aye and nay vote as follows:

Ayes — Aldermen Cartier, Erber, Hallett and Wood. Nays — None. Absent—Aldermen Heise and Hooker.

On motion duly made the council adjourned.

Ray S. Hamilton, City Clerk.

Notice of City Special Election

Dated November 16, 1938.

46t2 Ray S. Hamilton,
City Clerk of the City of Charlevoix.

COMPLETE INFORMATION

Regarding The

City Hall and Fire Station

PROPOSITION

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX:

The proposition to raise $36,000 for the purpose of paying the City share of the cost of building a combined city hall and fire station, together with furnishings and equipment complete, which you voted upon on November 8th, failed by so small a margin of the necessary two-thirds vote, and so many voters were confused by the large number of amendments voted upon at the same time, that the council, in response to requests by many taxpayers, has decided to re-submit the proposition to you on December 7th, next, so that there will be no mistake in the matter.

First, you will understand that this is not going to increase taxes, and for this reason. The tax limit is 15 mills for all purposes. That amount is already being raised. It means only a different use of the taxes raised until the bonds are paid. There must be a proper apportionment, that is all.

The city is out of debt. The electric bond issue recently made is self-paying from earnings. The railroad bridge bonds are out of the way. It will not be difficult to take care of the new bonds. They draw a very low rate of interest. Not more than 3%. The electric bonds were sold at about 2.60%. It is not probable that we will ever be able to get so low a rate in the future because interest rates are bound to raise.

You need have no doubts about the federal grant of 45% or approximately $29,000. This an OUTRIGHT GRANT OR GIFT. It does not have to be repaid. Remember this is not a WPA proposition, but a PWA project, two vastly different things.

LOCAL LABOR. The project will give needed labor to local citizens who will be preferred. The payroll will be a substantial one too.

THE KIND OF BUILDING. The building will be 58x86 and will be located on the city owned lot at the corner of State and Mason streets, purchased by the city for a city hall site away back in 1918. It will be of fire proof construction according to plans procured by the city council in 1934. The walls will be of native rock. It will have, besides city offices, a community room 22x46 feet, suitable for community use, Boy Scouts, public gatherings and the like, a much needed convenience for the people. It is suggested that you CALL at the city clerk's office and find out for yourself what the building will look like.

Do you know that for over 50 years the city has been without a City Hall, using a make-shift basement space in the library. The library could use that space to the advantage of the people. The city has no fire proof vaults for the storage of records, not a safe condition. The expensive fire engines and equipment are now housed, as you know, in a sheet iron fire trap.

Just pause to figure out what we are getting and then make your decision accordingly. If we toss this $29,000 gift out of the window it is gone forever. We probably never will have another chance. Cities and towns all over the country are accepting these gifts up to millions of dollars. If we refuse ours some other town will get it.. Make no mistake about that. Why ought not Charlevoix get its share?

The Mayor, City Clerk, any alderman will be more than glad to explain the entire matter and answer all questions. If you have any doubts please see them. It looks like a clean, clear-cut proposition and that is just what it is.

CONFERENCE HONOR TEAMS NAMED

ROGERS CITY AND BOYNE ARE EACH GIVEN THREE

Ernie Nowland, Veteran Tackle, Only Charlevoix Player Named on Mythical Class C Team

One member of the 1938 Charlevoix high school football team was named on the class C all-conference eleven chosen by coaches of the northern Michigan "Little Eight" league at the recent annual meeting.

Rogers City, the undefeated champion, and Boyne City, the runner-up and 1937 title winner, each plared three players on the first squad. Mancelona placed two, Gaylord, East Jordan and Charlevoix each one.

Ernie Nowland, tackle and star defense man for the Red Rayders, was given a first string berth, but no other Charlevoix player received mention leading to the belief that Harry Withers, Charlevoix quarterback and outstanding offensive player, must have been overlooked even down to those receiving honorable mention.

Following are the selections made by the coaches representing all eight competing schools:

First Team

LE—Hosegood, Boyne City.
LT—Fincent, Boyne City.
LG—Nowland, Charlevoix.
C—Sutliff, Boyne City.
RG—Munti, Rogers City
RT—Hardy, Mancelona.
RE—Turnipseed, Mancelona.
Q—Schultz, Rogers City.
LH—Lovelace, Gaylord.
RH—G. Gee, East Jordan.
F—R. Newhouse (C), Rogers City.

Second Team

LE—Fields, Onaway.
LT—Malpass, East Jordan.
LG—Ruel, Rogers City.
C—Johnson, Onaway.
RG—Kosmirik, Harbor Springs.
RT—Savina, Rogers City.
RE—Thomas, Mancelona.
Q—R. Saxton, East Jordan.
LH—Culliton, Gaylord.
RH—King, Harbor Springs.
F—Lockman, Boyne City.

Honorable Mention

Poirier, Harper, Goodwin, Schaeffer—Boyne City.
Hite and Antoine—East Jordan.
Haines and Butters—Gaylord.
Fitch and Madden—Onaway.
Dickinson, Smith and Helms—Mancelona.
Urban and Kurchinski — Rogers City.

4-H MEMBER WINS MEDAL ON ELECTRIFICATION REPORT

Glenn Trajanek of East Jordan, is awarded a gold medal for making the best report of any 4-H club member in Charlevoix county in a national 4-H rural electrification contest conducted by extension agents. The medal is 7/8 inches high with a clover leaf and high line towers embossed on the rectangular face and is fitted with a clasp lock.

Records of county winners compete for the state award which is an all-expense trip to the 17th National 4-H Club Congress, to be held in Chicago, November 25 to December 3.

CHRISTMAS SEAL DRIVE THURSDAY

1938 CAMPAIGN WILL OPEN THANKSGIVING DAY

Over Sixty Million Tuberculosis Seals Mailed for the Fight Against White Plague

To homes all over Michigan sixty million tuberculosis Christmas seals were mailed this week by the Michigan Tuberculosis Assaciation, to provide funds for the war against tuberculosis in the state in 1939. Opening officially on Thanksgiving day, the 32nd annual sale of the Christmas seals will be continued until Christmas day.

Striving this year to return the sale to pre-depression levels everywhere in Michigan, officials of the association pointed to the urgent need for continuing the present vigorous campaign against tuberculosis. Deaths from tuberculosis occurring in the state last year serve only to emphasize, they declared, the importance of the work that is made possible through tuberculosis Christmas seal funds.

Through funds raised by the sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals, the Michigan Tuberculosis Association has been able to bring two of the modern weapons of medical science —the tuberculin test and the x-ray —to more than 100,000 Michigan people. It is also true, that other thousands are still without the benefits of these modern safeguards. And so, to hold the gains that have been made the past 31 years, Michigan must carry on its present anti-tuberculosis campaign with vigor undiminished. The purchase of tuberculosis Christmas seals will help assure an aggressive program in 1938.

Charlevoix Boys Win Chicago Trip

Interest in soil conservation has led to a free trip to Chicago for twa Charlevoix 4-H club boys — but they're hoping for more worlds to conquer.

The boys, Robert Straw, 16, and Ronald Lyon, 18, left and right in picture, have been 4-H club members for a number of years, but in their first year in the soil conservation club, their demonstration was judged the best of its class at the state fair at Detroit. They are taking their demonstration to the National Boys and Girls 4-H Club Congress in Chicago this month.

In their demonstration, which has been given before a number of community gatherings, Bob and Ronald show how to map a farm by the plane table method. The field arrangements, soil types, lime requirements, degrees of slopes, and land use are shown on the completed maps.

"Most Michigan farms have sloping fields which have a lot to do with crop yields," Ronald explains. "Rainfall on slopes tends to run off rapidly and carry some of the soil down the slope with it. This erosion makes the land less productive.

"We want to know where the slopes are, and how great they are, because this has much to do with the amount of erosion that takes place."

E. G. Kettunen, state 4-H club leader, has praised Straw and Lyon for their project, as it provides a worthwhile project for the older club boys.

NFLA STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING DECEMBER 8

Much Interest Shown in Special Session to be Held at Boyne City

More interest is being shown in the coming special meeting of stockholders' national farm loan association, scheduled for December 8th, than in the regular annual meeting held in June and July, says Secretary-Treasurer H. C. Bedell, who is arranging for the program and lunch for members and their wives.

The regular meeting found many farmers busy in their fields and unable to take part. Inquiries about the special meeting from farmers visiting the office and from some who have written for more information indicate that a large attendance can be expected.

All farmers who have commissioner loans, whether they are members of the associations or not, are also being invited to this session. Only stockholders were eligible to take part in the annual meeting. Secretary-Treasurer Bedell said the program will be especially arranged so that questions about policies and procedures that may have puzzled members and other borrowers can be asked from the floor and answered fully.

ELK BATTLE FIERCELY FOR RANGE SUPREMACY

Evidence of a fierce battle between two elk was discovered near here recently in the Pigeon river forest area.

A section of around about 100 feet square was torn up, vegetation was uprooted, partly rotted logs were scattered about and scarcely a square foot did not show sharp hoof prints and antler gouges. In addition, a large piece of broken antler was found in the area.

TRAPPING SEASON ON MUSKRATS IS OPENED

Lower Peninsula Divided Into Two Sections This Year

Lower Michigan is divided into two zones for muskrat trapping this year. Zone two is the upper half of the peninsula, all land above Townline 16 North, where muskrats may be trapped from November 15 to December 15. Zone Three is the southern half, with the season running from December 1 to 31. Trappers expect to garner many pelts this year for the marshes seem well populated with rats.

Raccoon trapping is confined to the same dates as muskrats in Zone Two, but in Zone Three it runs from December 1 to 15. There is a new law that prevents non-residents from hunting or trapping raccoon in Michigan.

Hunting raccoon is permissible all over the state except in the Upper Peninsula from November 1 to December 15.

FOREST FIRES NEARING LAST YEAR LOW RECORD

October Dry Spell Resulted in Many Small Fires in State

Boosted by the series of fires which broke out during the warm, dry and windy spell the middle of last month, the state's loss from forest fires approached the 11,000 acre mark before October ended, and moved toward last year's total, the first of this month.

Thirty-three fires occurring during the next to last week of October, 31 in the lower peninsula, added an acreage loss of 485 to bring the total on October 23 to 10,825. During the previous week 147 fires occurred, burning over more than 3,000 acres.

Nearly 50 fires occurred on November 3 and 4 adding at least 3,000 more acres to the loss.

HUNTERS AT STRAITS SET NEW HIGH RECORD

Highway Department Reveals 7,054 Cars First Days Deer Season

Evidence that the current deer-hunting season has brought the greatest turn-out of hunters in history was before the state highway department this week.

Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner announced that tradic on the state-awned ferries at the Straits of Mackinac reached an all-time record of 7,504 vehicles for the first five days of the deer-season ferry schedule. This compared with a previous high of 7,412 vehicles for the same period a year ago, the previous high. The boats carried more than 18,000 passengers, most of them deer hunters bound for upper peninsula shooting grounds.

COUNTY BANK WILL RELEASE DIVIDEND

TEN PER CENT FROZEN ASSETS AVAILABLE DECEMBER 15

Release Follows That of Charlevoix State Savings Bank—Both Aggregate Over $32,000.00

Providing the fourth release of impounded funds since its reorganization, the Charlevoix County State Baok will distribute a 10 per cent dividend commencing Wednesday, December 15th.

The release, making available approximately $20,000, follows just 30 days after a 5% dividend aggregating over $12,000 by the Charlevoix State Savings Bank. Thus a distribution of $32,000 to depositors of the two institutions is made available just prior to the holiday season.

According to Robert Bridge, president of the Charlevoix County State Bank, this is the fourth release in as many years. The first dividend was 10%, followed by two releases of 5% each in 1936 and 1937. The funds for the dividend have been made available from liquidation of frozen assets, assessments against stock held by stockholders which must be paid in full 5 years from reorganization and through earnings available for dividends which had been pledged to the frozen assets handled by a depositors' committee.

Officials of the two local banking institutions have announced that in order to procure payment, depositors are required to present their certificates of indebtedness for proper endosement. Voucher checks have been prepared for delivery.

Coming as it does just prior to the Christmas season, announcement of the release will be received with enthusiasm by depositors and business interests alike for the release is expected to provide funds for Christmas shopping and consequently increased holiday trade.

FEW LAW CHANGES WILL WORRY ANGLER NEXT YEAR

Fishermen will not have to worry about any new regulations for the coming year except in the minor instance of newly designated pike lakes. With that exception, the rules for legal fishing will be the same for 1939 as have prevailed during 1938, barring the unlikely possibility of the 1939 state legislathre voting changes and making them effective immediately.

STATE CONDUCTING DEER EXPERIMENTS

FEED FIFTY ANIMALS TO DETERMINE COST

Corrals at Cusino State Game Refuge Being Used for Program of Winter Feed Tests

Approximately a half hundred deer will serve as "laboratory guinea pigs" at the Cusino state game refuge in the upper peninsula this winter in a variety of experiments, including efforts to determine the comparative costs of different feeding methods.

The game researchers hope to find a basis for computing the cost of feeding deer by cutting natural browse, compared to the cost of using artificial feeds. In addition experiments will be conducted with different diet combinations and on such questions as how much and what kind of browse or artificial feed is needed to support a deer.

The majority of the deer will be kept in the corral at the refuge for diet tests. In these experiments different amounts and kinds of natura browse, alternated with and supplemented by artificial feeds such as hay and grain and specially prepared protein substances, are osed to determine the reaction on the health of the deer. Much of the work will consist of checking the results of similar tests made during the previous two winters that the experiment has been functioning, during which time 14 different diets were tried and only five were found even partially satisfactory.

Another group of deer will be maintained in from two to four pens for the browse cutting experiment. The cutting of browse is one of the methods often proposed as a way to preserve deer which have consumed all growing browse within their reach in the particular area where they are yarding. How much browse cutting would be necessary and how much it would cost are questions posed in this experiment.

In another part of the refuge eight one-acre fenced areas will be used to determine the carrying capacity of different kinds of cover. Four similar experimental browse plots were maintained last winter. From two to five deer will be placed in each of these one-acre units.

In addition to these special tests, research work will be continued to determine the palatibility and nutritional values of various foods as in the past two winters.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICES WEDNESDAY

Local Churches Join in Program Tonight at Baptist Church

All Charlevoix churches are cooperating in a union Thanksgiving service to be held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening in the Baptist church.

Rev. John Alexander, pastor of the Methodist church, will deliver the message and other pastors will assist in different parts of the service.

FOUR LOCAL STUDENTS AT KALAMAZOO COLLEGE

The Literary and Sewing Club of the M. E. church will hold their annual bazaar and cafeteria supper at the church, Thursday evening, December 8.—Adv. 47t1.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Nope! Haven't given up yet. There was too much space around the only one I've seen, so I'm still on the trail. Think my luck has changed though. Won a turkey on the first card I played up at the K. of P. bingo party Monday night. It's the first time I ever won anything, so believe maybe the "worm has turned."

What with bad weather for crossing and all the Beaver Island deer hunting did not come up to anticipations of whose who tried their luck there. Jack Waffle, a veteran of many years in the woods, killed the first buck and up to the time this is being written the count is 14. Danny Dalton took the prize, a 190-pounder. Wish Ray Ashdon would get back so we could get the real low down on him. Have heard reports that he shot a red pig which he mistook for a deer and that somebody's cat was the victim of his dead-eye activities. Will give Ray the benefit of the doubt at least until he has a chance to do his own explaining. The fellows brought back conflicting reports regarding the Island hunting. Dan Dalton said there was plenty of deer, while another fellow thought just the opposite. He was plenty sea sick along with several others, so perhaps he may have been just a little prejudiced regarding the whole matter. Funny thing about the whole business is that they tell me not a single native of the island had killed a deer yet.

Made a few observations of my own during the first six days of the season spent in the Luther, Baldwin and Peacock territory in Lake and Mecosta counties. Hunted the first morning in a section where two years ago when they first opened the season down there, 1400 bucks were killed in the 15 days. This year at noon we had seen one dead buck. The subsequent days brought no increase in the kill, either, and those observed were almost without exception young

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Should the state government fix the retail price of milk?

Let's consider the varying viewpoints, most of which are in direct conflict with each other, and rather inevitably so.

The dairy farmer insists that he is producing milk at a loss, and he naturally insists he should have a higher price. The distributor, who buys this milk for delivery, isn't making much of a profit either. Borden's Farm Products company of Michigan recently completed a study of milk distribution costs and profits, revealing that milk sold in Detroit since January was at a loss, due principally to widespread unemployment. The company offered to open its books to impartial investigation.

And these viewpoints aren't all by any means.

Labor Wants More

So far you have the producer and the distributor both wanting more money.

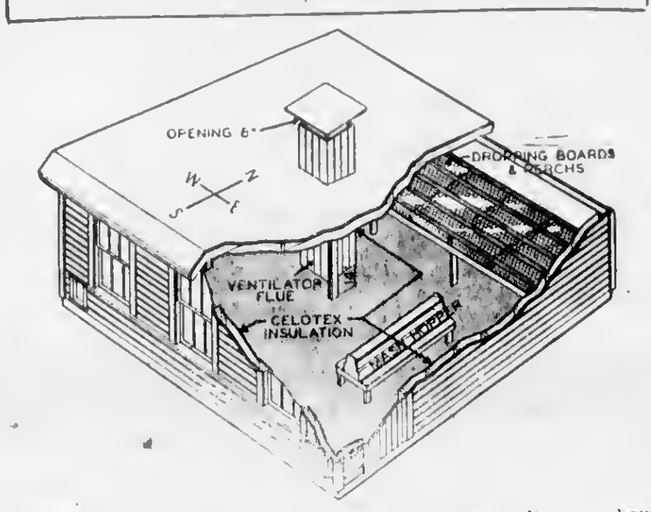
POULTRY EXPERTS PRAISE INSULATED LAYING HOUSES



Having observed that egg production falls off during Fall and Winter months when prices are at their peak, many progressive poultry raisers are following the advice of state and county farm advisors and are insulating their laying houses against the cold.

Scientific research has shown that a flock of 125 four to five pound layers gives off in an hour only as much heat as would be obtained by burning about five ounces of coal. Unless insulation is provided, this amount of heat is insufficient to keep a laying house warm in freezing weather and frost will gather on walls and ceiling and the litter will become wet. Also, feed is wasted in the colder house because more feed is needed to keep the hens warm and less is available to make eggs, leading poultrymen have found.

According to the observations of R. E. Cray of Ohio State University, a well-insulated laying house will also increase egg production in summer months. He says in Everybodys Poultry Magazine that flocks remain indoors close to mash hoppers until late afternoon when an insulated laying house is provided. When the house is not insulated, the hen loaf during the heat of the day trying to keep cool, he reports.

Illustrated above is a simple method of insulating and ventilating a laying house according to the findings of poultry experts. It is adaptable to practically any house, old or new, and any farm carpenter who's hands will tools can do the work easily.

Mrs. Hubert McCauley was called here Monday by the death of her brother, Frank Floyd, who died very suddenly Sunday morning from a heart attack.

Capt. Francis Deto is the new officer in charge of the local coast guard station. Capt. Deto arrived last week from Sturgeon Point and was joined here by his family Friday.

The sudden and unexpected death, due to heart failure, of our fellow townsman, Capt. Frank Floyd, which occurred at his home in this village early Sunday morning, November 13, came as a shock to his many friends and neighbors. By his passing the island loses another one of its highly esteemed law-abiding citizens, and a pioneer fisherman. Mr. Floyd was born on Fox Island March 29th, 1870, the eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Floyd. About fifty years ago his family moved to Beaver Island, where his father plied his trade as a fisherman for several years, assisted by Frank and a younger brother, George. Later he sold out his fishing rig and engaged in the trucking business, which he conducted until his death in 1909. Frank being the eldest son it therefore devolved upon him to take over his father's trucking business. This he did and managed it successfully until the advent of the motor truck. Disposing of his trucking business he formed a co-partnership with his brothers George and Joe and again launched out into the commercial fishing business, which has proved to be a success from the start. Our late friend had many friends in northern Michigan who will be grieved to learn of his death. He was a quiet, mild-mannered man, and aboveboard in all his dealings. He leaves to survive him four brothers and three sisters, George, Joe and James of St. James; Mrs. Barney Martin, also of St. James; Mrs. Elizabeth Ross of Mt. Clemens; Mrs. Hubert McCauley, Detroit; and Fred of Manistee. Funeral services were held, Requiem High Mass, from Holy Cross church, Tuesday, November 15th, Rev. A. Bourdow officiating.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Diphtheria Again Prevalent After Its Absence of Several Years in This District

Diphtheria is again appearing in District Health Unit No. 3, composed of counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego. Already five cases and one carrier have been reported in this area so far this year. The prevalence of this disease should be a warning to all mothers to have their children protected against diphtheria immediately. No child need have this disease for it can be prevented by a simple, harmless treatment, by administering alum precipitated toxoid. The ideal time to protect the child is when he is nine months of age. However, physicians advocate this protection up to the age of ten years, preferably before the child is six years of age.

Two treatments of the improved toxoid now in use is sufficient to safeguard about 95% of children. The Health Department is using only one dose which protects about 70% of the children. The remainder require additional treatments to make them immune. To determine whether the child needs more than the treatments given the physician should follow it three months after the last immunizing dose with a simple skin test called the Schick test which shows whether the child is still liable to contract diphtheria. Both the giving of toxoid and the Schick test are harmless.

Diphtheria is a dangerous, catching disease that causes the death of many children. It often comes on with only slight symptoms, such as a sore throat, chilliness, a little fever, or aching pains, and may be mistaken for tonsilitis or laryngitis or some other less serious illness. Children—especially very young children—are a great deal more liable to contract diphtheria than are adults. Eighty per cent of the hundreds of children who annually, and needlessly, die from this disease are less than five years old.

In the state of Michigan in 1937 diphtheria showed an increase in the number of cases as well as the number of deaths. There were 812 cases reported last year, the highest number reported in Michigan since 1933 when there were 1,152. A total of 72 people died from this disease in 1937, the highest number of deaths reported from diphtheria since 1933 when there were 112. With an apparent increase of this disease and its prevalence in our area now, every family should make arrangements with their family physician to have their children protected immediately. To those who are not able to provide for this protective measure, we suggest that you get in touch with Miss Lawrence, Charlevoix county nurse, and arrangements will be made to take care of these children.

Soma Extension Groups Receive Second Lesson in Home Management Project

This year's home economics extension project gives every indication of being one of the most interesting and instructive to be conducted in the county. Miss Helen Noyes, specialist in home management, Michigan State College, gave the second lesson which was on household closets and storage spaces. There is no doubt but that every housewife is always in a quandary as to where to store the thousand and one different articles used by members of the family. In the majority of cases sufficient storage space has not been included in the house and many suggestions and recommendations were made by Miss Noys for utilizing storage spaces more efficiently.

As of the present time, the leaders of these seventeen communities indicate an enrollment of over 250 group members which certainly is a tribute to the value of the extension program along this effort. In view of the holiday season now approaching, no more lessons will be given until the middle of January followed by lessons in March and April. It seems that the interest in home management has been greater than for the previous two or three projects completed in the county. If you do not belong to a group and are interested, get in touch with your community leaders and they will be interested in having you participate.

Three Local 4-H Club Members Leave For Chicago This Week

As the 1-H club year reaches its end three 1-H club members from this county will enjoy a trip that will never be forgotten. Each year delegates are selected by the Boys and Girl 1-H Club Department of the Michigan State College to visit the National Club Congress and International Livestock Show. These trips are awarded in recognition of excellent and outstanding 4-H club activity. Bobby Straw and Ronald Lyon of Charlevoix gave a conservation demonstration which was the best in the state. Glenn Trojanek, East Jordan, received his trip as a state winner in the 1-H club electrification project. These three boys will leave on Saturday, November 26, and will spend a week at Chicago with all expenses paid. While there they will be royally entertained from morning until night by the many Chicago business interests. We are all proud of the records of these club members and wish them a most happy and enjoyable trip.

90-Piece Orchestra Brings Strauss' Music to Screen

Because genius is international, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's production of "The Great Waltz" finds as brilliant and as cosmopolitan an assemblage of personalities as has ever been gathered on a studio stage. The spectacular new production opens Saturday, November 26 at the Palace Theatre.

The play is based on the life of Johann Strauss. French actor Fernand Gravet as the composer, stars opposite Austrian Luise Rainer, playing Strauss' wife, Poldi. Miliza Korjus, Polish singer, whom many consider the world's greatest coloratura, portrays Carla the opera star sweetheart of the composer.

"They" refers to Bob Hope and Shirley Ross, whose rendition of that song inspired the new romantic comedy, "Thanks For The Memory," which opens Tuesday, November 29, at the Palace Theatre.

Fay Baintar is Burns' Lead in Home Town Film

Bob Burns is back in town with a new leading lady and a new kind of role!

In Paramount's comedy-drama, "The Arkansas Traveler," which will have its local opening next Thursday, December 1 at the Palace Theatre, the "sage of Van Buren" is teamed with Fay Bainter in a human drama of home town life in America. Burns' role is that of a wandering printer who settles down in a small town to help a lady in distress and ends up by revolutionizing the community with his homespun humor and simple American philosophy.

DOUBLE BILLING BORES BOX OFFICE PATRON

On most of our highways you're bill-bored stiff.—Roger Wm. Riis.

A few days ago, we went to a movie thinking we were seeing a picture with a couple of our favorite stars. It happened, however, that the picture had played for the last time the day before and we didn't notice the new billing as we went in.

We sat through a western serial, and while we thought it was pretty awful, we also noticed that everyone sitting around us thought so too. People were making audible remarks and were restless while pictures flickered on the screen that might have thrilled audiences of 1910, but not of 1938.

Following the serial, we saw numerous scenes from coming attractions, then a newsreel, then a political advertisement or two, and then one of the feature pictures. This picture revolved around a famous football star of Annapolis, the supposed star weighing about 135 pounds and looking like a prep school, teen age misfit. We followed him through reel after reel of silly situations and sham warfare. Everyone else breathed a sigh of relief with us when the picture finally ended.

Then we expected to see the Class A feature which we thought was the evening's presentation. However, another class C picture flashed on the screen and we took our weary departure.

The finish is just that everyone around us felt as we did—bored and disgusted. How much longer are we going to tolerate double-feature billing of bad pictures and the speedy production necessary to turn out double-bills?

RECORD SPOILED BY LONG FIRE SEASON

Fire Loss in Michigan Failed to Better That of 1937

The state's 1938 forest fire season, longest in history, has made it impossible to better last year's record-low loss, the state conservation department announced today.

Exceeding any season during the past seven years by at least a month and a half, the hazard this year has already surpassed last year's loss of 14,000 acres by approximately 6,000 acres, the department reported.

Last year no fires of consequence occurred after the first week in October. In 1936, the last fires were reported in September, and in 1935-32 the danger was over early in October the department said.

This season, however, after going into October an estimated 4,000 acres under last year's loss, fires late in October and this month have destroyed over 10,000 acres.

The department predicted that this year's hazard would run until the end of this month and stated that CCC troops and conservation officials will be held in readiness.

MICHIGAN MAKES BID FOR LIVESTOCK HONORS

Many Michigan Entries at International Live Stock Exposition

Michigan's agriculture is making a strong bid for state honors in the annual International Live Stock Exposition which opens in Chicago Saturday, November 26 for an eight-day program.

Official 4-H club boy and girl delegates will be among those attempting to win such crowns as best junior livestock judges, showmen, health specimens and project demonstrators. Fifty have won trips from Michigan.

In crops and livestock, their elders will be enrolled in many of the major phases of the livestock competition as well as in the hay and grain show.

Through a compilation by George A. Brown, head of the animal husbandry department at Michigan State College, the numbers of Michigan exhibitors in livestock alone indicate the strong bid for ribbons and trophies.

Horses will be exhibited by 28 men from 16 counties. Belgians, Percherons, and Clydesdales will be shown. Twelve cattle exhibitors from as many counties will place their Shorthorns, Herfords, Aberdeen-Angus and Red Polls in competition with the best which the North American continent can produce.

More than 100 head of Michigan sheep provided by around 25 farmers from all sections of the state will compete for prizes at this show. This year, for the first time, a considerable number of Michigan swine breeders will send an exhibit of barrows to the show. The prize-winning fleeces of wool from the Michigan State Fair at Detroit will compete for honors with winning fleeces from other states.

SALES TAX RECEIPTS SHOW A DECIDED GAIN

October Returns Expected to Approach High of Year Ago

The rapid end of the recession was predicted by Draper Allen, managing director of the State Board of Tax Administration, on the basis of October sales tax collection figures released by him today.

"Last June our collections were 28.9% under June, 1937," Allen said. "Since that time collections have steadily improved. Our October collections, based on sales made in September, were only 16.3% lower than a year ago. The results of the various 'Sales Makes Jobs' campaigns throughout the state will not be reflected in tax collection figures until our next monthly report, but they should bring collections to within 5% of last year's high level. The conclusion is unescapable that the recession is on the way out."

October collections totaled $4,144,-594.95, Allen reported. It is the first time collections have reached the four million dollar mark since January, 1938. Collections were under those of a year ago by $806,770.16.

Collections under the Use Tax Act for October reached the highest total for any one month since the application of the tax. The tax brought in $49,463.81.

FORMER HAYES RESIDENT SUCCUMBED AT DETROIT

Benjamin Ostrum Died December 8—Had Lived in Hayes Township

Mr. Ostrum was an employe of the Public Lighting Commission. He spent most of his boyhood around Burgess and after marriage to Josie Martin the couple lived on a farm in Hayes township many years.

VANDAL DESTROYS GOLD LEAF WINDOW LETTERS

Damages Aggregating $150 Perpetuated Early Saturday Morning

Gold leaf signs on windows of five Charlevoix business places were damaged to the extent of an estimated $150 by some vandal apparently bent upon pure destruction early Saturday morning.

Two signs at Fessenden & Son drug store, four at Milton Block's grocery, one at Art Fagan's place and those on Monte's Cafe and the L. P. Adams & Son store were picked from the window panes, broken, shattered and destroyed. It is believed the damage was done between 2 and 3 o'clock Saturday morning.

Officers have so far failed to find the guilty party or a reason for the deed.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through this office. Charlevoix Courier.—Adv.3tf.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

November 21, 1938

The common council of the city of Charlevoix met on the above date with Mayor Bridge presiding.

Aldermen present: Cartier, Hallett and Wood.

There not being quorum the council adjourned to Tuesday evening, November 22, 1938.

Ray S. Hamilton, City Clerk.

November 22, 1938

Aldermen present: Cartier, Erber, Hallett and Wood.

Moved by Alderman Wood, seconded by Alderman Erber that the estimate of Hall Electric Co. for $10,619.72 be allowed and order drawn for the amount. Motion carried by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas—Aldermen Cartier, Erber, Hallett and Wood. Nays—none. Absent—Heise and Hooker.

Alderman Erber offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Alderman Wood.

Resolution for Waiving of Liquidated Damages

A Resolution waiving Liquidated Damages and extending the time for completing the Transmission Line Contract on Power Plant Improvement Project.

Whereas, the city of Charlevoix (hereinafter referred to as "Owner") and Hall Electric Company (hereinafter referred to as "contractor") have entered into a contract for the performance of certain work, in connection with the construction of the Power Plant Improvement Project of the Owner;

Whereas, it is provided in the said contract, that in the event the said work is not completed by the 21st day of November, 1938, the said Contractor shall pay to the Owner as liquidated damages an amount computed on the basis of $25.00 for each day the said work remains uncompleted after the aforesaid date; and

Whereas, for the reasons hereinafter enumerated, it has become impossible for the Contractor to perform the said contract within the contractual date for completion; viz.

1. Time lost due to excessive rainfall and road conditions—3 days.

2. Additional time required for making various changes in pole locations along new right-of-way — 3 days.

3. Delays due to the fact the engineering forces of the city had not progressed rapidly enough and was behind in construction work—3 days.

Total of 9 days.

Whereas, it appears the said Contractor is not legally responsible for such delay in the completion of said contract, and accordingly, liquidated damages should not be assessed;

Now Therefore, Be and It Is Hereby Resolved by the common council of the city of Charlevoix (1) that the contractual date for completion of the said contract be extended to the 30th day of November, 1938; (2) that the city of Charlevoix waives any and all claims for liquidated damages arising out of the failure of the Contractor to complete the work prior thereto; and (3) that said contractual provision providing for liquidated damages shall otherwise remain in full force and effect provided, however, that liquidated damages may be hereafter assessed in accordance with the terms of the contract only from and after the aforesaid extended date for completion of the work.

Adopted by following yea and nay vote: Yeas—Aldermen Cartier, Erber, Hallett and Wood. Absent—Heise and Hooker.

Alderman Hallett offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Alderman Erber.

Resolution Authorizing a Contract Change

Be It Resolved by the city council of the city of Charlevoix, state of Michigan as follows:

1. That it is deemed advisable and for the best interest of said city that the contract between the said city and Hall Electric Company the Contractor, covering work on the project of said city, be changed in the following respects:

(a) Additional work of transferring to Charlevoix approximately 200 poles with crossarms at $1.00 each—$200.00.

2. That it is hereby determined that all the data necessary to obtain a comprehensive and intelligent bid, which data, prepared and assembled by D. F. Herrick are referred herein and made a part hereof, were properly submitted to said contractor with a request that such contractor submit a proposal to said city covering such proposed change.

3. That the proposal of said contractor, a copy of which is hereto attached, and made a part hereof, to make the said change and accept therefor an estimated increase in the contract price of $200.00, be and the same is hereby accepted for and in behalf of said city.

4. That such acceptance of the contractor's proposal shall be in full force and effect when a certified copy of this resolution is sent to the contractor by the engineer of the said city, and not until then.

Adopted by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas—Aldermen Cartier, Erber, Hallett and Wood. Absent—Heise and Hooker.

Moved by Alderman Cartier, seconded by Alderman Wood that the council offer a $25.00 reward for information leading to arrest of person destroying letters on merchants' show windows. Motion carried by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas—Aldermen Cartier, Erber, Hallett and Wood. Nays—none.

Ray S. Hamilton, City Clerk.

MICHIGAN RANKS 12TH IN POULTRY INDUSTRY

Too Many Flocks Kept Without Records and Without Profit

Michigan ranks nationally about 12th in a huge poultry industry, yet too many of the state's 196,000 farms are keeping laying flocks without records and without profit.

To make poultry more efficient and profitable, a new bulletin has been compiled by the farm management department at Michigan State College "Profitable Poultry Management," Special Bulletin No. 294.

Eighty-three per cent of farms maintain a flock either large or small in this state, according to the last census. Cost figures obtained by K. T. Wright indicate that among cooperators in the cost studies the most efficient poultrymen were able to show a net annual return of 86 cents a hen. The same study for the least efficient showed other poultrymen had an average loss of 21 cents a hen.

The state dairy marketing commission, which was created by Governor Murphy early in the fall, has been conducting hearings in order to ascertain the necessity of creating a state milk authority.

Spokesmen for labor unions put in their oar, too, demanding that legislation, if it be drawn, include a provision for an eight-hour day and a guaranteed wage for milk wagon drivers who are now paid on a commission basis.

The Borden Michigan study showed that of the 10.02 average price of a quart of milk delivered to the home 5.78 cents were paid for delivery, selling and miscellaneous expense. The wholesale cost per quart was 3.74 and expenses to prepare product for market, 1.69 cents.

This is all fine and dandy. We're all in favor of labor getting its just share along with producer and distributor.

Consumer's Interest

And then there is the consumer viewpoint.

Seldom if ever does the public offer voluntarily to pay a higher price.

If artificial regulation runs counter to the natural law of supply and demand, pegging prices arbitrarily, consumers usually buy less and producers find themselves with a surplus supply.

G. V. Branch, director of the Detroit municipal markets, advocates competition. He told the study commission "Cruel as it is, competition does wonderful things. It is the protection of the consumer. The only way to increase the consumption of milk is to lower its price."

As for competition, lack of it produces monopolistic conditions whether operated by private control or under government. Free and open competition, while benefiting the consumer with low prices, usually inspires someone to seek legislative remedy, often under the guise of "fair trade."

Milk Monopoly?

At the same time that the Michigan commission was getting testimony on milk price-fixing, a federal grand jury in Chicago brought indictments against 27 persons and organizations on charges of anti-trust law violations.

Among the distributors was the Borden company. Another defendant was the Pure Milk association, sales and bargaining agency for 12,000 member dairy farmers in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, and the milk drivers' union which is accused of making threats, intimidations and threats to protect major distributors against competition of independent rivals.

These defendants are accused of having fixed prices privately in violation of anti-trust laws. It's a dizzy merry-go-round!

Grand Rapids Fair

A new kind of a fair closed Saturday in Grand Rapids.

Called the Michigan Farm Festival and sponsored by public-spirited citizens, the event pioneered the idea of providing a market medium for Michigan farm products. Each exhibitor was required to sign an affidavit before his county agent that he had a reserve supply of produce available of like quality to those on display at the fair.

Exhibits were judged according to A, B and C grades. The consumer thus was afforded the protection of quality according to price.

The festival is the successful brain child of Fred Oltman, former banker in Grand Rapids, who is greatly interested in agricultural problems. Coming at the close of harvest, the event made available the best of Michigan farm produce for exhibit.

Entertainment was not overlooked, however. A "Follies International" revue of eight high-class acts and a dancing chorus was presented in the Civic auditorium at popular prices. This show was selected personally by the late Fred Chapman of Ionia, and it was well up to the usual Chapman standard of public amusement.

GM Workers Thankful

First, prosperity has returned to Michigan automobile towns. Plants are humming with activity. Dealers are crying for more cars. And the consumer is in a mood to buy. All of this makes for better-than-average earnings on the part of the automobile worker who heads the income list of American workers.

Second, the corporation is putting into effect in 1939 a new security plan whereby each employee is guaranteed an annual minimum income of 60 per cent of his average annual wage.

Workers will have their pay advanced to them, but without any interest cost. He will repay the loan at the rate of one-half the amount by which such earnings exceed 60 per cent of standard.

There are 53 hidden taxes in a loaf of bread, we are told, and we can't escape any of them by not eating the crust.

EDITORIAL

A LONG ROAD AHEAD

One of the most remarkable incidents in the history of radio occurred Sunday night, October 30.

Orson Wells, head of a dramatic theatre in New York City, staged an H. G. Wells dramatization titled "War of the Worlds," over the air waves on a national hook-up. It was done in the manner of news broadcasts, depicting events one upon another in rapid fire style, telling first about an astronomer in Chicago sighting Mars and saying a steady stream of gas-like jets was spurting out from its sides. A short time later the broadcast was apparently interrupted to announce that a meteor had fallen in New Jersey.

Then things really began to happen. It wasn't a meteor at all, but a bullet-like business containing Martians, strange, octopus-like creatures who were attacking the people in that community with guns that shot invisible death-dealing rays. People were killed by the thousands etc, etc. Finally the Martians died from colds, and the world was saved.

Now isn't that about as outlandish a business as you ever heard tell of? But here's the fly in the woodpile. Thousands upon thousands of people all over the country from Maine to Oregon, listened in and actually believed all that hokum, even though the broadcast was interrupted every so often to announce it was only a play. People tuned in, listened for a while—heard all the tomfoolishness, and actually believed it, and hysterically rushed out of their homes, telling everybody they saw all about the horrible catastrophe and warning them to leave their homes and get away from the horrible demons.

What does this all mean to you and you and you. "America, the land of the free and the home of the brave," absolutely believed this staged play over the radio and went on the receptions entirely. Do you question now why these demagogues on the air, preaching "hell and damnation," down with this and that," "class hatred," and continually sobbing about the poor and down-trodden one third get audiences by the millions and have people actually believing them? No—it is no mystery. Our great battle is to get these folks back ON the reservation, Teach them to thrash the wheat from the chaff, and realize how un-American all this nonsense really is.

If a soul is all that we can take with us when we die, a lot of people are going to be on the relief rolls at their next stopping place.

Another trouble with our country is that we have too many people dissatisfied with what is good, and too many who are satisfied with what is bad.

USE, DON'T SPEND MONEY

By Hester Renwick Fraser
Consumers' Counsel

Consumers' Bureau, Michigan State Department of Agriculture,

Using money, instead of spending it, will make your dollar go farther.

The secret of using money, as compared to spending it, lies in your confidence in the article at the time it is purchased. Be it towels, sheets or table linen, buy linen with confidence. Choose linen appropriate in style with your table setting and right in size. Bridge 36x36 inches, breakfast 45x45 inches, 54x54 inches, 54x72 inches, 63x88 inches; luncheon 54x54 inches; dinner 72x90 inches, 72x106 inches.

The most durable linen is firmly woven, and when free from dressing, is balanced in weave. Note whether the linen has been laundered. Heavy linen firmly woven is more durable than lighter linen. Poor linen is not as durable as good cotton. Linen resists soil better than cotton and stains are more easily removed from linen. Luster and wear increase with higher thread count in a balanced weave.

Pure linen of good quality thrives upon laundering. Bleaching linen weakens it. Iron linens crosswise on the wrong side, then lengthwise on the right side. Iron as few creases as possible into linens. Hand folding increases its life.

All colors should be fast. Hand hemming is preferable to machine hemming. When buying machine-hemmed linen, be sure the stitching has been done along the line of a thread that the shape will remain the same. Note careful workmanship in embroidered linens.

Firmness of weave and a balanced weave are an indication of durability in linen damask. Hotels which give their linens hard wear usually buy damask with a thread count from 160 to 270 with a balanced weave. By holding linen against a strong light, you can get some idea of the firmness and balance of the weave.

Buy your linens with confidence, and make your dollar go farther.

CULLING PULLETS FOUND PROFITABLE

Birds Lacking Vigor Should Be Sent to Market.

By F. P. Jeffrey, Instructor in Poultry Husbandry, New Jersey College of Agriculture. WNU Service.

In selecting pullets for the laying house, the poultryman has only a few criteria, but they are useful and should be observed explicitly. Culling all pullets which show lack of vigor and selling them for meat instead of housing them as layers is important to attaining good production.

Selection on the basis of body weight among pullets which are uniformly healthy unfortunately has but little value in respect to the number of eggs laid per year.

In case the poultryman has an excess of healthy pullets, however, he might still profitably discard the smallest birds for two reasons. In the first place there is a well-marked relationship between body weight and egg weight. In other words, the small pullets will tend to produce the smallest eggs during the year. In the second place, it has been observed in flocks bred for high egg production that there is a slight tendency for the large birds to show higher livability during the pullet year.

It is a well-recognized fact that the poultryman doing his own breeding should at all times avoid small body size when choosing birds for the breeding pens. The reason for such selection is that body size is inherited, and by eliminating small birds from the breeding pen the body size of the entire flock will profit.

Farmers Cut Expenses by Using Milo in Feed

Many farmers are planning to use milo grain in their feeding rations this fall and winter because it is considerably cheaper than corn and about equal to it for most classes of livestock except hogs.

Milo, one of the grain sorghums, closely resembles corn in composition even though it is somewhat lower in fat and slightly higher in protein, says H. B. Osland, associate in animal investigations for Colorado State College Experiment station at Fort Collins.

When fed to hogs, milo is worth 91 per cent of the value of corn. Milo should be properly supplemented with tankage. Grinding is usually advisable. Grinding increased its value 41 per cent when fed to cattle in a Texas experiment. Steers fed kafir, which is similar in feeding value to milo, gained 2.18 pounds per head daily on a ratio that also contained protein supplement, hay and cane and corn silage.

Tests in several states show milo equal to corn for fattening lambs, but grinding milo does not pay when it is fed to sheep.

If it is fed to dairy cattle, however, milo must be ground, Osland reports. A Kansas experiment shows that milo is approximately equal to corn as a feed for dairy cattle.

Egg Shell Hard When Laid

The shell of the hen's egg is under normal conditions hard at the time that the egg is laid. The shell is deposited by special mineral-secreting glands in the upper part of the reproductive system. The egg has several hours to harden before it is laid. There is a lapse of time of twenty-four to twenty-six hours between the time that the yolk is released and the time that the egg is laid. It is under abnormal conditions when there is some physiological upset in the reproductive organs that the soft-shelled egg is laid.

Handling Chopped Hay

Since chopping of hay is being done more generally farmers need to take into consideration the fact that a ton of chopped hay takes only about 200 cubic feet of mow room while a ton of long or loose hay takes 600 feet. Because many mows are not built to hold the excess weight which is possible when the hay is chopped, care must be taken not to overload mows. There is also a tendency for chopped hay to heat more than long or loose hay unless it is well cured.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

Building and Loan Report Ready

Figures showing that industrial centers of Michigan are experiencing a shortage of housing facilities, and that in cases of well maintained property, rents are rising, are shown in a preliminary survey of the annual report now finished by the Building and Loan Division of the Department of State.

This report being compiled for submission by Leon D. Case, secretary of state, to Governor Frank Murphy, will cover a period of twelve months.

Michigan has 51 active and 4 liquidating state chartered Building and Loan Associations. 78,477 members and investors have $65,120,741.58 invested. The total assets of the 55 associations is $80,907,344.75. First mortgage loans number 21,518 with an investment of $86,766,798.40.

During the twelve months' period, there were 6,117 properties sold on land contracts with a total value of $13,261,100.44. This shows an active demand this year for real estate acquired in previous years. There were 3,764 new loans made during the year. Of this amount 844 were made for the construction of new homes; 858 for purchase of new homes; 550 for refinancing of home loans held by others; 424 for additions, repairs and reconditioning of homes; and 1,036 for all other purposes.

Activities of building associations of Michigan, as reflected in the records of the Building and Loan Division, show that these associations have had a vital part in supporting the institutions of government during the past year.

bucks with either spike or prong horns. Discounting the fact that the old, wise bucks take to cover as soon as the first gunning starts, one can come only to the conclusion that the stock of buck deer has been badly depleted to a point where only the young ones are available. And it's little wonder when you once see the number of hunters in the territory. There is a fire line or road every square mile and without exaggeration, would estimate 50 hunters to every square mile. It was nothing to see as high as 15 or 20 camps where a creek or river crossed a road. And trailers—I never knew there were so many in Michigan. The same conditions existed in a territory 20 miles wide and 40 miles long. Our party of four saw over 60 does the first morning. There was shooting on every side from the minute it was light enough to see until around 10 o'clock in the morning. Sixteen hunters passed my stand in less than a half hour. Six does went to my left, met a barrage of shot and crossed over to my right to receive the same greeting. I saw that same bunch at least a half dozen times in a short period. It's a good thing the marksmanship was poor. How a buck deer could travel a mile through that section without being shot is beyond me and the only result possible is that they soon will have only does.

Saw one pitiful sight. There was a sheep ranch a mile square enclosed by ordinary woven wire fence with a double strand of barbed wire at the top. Walking along one side of this fence I counted four dead deer hung up in the barbed wire. They were mostly deer too small to make the jump. The coyotes had cleaned the carrasses up as far as they could reach. They told me the fellow who owned the ranch released 500 sperial breed of sheep in the enclosure a couple years ago. The coyotes got 300 of them in a year's time and he quit the venture.

Everything considered, however, believe the local boys who went into the woods have kept up the usual average in the number of buck killed. There has been a lot of bucks brought into town so far.

Had you stopped to think that it's only 31 days before Christmas?

Wouldn't it be swell to have $65,000 dropped into Charlevoix for labor and materials during the dull winter season? Well, unless enough of us vote "Yes" on the proposal to bond for $36,000 for a new city hall and fire station on December 7th, that money won't be spent here. We won't get a PWA grant of $29,000, our city offices will be scattered all over town and our fire station remain stuck in a hole in the wall. Just think that over.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through this office. Charlevoix Courier.—Adv.3tf.

CONSERVATION CLUBS TO MEET DECEMBER 3

Session at Grand Rapids Will Cover Variety Important Topics

Live issues in current conservation affairs in Michigan will be projected to center and front at Grand Rapids on December 3rd when Michigan United Conservation Clubs, an association of 68 conservation clubs and groups with thousands of members throughout the state, holds its first annual meeting.

Election of officers will be the final business of the session Saturday evening. All the meetings will conclude with the evening dinner which will be held in the Furniture Temple building, with the first sessions called for 2:30 in the afternoon.

Committees are now working on the various subjects which will be proposed for discussion at the session. Among the subjects listed for consideration are: Various aspects of commercial fishing; the teaching of conservation in the schools; the code of public water rights; small game regulations; repeal of legislation prohibiting the hunting of fox squirrels; fishing license fees; control of seasons, bag limits and other regulations concerning the taking of wild game, birds and fish; revision of the $1.50 deer license fund.

Among the proposals which have been offered to the organization and which undoubtedly will receive special attention at the annual meeting, that pertaining to commercial fishing regulations includes the question of closing Potaganissing and Traverse Bays. Support for the proposal to remove the ban on fox squirrels is expected to develop, and the suggestion that the state department of conservation be given more effective authority on controlling seasons, bag limits and other regulations which are now legislative, is also expected to be a subject for considerable debate.

NATIONAL DEBT HITS NEW ALL-TIME RECORD

Treasury Statement Shows U. S. Is $38,462,377,297 in the "Red"

The public debt soared to an all-time peak of $38,462,377,297 on November 1, the treasury disclosed.

At the same time, spending so far this year crossed the $3,000,000,000 mark. The treasury's daily analysis of receipts and expenditures showed that spending between July 1 and November 1 aggregated $3,033,108,583, compared with $2,621,508,182 in the corresponding period last year.

Primary reason for the boost to a new peak in the national debt was the transfer by the treasury on November 1 of $33,500,000 to the old age reserve and railroad retirement accounts. These transfers are in the form of special obligations of the treasury, and therefore are a debt of the government to those accounts.

REPUBLICANS CONTROL IN MICHIGAN

VANWAGONER LONE DEMOCRAT ON STATE BOARD

Republican Majorities Held In Both Senate and House—One Special Proposal Was Carried

The full force of the Republican sweep in Michigan's election Tuesday becomes more apparent as belated returns trickled in from outstate points.

The entire Republican ticket was placed in office, leaving only one Democratic vote on the state administrative board—that of State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner, whose term does not expire until 1941.

Republicans were given a majority of more than two to one in Michigan's delegation to congress, while they received a three to one majority in the state senate and came within one vote of a three to one majority in the state house of representatives.

Thus, for the first time since 1932, the Republicans after January 1 will find themselves in control of every branch of the state government.

14 Counties for Murphy

Final returns showed that Governor Murphy carried but 14 counties, compared with the 22 that gave him majorities in 1936. His only lower Michigan majorities were in Wayne, Bay, Muskegon and Presque Isle. Above the straits he carried Alger, Baraga, Delta, Dickinson, Gogebic, Houghton, Keweenaw, Marquette, Menominee and Ontonagon.

Governor-elect Frank D. Fitzgerald was victor by 89,000 votes in his return match with the man who unseated him by 19,000 votes in the Democratic landslide of 1936.

One Proposal Carried

The constitutional amendment to prohibit diversion of gasoline and automobile weight taxes to other than highway purposes was the only state proposition to win.

The proposed amendments providing 4-year terms for certain county officials and for appointment of justices to the state supreme court were soundly rejected.

Belated returns indicated defeat of the proposed welfare and relief organization proposal, shattering Democratic hopes of salvaging that item of Governor Murphy's social legislation program.

Mr. Babson is a dynamic speaker and his views on the temperance question will be worth hearing.

206 HIDDEN TAXES INCREASE COST OF 1939-MODEL AUTOS

A mountain of 206 hidden taxes will burden the cost of the shiny new 1939-model autos, research analysts of the National Consumers Tax Commission declared today.

The taxes, levied during the stream of commerce and passed on to the consumer, will add nearly ten per cent to the cost, the analysts said in a study made public by Mrs. W. R. Alvord, of Highland Park, the Michigan represemative on the NCTC national committee.

Coming as thousands of auto workers returned to jobs and auto industry improvement brightened the nation's business outlook, the study warned that general prosperity is dependent upon consumer prosperity.

"Business cannot prosper without satisfactory consumer purchasing power," it stated "This purchasing power must be aided by removal of unnecessary tax burdens on the consumer."

The hidden taxes paid by the car buyer are levied originally against producers of steel, malleable iron, aluminum, copper, lead, zinc, cotton, wool and glycerine, manufacturers of rubber, plate glass, leather, cloth and auto, importers and manufacturers of tin and nickel, railroad and dealer, according to the study.

They add $73.60 to the cost of a car retailing at $783, the analysts said. Seventy-two of the taxes are state and local, while 134 are federal.

The NCTC, a women's organization with headquarters in Chicago, crusading against "taxes that penalize the consumer," now has 34 units in Michigan and more than 500 in the nation, Mrs. Alvord said.

CANNING RECORD WINS MEDAL FOR 4-H GIRL

Miss Irene Bruntnall of East Jordan, has been awarded a handsome gold medal for the record she submitted in the National 4-H canning contest. She was designated for the award by the county agent and state club leader as 1938 canning champion of Charlevoix county.

The medal is in the form of a shield nearly one inch deep on which is embossed a horn of plenty, laurel branch and 4-leaf clover.

CHANGE IN BUSINESS OWNERSHIP REQUIRES NEW SECURITY NUMBER

"Employers who buy a business formerly operated by another person or corporation should obtain a new social security employer's identification number."

This statement was made today by Clifton H. Little, manager of the old-age insurance bureau field office in the Weaver Building in Traverse City.

"All employers of one or more who are engaged in commerce or industry are, unless specifically exempted, covered under the old-age insurance part of the Social Security Act," Mr. Little said.

"These employers must have identification numbers which they use at the time they pay taxes to the U. S. collector of internal revenue, as required under the old-age insurance plan. The employer's identification number is entirely different from the employee's social security account number.

"If John Smith buys William Jones' grocery, then Mr. Smith should at once obtain a new identification number. Our office has applications which are used for this purpose and gives all necessary service involved in operation of the old-age insurance plan in the counties of Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Clare, Crawford, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Leelanau, Manistee, Missaukee, Osceola, Otsego, Wexford and also the island of Mackinac," Mr. Little said.

COMPLETE INFORMATION

Regarding The

City Hall and Fire Station

PROPOSITION

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF CHARLEVOIX:

The proposition to raise $36,000 for the purpose of paying the City share of the cost of building a combined city hall and fire station, together with furnishings and equipment complete, which you voted upon on November 8th, failed by so small a margin of the necessary two-thirds vote, and so many voters were confused by the large number of amendments voted upon at the same time, that the council, in response to requests by many taxpayers, has decided to re-submit the proposition to you on December 7th, next, so that there will be no mistake in the matter.

First, you will understand that this is not going to increase taxes. The tax limit is 15 mills for all purposes. That amount is already being raised. It means only a different use of the taxes raised until the bonds are paid. There must be a proper apportionment, that is all.

The city is out of debt. The electric bond issue recently made is self-paying from earnings. The railroad bridge bonds are out of the way. It will not be difficult to take care of the new bonds. They draw a very low rate of interest. Not more than 3%. The electric bonds were sold at about 2.60%. It is not probable that we will ever be able to get so low a rate in the future because interest rates are bound to raise.

You need have no douhts about the federal grant of 45% or approximately $29,000. This is an OUTRIGHT GRANT OR GIFT. It does not have to be repaid. Remember this is not a WPA proposition, but a PWA project, two vastly different things.

LOCAL LABOR. The project will give needed labor to local citizens who will be preferred. The payroll will be a substantial one too.

THE KIND OF BUILDING. The building will be 58x86 and will be located on the city owned lot at the corner of State and Mason streets, purchased by the city for a city hall cite away back in 1918. It will be of fire proof construction according to plans procured by the city council in 1934. The walls will be of native rock. It will have, besides city offices, a community room 22x46 feet, suitable for community use, Boy Scouts, public gatherings and the like, a much needed convenience for the people. It is suggested that you CALL at the city clerk's office and find out for yourself what the building will look like.

Do you know that for over 50 years the city has been without a City Hall, using a make-shift basement space in the library. The library could use that space to the advantage of the people. The city has no fire proof vaults for the storage of records, not a safe condition. The expensive fire engines and equipment are now housed, as you know, in a sheet iron fire trap.

Just pause to figure out what we are getting and then make your decision accordingly. If we toss this $29,000 gift out of the window it is gone forever. We probably never will have another chance. Cities and towns all over the country are accepting these gifts up to millions of dollars. If we refuse ours some other town will get it. Make no mistake about that. Why ought not Charlevoix get its share?

The Mayor, City Clerk, any alderman will be more than glad to explain the entire matter and answer all questions. If you have any doubts please see them. It looks like a clean, clear-cut proposition and that is just what it is.

SPECIAL MEETING NFLA DECEMBER 8

SESSION AT BOYNE CITY TO OPEN AT 10 A. M.

H. C. Bedell, Secretary-Treasurer, Expects Attendance of Over 800 at Special Get-Together

Completed plans for the special meeting on December 8th of the national farm-loan association stockholders and land bank commissioner borrowers were announced this week by H. C. Bedell, secretary-treasurer of the Boyne City group office.

The sessions will be held in the high school gymnasium at Boyne City. The morning session will be called to order at 10:00 a. m. by Secretary-Treasurer Bedell, who will then introduce all the association directors present. Following this "get-acquainted" feature, the assembled members and commissioner borrowers will elect a chairman of their own choosing.

The forenoon session will include a secretary's report on progress of the group, also a brief report on the financial situation of the federal land bank, and "the decks will be cleared" so that farmers can utilize the afternoon session for discussion of the local problems and conditions.

Mr. Gardhamer, J. B. Keenan, and M. H. Button, from the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul will also attend at the invitation of local association officials and discuss charts showing the financial situation of the land bank and its relation to the local group.

At noon the Methodist Ladies' Aid will serve an excellent luncheon, and all those present will be guests of the Federal Land Bank and the national farm loan associations.

All members, borrowers, and their wives will be registered as they come in, and all of the will be invited to ask questions and take an active part in the afternoon session beginning at 1:30 p. m. which has been set aside for the "round table discussions."

From the number of post cards returned asking that luncheon be prepared it is estimated about 800 people plan to attend this meeting.

COMMUNITY INTEREST BECOMES CENTERED ON CHRISTMAS

With Thanksgiving Day of 1938 marked off the calendar, the community has turned its attention toward Christmas and the holiday season.

Window displays of Christmas toys and holiday merchandise, which are now being put in place, have all helped focus attention on the coming event. Festive appearance of the business district will be enhanced by Yuletide decorations.

The fact that only 21 more shopping days remain before gifts go on the Christmas trees on Christmas Eve is also helping to stimulate holiday interest and impress upon shoppers that their time is limited.

URGE EARLY RETURN TB XMAS SEAL FUNDS

Continued Need of Money to Battle Disease Is Pointed Out

Faced with Michigan's continued need for tuberculosis Christmas seal funds, residents of the state were urged this week to make early returns for seals mailed to them Thanksgiving Day, by Dr. Bruce H. Douglas, president of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. Dr. Douglas urged all to buy seals according to their means.

Tuberculosis, an utterly needless disease, last year took a toll of 2,100 Michigan lives, statistics of the Association reveal. Many of these deaths, said Association officials, might have been prevented had the Christmas seal funds been adequate enough to supply modern weapons of discovery while the disease was still in its early stages. The tuberculin test and diagnostic chest x-ray — Christmas seal financed methods of early detection—could have discovered the White Plague when only a minimum of treatment would have been required for recovery, it was pointed out.

COUNCIL AWARDS FOURTH CONTRACT

GRAND RAPIDS FIRM LOW ON ELECTRIC SWITCH GEAR

Bids on Bellaire Plant Improvement Remain on Municipal Electric System Extension Program

At an adjourned meeting Tuesday night, the city council awarded the fourth of five contracts to be given in connection with the electric light system extension and improvement program.

Contract for power plant switch gear went to the Clement Industrial Electric Company of Grand Rapids, whose bid of $12,644.00 was low in seven which ran as high as $18,392.00. Previous contracts awarded were to the Hall Electric Company, Muskegon, for the Charlevoix-Bellaire transmission line; the Rathbun-Jones Engineering Co. for diesel generating unit; the Kit Carson Lumber Company for power plant addition.

One more contract remains, covering improvements at the Bellaire hydro-electric plant. Bids so far accepted have been considerably below estimates made in presentation of the program for PWA approval, thus assuring an ample balance for contingencies.

Progress on the program up to the present time includes near completion of the new transmission line. Work on this project will be finished this week. Construction of the Ferry avenue plant addition has been started. The entire project must be completed before June 13, 1939, according to City Superintendent Don Herrick.

AN EDITORIAL

The Courier again wishes to urge its readers who are eligible to vote to approve the city hall and fire station proposal at the special election of Wednesday, December 7th.

In the past it has been our policy to point out the reasons why the proposal should be approved—setting forth the need for such a civic improvement, that it is now opportune through reason of an available PWA grant of 45% of the cost, and the fact that such a project would provide employment during the winter season.

This time we are going to tear down the arguments being used by opponents of the proposal. One of the most active opponents—a person who only this morning boasted having lined up 22 votes against it—happens to be on the government payroll, a position which he no doubt earned and deserves. However, his position is one of not being dependent upon the extent of local business for his livelihood. He will draw his salary whether the wheels of industry turn in Charlevoix or not. He does not have to depend upon his own initiative in the field of competition to earn his salary. We, the taxpayers (even though our part be a small one) provide the federal purse with funds to pay this fellow's salary, yet he would throw obstacles in our way toward providing ourselves a better city and bettering its economic condition. He opposes the city hall and fire station proposal because he does not favor the government's so-called lend-spend program—merely a matter of principal. It probably has never occurred to him that Charlevoix citizens will pay their proportionate share of this federal program whether they receive any benefit from it or not. The only answer is, then, to get your share. It is the hope of this writer that all of the 22 persons this fellow has argued into voting against the proposal read this article and thus get a slant on this man from the other fellow's viewpoint.

Another group of active opponents are a few who only a couple of years ago first advanced the city hall and fire station proposal. They obtained the building plans at a cost of several hundred dollars and only dropped the matter when they failed to get the plans into the proper federal agencies in time for approval. If the proposal was worthy of their consideration then—why not now? The need, nor any other circumstances have changed. The only conclusion one can come to is that it is a personal matter—perhaps political vengeance—with these individuals.

The foregoing covers the most active objectors. Others probably have their own reasons, which they are entitled to, for their opposition. We are not attempting to dictate to anyone. We merely ask our readers to be open minded about the matter and above all, to look after their own civic interests without influence from obstructionists.

BEAVER ISLAND AIR MAIL SERVICE OPENED

First Trip Made Tuesday—Regular Service Starts January 1

Beaver Island had its first airmail service of the 1938-39 winter season Tuesday when two trips were made to handle mail and passengers.

Rudy Peckrule of Boyne City, who has been awarded a contract which calls for regular service starting January 1 by Capt. Leroy Allers, who holds the Charlevoix-Beaver Island mail contract, flew the route.

The plane, a 6-place Buhl air sedan powered with a late Wright J-6 330 h. p., is said to be the best ever to fly the route. Capt. Allers stated that the plane would be used for emergencies and during stormy weather when the boat is unable to operate during the balance of December and that regular service would be inaugurated January 1st.

OUTLINE DENTAL PROGRAM DEC. 8

COUNTY - WIDE MEETING AT HIGH SCHOOL ANNOUNCED

Dr. K. R. Gibson, Michigan Children's Fund, to Speak on Plans for 1938-39 School Year

A meeting of more than ordinary interest has been announced for Thursday, December 8th, when Dr. K. R. Gibson, head of the dental division of the Michigan Childrens Fund, will outline the 1938-39 dental program for Charlevoix county.

Dr. Gibson's appearance, arranged by Dr. Carleton Dean, director of District Health Unit No. 3, will be at the high school assembly at 8 o'clock. Invitation to attend the meeting has been extended school teachers, school board members and school patrons of Charlevoix county.

Charlevoix county schools established an enviable record in dental correction last year. In fact, it is claimed that history has no other record in which dental work was carried on to the degree attained in this county. Some twenty schools won banners and several others approached the 100% efficiency mark. Dr. Gibson's talk will outline plans to follow this marvelous attainment.

The Rural Teachers' Association is cooperating in arranging the meeting. Several reels of educational movies will be included in the program.

Charlevoix county citizens are urged to reserve the date and plan attendance at this important meeting.

WINTER TAX RATE LOWER THIS YEAR

DECREASE OF 2 MILLS FOR GENERAL COUNTY PURPOSES

School Debt Service Also Reduced, Bringing Rate Down to $17 from 1937 Assessment of $19.35

Winter taxes which become payable Thursday, December 1, at the office of City Treasurer F. V. Tyler, will be considerably lower than last year, according to figures just released.

The rate spread will be $17.00 per thousand dollars valuation, compared with $19.35 last year. The 1936 tax was $19.20 and the 1935 was $22.18.

Spread against the city valuation, the winter tax charged to Charlevoix property owners will appear, per thousand dollars valuation, as follows:

County	$ 9.00
Schools	4.00
Schools debt	4.00
	$17.00

The 1937 figures were:

County	$10.85
Schools	4.00
School debt	4.50

Contributing the largest to this year's decrease is the reduction in the amount raised for county purposes from $10.35 to $9 per thousand, also the drop in the amount assessed for school debt service from $4.50 to $4.00. The amount assessed for school operation remains the same as last year.

Winter taxes go for county and school purposes entirely. The county realizes funds for general operating expenses, activities of the county poor and relief commission, etc. The schools receive a portion for general operating expenses and a debt service, which in Charlevoix's case, goes for retirement of bonded indebtedness.

Taxes are payable without four per cent penalty for collection until January 5th, unless the penalty limit is not later extended by the city council.

ADVISES PROTECTION AGAINST DIPHTHERIA

Dr. Carleton Dean Reports Discovery Three Cases at Petoskey

Repeating his warning that all children should be protected against diphtheria immediately, Dr. Carleton Dean, of the District Health Unit, has revealed that three more cases have developed in Petoskey.

"We have found two girls and one boy with diphtheria in the last day or two and prompt treatment has prevented serious illness," Dr. Dean said. "We have also discovered two school girls with diphtheria germs in their throats but they have not as yet developed the disease.

"I cannot urge too strongly that all parents should see that their children are protected immediately. If this is not done, we may face a widespread epidemic of diphtheria in this area."—Petoskey Evening News.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Kan Usher

See by Albert Stoll Jr.'s column in the outdoor page of the Detroit News where the conservation commission thinks the time has come to ask the legislature to place a limit of five fish per person on lake trout taken by deep sea trolling in the Great Lakes. The reason is that this sport has grown to an extent where tons of fish are being taken annually in this manner. That sure furnishes a laugh for anyone who knows about this trolling business. There is a lot of trolling done here at Charlevoix and in Grand Traverse and Little Traverse Bays, and will bet you could count on the fingers of your two hands those people who last season caught over five fish in a day's trolling. One commercial fishing operator would lift more fish in a single day this fall than all the trollers collectively caught all last season. If the conservation commission wants to do something for the lake trout they should start from some other angle than the trollers. A cooperative plan with the Federal Bureau of Fisheries which would result in operation of the now closed hatcheries and produce some fish to replace those that are being caught would seem a far more sensible thing to do.

From a strictly commercial angle, would have been much better off if I'd taken the Missus' advice and bought a quarter of beef. But just to sooth my own feelings and those of the other unfortunates too, will say that no one can understand that urge we fellas have to go to the woods when the deer season opens. It's one time when the commercial angle just don't enter into things.

See by the Gaylord paper where eight elk which had been shot illegally were brought into that town. Gaylord's editor can't figure out how anyone could mistake an elk for a deer, but if you ask me that's not half as hard to figure out as the guy who wounded two lads by shooting at a CCC truck thinking it was a

With the inauguration of Republicans into state offices just one month away, two questions are uppermost in the minds of capitol observers here:

What is Frank Fitzgerald, gnvernor-elect, going to do?

Thousands of state employees, despite their newly acquired civil service ratings, are wondering if the threatened "purge" of payrolls will hit them. Fitzgerald made a sweeping promise during the primary and election campaigns that he would drastically slash the state payroll "within 60 days". While it is not likely that the new administration will scuttle civil service, which was sponsored during Fitzgerald's first term, yet the firing of many employees is considered inevitable.

Question No. 2: What is Frank Murphy, governor-defeat, going to do after December 31?

Speculation is rife. Rumors have already heralded his appointment to the United States Supreme court, return to the governor generalship of the Philippines, selection to fill a

PREPARED... for any emergency

RAGING FIRES . . . swirling floods . . . blinding blizzards . . . icy sleet storms . . . many are the means at Nature's command for destroying telephone lines.

This company and its 9000 skilled employees stand ever ready to cope with emergencies, armed with the best equipment and material reserves. Backed, too, by other Bell System companies which, because Bell equipment and methods are standardized, can lend immediate aid.

When the recent blizzard swept northern Michigan, telephone circuits were demolished . . . towns cut off. Yet this company's repair crews quickly restored service.

When the terrific September hurricane tore through New England at a cost of 500 lives, millions of dollars worth of telephone apparatus was destroyed. This and other Bell companies rushed men, operators, material and equipment into the stricken area. The tremendous task of restoring a half million telephones to service was accomplished in record time.

It is comforting to know that, however great the emergency, this company, with such Bell System backing, is prepared to keep Michigan's vital telephone service alive.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

Change of Address Required on Drivers License

Relatively few licensed drivers of motor vehicles in the state have ever realized that the same law that requires them to be licensed also stipulates that they must notify the department of state immediately of any change of residence address. Notification is made through local police and sheriffs offices on forms furnished by the department.

The licensing statute provides that failure to have any change of address recorded in the prescribed manner may be cause for revocation or suspension of an operator's or chauffeur's license.

The operators and chauffeurs division of the department of state has been unable on many occasions to furnish the correct home address of license operators, when the appeal for aid in locating people sought was for the purpose of notifying friends or relatives of injuries or even death. Missing persons have been located through the records of the department by relatives who knew that the person was a licensed automobile driver in Michigan. In unsuccessful cases, failure to locate the missing person was attributable only to negligence on the part of the operator to file his change of address. There have been many instances in which badly injured persons could be identified only by their names or serial numbers on their drivers licenses. But when the addresses are wrong, delays in more complete identifications are experienced and in some cases it is impossible ever to trace the proper residence address.

Leon D. Case, secretary of state, advises that all licensed chauffeurs and operators check their home addresses on their licenses. It requires only a few moments to properly record the correct address and any subsequent changes that may be made.

When A. J. Cronin Wrote "Citadel" He Had Robert Donat in Mind for the Doctor Role

When Dr. A. J. Cronin wrote the novel that was to place him at the top of the best-seller lists in both England and America, he wrote it with the idea that Robert Donat would be its ideal star should the book ever reach the screen.

The book, "The Citadel," has reached the screen, and M-G-M in filming it as its second British-made production, following on the successful "Yank at Oxford," concerned with the author's views in its selection of the male star.

For Robert Ronat plays Dr. Andrew Manson in the filmization of "The Citadel," which will be shown starting Saturday, December 3, at the Palace Theatre, with the American Rosalind Russell enacting the doctor's wife and other prominent roles in a cast of one hundred speaking parts filled by such well-known British artists as Ralph Richardson, Rex Harrison, Emlyn Williams and Penelope Dudley-Ward, under the direction of King Vidor.

"God the Only Cause and Creator" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, December 4.

The Golden Text (Isaiah 43:15) is: "I am the Lord, your Holy One, the creator of Israel, your King."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Psalm 145:9-11): "The Lord is good to all: and his tender mercies are over all his works. All thy works shall praise thee, O Lord; and thy saints shall bless thee. They shall speak of the glory of thy kingdom, and talk of thy power."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 331): "The Scriptures imply that God is All-in-all. From this it follows that nothing possesses reality nor existence except the divine Mind and His ideas. Everything in God's universe expresses Him."

USE, DON'T SPEND MONEY

By Hester Renwick Fraser
Consumers' Counsel

Consumers' Bureau, Michigan State Department of Agriculture,

Using money, instead of spending it, will make your dollar go farther.

The secret of using money, as compared to spending it, lies in your confidence in the article at the time it is purchased.

Can you buy poultry with confidence?

Choose a bird for inspection and examine it personally. Good poultry has a wide breast, well-fleshed body and short legs. Its youth is detected by smooth skin, sharp claws, absence of long hairs on the body and a flexible breast bone. Dry-picked birds keep better than those scalded with boiling water. Fresh dressed poultry has been frozen sufficiently to bring it to market in good condition. Frozen poultry should be delivered to the consumer still frozen.

Roasting chickens should be from 5 to 9 months old, weighing at least 3½ pounds. A 3-4 pounds roasting chicken, when stuffed and wasted, should serve six to eight people. Capons are the most tender and of the best flavor of all roasting chickens.

Young turkeys, hens, or toms, should be less than a year old, and weight should be from 8 to 18 pounds. Turkey hens have wider and deeper breasts than the toms.

If the entrails are removed, the bird has been drawn. An undrawn bird includes about 25% unedible portion.

Since very little poultry carries a lable or grade, ask your butcher for details of quality and method of cleaning and preserving the bird.

Know how to buy poultry, and make your dollar go farther.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Problems Arising from Lighting the School Building

At one of our schools, as the result of an eye examination conducted by the teacher, it was found that two children needed glasses and had not realized the fact before. In that particular room, five of the children were already wearing glasses and one child raised the question as to whether poor lighting conditions at the school were not somewhat to blame. This question led to a discussion which resulted in a study of these problems in lighting.

How can we make the room a better place for study purposes through improvements in lighting?

How can we possibly help reduce the amount of eye defects?

After studying their own situation thoroughly and looking up questions on lighting in books, the children compiled a report showing that,

1. There is insufficient light in the schoolroom as indicated by a light meter.

2. On measurement there is found to be one square foot of window area ea each eight square feet of floor area. The minimum set for standard schools is one square foot of window area to each five square feet of floor area.

3. The windows are on the north and south of the building. (a) Thus there is cross lighting. (b) Light from the northeast, northwest or from the east and west is preferred to the north and south. The former can more easily be regulated.

4. The window shades are of dark green material. When used to cut out the glare of the sun directly or the glare as reflected from the snow, they cut down too much on the amount of light available.

5. The walls were once light in color, but smoke from the stove has blackened them considerably. Dark walls do not reflect light nearly as well a slight walls; most of the light is absorbed.

6. A grove of shade trees serve to eliminate some of the needed light.

7. The stove is located in position to cut out part of the light from one window.

8. The use of window curtains and window decorations eliminate some of the light that otherwise would be available.

9. The blackboards are placed between windows which make it hard to read the writing on them because of glare.

10. The composition blackboards have been given a bright finish which further make it hard to read writing on them because of glare.

11. Five of us wear glasses and two others need them.

Following the application of these facts to their own situation, the children decided that they could help to change things for the better. Accordingly they,

1. Removed the decorations from the windows and gave the windows a thorough cleaning.

2. Kept the curtains pushed back, making use of them only to cut down the glare of the sun as reflected from the snow.

3. Kept the window shades up to the top unless it was necessary to use them to keep the sun from shining in someone's eyes, or on someone's work.

4. Called it to the attention of the Health Department that two children needed glasses. The Health Department saw to it that these two were given a medical examination. Following these examinations, through cooperation of the parents both children were supplied with glasses.

5. Broadcast the lighting needs of the school to our parents at home.

6. Together drew up a letter of recommendation urging our school board,

(a) To change the lighting system, placing a battery of windows on one side of the building—north preferred to south—providing enough light so that there is at least one square foot of window area to each five square feet of floor area; and placing them high enough so that the light is thrown clear across the room. The width of the room is narrow enough so that this can be successfully done.

(b) To place the seats on runners so that they may be shifted to an angle in the classroom instead of directly facing the front of the room, the idea being to get the light from the northeast or northwest.

(c) To redecorate the room a light color, making the ceiling a lighter color than the walls.

(d) To place the blackboards at the front of the room where there is less chance of glare.

(e) To provide adjustable, light colored (translucent) shades, thus making it much easier to eliminate glare properly without eliminating too much of the needed light.

(f) To sacrifice some of the shade trees in the interest of conserving our eyesight.

(g) To shift the stove so that it cannot block out any needed light.

Following receipt of this letter, the school board sent representatives to visit the school while it was in session and concluding that their children had given them a true picture of actual conditions, they took action at their next school board meeting. At the beginning of the present school year, the children went to school in a building that had been improved by 50 to 75 per cent in lighting.

Enjoy the world's best automatic heat

WILLIAMS OIL-O-MATIC HEATING

Now selling for less than ever before!

Only OIL-O-MATIC has these 3 patented money-saving features

1. THE METERING PUMP—feeds correct quantity of oil for perfect combustion regardless of variations in temperature or viscosity of oil.
2. PROJECTED FLAME—No part of an Oil-O-Matic is inside the furnace. Thus vital parts are not exposed to effects of heat.
3. THE DIFFUSOR—permits intermingling of fuel oil and air inside the furnace, resulting in complete combustion, lower fuel bills.

STOP letting your coal shovel dominate your life! Next winter enjoy truly great automatic heat . . . Williams Oil-O-Matic heat. Never again will you need to pay homage to a shovel!

With Oil-O-Matic, you just set it and forget it. Your house stays at the temperature you want it to be . . . automatically. Drudgery is once and forever eliminated.

Today's prices on Oil-O-Matic (the world's largest selling oil burner) are far, far lower than ever before. Yet today's Oil-O-Matic is the finest ever built by Williams famous temperature control engineers.

So—plan now to own an Oil-O-Matic. 12 to 36 months to pay!

FACE to FACE,

more than an oil-change!

SEE how refreshing it is, the way Your Mileage Merchant—here in the paper and at his Conoco station—backs up his statements about Germ Processed oil. It brings you more than an oil-change, because right after it is pumped up from the crankcase like any oil, it does something any oil cannot do. Energized by the Germ Process—patented—it bonds to every working part and stays up lastingly in the form of OIL-PLATING. Even grindstones can scarcely remove OIL-PLATING, so it certainly cannot drain down while your car stands cold—no matter how long. Therefore the instant you want to start up, every engine part swiftly and safely slides into action on its ready OIL-PLATING—the lubricant that plainly can't be held back by any cold; that can't hold back your battery. The quick starts tell you there's no grinding wear in your OIL-PLATED engine. It won't get hoggish with your Conoco Germ Processed oil, another good straight reason for you to change to Your Mileage Merchant today.

NICE WORK

Frankly we are not the kind of folks who gloat over a victory of any nature, no matter how hard the battle or how long the fight. But there was one little remark issued by Governor Murphy last summer which nobody has thought to remind him of since the election results have been tabulated and he was found to be on the short end.

Do you remember what it was? He said it in answer to a reporter's remark that Frank Fitzgerald had announced his candidncy for the job he holds. "It's nice work if you can get it," said the Governor, and now we can only finish it for him by saying, "You can get it if you try," as has been proven.

We promise not to refer to it again.

MYOBIST

Recently Wilfred J. Funk, the dictionary man, put out his dog dictionary, giving the vocabulary of the average dog. And it seems a bright "Fido" knows as many as 250 words.

It is even said that some silent individuals can get along on 350 words—believe it or not.

However, the average person uses around 10,000 words to conduct his daily living. Even Shakespere had only a 25,000 word vocabulary.

So it's rather startling to learn that the man who is radio's pronunciation authority, Frank Vizetelly, has 200,000 words at his tongue's tip. Just before a program, if someone is stumped on a pronunciation, they just get in touch with the word wizard and he always knows.

Mr. Vizetelly also coins words, one of his originals being "myobist," made up from the initials, "mind your own business."

A LIBERAL DEFINED

The word "liberal" has lately come to be used in a sense directly opposite to its original meaning. In America today a "liberal" is one who, wisely or not, believes in increasing the power of government, extending government control over the individual. Yet historically, "liberal" has been the word for those who resisted government, who wished to take more and more power away from government. Since Magna Charta those who resisted the central power have been "liberal"; the thing for which they fought was "liberty" from the authority of government.

The change, however, can be explained. Because historically, everybody thought of liberals as opposed to the status quo. They were for the new, for change. So those who today are for change call themselves liberals, though they are fighting for the thing that liberals traditionally have resisted. — Mark Sullivan in "The Commentator."

AIM TO DESTROY

Destructive effect of the so-called Patmnn Bill on investments in chain store stock was pointed nut recently in a letter to the 26,891 stockholders of The Kroger Grocery and Baking Company by Albert H. Morrill, Kroger president.

"Although this bill is designed to destroy, not regulate the chain store industry, we found in a recent survey that only 3 per cent of Kroger stockholders knew of the bill and its threat to their investments. Twenty-two percent knew vaguely of the bill, and 69 per cent had never heard of it," Morrill wrote.

Help to Protect Your Home from Tuberculosis

"By a method of graduated taxes based on the number of stores multiplied by the number of states in which we do business, this tax, if imposed, would levy on the Kroger company, in addition to all other taxes, the fantastic sum of $72,456,000 annually. This is more than double our annual payroll; it is $15,000,000 in excess of our gross assets which have been accumulated during 53 years, and it is 25 times the aggregate of dividends paid in 1937," he continued.

Stressing the seriousness of the Patman Bill threat, Morrill pointed out that "such a tax would wipe out property of thousands of chain store investors, property they have accumulated over a period of years by labor and self-denial. In addition, it would throw 1,200,000 chain store employees and an estimated 4,500,000 dependents on the uncertainty of finding other means of support. Farmers, producers and the vast consuming public, all of whom are benefitted by the chain store method of distribution would suffer," Morrill declared.

SCIENCE CRUSHING TUBERCULOSIS

If science can be blamed for much of the potential horror of future military destruction it can be heartily blessed for immeasurable benefits in health and longer life that people now enjoy. Take the tuberculosis situation for example. That disease is in process of elimination. Where it killed three people in Illinois a short 20 years ago, it now kills but one. Of even more significance, the attack rate is rapidly falling with the prospects that 1938 will mark the lowest mortality rate by a wide margin ever attributed to tuberculosis in Illinois.

This progress against a widely prevalent and highly fatal disease was made possible by scientific research and discovery. The soundness of these observations, strictly scientific, is demonstrnted by the results of the program in Illinois and elsewhere. In 1918, the first year of reliable statistical data in the state, the death rate from tuberculosis in Illinois was 128.7 per 100,000 population. For the first eight months of 1938 the rate (annual basis) was 46.7 per 100,000 people and the prospects are bright that the rate for the entire year will be no higher.

Had the 1918 rate prevailed in 1938, there would have been about 6,700 instead of only 2,465 deaths from tuberculosis during the first eight months. It appears now that there will be not more than about 3,700 deaths from tuberculosis in Illinois during 1938. If the 1918 rate had prevailed, there would have been about 10,000. In other words, applied science is now saving from tuberculosis alone approximately 6,500 lives per year in Illinois and preventing a much greater number of cases of illness from that disease.—Ex.

CHICAGO STOCK SHOW WILL OPEN SATURDAY

Herds of purebred farm animals will be sent to Chicago this week from farms and ranches in 29 states and three Canadian provinces for the 39th International Live Stock Exposition.

It will open in the International Amphitheatre next Saturday and will continue daily through December 3.

Annual Meeting December 7

The Congregational Ladies' Aid will convene Wednesday, December 7, in the church basement for its annual meeting. Members of the three circles are invited to be present.

We cannot see how a fellow who is honest and prompt, does what he says he will do and does not delay nor shirk, can fail even if the odds are otherwise against him. His ability may be mediocre, but if he inspire confidence he is almost certain to prove a winner.

Frightened left-wingers are going to have a conference to determine what to do in the face of the election results. Mayor LaGuardia of New York has asked the following to meet with him for that purpose: Senators LaFollette and Norris and Governor Murphy. He shouldn't neglect Hopkins and Corcoran.

STREAMLINED DIXIE HIGHWAY PROPOSED

Would Build 4-Lane Highway from Soo to Miami, Fla., New Orleans

The four-lane highway with dividing parkway extending approximately 1800 miles from Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, to Miami, Fla., and New Orleans, La., is the goal of sponsors seeking to streamline the Dixie highway.

Members of an organization embracing the nine states through which the new route would pass will meet in Lexington, Ky., on December 8 to discuss plans for presentation to Federal officials with the idea of gaining government support for its construction.

This type of super-highway originated in Michigan and has become a model for heavily traveled arteries of the future. Proponents expect to point out the advantages of such a right-of-way from a safety standpoint as well as its utility in the event of war. Highway departments in the nine states will be asked to include the plan in their state highway programs if they are successful in securing the official stamp of approval.

RETURNS FROM DEER HUNTERS BEING MADE

Forty of First 41 to Report Were Successful in Killing Buck

If all deer hunters had as good luck as the first 41 to report their kills to the department of conservation, there would be no doubt about a record for 1938.

Of the first 41 to send in their cards, 40 reported getting bucks and the one who did not bag a deer got a bear.

Two hunters sent in their reports on the opening day, one getting a buck in the Keweenaw peninsula and the other a buck in Grand Traverse county.

One out-of-state hunter was among the first to report. He was from Ohio and he reported bagging a deer in Isabella county.

The deadline for sending in reports as required by law is February 15, the same as last year. In addition to deer and bear hunters, small game hunters and trappers also are required to report.

Information gathered through the report card system is used by the game division in determining hunting and trapping conditions throughout the state.

MANY ELK REPORTED IN PIGEON RIVER FOREST

Ratio One Buck to Every Five Does Observed During Drive

Proof that the Pigeon river state forest is still a favorite range for elk was gained in two deer drives conducted on four different sections of land.

In addition to the counting of 179 deer, 14 elk were stirred into view during the drives. Ten of the elk were reported to be bulls.

On the first drive, one buck to every five does and fawns was tabulated while on the second the ratio was reported as one buck to every two does and fawns.

The last drives of the year are being made this month. Game investigators consider the drives conducted just before the deer hunting season and just after among the most important, as an indication of the effect of hunting on deer concentrations.

Mr. Motorist:

The City Council requests that citizens of Charlevoix refrain from parking automobiles all night on the city streets.

This request is made, and it is the desire that it shall be observed so that the street department may better serve the public in plowing the streets during the early morning hours. Cars parked on the streets all night make efficient plowing of the streets an impossibility.

forthcoming vacancy in President Roosevelt's cabinet, and even a judgeship in the United States District court at Detroit.

To all rumors Governor Murphy has reiterated his intention of becoming a private citizen again. That's that.

Fitzgerald in Florida

Resting from arduous campaigning, Fitzgerald has been lnsking in the Florida sunshine at Fort Lauderdale where he and his family spent part of the past two winters.

Two secretaries are with him, for business is being mixed judiciously with vacation. Much of the correspondence concerns appointments to key positions in state government.

It is understood that Gilbert Shilson, his campaign manager, who formerly headed the Associated Press hureau at Lansing and now owns a weekly newspaper at Berlin, Maryland, will not be the governor's secretary. Shilson will have a well-paying berth on a leading state commission.

Melville B. McPherson of Lowell is scheduled to return to the chairmanship of the state tax commission. Orville Atwood, former secretary of state, is also due to return to the Lansing scene.

No Income Tax

Outcome of the November election has spelled defeat of the income tax hopes held by Charles D. Rosa, LaFollette tax consultant who was engaged early this year by John Fegan, tax commission chairman.

It was Rosa who advocated an income tax as a substitute for the sales tax and who encouraged Fegan to launch his ill-fated campaign to tax personal property.

Rosa, a former chairman of the Wisconsin tax commission, favored the theory of taxing ability to earn rather than ability to consume. It fit very nicely with the Lafollette creed of distributing wealth to the masses by leveling off the peaks. One fly in the ointment is that Wisconsin workers as well as the manufacturers concluded on November 8 that they preferred "a change" and defeated Governor Phil LaFollette for re-election to a fourth term.

All in all, Rosa decided last week to call it a day. He tendered his resignation, effective December 7.

"Not a Republican Victory"

From the typewriter of Vernon J. Brown, country editor at Mason, ten-year veteran of the legislature, and newly elected state auditor, comes a tolerant morning-after "victory" editorial. Here are interesting excerpts from the piece which appeared in the Ingham County News.

"Republicans appear to have won a surprising victory. Yet the election was not a republican victory. It was a Murphy defeat. The record off-year vote was made by people voting against Frank Murphy. The republicans were naturally the beneficiaries of that vote . . . People turned out to vote against Murphy and hy so doing voted a lot of good men ont of office. No man who has ever held public office in Michigan is held in higher respect that State Treasurer Fry.

"So the republicans should nat take too much credit for the victory. They should he humble. They have a difficult task hefore them. They must bnlance a budget . . . prepare themselves to cope with industrial unrest . . . The Republicans have no time nor energy to wnste preening their feathers. They must get down to work to shape a program that will convince voters that the choice made Tuesday was wise."

Million to Fight Snow

December usually brings the first heavy snowfall in Michigan.

The state highway department, charged with responsihility of keeping the highways open, expects to spend a million dollars or more in the winter battle against snow and ice. Forty-one northern counties were recently granted $200,000 for highway snow removal. Along 780 miles of northern highways the department has added 130,000 lineal feet of snow fence. Among the new equipment ordered are 63 snow plows. It will take 173,000 tons of sand, 6,000 tons of calcium chloride.

Lake Fish "Doomed"?

From 1926 to 1936 the annual catch of whitefish in the Great Lakes declined 88 per cent.

The rapidly depleted supply of fish prompted P. J. Hoffmaster, Michigan director af conservation, to declare recently that whitefish, trout and other food fish "will he doomed to the same fate as the passenger pigeon" unless something is done.

Unregulated netting is hlamed by Dr. John Van Oosten, head of the United States Bureau of Fisheries Research, who estimates the total of gill nets at 130,000 miles. If commercial fishing is to be saved from itself, action must be taken by the states bordering the Great Lakes—Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana.

TRUE TO FORM

They say it was a protest vote. Well perhaps it was, however, we fail to remember a vote of this nature within the past 20 years that could he called anything different. And that goes right back to 1918.

Every time the voters have taken it upon themselves to oust the "ins," they have done so without impunity. It has made no difference how good those holding office may have thought they were, or the kind of job most of them may have been doing. If times were good, the boys in office did not have much to worry about. But if times were bad or the folks back home believed the boys had become a little radical—out they went, and we started over with a fresh batch.

So when they say it was not a vote for Frank Fitzgerald, Luren Dickinson, et al, they may be pretty near the truth. We must remember, though, when drawing this conclusion, that Mr. Fitzgerald had a splendid record in office, and no amount of crying about this and that during the campaign, in an effort to becloud the real issues, could hide that fact. It is now up to these men to live up to that reputation and to the promises they made. If they do this the people of Michigan will not need to worry much during the next two years. And when they do this, it is more than certain to prove the voters usually know what they are doing when they kick out one batch and put in another just to let them all know who is boss after all.

CRAZY

A celebrated physician recently declared that more than 50 per cent of us are crazy to some extent. Perhaps we are:

"We do sucb things and say such things" that at times we may appear mentally unbalanced.

And, perhaps, more of us do so now than in former generations.

But it is more to the point that we are moving faster, doing more, achieving more in every phase of progress, and if our overworked brains slip a cog it's no wonder.

From time immemorial inventors, discoverers, scientists have all been called crazy. We are in mighty good company.—By Frank B. Craig.

No Tickets Fixed Here

Utica — This is one town where even the mayor can't get a traffic ticket fixed. He received ticket number one, too, but it wasn't an honor. While parked "temporarily" in a "no parking" zone, Mayor E. W. Havel's car was ticketed hy an officer of the newly formed violations hureau. It cost him a dollar.

Black, White—Both Freaks

Munising—A pair of freak deer, one black and one white, have been sighted here this fall. The first was a large albino buck, sighted on Skeels Lake. Black deer, which are not truly black but dark moose color, have also been seen.

U. P. Mice are Wild

Got His Bird on the Run

Mt. Morris — Arthur Cole didn't need a gun to get a pheasant. When he saw one crossing his yard, he ran after it, caught it, and carried it home alive. The boy offers his father's written statement as witness.

Ducky Spud, Daisy Triplets

Kalkaska—More freaks of nature have turned up in Michigan. T. W. Sherman of Rowley brought a potato which closely resembles a duck to the local newspaper office, and Mrs. Angus Griffith contributed a daisy dower from which three more blossoms had originated.

Is This a Record?

Reed City—Has Miss Ellen Briggs, 16, established a potato picking record? Following three men digging for eight and one-half days, she picked up 1,550 bushels. In one day alone she filled 220 crates.

15 Years After

Would This Help?

RESCUED from the burning, hurricane - wrecked schooner Pioneer an hour before she went to the bottom, Capt. Hans Milton and his crew of four owe their lives to a flashlight with which he signalled an "SOS" to a passing steamer.

Milton's vessel, a two masted topsail schooner, was caught in a hurricane 400 miles off Nantucket. She was carrying a cargo of lumber from Halifax to Georgetown, in the British West Indies.

The hurricane poured tons of water over the small craft, which was built for Grand Banks fishing, and smashed in her companionways. The crew was pumping to keep her afloat when she passed into the vortex of the storm.

"The waves were sweeping her from stem to stern," said Milton, "and the five of us, taking the ship's cat, climbed aloft for our lives. We lashed ourselves to the rigging and lived there for three days and nights. We had no fresh water and little food.

"Our deck-load of lumber was keeping us afloat, but we knew we couldn't hold out much longer. Once a ship hove into sight but she failed to see our distress signals. About 3 o'clock on the fourth morning we saw the lights of another ship. This time we had to make our plight known. We bound together some blankets and sails, soaked them with gasoline, set them afire and hoisted them aloft.

"But the steamer kept her course. Soon I could see her stern lights disappearing. Later I learned her officers had thought we were a fisherman signalling another fishing boat.

"Burning fragments were blowing back and our ship was afire in several places. On an inspiration, I pulled my flashlight from my pocket, climbed to the fore-top and signalled in the Morse code, 'Sinking. SOS. Help!' Her lookout saw us; and a little later—thanks to fresh flashlight batteries which worked in our hour of need—we were safe on the American Banker of the United States Lines. We even saved the cat."

Milton, who is from Norfolk, Va., went to sea sixteen years ago when he was twelve. He immediately began to save against the day when he could own his own ship. Early this year he was able to buy and refit the Pioneer. She was carrying her first cargo when she went down.

MILLIONS XMAS SEALS DISTRIBUTED NOV. 25TH

Annual Campaign Will Be Continued Throughout Holiday Season

Meeting the challenge of a slight but significant uptrend in Michigan's tuberculosis death rate, the Michigan Tuberculosis association last week placed 60,000,000 tuberculosis Christmas seals into homes of Michigan residents. Calling attention to the challenge thrown out by the White Plague, Dr. John Alexander, famed chest surgeon of Ann Arbor's University Hospital and newly-elected president of the Michigan Tuberculosis association, declared that Michigan is now facing an unlooked-for obstacle in her fight to control tuberculosis.

"Instead of the expected decrease in the number of tuberculosis deaths in Michigan last year, there was an increase, attributed by some to the rigors of depression," Dr. Alexander said. "The increased tuberculosis death rate for 1937, continuing the uptrend of the rate for 1936, proves better than anything else that while the fight against the White Plague is a winning one, the battle ahead presents a sternly serious problem.

Emphasis was placed on the fact that back of the whole anti-tuberculosis campaign of the Michigan Tuberculosis association and its affiliated organizations are the pennies that Michigan people contribute when they buy each year the tuberculosis Christmas seals. Briefly outlining the principal points of the campaign to control the White Plague in Michigan, Dr. Alexander pointed out that through health education the association relays important facts about the disease to people in every corner of the state; that through modern case-finding facilities—the tuberculin test and the chest x-ray—the spread of tuberculosis germs is prevented to a great extent.

"In buying and using penny tuberculosis Christmas seals," said Dr. Alexander, "Michigan residents are providing assurance that their homes will be protected from the menace of tuberculosis."

MUST INCLUDE STAMPS WITH SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER APPLICATIONS

Persons who apply for social security account numbers by mail must attach regular first class postage to their letters, according to Clifton H. Little, manager of the Traverse City social security office.

Recently postmasters have received many applications for social security account numbers without postage.

Postage must be paid on all these applications, whether they are addressed to our office, as should be the case, or whether they are directed to the postmaster. Our office issues account numbers for: Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Clare, Crawford, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Leelanau, Manistee, Missaukee, Osceola, Roscommon and Wexford counties, as well as Mackinac Island.

Postmasters have the application blanks which individuals use in obtaining account numbers, but our office issues the numbers, both originals and duplicates to replace those account number cards which have been lost or destroyed.

Elephant Vanishes

Iron River—The elephant was the symbol for the boys in a CCC camp near Kenton, and was placed on all their trucks and other equipment. This was all right until a national radio artist spoke of it over the air, commenting upon an elephant as an emblem during a democratic administration. The elephant vanished immediately thereafter.

EDITORIAL

LAD-E-E-E-S — AND GENTLEMEN

Again the CIO is out to take the suckers. Their latest efforts are being directed toward all Civil Service employees of the state in an effort to organize them before the first of the year. The threat they are using is this. No matter whether or not you are in Civil Service, you will probably be kicked out by the Republicans when they take office the first of the year, and if you join up now in our organization we will protect your job for you.

A large number of state employees are falling for this line. They are paying $1.00 initiation fee, and agreeing to pay a dollar a month from now on for this so-called protection.

Of course Barnum was right. It also proves that the large average of these employees do not deserve any more than they are getting if they do fall for it. We do not deny that a vast number of them will probably see daylight eight hours a day from January 1st on, but not through the cloistered halls or windows of some state office. The CIO to the contrary, will not be able to help them one bit. They are scheduled for the ash pile because about one-third of them are not needed to run these offices efficiently. And it is our belief that Mr. Fitzgerald is not going to cram a lot of new help into these commissions except where he sees the necessity of creating greater efficiency.

The CIO is NOT going to be able to save them from the ax. And if they pay in their money in an effort to save their hides, they are simply going to lose their frogskins as well as their skins when the clean-cut process takes place. This seems, however, to be the typical method employed by this organization when it goes out after members. It all adds up in our contention that it is being used as more of a racket than a legitimate labor union, which is a great shame.

WE STILL "HA'E OUR DOOTS"

We understand that State Treasurer-elect Miller Dunckel, is making an effort to get some place with an investigation of the amount of money paid out by Civil Service employees of the state into campaign fund chests during the last campaign. We hope he is successful but we are pretty skeptical. We are personally acquainted with one office worker in one of the commissions who is a Civil Service employee. This person was asked to pay a certain amount into the campaign fund of the Democratic party. They named the amount and also told us how that amount was decided upon by the higher-ups in the organization. Further, this person told us how much each one in the organization was expected to donate, all based on a percent of their salary. All Civil Service employees, mind you. And during the time these donations were being collected this employee told us that a good many threats were used, such as an inference that anybody who failed to kick-in would be forgotten when the next 'raise' list was made up the first of the year, etc.

Good luck, Miller. None of this was done on paper so it will be pretty hard to prove anything, but there's certainly a grand opportunity for an investigation.

CHANGED WITH THE TIMES

One of the modern writers made the following comment about a group of people with which most of us are familiar:

"As a boy I lived in a country parsonage, and there was seldom a time when our spare room was not occupied and our table conversation not monopolized by a reformer. Organizers of the Anti-Saloon League, crusaders against tobacco and gambling, professional advocates of this and that—they all came to us to save board and lodging, I noted then, and have been impressed through the years, that no man can so cheerfully eat of his neighbor's food, make extra cooking and cleaning for his neighbor's wife, use his neighbor's vehicle, and force sacrifices on his neighbor's children, as the man who is bent on reforming the world. I discovered that nobody can be quite so intolerant, no one can so cheerfully and earnestly sow such seeds of violent hate, as he who is completely convinced of his own self-rigbteousness."

In the last generation there has been quite a change.

Now the modern uplifter and reformer does not visit around. He gets onto the public payroll. There he is secure and powerful.—Ex.

REALITIES

Mark Sullivan, columnist, interprets late election results as meaning that people, long deluded by fanciful promises, are returning to sound realties. Dreams of Utopia are found unable to stand practical tests. Extravagant pledges to elderly individuals have been revealed as insubstantial, often designed to capture popular favor. The wealth of the nation which is said to have materially decreased in late years, could not support the pension plans proposed. People who had lived in the hope of government paternalism that would save them from labor and responsibilities, have awakened to the facts. A proposal to take from those who have and give to those who have not, is finally seen as an enfeebling process. It means destruction of the merit system — breaking down initiative and ambition, vital to individual and national strength. "The true test of the meaning of the election last week, and of other expressions of public feeling," said Sullivan, "is the extent to which they show whether we are ready to shake ourselves out of delusion and face the world as it is."—Wayne (Neb.) Herald.

WORK AHEAD FOR SANTA

"What kindly, bewhiskered man brings gifts to good little boys and girls at Yuletide?" Santa—yes, and though he's just a mythological character, we all do love him.

There's still quite a little work to be done on gifts for good-will baskets for the poor children. And it certainly is true that any donation, even a pair of knitted booties, is always cherished by someone.

One Christmas when the writer was about 12 and Santa had given her a camera, she thought she was richly rewarded for being "a good little girl," for three weeks before Christmas, anyway.

In comparing gifts with a class mate she chanced to meet Christmas day, she learned that Santa brought the other little girl only a cup and saucer! Not a book, nor a bright scarf, but just a utility cup and saucer!

So when we're thinking about our own for whom we'll do all we can, there may be a child nearby, who will not be remembered unless we put him or her on Santa's list.

In the failure of John L. Lewis, CIO mouthpiece, to score in the late election, the public must feel a profound sense of satisfaction. The fact that Lewis' star has been sinking of late gives new strength to our democratic institutions.

deer, or the guy who shot a fellow out of a tree for a bear. It all simmers down to the fact that hunters should be given an intelligence test before they are issued a license to carry a high powered rifle into the woods.

We certainly had an honest-to-goodness old-fashioned Thanksgiving this year. "White" Thanksgivings have been sort of scarce in recent years, but Thursday morning's snowfall provided just the proper setting for turkey day.

Be sure to vote on the city hall and fire station proposal on Wednesday, December 7th. And if you're civic minded enough to want to see Charlevoix progress and see workmen drawing wages this winter, you'll mark your ballot with a "Yes."

Well, the city council settled that matter about the driveway along the yacht slips between Mason and Antrim streets Tuesday night. They've decided to leave the driveway as is, only they're going to cover it with concrete at the first opportunity in order to stop the tracking of dirt onto the yachts, a matter regarding which there was considerable complaint. The proposition stirred up a lot of fuss, but now those fellas who were accusing the council of ambitions to sod Bridge street can quiet down.

Thought maybe by circulating around among the returning deer hunters I might be able to get a good story for this here column of mine—something out of the ordinary, you know. Failed completely, though, probably because the boys were too shy to admit their failings (except Ray Ashton). I believe in honesty, however, so guess I'll have to tell one on myself. Thanksgiving morning I sat on the east end of a 40-acre field and watched a buck come up through the middle of it toward me. Had him all shot, dressed out and on the runningboard of the car several times. Boy, it was a great sight. But you know the first thing I knew the blooming thing was so close his breath steamed up my glasses so I couldn't see and be darned if he didn't get away. That was even worse that what happened to George Meggison. His daughter Linda (Mrs. Ted Gravelin) shot the buck her Dad had his gun aimed at right out from under his nose. Ted got one too, so it was 100% for the Gravelins.

MISSIONARY FROM TURKEY SPEAKER SUNDAY

Mrs. Elvesta Leslie to Appear at Congregational Churches

The Congregational churches of Charlevoix and Ironton will have the privilege of hearing Mrs. Elvesta T. Leslie, for many years a missionary in Turkey, at the regular morning services of Sunday, December 4.

Mrs. Leslie, a native of Michigan and graduate of Olivet college, has been a teacher in the Near East Mission at Istanbul, Turkey, for over 20 years and has a long acquaintance with the changing conditions in that country.

She will speak at Ironton at 10:00 a. m. and at the Charlevoix church at 11:00 a. m.

FAIR PREMIUM CHECKS SHOULD BE CASHED SOON

The State Agriculture Department has asked winners of state and county fair premium checks to cash them not later than December 20.

"Many persons have failed to cash their checks," Commissioner John B. Strange said. "All accounts will be closed December 20, and the checks will be worthless after that date."

Officers and teachers of the South Barnard church Sunday school are arranging for the annual Christmas program to be given Saturday evening, December 24th, at the church.

BLOCK-ZAVITZ WEDDING WAS A PRETTY EVENT ON THANKSGIVING DAY

At a pretty wedding solemnized at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, November 24, at the State street home of the bride's parents, Miss Naomi Marie Block, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Block, was united in marriage to Elwood Zavitz, son of Claude Zavitz, of Detroit.

In a room beautifully decorated with white "mums" and ferns, Rev. John Alexander, pastor of the first Methodist church, performed the ceremony, using the double ring service.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an afternoon dress of dubonnet velvet and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Harold DeJongh of Holland, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, wore black velvet with a corsage of pink roses. Mr. DeJongh served as best man. The wedding music was played by Leon DeJongh of Holland.

Mr. Zavitz is associated with the Detroit Edison Company as designing engineer. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan. Mrs. Zavitz is a graduate of Charlevoix high school, class of '34. They will make their home in Detroit.

H. G. Wells Scores Another Literary Success

H. G. Wells, noted British author, has just completed 'The Holy Terror," the story of a world dictator. The radio scare caused by the dramatization of Wells' novel, "The War of the Worlds" has given Wells world-wide advertising so that his name is on everyone's mind. Read this new novel of which he, himself, says, "It deals with the career of a world dictator from the cradle to the mausoleum. It will discuss vividly every aspect of the dictator-democratic issue. It will have some excellent fights, riots, murders and other encounters." "The Holy Terror" starts next Monday exclusively in Michigan in The Detroit News. Place your order for The Detroit News in advance so that you won't miss a single installment of this gripping, timely story.

POSTOFFICE GETS READY FOR XMAS

PREPARING FOR BIG RUSH OF YULETIDE MAIL

All City and Rural Deliveries Will Be Suspended Xmas Day—Only Special Mail Handled

Organization for the Christmas mailing season is under way at the local post office following the receipt here of definite instructions from Postmaster General James A. Farley as to Christmas Day service and special preparations for handling the heavy volume of holiday mail.

It is the desire of the post office department, the message from Farley stated, that all postal employes have an opportunity to spend Christmas day with their families and therefore has specified that arrangements be made to complete the delivery of all mail by Saturday night.

Exceptions to this ruling, however, will be made in the case of packages bearing the inscription "gift package," and also on special delivery mail, perishables and daily newspapers. The postal force to handle this service, however, will be selected from those who voluntarily offer to work on Christmas day, both among the regular employes and eligible substitutes.

On Christmas day all city and rural mail delivery as well as post office window and general delivery service will be suspended. Star routes will operate as scheduled and the usual collection and dispatch of mail will be handled on the holiday basis.

Regular employes who volunteer for work on Christmas day will be given the privilege of receiving either overtime pay or compensatory time for the service rendered.

The instructions urge postal officials to continue their campaign for early Christmas mailing to avoid the necessity of maintaining a large force on Christmas day to deliver gift parcels and thereby preventing them from being at home with their families on the holiday. Large business concerns and organizations will be requested not to use the mails for sending catalogues, calendars and similar matter from the period between December 10 and January 1, thereby relieving some of the holiday congestion.

STATE PLANS STUDY PENN. DEER CONTROL

Findings to Govern Recommendations for Michigan Law Change

The Michigan conservation department has sent three observers to Pennsylvania to study that state's antlerless deer season.

Conservation Director P. J. Hoffmaster said the men's report probably would guide the commission in making recommendations to the legislature in regard to reduction of Michigan's deer herd.

For years the commission has been confronted by the problems of deer destroying farm crops and starvation during snow-bound winters.

I. H. Bartlett, deer expert, has recommended that the law be changed to permit killing of does and fawns, but the proposal met stiff opposition.

Michigan's deer herd numbers more than 1,000,000, Bartlett said. Some 10,000 starve or freeze to death each year and about 50,000 bucks are killed between November 15-30.

DECREASE IN HIGHWAY REVENUES IS REPORTED

Indications this week pointed to an approximate $2,800,000 decline in Michigan highway revenues for the calendar year of 1938.

On the basis of collections already made, State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner estimated that the gasoline tax revenue will show a reduction of about $1,900,000 while the decline in license plate tax money will approximate $900,000.

Most of the reduction will have been absorbed by the state highway department inasmuch as it depends entirely for its revenue on the gasoline tax. The counties and cities receive the entire amount of the weight tax in addition to $6,550,000 a year from gasoline tax revenues.

The indications point to total returns to the counties and cities from the gasoline and weight taxes of about $25,225,000 compared with a record total of $26,152,702 for 1937.

Commissioner Van Wagoner pointed out that these estimates may change "if business conditions pick up the last of the year." He added, however, that it was improbable that the improvement would be sufficient to wipe out the reductions sustained throughout most of the year.

ON THE

City Hall and Fire Station Proposal

If you needed a new home and someone offered to pay 45% of the cost and you could see where you could finance the remaining 55%, you certainly would take the proposition, wouldn't you?

And if by so doing you could create employment for yourself, providing wages by which you could pay part of the cost and at the same time furnish others work and better conditions generally, wouldn't you be even more liable to do so?

The City Council has taken these same views into consideration in asking the citizens of Charlevoix to approve a bond issue for a city hall and fire station.

In the first place, it is needed to centralize city offices and provide a fire station which Charlevoix has never had.

Secondly, the city now has an opportunity to obtain a PWA grant of 45% of the cost, or approximately $29,000. This grant is not a loan. It is an outright gift which does not have to be repaid and which may never be available again.

Third, the $63,000 expenditure would go largely for labor and materials. The money would be spent right here in Charlevoix. The project would provide several months work for masons, carpenters, their helpers and other laborers during the dull winter season. Workmen do not have to be on relief to obtain such employment.

There will be no increase in taxes if the bond issue is approved. Retirement of the railway bridge bonds and income from gas and weight tax receipts will provide more than sufficient revenues to retire the indebtedness. Therefore no burden will be placed upon anyone, while on the other hand approval of the project will provide a much needed civic improvement and greatly better financial conditions in Charlevoix this winter.

BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS FRIDAY

PETOSKEY NORTHMEN HERE FOR INITIAL CONTEST

Reserve Teams Will Open Double Bill—Fans Looking Forward to Red Rayders' First Game

Chnrlevoix's Red Rayders will appear on the home hardwood Friday night in the opening cuntest of the 1938-39 bnsketball season.

The initial contest on a 14-game schedule is with Petoskey's class B Northmen and the evening's program provides a double bill with games between varsity and reserve teams of the two schools. Petoskey will have the benefit of experience gained in one rantest this year, an overtime tilt which they lost last Friday night by a 26 to 24 count to Hoyne City. Closeness of that game may be taken as an indication of the caliber of play to be expected Friday night. A fast, interesting contest is anticipated.

Charlevoix basketball fans, as well as coaches and players of northern Michigan class C schools, are looking forward with interest to this opening contest, for it will provide the first test for Charlevoix's Red Rnyders, who are conference, district and regional defending champions.

From a local viewpoint, the Rayders' prospects are rather uncertain. Only Brown, center, and Witheps, guard, remain from last year's championship team. The squad will be built around these two veterans with the selection for other positions to be made from such candidates as Bert Pearl, who played in many contests during the 1937-38 season, Tom Carey, Clare McGhan, "Bub" McGhan, Bruce Henley, Bill Bissell, Bob Bergman and Bob Gill. Outstanding reserve material includes Warren Helms and Jake White, centers; Jerry Novotny, Herb Ager and Kenneth Staley, forwards; Don Meggison, Bud Kohler, Ernie Nowland and Junior Willis, guards.

The squad will be decidedly short of practice for Friday night's tilt. The present week has provided the first uninterrupted practice as the gymnasium wns not available a portion of last week due to sanding and preparation of the playing floor.

Following the Petoskey contest, the Rayders play December 15 at Harbor Springs and return to the home court December 21 for a game with Gaylord.

SIDEWALK SNOW REMOVAL CONTRACTS ARE LET

Jack Gallagher Bids In South Side, Robert Mitchell Valley District

Two of three contracts for snow plowing city sidewalks during the present winter season were awarded Monday night by the city council.

Contract for plowing the south side district was given Jack Gallagher and Robert Mitchell's bid was accepted for the valley district.

No bid was received for the north side and plowing in this section will be done by M. B. Hooker & Son until a permanent contract is awarded, it is understood.

FEWER DEER HUNTING FATALITIES REPORTED

Five Killed by Gun Fire, Nine Died of Heart Attack in Woods

Michigan's 1938 deer hunting season, which closed November 30, was fatal to 14 men—nine of whom died of heart failure, the State Conservation Department reported.

Alarmed at the increasing number of deaths from over exertion, the department immedintely began outlining a campaign for the 1939 seasoo to train men who take to the woods after u year of inactivity in offices.

The number of deaths by accidental shooting showed a decided decrease, the department said. Five were reported killed this year as compared with 14 during the 1937 season.

With license reports still coming in daily, the department was unable to make an estimate on the number of deer killed. However, the kill recorded at the Straits wns practically the same as last year.

HUNTERS REPORT ON KILL OF DEER

MORE OBSERVING NEW STATE LAW THIS YEAR

Tabulation of Reports Show 25.80 Per Cent of 157,349 Hunters Killed Bucks Last Season

Hunters appear to be showing more alacrity this year than last in the matter of reporting on their luck as required by state law.

By the close of the deer season, at least 1,000 report cards had been received by the department of conservation, and since then each mail has brought new batches. The first reports began coming in earlier this yenr than last, a number of deer hunters fulfilling their obligations even before the close of the season.

As last year, the first in which the making of reports became u statutory requirement, the deadline for seoding in the repurt cards is February 15. All hunters and trappers, whether successful or not in bagging game, are required to send in the report cards which are attached to their licenses. Information obtained from the reports is helpful in gaining a comprehensive view of game conditions throughout the state, hunting pressure, the kill and other factors in the determination of effective wildlife munagement.

Among interesting comparisons which will be made possible by this year's repurts will be between that of the number of hunters successful in both 1937 and 1938. Last year's reports gave 25.80 per cent of 157,349 as getting their bucks. The 1937 reports also showed that the hunting pressure amounted to 4.56 hunters per square mile nnd the deer kill as 1.18 per square mile. The total legal kill last year was 40,637 bucks.

The report card system is regarded by game investigators as being highly desirable as an eliminator of guess work in evaluating game conditions. The experience of other states indicates the difference between "estimates" and netual reports. In Pennsylvania, for instance, the difference between the estimated and the reported kill of rabbits amounted to approximately one million, the estimated kill being two million and the reported kill three million. Equally large differences were noted in relation to the kill of deer, grouse, bear and other species.

ARREST 5 YOUTHS SOLVES ROBBERIES

GROUP HELD IN JAIL HERE AWAITING SENTENCE

Two Boyne City Young Men, Three Boys from East Jordan Admit Breaking, Entering Charges

Five Charlevoix county youths, three under 20 years of age, are being held in jail here awaiting sentence following confession to a series of crimes.

The arrest of Smith and Sobkoviak on suspicion of stealing gasoline from school busses at Boyne City also uncovered their breaking and entering Kamp Kairphree and stealing blankets, guns, fishing tackle, an outboard motor and other camping equipment which was recovered. The contraband was intended for use on a Florida trip, it is understood.

The crimes of Holland and Johnston included theft of three cars at Boyne City, breaking and entering a gasoline station at Burgess, garage at Elmira, beer tavern at East Jordan, as well as many thefts of automobile accessories. Higbee was involved in the beer tavern robbery, according to his confession.

The Boyne City youths were arrested last Wednesday by Police Chief Pat Roderick and the East Jordan trio were picked by Police Chief Harry Simmons upon warrants issued following investigation of the crimes by Sheriff Floyd Ikens, Deputy Edgar Behrens and state troopers from the Traverse City post.

All waived examination before Justice H. R. Fowler here Friday afternoon. Monday afternoon they were arraigned and entered pleas of guilty before Judge Fred S. Lamb, presiding in circuit court at Bellaire. They were returned to jail here for later sentence.

MENS' BROTHERHOOD IS ORGANIZED HERE

Non-Denominational Group Formed, Officers Chosen at M. E. Church

At a recent meeting at the Methodist church a Mens' Brotherhood was formed as a local unit of a state-wide organization under the same name.

Officers chosen at the organization meeting were Earl Shapton, president, nnd Arthur Edwards, secretary-treasurer. A. C. Belding was named chairman of the supper committee and Rev. John Alexander will serve as chairman of the program committee.

The Mens' Brotherhood is a non-denominational organization formed to promote projects for the good nf the church and community. Supper meetings will be held the second and fourth Thursday of each month starting in January.

The next meeting is Deeember 15, a date chosen due to a confliction with the established meeting time which would have fallen the second Thursday.

Xmas Party December 15

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will hold their annual Christmas party Thursday evening, December 15th, at Hotel Charlevoix.

South Side Circle of the Congregational church will hold their annual bazaar, baked goods sale and cafeteria supper on Thursday, December 15, at the church.—Adv. 49t2.

PERMISSION NEEDED TO CUT XMAS TREE

Must Have Written Statements From Owner of Land Where Taken

Anyone who is planning to avoid the expense of buying a Christmas tree this year by going out in the woods and cutting down an evergreen should be interested in one law on Michigan's statute books.

This law says it is illegal to cut evergreens or other trees or shrubs for "decorative purposes" or sale, without the written consent of the owner of the land on which the tree is growing. Furthermore, even if you do obtain the necessary consent you must carry it with you when transporting your cutting.

Penalty for violating the act is a fine of from $25 to $500.

Conservation officers are empowered to stop any vehicle containing evergreens and the like, and demand to see the written consent. Several violations are discovered each year just prior to Christmas.

FACILITIES READY FOR WINTER SPORTS

REGULATION HOCKEY RINK IS BUILT AT EAST PARK

Through cooperation of the city council and hoard of education with the local WPA recreational staff, numerous facilities for winter sparts will lie available to local devotees this winter.

WPA recreational workers have nearly completed construction of a hockey rink in East Park on Round lnke. The rink is 60x180 feet which is regulation size and is constructed in sections so that it may be removed and stored for future use. Its location in the center of the business district and at a level below the street will provide excellent advantage for spectators. In addition to furnishing materials for the hockey pen, the city council has authorized installation of flood lights for night play.

The customary ice rink at the school grounds will be provided again this winter and the city council has made provisions for lighting.

Freezing weather is now awaited to permit icing the hockey and school ground rinks. Other winter sports facilities include the improved ski and tobogan slides at Mt. McSauby, which have been placed in shape by WPA recreational workers. In all probability a coasting hill will be designated and supervised as in previous years.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY DEER SEASON RECORD

One Arrest Made and Only Four Illegal Deer Picked Up

Conservation headquarters at Boyne City announce that Charlevoix county came through the 1938 deer hunting season with what might be called a record year.

With only four does picked up and one arrest made, the season comes to a close in this county. Beaver Island, open for the first time in many years, forfeited a large amount of game for those who hunted there.

Barnard Grange will present a 3-act play at Ironton Grange hall, Dec. 12, 8:00 o'clock. Don't miss it. Plenty of laughs. Admission: Adults 25c, children 10c.—Adv. 49t1.

GAME LAW CHANGES ARE BEING SOUGHT

SEVERAL PROPOSALS TO GO TO STATE LEGISLATURE

Season on Antlerless Deer, Extension of Partridge Hunting Among Proposals

If present indications prove true, the 1939 legislature will be asked to make numerous changes in the present game laws for 1939.

Chief among the changes is expected a request for a law that would allow the killing of antlerless deer in overcrowded areas designated hy the conservation department during the regular hunting season from November 15 to 30. It is proposed that the last three or four days he given to hunters to kill one antlerless deer if they failed to get a huck. This proposal undouhtedly will he acceptable to some deer hunters who feel that something of this nature is necessary to stop winter starvation and farm crop damage by deer where there is a heavy concentration of animals.

Another proposal would confine mink trapping and hunting to regular muskrat trapping season. The sponsors of this point out that allowing mink to he hunted from one to two months after the muskrat and milk trapping season closes only breeds many violations through illegal trapping.

The bill will also propose a 30-day open season on ruffed grouse instead of the 17 days open season as now established in the lower peninsula. The proposal would also apply to the upper peninsula, where only 30 days of hunting are now allowed on this game bird. The season proposed would be October 1 to 31 above the Straits and October 15 to November 14 below. The gamemen state that this will in no way deplete the breeding stock and that grouse are now on the upgrade.

A law to make all hunting licenses expire on September 1 instead of September 30 will also be sought as a measure to keep hunters out of the woods previous to the opening of the hunting season.

WINTER TAX RATE ERRONEOUSLY ANNOUNCED

Tax payment is $18.64 Per Thousand Valuation Instead of $17

As the result of incorrect information, announcement last week of the rate on winter taxes which became payable to the city treasurer, December 1, was erroneous.

Instead of $17 per thousand dollars valuation as previously stated, the tax rate is $18.64 per thousand. The discrepancy resulted from computing the spread for county purposes at $9 instead of $10.64, and was occasioned by the difference of $450,000 in the city valuation as assessed by the board of review and equalized hy the equalization committee of the board of supervisors. A 20% cut by the board of review several years ago has never heen recognized by the equalization committee.

TEMPERANCE UNION XMAS PARTY FRIDAY AFTERNOON

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will hold a Christmas party Friday afternoon, December 9th, at the home of Mrs. Thomas Milner, Clinton street. Each member is requested to bring a small gift.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Did you ever try to figure out what it is that starts the kids playing "megs." They're always at it as soon as the snow goes off in the spring and right now since the first winter's snow has disappeared you'll find them goin' strong.

Some guys sure "get your goat." Urged by lingering memories of the deer hunting season just past, looked over some fine deer territory last Sunday afternoon and next morning happened to remark to Kit Carson that we found some swell deer runways. His answer was: "You can't eat runways." That's the way they "rub it into" the poor unlueky devil.

And while on the subject of deer hunting, let all those fellows who earoestly have the future of the sport at heart hope and pray that the 1939 legislature, if asked, turn down any proposal to permit a general opeo season on does. That there should be control measures adopted for some areas where over-populatioo has been proven by investigation revealing winter starvation, is admitted. But a general open season on does will only serve to satisfy a bunch of selfish meat hunters and would result in a slaughter which would completely erase the wonderful increase in Michigan deer herds since the one buck law was adopted. The deer cootrol problem should be treated by districts in accordance with conditions as they exist. Lake, Newaygo, Mecosta and Osceola counties should be closed to prevent the extermination of buck deer by overhunting. Control of over-populated areas like the Fletcher swamp and similar other winter yards where thousands of deer have died from starvation might be gained by a brief, regulated season on does. We agree with Al Weber in the Cheboygan Observer, whose remarks are quoted as follows: "We know it's poor publicity but we like to give the news as we find it. We are actually surprised at the number of men who

Resentment of citizens in general against "too much leniency" by Governor Murphy toward the sit-down strikers, says Edward J. Fry, chairman of the Democratic state central committee.

And there, in a nutshell, you have the current controversy among two democratic factions in Michigan as to the cause of the administration's reversals at the polls last November 8th.

Lines are being drawn somewhat along those existing nationally—liberals vs. stalwarts (or conservatives).

Analysis of the November ballots shows that Fitzgerald received 4,331 more votes this year than he did in 1936, while Murphy received 139,964 fewer votes.

Percentages of the total vote reveal that Murphy got 47.1 per cent and Fitzgerald 52.9 per cent. Two years ago it was 51.1 to 48.6.

Sunday morning service, 10:45.

Sunday school, 12 o'clock.

Meets first Wednesday evening each month at 7:45 p. m.

We cordially invite the public to our service and reading room.

Reading room open Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

"God the Preserver of Man" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, December 11.

The Golden Text (Psalm 40:11) is: "Withhold 'not thou thy tender mercies from' me, O Lord: let thy loving kindness and thy truth continually preserve me."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Luke 12:29-30): "And seek not ye what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, neither be ye of doubtful mind. For all these things do the nations of the world seek after: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 254): "When we wait patiently on God and seek Truth righteously, He directs our path."

Kind looks, kind words, kind acts, and warm handshakes — these are secondary means of grace, when men are in trouble and are fighting their unseen battles.—John Hall.

AT THE MOVIES

"If I Were King," Tale of Old France

Fifteenth century Paris forms the picturesque setting for "If I Were King," Paramount's epic version of the escapades of Francois Villon, which has its local opening Saturday, December 10 at the Palace Theatre. The story revolves about the famous rogue-poet who became ruler of France for one unforgettable week.

The chief roles are played by Ronald Colman, Frances Dee and Basil Rathbone, under the direction of Frank Lloyd, the man who brought "Cavalcade," "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "Wells Fargo" to the screen.

"If I Were King" has one of the largest casts Hollywood has seen in many a season—numbering close to two thousand in all! Most of the extras perform in the scene representing the battle between Villon's army and the troops of the Duke of Burgundy.

"Vacation From Love" Has Action Plus Laughs

Dennis O'Keefe and Florence Rice, two young players who have made rapid strides toward stardom in the past six months, are teamed for the first time in "Vacation from Love," new comedy which opens at the Palace Theatre Wednesday, December 14, for an engagement of two days.

The story is a romantic comedy of the adventures encountered by a young couple in love and wedded in their attempt to solve the secret of happy marriage. Miss Rice and O'Keefe, as the young couple, try everything to save their matrimonial bark from disaster until they hit upon the happy thought of taking an annual vacation from love. It works.

and 1938. This switch meant the defeat of the Michigan "New Deal" and the return of the Republican to power at Lansing.

In the judgment of State Chairman Fry, a practical politician who looks at elections in the light of getting results, "our first job in the coming two years is to convince the independent vote that the Democratic party stands, as it always has, for a fair deal for labor, but also a fair deal for industry . . . Resentment of the public against the sit-downs was of too recent origin for us to make progress."

No Diversion of Funds

At a meeting of the American Road Builders association, of which he is president, Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner of the state highway department urged citizens of other states in press for adoption of amendments prohibiting diversion of highway funds.

Significance of the Michigan amendment is seen in the experience of Wisconsin. Last July 1, according to the Wisconsin Taxpayer, $23,114,563 was "available" for highway needs—but there was only $14,815,644 in the treasury. Obviously, nearly $8,300,000 of the money due the Wisconsin highway department was not available at all. It had been spent for other purposes.

Quoting the Milwaukee Journal as of November 23: "The plain truth is that Gov. LaFollette has used highway 'balances' to foot the bills for extravagances elsewhere — extravagances which he did not have the courage to finance through other taxation. He could do this because the so-called highway fund can be used surreptitiously as a budget balancing device."

Traffic Toll Cut

Michigan leads also in reduction of traffic deaths.

With a decrease of 36 per cent in highway fatalities, the state stands next to Pennsylvania in having the best automobile safety record for 1938 to date.

The National Safety council, mindful of increasing drinking during holidays, is asking police departments to step up traffic enforcement and to post trusted officers at night clubs and other gay life spots to dissuade drinking drivers from taking the wheel.

As a part of its safety program, the state highway department has been studying the need of further grade separation.

Five Hunting Deaths

The 1938 promises to be recorded as one of safety achievement for Michigan.

The deer-hunting season closed with only five fatalities from misdirected gun-fire, as compared with 14 deaths last year. Casualties were 17 wounded as compared with 12 in 1937.

P. J. Hoffmaster, director of the state conservation department, enthused also over the reduced toll in slaughter of does.

Michigan in 1895 legalized 14,499 deer hunters by 1938 the red clad army had grown to 160,000. Yet the conserved supply of deer today furnishes a perennial problem of providing enough grazing land to tide many of them over the winter months. Upward to 40,000 deer die each winter because there are too many for their food supply.

No Overstocking

Edward W. McFarland, chairman of the liquor control commission, was given a $3,000,000 limit for inventory on the inaugural office-changing day. It was a fattened inventory of nearly $7,000,000 in liquor stocks which the Murphy administration insists it inherited on January 1, 1937. However, the high inventory permitted the governor to realize over four million dollars for deficit-reducing purposes in 1938.

Civil Service Injustice

Many veteran state employees, because they failed to pass qualifying examinations, lost their jobs this year. The plight of these workers was heightened by the lack of a pension system. State employees are not benefitted by social security taxes in any way.

EDITORIAL

PO-SHO-A-NEEN-AZHE-BE-MA-DE-ZE-YUN

Translated from the Indian, the sentence above means: "Hello! How is your health today?" It's the greeting that Princess Watassa extends to children all over Michigan, in the health education program carried on by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. In like cordial manner — Po-sho-a-need-azhe-be-ma-de-ze-yun—the Association greets the readers of its 1938 Annual Report.

Today in Michigan and the nation at large, tuberculosis, once chief killer among all diseases, still is a sternly serious problem. Driven now—after thirty years of constant battle against it—to seventh place as a cause of death in the United States, the White Plague continues in the country as a whole to snatch one life every eight minutes, twenty-four hours of every day. In 1937, nearly 70,000 persons died of tuberculosis in the United States; 2,120 of the deaths occurred in Michigan.

For two years past the tuberculosis death rate in Michigan has veered upward, for the first time since the World War. Attributed by some to the rigors of depression, the up-trend is a grim reminder that the relentless battle against tuberculosis is far from won.

Tragic enough, the toll is made even more so by the fact that today all deaths from tuberculosis are needless. They can be prevented—thru modern medical weapons—if the disease is found in time.

To find it in time and to prevent its development is the constant mission of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. A volunteer agency founded in 1907, the association's work and that of its 25 affiliates in the state is financed entirely through the annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals. Day in and day out these disease-fighting organizations spread the doctrine of "Early Discovery, Early Recovery" the length and breadth of Michigan.

OUR ROLLS IN PEACE

Proposing three measures as insurance against this country's being dragged into any foreign war, the Rev. Robert W. Jones told the First Unitarian Congregation at Memphis, Tennessee, that every citizen of the United States may have a part in promoting peace and men of good will may settle problems about the conference table if they are trying to establish the Kingdom of God on earth.

The minister, himself a veteran of the World War, chose the topic, "An Ex-Soldier Hopes for Peace," as his first sermon since accepting the pastorate in Memphis. He asked that every citizen work for "legislation which will give the government control of the munitions industry and so release some people from the temptation to promote warfare because for them at least war means good business."

As the second step in an anti-war program, Rev. Jones urged the adoption of legislation which would conscript wealth as well as soldiers in wartime, stating: "Why some men could become millionaires while 10,000,000 men lost their lives in the same cause is one of the things that cannot be squared with justice.

"Third, every citizen of the United States can work for an embargo prohibiting all trade between United States and belligerent powers and neighboring neutrals," he said.

"On the battlefield men can settle only one question: Who under the circumstances has the superior military force? But around the conference table," the Memphis pastor concluded, "intelligent men of good will can work out problems of international peace if they are striving to establish Christ's conception of the Kingdom of God on earth."

WHAT PRICE MARKSMANSHIP

Several daily newspapers, including the Detroit News, have lately been doing a bit of sentimental slobbering over Gov.-reject Frank Murphy. In a recent editorial the News remarked, "Gov. Murphy has left a high mark for Governor-elect Frank D. Fitzgerald to shoot at." Perhaps Murphy did leave a mark, but if he did every Michigan citizen who believes in safe and sound government hopes that Fitzgerald will not even attempt to shoot at it. And if Murphy has left any targets standing after the repudiation at the polls, we may reasonably hope that if Fitzgerald does decide to indulge in some shooting he will fill them so full of holes they will never be set up again.

Speaking of marks to shoot at, it would be well to recall the mark Fitzgerald left when he went out of office December 31, 1936. There was Michigan, out of debt, with all obligations of government met or provided for and a balance of $8,775,000 in the state's general fund. That was the mark set up for Gov. Murphy to shoot at, and he missed it by many millions of dollars.

There were certainly no enviable heights attained in the administration of civil service under the present administration. The abuses of Fitzgerald's original idea of a workable merit system have been too numerous to recount here. The mutilated civil service act has been used as a political lever since it became effective. Surely, this is not a very praiseworthy mark, despite Murphy's idealistic utterances concerning it.

Fitzgerald will be too busy putting Michigan back on a practical basis to be shooting at sentimental targets set up by editorial dreamers far removed from the scene and totally oblivious of the true facts.—Grand Rapids Times.

Farmers have found a weak spot in the farm bill. They can put their own land out of cultivation, receive their government check, then rent other land and farm intensively. Under the rules and specifications they are technically honest. — Springport Signal.

COAST GUARDS RESCUE SEARS TUG AND BARGE

Equipment Endangered by Engine Trouble in Bad Blow Thursday

Disabled by engine trouble late Thursday in a heavy northeast blow while enroute from Beaver Island to Traverse City, the diesel-powered tug A. & M. Link and work scow owned by the Sears Dock & Dredging Co. of Traverse City, was towed to this harbor at 1 o'clock Friday morning by Charlevoix coast guards under Capt. Oscar Smith.

Derricks and machinery on the scow, valued at $15,000, were in danger of being swept overboard when distress signals were picked up at the coast guard station here.

COOPERATIVE CO. NAMES OFFICERS, DIRECTORS

Annual Meeting Held November 30 at Marion Center Grange Hall

Business and entertainment were combined to make the annual meeting of the Charlevoix Cooperative Co. a most enjoyable occasion at Marion Center grange hall. A large attendance of members, patrons and wives were present.

Directors named were Orton VanDusen for 3 years to succeed George VerSnyder, Oakley Saunders for 3 years to succeed Arlo Wickersham, Clinton Blanchard for 3 years to succeed himself, Orson Cook for 2 years to succeed Fred Willis, and A. J. Bolhuis succeeding himself for a similar term. These directors Monday night elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, W. K. Straw, re-elected; vice-president, A. J. Bolhuis; secretary-treasurer, Clinton Blanchard.

Speakers at the annual meeting included Fred Harger, Jack Yaeger and Mr. Carey of the Michigan Farm Bureau. Mr. Harger explained the new set-up which provides financial backing of the Co-Ops, by the Farm Bureau.

A pleasant entertainment feature of the evening included instrumental and vocal selections by the O'Brien brothers and Harry Oldham.

FLOYD SUPP WAS FIRST XMAS SEAL PURCHASER

Michigan Tuberculosis Assn. Reports on Campaign Now Under Way

Floyd A. Supp is the first in Charlevoix to purchase a supply of 1938 tuberculosis Christmas seals, the Michigan Tuberculosis Association announced this week in checking over early Christmas seal contributions. Prompt response is most heartening in the seal sale, the association declared, pointing out that early returns show that people appreciate the urgent need for carrying on a vigorous fight against tuberculosis.

Christmas seals bought and used by Charlevoix county residents provide the means for preventing and controlling the spread of tuberculosis in Charlevoix county, it was emphasized.

And now "Snappy!"

Riding in on a wave of enthusiasm for dwarfs, little brown men and such, Snappy is usually found on the hood of a snowbound car snapping his fingers and telling the owner there is no need to worry about getting started in a hurry, because "Standard Red Crown starts just like that!"

Snappy is the name of the little gnome-like character who is the spirit of fast-starting Red Crown gasoline in Standard Oil Company of Indiana's winter advertising campaign in the Charlevoix Courier, which was announced today by Clair Webster, the Charlevoix Standard Oil agent. The campaign features extremely short copy, and bids for reader attention with unusually large photographs of winter scenes. Snappy, himself, is thrown into prominence in every advertisement.

Snappy pop-guns are also being given to children by Charlevoix Standard Oil dealers to introduce Snappy, according to Mr. Webster.

MARINE CLUB SPONSORS COURSE IN NAVIGATION

General Meeting Set for January 3 to Enroll Interested Persons

A general meeting was set for January 3 to enroll all persons interested in taking this course in small boat handling. Material for the course is furnished by the U. S. Power Squadron and one of its officials will conduct examinations and award certificates following completion. Plans also call for the showing of marine moving pictures.

Date for the annual water sports day and Venetian boat parade, one of Charlevoix's major summer attractions, was set for Sunday, July 30.

PLAN EXTENSION OF JOB INSURANCE PLAN

Legislation Sought to Make Law Cover More Michigan Employes

The Michigan Unemployment compensation commission has recommended amendment of the unemployment compensation law to extend job insurance coverage to approximately 155,000 workers employed by those who have fewer than eight employes.

"There is no good reason for failure to protect the man who works for an employer of less than eight," Chairman Frank A. Picard said. "The loss of wages because of lack of work means just as much to the man who works for the small employer as to workers in larger plants or businesses."

SPECIAL BASKETBALL ATTRACTION ARRANGED

1937-38 Champions to Meet Former Alumni Stars December 29th

What promises to be the outstanding basketball attraction of the winter season has been arranged for December 29 through the efforts of the high school athletic association and the city WPA recreational department.

The contest will match the 1937-38 championship team composed of "Chick" Gallagher, Keith Carey, Dick Bergman, Charles Richardson, Ira Smith, Warren Allison and Winfield Kirby, against such former high school stars as Ed. Radke, Bob Pearl, Jack Foster, Lyle Ance and others.

Officiating at the game will be Birdie Tebbetts, star catcher of the Detroit Tiger baseball team. Further details regarding the attraction will be announced later.

A change in the dog training law is also suggested. At present owners and trainers are not allowed to carry firearms while training their dogs before and after the hunting seasons close. The officials will seek an amendment allowing dog trainers to carry pistols with blank cartridges for the claim is made that it is necessary to shoot in order to make their bird dogs steady and accustom them to the sound of firearms.

An increase in the fee for small game hunting will be asked. This calls for an increase of 25 cents, from $1 to $1.25, and the additional of public hunting grounds.

A proposal seeking an open season on fox, gray and black squirrels recommended by the game men was turned down by the commission and some other agency will have to sponsor this change if it is to be made. In a like manner the commission refused to restore the red fox and skunk to the protected list, leaving these two fur-bearers open to all-year-round hunting.

149 FARMERS KEPT BOOKS FOR 10 YEARS

MSC Report Shows 11 Charlevoix County Farmers Were Included

All but six counties in Michigan can list farmers who have participated within the past 10 years as co-operators in the Michigan State College farm account extension projects. In fact 149 farmers began in 1929 and are completing 10 years of consecutive records.

In Charlevoix county, the 10-year list includes Howard C. Stephens, Oakley M. Saunders, George Meggison, H. C. Newman, Richard K. Paddock, W. K. Straw and Son, Charles Withers, Charlevoix; Clyde Clute, Bert Lumley, Robert Tainter, and Douglas D. Tibbits of Boyne City.

Purpose of keeping accounts, explains H. A. Berg, extension specialist in farm management, has several phases. By keeping accounts the farmers are able to determine if operations are showing profit, if diversification would pay, or if specialties should be developed for more efficient operation.

In 1938 the cooperators number 1,873, approximately one per cent of the farms in Michigan. In 10 years there have been 4,889 different farmers keeping records for one or more years. At present the largest number by counties are those enrolled from Kent, Berrien, Charlevoix and Newaygo counties, respectively. County agricultural agents cooperate in utilizing information uncovered by the account books, kept by the farmers but summarized for the year by the college staff.

* PICK TOY GIFTS *
* TO SUIT CHILD *
* * * * * * * * * * *

Two-thirds of toy sales for the year are those made just before Christmas, so if Michigan's boys and girls are to get suitable toys for 1939 it will be wise Christmas shopping that will be in order.

Advice of Catherine Miller, nursery school instructor nt Michigan State College, emphasizes suiting the gift to the child and considering age and ability in making the choice. A child's play is his work, says Miss Miller, so that selecting toys can mean many hours of entertainment and education for a youngster.

For those under two years, here are a few pointers:

Choose bright colors and hard finishes, rounded edges, no loose parts, washable materials and non-poisonous colors. Experiment with the toys to ascertain ease of operation.

For those over two years:

Gifts should fit the child in age, ability and interests. An electric train for a youngster, age 3, is a mistake in selection. Provide a variety toys for physical development, manipulative gifts such as crayons and scissors, dramatic toys such as materials for housekeeping.

Quality is important. Easily broken toys lead a child to destructiveness. Price is not always an indication of quality, Miss Miller warns. Fads usually cost more and give less to the child than more sensible toys or other gifts.

Misfortune Strikes Twice

Dearborn—The family of Mrs. D. J. Hayes had a little more than its share of misfortune recently. Fire did considerable damage to the home in the morning, and Mrs. Hayes' 12-year-old son was seriously injured in an auto accident late the same afternoon.

Spud Grows Like Monkey

Evart — William Hanson, Evart farmer, is thinking of raising potatoes for the zoo. While sorting his crop this year, he found a potato that resembled the head of a monkey. Head, mouth, and eyes were formed by growth cracks.

Name on Ballot, Wouldn't Run

Blanchard — Here's the story of another gentleman who "did not choose to run." When Clyde V. Showalter received a proof ballot for the November election, he found his name as a candidate for auditor general on the Square Deal Ticket. As he was a candidate for register of deeds for Isahella county, it cost him a telegram to every county clerk in Michigan to correct his name on the ballot.

Youngster Sees First Snow

Iron River—Jerry Clauser is nine years old, but he didn't see his first snowfall until this year. Until he came with his parents to Iron River recently, all of his life had been spent in Alabama. When the first big snow storm hit the upper peninsula this winter, Jerry was up at four o'clock in the morning to tell his parents about it.

Plenty of Potatoes

Evart—This must be good country for potato growing, for Evart farmers specialize in quantity. Walter Drake reported a yield of 374 bushels from one acre this year, and 833 bushels from a three-acre field.

City is Driver's Jinx

Portland—Joe Smith of Lansing will probably stay away from Portland from now on. About three months ago he purchased a $1,500 automobile. Parking it here shortly after he bought it, a fender was crushed when another car bumped it. Recently his car was jammed on local streets for the third time in three months.

Unique News Story

Punctuality Plus

Trenton — For 21 years Leonard Frebes has been taking notes at council meetings here, in his capacity as village clerk. During that time he missed one meeting — 15 years ago. This year he missed his second council session in over two decades, a business trip taking him out of town.

How about printing big signs and put upon every closed factory labeling each "A Murphy Monument" and note how many men were formerly employed at that plant. The CIO should be made to foot the bill.—Ex.

It's illegal to sleep in a North Dakota hotel. In 1929 the state legislature passed a law with the following punctuation slip in it: "No hotel, restaurant, dining room, or kitchen shall be used as a sleeping or dressing room by an employee or other persons." When you remove the comma after the word "hotel," the paragraph is all right, but judges say it would take a legislative amendment to get rid of that comma.—Commentator Magazine.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

Statutes Available for 1938 Extra Session

Few people realize the extent to which the state of Michigan is in the business of publishing books. In the execution of his duties as provided by law, the secretary of state is the capitol's chief publisher of books, pamphlets and other public records.

The publication of the Michigan Manual and the Public Acts of each session of the legislature, is a matter of routine for the department of state and has been for years. Because of this the immensity of the project escapes public notice.

Every two years the Department publishes 15,000 copies of the Michigan Manual, or "Red Book," which has been a familiar symbol of state records for many years.

Also after each session of the legislature, bound volumes of the acts passed and signed by the governor are published. The number of books published is usually about 18,500. These public acts, as well as the Michigan Manual, are distributed to thousands of public officials without cost as provided in the distribution act.

The most recent publication of the department is that of the extra session of this year or properly called the Public Acts of 1938. This is a small paper bound volume of 30 pages recording the 9 acts passed by the last legislature.

The cost of this most recent publication is forty cents per copy.

USE, DON'T SPEND MONEY

By Hester Renwick Frase
Consumers' Counsel

Choose toys carefully and make your dollar go farther. Toys are manufactured by adults and sold mainly to adults for children. When purchasing toys, serious consideration and inspection must be made of the construction of the toys. Look for fast color that will not rub off, tiny nails that might jiggle loose, sharp edges that would cut. Careful construction is important to the joyful use of a toy gift.

Suggestions for crib toys that can be securely tied to the side of the crib: Bright colored ribbons and soft, bright colored balls; small bells and rattles of different tones; colored balloons; strings of bright colored wooden beads; soft rubber dolls and animals for the tub.

Creeping and Toddling Age: Rubber balls; unbreakable dolls and dolls furniture; round-cornered, cubical blocks; nest of blocks; wooden cut-out animals; flat wooden trains and wagons; take-apart toys; small strong chair; wagon; pedal kiddie car; chair swing; low slide; low steps; large wooden beads; sand box with buckets and sand toys; drums.

Runabout Age, 2 to 4 years: Baby slide; balance board; swing; climbing apparatus; teeter-totter; low rings; cross bar; trapeze; rocking boat; sled; velocipede (4 years); 2 pedal automobile; large wagon; strong iron or wooden train; boat, automobile; building blocks; work bench with hammer, nails and pieces of soft wood; large wooden beads; 4 piece puzzles; large peg board; dustless chalk; easel; large paint brushes, water paints and crayons; modeling materials; blunt scissors; small table and chair; toy doctor and nurses kits.

Kindergarten Age: Football; coaster; jump rope; double runner ice skates; sled, roller skates; boxing gloves; large sewing and weaving materials; paper dolls; scrap books; rubber stamp set and stenciling materials; dolls, etc., dress-up costumes; bean bags; fish pond; bubble sets; tiddledy winks.

Elementary School Age: Bicycle, golf (Jr. sets); croquet; baseball, football, beach, basket ball and soccer; garden tools; ball-bearing roller skates; ice skates; ski; boy scout outfits; work bench and tools; desk and black board; construction sets; sewing and weaving sets; art materials; printing sets; jig-saw puzzles; electric trains; typewriter; housekeeping toys; sewing machine; boxing games; card games; magic lantern; moving picture machine; real musical instruments; dolls; costumes.

Poison Gas (Carbon Monoxide) in Garages

Carbon monoxide is an important hazard in garages and service stations. Due to the fact that it does not produce any violent symptoms it has not received the attention which it deserves. Being a colorless, odorless, tasteless and non-irritating gas its presence is not detected by the senses. Although nausea may occur, headache, dizziness, drowsiness or confusion are the usual symptoms, and these are frequently ignored or excused as being the result of other causes.

It is the purpose of this report to call your attention to the seriousness of this gas which is the product of incomplete combustion, and which is found to a greater or lesser degree in the exhaust gases from all internal combustion engines, and the smoke and fumes from stoves and furnaces. When inhaled, carbon monoxide is taken up by the hemoglobin; that part of the blood stream whose normal function is to carry oxygen. The hemoglobin has an attraction for carbon monoxide about 300 times greater than for oxygen; consequently, the absorption of the gas is quite rapid. As the hemoglobin becomes saturated with carbon monoxide, the oxygen in the blood stream is reduced in proportion and if the air contains sufficient carbon monoxide, death results.

Exceedingly small amounts of the gas are dangerous. A concentration of only 0.02 may produce the characteristic primary symptoms, headache, mental dullness and physical logginess, in a few hours. A concentration of 0.06% may produce headache in less than an hour and unconsciousness in 2 hours; while 0.1% may produce unconsciousness in less than an hour and prove fatal in four hours. Strenuous exercise increases the rate of absorption, thereby increasing the severity of the attack and shortening the length of time during which the symptoms appear.

Normal elimination of carbon monoxide from the blood is exceedingly slow. An employee exposed to a carbon monoxide concentration of 0.04% for four hours will show a blood saturation reaching 35% and it will require about twelve hours in a carbon monoxide free atmosphere to reduce that saturation to 5%. Because of the long period of time required to reduce the blood saturation, any employee subjected to carbon monoxide poisoning should remain at home in a carbon monoxide free atmosphere for a period of twenty-four hours. This rest period will reduce the blood saturation and eliminate the possibility of harmful fatal after effects.

In highway garages it has been observed that incoming trucks are usually shut off a few minutes after entering the building, but that outgoing trucks are frequently warmed up for from fifteen minutes to one-half hour in the garage before being taken out. Adjustment of repaired or overhauled motors requires that they be run a considerable time. Since the density of carbon monoxide is practically the same as air; frequent air changes are necessary particularly during the hours that the trucks are running in the garage, if carbon monoxide poisoning is to be prevented.

Natural draft ventilation, although better than none at all, is far from dependable. Some form of exhaust ventilation using a motor driven fan is recommended for every such garage. This may only be needed in the area where motors are overhauled or repaired, if that area is separated from the rest of the garage by walls or partitions, although natural draft ventilators should be installed on the roofs of the storage area to remove carbon monoxide produced in warming up operations.

In those places where ventilation depended entirely upon the opening and closing of doors, or upon an insufficient number of small vents in the roof, carbon monoxide concentrations were found, after many inspections in nineteen highway garages. Where ample sized roof vents and forced draft ventilation were installed, no danger from carbon monoxide poisoning appeared.

With these thoughts in mind, it is our suggestion that you give serious attention to the ventilation in your garage so that this winter there will be no possibility of a carbon monoxide poisoning.

Uncanny Experiences in the "Most Haunted House in England" — Dr. Harry Price, psychical investigator, rents a historic house nobody else would live in, and gives an amazing account of exciting experiences there, in an unusual article, illustrated in color, which will be one of the prominent features in The American Weekly with the December 11 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

We shouldn't worry so much about "reds" being in this country as we should worry about the country being "in the red."

HARRINGTON - LIVINGSTON WEDDING EVENT TUESDAY AT PETOSKEY

At a pretty ceremony solemnized at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Miss Beryle Harrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Harrington of Petoskey, was united in marriage to David E. Livingston, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Livingston of this city.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Bailey in Trinity Evangelistic church before a group of immediate relatives and friends.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Dan, wore a wedding gown of dusty pink and a corsage of white gardenias. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Merla Chew, who wore a gown of light blue and a corsage of mixed flowers. Donald Reed acted as best man. Mrs. Heberstreet played the wedding music.

Mr. Livingston is a graduate of Charlevoix high school and attended Central State Teachers College and Davenport - McLachlan Business College. The couple will reside in Petoskey, where Mr. Livingston has a position at the Petoskey State Savings Bank.

THE JOB AHEAD

The job ahead of Frank Fitzgerald is one of the toughest any incoming governor has had to face in the last decade. Many of the reforms started by him such as civil service, government reorganization, and others have either come to fraition or further work done on them, under the direction of Governor Murphy. They have not been jobs finished in the style or plan as first conceived by Fitzgerald. They will need a complete going over.

Civil service, for instance, was never conceived to be used as a means of "blanketing in" thousands of state employees on jobs they got simply because they were good Democrats, or even perhaps because they were good Republicans. They must be and they will be, weeded out and then real examinations issued by the Civil Service Board so people who are capable for the positions made vacant in this process can honestly earn them for themselves.

Government reorganization is a large job. It is badly needed, for many departments overlap. It must be done now and there is no longer any excuse for delay. It has been promised and more phenagling will simply let the voters know it is just another illusion if it isn't finished pretty quick. Governor Murphy got practically no place with this issue and much is expected from Governor Fitzgerald because he usually does what he says he is going to do. And last but not least, is our drastic immediate need for an adequate labor law governing all forms of labor questions so the people of this state will not need to fear ever again a situation arising like that which occurred two years ago when Governor Murphy first took office. It can be done and it will be done.

There are other jobs before the incoming administration, but it is almost a certainty that these issues will draw first attention.

Boy Helps Fight TB

With these words came a tug at the tunic of Princess Watassa, a member of the Chippewa Indian tribe and school health educator on the staff of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. When she turned, there stood a little boy with an earnest look on his face and [illegible] ing her a penny. "I want," [illegible] peated, "to buy a tub[illegible] Christmas seal." The s[illegible] made and Bernie S[illegible] Rapids school boy shar[illegible] with Princess Watassa, [illegible] first person in his coun[illegible] chase Christmas seals.

Princess Watassa had just finished telling the boys and girls in Bernie's school an Indian legend about "sky medicine". She told how Cheedn, a member of her tribe, had taken his little sick playmate out into the open daily, where the warm rays of the sun, called "sky medicine", brought the bloom back to her cheeks and she could run and play again. She had told how today tuberculosis Christmas seals help to preserve the health and happiness of modern boys and girls. Miss Margaret Schurman, Bernie's teacher, had invited the princess into the room where an Indian project is being worked out. It was [illegible] Bernie decided he wanted to [illegible] a Christmas seal.

Princess Watassa's work is one of many Christmas seal financed activities that are carried on by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. The thirty-second annual sale of the tiny messengers of health commenced on Thanksgiving Day and will continue to Christmas. Funds raised will be used by the Association and its twenty-five affiliates in the state to carry on the fight against the White Plague in 1939.

EDITORIAL

UNREMEMBERED?

Of kindness and of love.

So Wordsworth wrote years ago. We thought of these lines as we read in a New York paper of the policemen of Butler Station, Brooklyn. It was a brief item tucked on an inside page. "This is good for about two sticks of human interest inside," a harassed city editor must have told the cub that brought the item in.

But for John Wiebel and his wife that item, we suspect, just about marks the horizon of their present world. For some days John and his wife walked the streets. The other night they wandered into the Butler police station. It was an act of despair and they expected nothing, we gathered, but warmth and rest. They found the warmth and rest — and much more. They found blue coats who, seeing their hunger and pitifulness, reached deep into their pockets and fed them. Next day several of the officers went out to help John find a job.

Perhaps these deeds were not quite "nameless" since some reporter did record them. "Certainly they will not be unremembered"—by John and his wife. And countless others, after reading about the police of Butler Station, must also have felt a little of that warmth and nourishment that comes from seeing one's fellow man in so kind a light.—Christian Science Monitor.

HEALTHY AMERICANS

Americans are hitting the all-time high for good health records in this year of 1938. There are numerous reasons given for the excellent rating. Among them is the medical service furnished gratis to the very poor.

However, it is a very well known fact that the health of a nation is better in hard times. People live saner, simpler lives when the budget won't stretch to cover luxurious food and entertainment.

Good health and happiness seem to walk hand in hand. Many people are changing their ideas that happiness is dependent upon wealth and luxuriant living.

The wisest words in this world are those a fellow doesn't say when he's angry.

Ichthyologists have determined that fish have a sense of smell, have ability to taste and have a memory.

A BLIGHTED CITY

San Francisco has lost its supremacy as a West Coast shipping center to Los Angeles.

Vessels passing through the Golden Gate have declined 71 per cent.

A score of steamship lines have either gone out of business or abandoned Pacific Coast schedules.

The value of real estate in San Francisco has declined 40 per cent in the last four years, while building activity has dropped 38 per cent.

And many industrial companies have moved to other cities, while others, among them some in Detroit, which were thinking of building plants in San Francisco, have not done so.

A survey just completed by The Chicago Tribune traces the blight that has fallen on this once proud and prosperous city to CIO dominance.

Since 1934 there have been 500 strikes in San Francisco. Among these was a walkout of longshoremen, followed by a general strike, which cost business on the waterfront between $125,000,000 and $150,000,000. Workers affected by these strikes lost at least $10,000,000 in wages.

And in spite of the strikes, and to some extent because of them, wages of longshoremen have steadily declined since 1934!

When business is driven away from a city, workers are left stranded, a surplus of labor is created and wages inevitably fall.

What has happened in San Francisco can happen in Detroit or any other American city, where irresponsible labor leaders like Comrade Bridges adopt strife instead of negotiatinn in their effort to better the condition of their followers.

The interests of labor, as wise labor leaders know, are not served by destroying or driving away industries that provide the jobs that fill the pay envelopes. — Detroit Free Press.

AN OPPORTUNITY

The pendulum of public sentiment has swung back toward the "right." Republican gains in both houses of Congress; the winning of state tickets in most of the North Central states (Indiana excepted); the elimination of Gov. LaFollette and with it his new Third Party in Wisconsin; the unfavorable reaction to interference in state elections by the President—all these things indicate that a growing percentage of the voters of the country have lost faith in governmental experiments, wild spending and irresponsible undertakings. The New Deal and independent Democrats still have a sizeable majority in Congress. There is little doubt, however, that the days of "rubber stamp" legislation are past. It is likely that a sounder fiscal policy will follow. In states electing Republican tickets (including Michigan) there comes an opportunity to demonstrate the real meaning of sound government. The next two years will determine the fate of the Republican party, both in Michigan and the nation. Failure to accomplish the rightful and necessary functions of government along with economy will spell the end of the party.—Schuyler Marshall, Clinton County Republican News.

DANGERS

What may increase centralization of authority and break down individual liberty are wild government experiments that weaken rather than strengthen sources of private employment and thus lower values and diminish prosperity. On a pretext of attacking "intrenched greed," the sweep of corrective legislation impairs the producing and employing possibilities of many small industries and businesses. As arteries of exchange are slowed up, new and equally strange experiments are demanded, further interfering with the individual's freedom to operate as his judgment suggests and the means at his command make possible. Then, as one Utopian dream after another fails and the machinery of manufacturing and trade becomes further burdened and out of plumb, the specter of a totalitarian state looms and is held justified on the ground of lack of cooperation. People are goaded to employ and produce under adverse conditions and are then blamed for failure of economic fulfilment according to the dreamer's dreams. —Wayne, Nebraska, Herald.

Some of our newspaper friends and radio commentators now are much concerned about taking care of Governor Murphy after the office is turned over to Frank Fitzgerald, and they have placed him in every appointive position from Judge of the Supreme Court, Governor of the Philippines again down to just a plain Detroit lawyer. That's unfortunate that this man that has bellied up to the richest kind of a political trough almost ever since he got out of school should now suffer the lack of that direct federal or state pay pouch. — Al. H. Weber, Cheboygan Observer.

FARM TOPICS

HUMOR BIRDS FOR POULTRY PROFITS

Catering to Hens' Whims Is Found Good Plan.

By H. H. Alp, Poultry Extension Specialist, University of Illinois—WNU Service.

It will pay poultry producers to learn how hens behave like human beings. Whims in poultry behavior can be noticed in fowls just as easily as they can be in human beings, and in many cases they are likely to be similar.

Although there is a difference of opinion as to whether human whims should be catered to, the successful poultryman knows that for good egg production, poultry whims can not be overlooked.

For instance, putting fresh feed in a feed hopper for poultry works just about the same as putting fresh bread on the table for the family meal—it usually results in increased consumption. A feeder which requires frequent filling is a distinct advantage, since the frequent filling encourages egg production.

Just as humans dislike water that has been heavily chlorinated, so hens will turn up their noses at water which has been polluted with some pill or powder. Such a practice is likely to result in low water consumption and low egg production.

The more appetizing the water, the greater will be its probable effect on egg production. When it is cold it will pay to keep water warm as well as clean.

To many people a dessert makes a meal complete and often helps to make up for any shortcomings of the main course. Judging by their reactions to a moist mash feeding once a day, poultry would agree that such a feeding serves them well as a dessert. Many flock owners resort to moist feeding as a means of feeding some of the vitamin and mineral concentrates such as codliver oil, sardine oil and milk products.

Hens also react favorably to clean surroundings. When clean litter is substituted for dirty litter, there is much singing and scratching which helps increase egg production.

Electric Farm Fence Is Regarded as Dangerous

It is extremely dangerous for anyone unfamiliar with the principles of electricity to experiment with the electric fence, says Harry L. Garver, investigator in rural electrification at Washington State college.

Electric fences operated by storage batteries and properly constructed by expert electricians will give safe service. But it is never advisable for the amateur to attempt to build his own equipment, Garver says. In all probability, it would not meet safety approval, thereby making the owner liable for any damage that might be done by it, he added.

While it is possible to build electric fences that are connected with the home wiring circuit, this practice is not encouraged; there is too much danger of unskilled persons making the wrong connection and sending the full charge through the fence. It is believed advisable to post warning signs on all electric fences.

Nests for R. I. Reds

A nest for a Rhode Island Red hen should be from 12 to 15 inches square and about 12 inches high. One nest of this type must be provided for every four or five hens in the flock. The dark front nest with an entrance from the rear is coming into general use. It avoids egg eating and losses from pickouts. The "community type" of nest is a favorite with many poultrymen. It has the same general construction but is built without partitions dividing it into individual nests. This nest may be six or eight feet in length with a four-inch board in front to retain the litter.

Hardware Bad for Cows

Hardware has its very important place in our scheme of farm operation, but baling wire, nails, bits of steel, etc., lodged inside Bossy's body are bad medicine. Just a few precautions are mentioned by Hoard's Dairyman: Account for all baling wire from hay, straw, or shavings used in the cow barn. Unwind the wire, do not chop it in two. Stage a continual pick-up of wire, nads, etc. Do not mend stanchions with wire. If a nail is missed while making a repair about the feed alley, find it. Outlaw the steel brush around the feed department.

Feeding the Hens

The feed for hens depends upon several factors. First, the development of the bird; second, the rate of production; third, the condition of the house in which the birds are kept, and fourth the amount of mash the birds consume daily. You cannot weigh out the scratch grain. The only way is to feed them what they will eat up clean, giving them all they wish at night, when they should go to roost satisfied and with full crops.

ROCK BOTTOM FUEL COSTS FOR OIL-O-MATIC OWNERS

DEAR, OUR FUEL BILLS ARE WAY UNDER OUR BUDGET
I'M NOT SURPRISED—THE "THRIFT METER" ON OUR OIL-O-MATIC WON'T ALLOW OIL TO BE WASTED

THRIFT METER ends oil waste!

You Save 4 Ways with WILLIAMS OIL-O-MATIC HEATING

1. You save in fuel because the Thrift Meter parcels out oil stingily regardless of the changes in viscosity or temperature of the fuel oil.
2. You save in upkeep cost, because Oil-O-Matic's Low Pressure Atomization reduces wear, prevents clogging—assuring a longer and repair-free life.
3. You save on labor: No excuse any longer to spend money for furnace tending, ash removal. Oil-O-Matic is automatic—and clean. No dust, dirt, soot.
4. You save on basement space. Oil-O-Matic adds a room to your home—a den, a workshop or recreation room. Your property becomes more valuable.

DOWN to rock-bottom—that's where Oil-O-Matic owners' fuel bills are. And all because of that sensational mechanical miser, that patented pinch-penny device . . . the "Thrift Meter."

The Thrift Meter takes oil of varying viscosity and temperature—and by an ingenious process measures it, budgets it within a split fraction of one per cent of exactness!

No wonder you save! And no wonder Williams Oil-O-Matic is the largest selling oil burner in the world! People want economy. You want it . . . surely! So come in—and learn how you can get an Oil-O-Matic yet take three years to pay with our FHA Payment Plan. PAY NOTHING TILL OCT. 1st!

Pete Hallett, newly elected Kiwanis president, is a busy guy making preliminary arrangements for the Kiwanis state convention to be held here next summer. He has arranged for showings of colored movies of Charlevoix scenes and summer activities at Kiwanis meetings throughout southern Michigan during the winter as a means of showing the Kiwanians what Charlevoix has to offer and get them "pepped" up to attend. The Kiwanis convention is going to be one of the biggest Charlevoix has ever entertained and in order to put it over properly every local citizen will have to do their part.

If winter sports are not enjoyed here this winter, it won't be because those WPA recreational leaders haven't done their part in furnishing facilities. What with the hockey rink at East Park, the improved ski and toboggan slides at Mt. McSauby, the rink at the school grounds, etc., the stage is all set for a lot of outdoor enjoyment for those who will take advantage.

The past has proven that basketball is Charlevoix's favorite dish and the first serving will be Friday night. Local fans are looking forward to the first contest to see what the 1938-39 edition of the Red Rayders will be like. The team and coach are in sort of a tough spot to uphold a record like was established by last year's combination which was broken up by graduation last spring. About ten of the first 12 players are gone. Het Coach "Stub" Kipke will make a team out of the three veterans he has left, but let's not expect too much at the start of the season.

TEGERDINE-ARNOLD WEDDING EVENT OF DEC. 1ST

Of interest to Charlevoixans is the marriage on Thursday, December 1, at Hamilton, Mich., of Lloyd Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Arnold, this city, to Miss Aletha Tegerdine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tegerdine of River Forest, Ill.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Isaac Scherpenisse, former pastor of the South Barnard church. The attendants were the bride's sister, Alma, and brother, Mervin, of River Forest.

Following a honeymoon trip to Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold have returned to make their home at 403 Dixon avenue.

DICKENS AND SHAKESPEARE CLUBS GUEST AT MUSICALE MONDAY

Members of the Charles Dickens Club and Shakespeare Study Club were delightfully entertained Monday afternoon at Gwellentop, the home of Mrs. S. W. Mower at Ironton.

Mrs. Mower, the chairman of the committee, was assisted by Mrs. A. J. Stelter.

Mrs. Mower and Mrs. J. C. Dissette opened the program with a piano duet, Scotch Symphony by Mendelssohn. A choir composed of members of both clubs and directed by Mrs. Stelter, sang the old French carol Bring a Torch Jeanette, Isabelle, the English carol Coventry, and the well known Cantique de Noel by Adams. Mrs. Mower, who is a concert pianist, played The Sea, May Nights by Palmgreni, and Chopin's Schertzo.

Suzanne Porter of East Jordan, played a Gavotte by Gluck and for encore played Silent Night with the choir assisting. The program closed with the choir singing Hark, the Herald Angels Sing and all present joined in this number.

Tea was served by the hostess at a table beautifully decorated with evergreens and a silver candelabra holding red candles which added to the Christmas spirit of the program.

VOTE AGAIN ON AMENDMENT SPRING ELECTION

A proposed constitutional amendment for non-partisan election of judges was assured a place on the April ballot when initiatory petitions bearing 246,546 signatures were filed December 1 with the secretary of state. The amendment was defeated at the November general election.

Subject:
"Living in Expectation"

For years we have looked upon December as "Joy Month." Our reason is the joy the coming of Christ brought to the world." Our services throughout the month will have the note of the advent.

The program for the month is: December 11—"Living in Expectation." December 18—"A Christmas Monologue" supported by the choir. December 25—"A Candle Light Service" if the service is a midnight or a vesper service. January 1st a unique service without a spoken word, is being planned.

The young people will sing carols on Christmas Eve as usual.

The Charlevoix Sunday school will have its program on Christmas Eve. At Ironton the program will, in all probability, be given on Thursday night, December 22.

ESTIMATE 300 DEER ARE KILLED BY AUTOMOBILES

More than 300 deer have been killed by automobiles in the state this year, the state conservation department has estimated.

The department asked motorists to use utmost care in driving through territory inhabited by deer. About the same number have been killed at night as in the day time, officers explained, probably due to the fact that car lights seem to hold a deer's attention rather than frighten it.

SCHOOL XMAS PROGRAMS ANNOUNCED

GRADE AND HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS PARTICIPATING

Presentation Wednesday, December 21, Last Day of School Before Holiday Vacation Period

Charlevoix pahlic schouls will close at 3:30 Wednesday afternoon, December 21, for the customary two weeks' holiday vacation. Classes will resume Wednesday, January 4.

Instructors and pupils are busy with plans for customary Christmas entertainments to be presented in the gymnasium on Wednesday, the final day uf schuol before vacation.

The grade children will present their program in the morning at 9:30. The kindergarten band will open the entertainment with two numbers, "Parade of the Christmas Toys" and "Up on the House Top." Numbers by the kindergarten girls will include "Rockaby Baby," "Santa Claus" and "Christmas Cheer." The first grade will sing "Sleepy Town Express." The second grade will give "Night Before Christmas" and a soug, "I Saw Three Ships." Plays entitled "The Little Rebels" and "Christmas Gold" will be given by the third and fourth grades, respectively. To complete the program, a pageant telling the story of the birth of Christ and the star in the east will be presented by the fifth and sixth grades.

The senior high program will begin at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The band will play a few numbers including "In a Clock Store" by Orth, and "Heneath the Holly," a medley of Christmas airs. A play, "Christmas in an Auto Trailer," will be given by the junior class, directed by Miss Phyllis Hustin. This play was written and typed by a committee of students composed of Betty Willis, Louise Young and Max White. The play is a comedy in two short scenes. The cast includes a variety of contrasting types played by Margery Edwards, Marie McGhan, Frances Meggison, Esther Hansen, Kenneth Wilson, Bub Herrington, Bob Craig and Richard Norton. Scenery will be arranged by Bob Smith and Bob Wexstaff.

Each room is having a Christmas tree which has been secured by the school for them. All parents are extended an invitation to attend these Christmas programs.

"FEATHER PARTY" FOR BENEFIT OF HOSPITAL

COUNTY TB CAMPAIGN DEPENDS ON SEAL SALE

Michigan Association Urges Contributors Make Response

"Hundreds of Charlevoix county residents have already given. The success of the campaign depends now upon the hundreds of people in the county who have not yet made returns for the tuberculosis Christmas seals mailed to them on Thanksgiving Day."

That was the announcement made this week by Theodore Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, as the first ten day period of the thirty-second annual sale of Christmas seals passed.

"The success of the sale hangs in the balance," Mr. Werle said, "If we could be assured of as generous contributions from those who have not yet given as from thuse who have, there would be nothing to worry about. As the situation stands, however, the anti-tuberculosis program in Charlevoix county will suffer in 1939, unless gifts are received from those we are counting upon so heavily.

SEASON ON ANTLERLESS DEER SOUGHT

WOULD ALLOW SHOOTING AFTER REGULAR SEASON

Conservation Commission Votes to Ask Legislature for Power to Handle Control Measure

The State Conservation Commission proposed last Friday that the legislature give it power to fix an antlerless deer season after the regular hunting period. The season would be set in over-populated areas, or wherever the commission considered it necessary.

The commission emphasized that the special season, if authorized by the legislature, would not mean a wholesale killing of does and fawns.

"This will not be a sporting season, but strictly a control measure," Commissioner Harold Titus, of Traverse City, declared.

There was a strong sentiment that the legislature provide for special licenses for a three to five-day season, but definite recommendations were withheld until the January meeting.

"The commission is convinced that reduction of the deer herd in certain areas is necessary," a commission resolution stated. "After 10 years of study considering all the precedents established, it is believed that the most practical and effective method is by controlled hunting of antlerless deer.

He's Here Again!

. . . that sentimental gentleman from the Northland is back in our midst — and Charlevoix merchants are prepared to meet his needs. Look over the Courier this week. The advertisements have been prepared to serve you. You will find gift items as low in price as they can be had anywhere, and for much less than you can buy in neighboring towns, to say nothing of expensive auto trip and many wasted hours. By using the Courier, you can find where to buy the things you want, thus eliminating the necessity of going from place to place on an endless search.

BUSINESS MENS' COMMITTEE IS ORGANIZED

Added to Board of Commerce to Promote Local Retail Business

Organized effort along retail business promotional lines and closer cooperation among Charlevoix merchants is expected to result from the appointment Tuesday night of a Business Mens' committee of the Board of Commerce.

At a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday evening, President C. S. Webster named Don Campbell to head the new committee composed of Charles H. Emrey, D. H. Wood, Katherine Fitch, Arthur Bergeon, H. A. Craig, H. I. Ochs, Kit Carson, Robert Bonthron, Milton Block and Russell Curtis.

It is expected the committee will outline a year-around program of retail business promotion, promote closer relationship with rural areas and work along lines of closer harmony in the retail business field.

Appointment of the committee meets popular demand and fills a vacant spot in the Board of Commerce set-up.

Clarence B. Meggison was named chairman of the roads and parks committee, a chairmanship which had previously not been filled.

WORK PROGRESSING AT FEDERAL FISH HATCHERY

Numerous, Extensive Improvements Made Under Relief Program

Numerous and extensive changes and improvements have been made in recent weeks at the federal fish hatchery under combined PWA and WPA projects sponsored by the Federal Bureau of Fisheries.

The program under the direction of E. M. Geer, has so far included reroofing the hatchery building, garage and superintendent's residence, decoration of the interior of these buildings, re-lining the inside of troughs. Other features will include a changeover from steam to electric energy for hatching operations which are embodied in the plan of changing the hatchery from a hatching to a rearing unit.

The work has been in progress since early September and will continue until completion in time for operation in the spring, it is understood.

LEGION AUXILIARY XMAS PROGRAM IS POSTPONED

MRS. MIRANDA ASHDON IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Aged Antrim Pioneer Woman Died Dec. 8 at Home of Son Here

The long and active life of Mrs. Miranda C. Dean Ashdon, 93, a pioneer of Antrim county, came to a close with her death early Thursday morning, December 8th, at the home of her son, Ray Ashdon, South Bridge street.

Mrs. Ashdon was born July 10, 1845, in Port Sanilac. She was married in 1863 to William Ashdon in Tuscola county and after residing there a short time moved to the vicinity of Kalkaska, where they lived until Mr. Ashdon's death 42 years ago. Mrs. Ashdon had resided the greater part of the past 30 years with her son, Ray.

Surviving her are three sons, George of Tacoma, Wash., Edward of Mancelona, and Ray of Charlevoix; a daughter, Mrs. Alice Hodgkin of Petoskey; a step-son, Myron of Alden; also several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning from the See Funeral Home Rev. John Alexander officiating. Burial was in the Mancelona cemetery.

CHARLEVOIX SCHOOLS RETAIN U. OF M. RATINGS

Diploma Relationship Is Extended Another Three-Year Period

As the result of a recent inspection of Charlevoix schools hy the University of Michigan, this school has been notified that the diploma relationship which has existed between the University and school has been extended for another 3-year period ending June 1942.

This recognition means that graduates of the Charlevoix high school whose work ranks with the highest one-third of the class and who have taken certain groupings of subjects, may be admitted without examination.

A three-year term recognition hy the university almost automatically result in a North Central Association rating, allowing similar students to enter all other equivalent institutions in the central states.

AWAIT APPROVAL PWA GRANT FOR CITY HALL

Taxpayers Vote Required Bond Issue at Special Election Dec. 8

Approval hy the Public Works Administration of an application for $29,000 in federal funds for construction of a city hall and fire station is awaited by city officials as a signal to proceed with the proposed project.

At a special election last Wednesday, Charlevoix taxpayers approved a bond issue of $36,000 to provide the city's share of the cost. The total vute cast was 461, of which 327 were in favor and 137 against the proposal, providing a majority over the two-thirds required. The same proposition was defeated at a special election November 8.

As the matter aow stands, approval of the PWA grant at a date early enough to allow completion of preliminary details and awarding of contract so that the project may be started before the December 31st deadline, is required. City officials are making every effort to obtain approval.

PIONEER CITIZEN TAKEN BY DEATH

GEIK C. GEIKEN DIED THURSDAY AT PELLSTON

Funeral Services for Retired Commercial Fisherman and City Official Held Saturday

Charlevoix lost one of its most prominent citizens last Thursday morning in the death of Geik C. Geiken, 84, a pioneer, retired commercial fisherman, at the home of his son, Frank Geiken, at Pellston. He had been ill but a short time.

Born in Schlesswig-Holstein, a German provinee, on January 22, 1854, Mr. Geiken came to this country when a boy. He located at St. Joseph and sailed the Great Lakes before beginning commercial fishing operations which he later moved to Charlevoix.

In the early days when sailing schooners carried the products of Charlevoix county saw mills to Great Lakes ports, Mr. Geiken owned three large steam tugs used in towing and commercial fishing. He was one of the largest operators in this region. Following his retirement many years ago, he became a large property owner in this city. He served the city and former village as alderman at least 20 terms and was at one time believed to be the dean of Michigan city officials

THIRD ANNUAL XMAS CONCERT DECEMBER 22

The Charlevoix city band, directed by Max Smith, will present its third annual Christmas concert at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, December 22nd, at the school gymnasium.

The annual concert has been increasing in popularity as a pre-Christmas feature each year. The program will include twelve numbers and the band will play accompaniment for two groups of community songs in which the assemblage will join.

There is no charge for the concert and the citizens of Charlevoix and surrounding area are cordially invited and urged to attend.

You'll enjoy the holidays with perfect radio reception. Have your battery charged at GAMBLE'S for the holiday season.—Adv. 50t1.

CHARLEVOIX LOSES FIRST CAGE GAME

DEFEATED 33 TO 30 BY PETOSKEY HERE FRIDAY

Reserves Dropped Preliminary by 36 to 13 Count — Play at Harbor Springs This Week

Charlevoix's Red Rayders were defeated 33 to 30 by the class B Petoskey Northmen in the opening contest of their 1938-39 schedule here Friday night.

The contest was close and thrilling from start to finish and provided fans with the new experience of witnessing a Charlevoix team go down to defeat for the first time in over two years of regular scheduled play.

The 1938-39 edition of the Red Rayders plainly revealed lack of experience and lack of practice which prior to the game amounted to one day over a week. Their offense and defense was ragged, their basket-shooting far off color. The same may be said for Petoskey's near-veteran team. The Rayders did, however reveal a fighting spirit and potentualities which were anything but discouraging.

The contest was one of those nip-and-tuck affairs which kept the fans in furor to the closing seconds. Petoskey scored first and had a 6 to 3 advantage at the quarter. Charlevoix evened the count and went ahead early in the second period. During this quarter Petoskey once led by one point, Charlevoix once by 3. The score was knotted 14-all at the half.

The Rayders forged ahead again in the third period but midway went into a slump that lasted into the fourth quarter and let Petoskey pile up at one time a 10-point margin when they led 30 to 20. From then on the Rayders scored 10 points to Petoskey's 3, but the rally came too late.

SENIOR CLASS SPONSORING A CHRISTMAS DANCE

The senior class of Charlevoix high school has announced plans for a Christmas dance to be held at the school gymnasium the evening of Monday, December 26th.

Invitations were issued Tuesday. It is the desire of those sponsoring the party that everyone attend and additional invitations will be issued to townspeople and out-of-town guests by the invitation committee upon request.

As a means of defraying expenses balcony seats will be available to spectators at 10c per person

ODD FELLOWS NAMED OFFICERS WEDNESDAY

Installation Is Scheduled for First Meeting in January

Elective officers of Round Lake Lodge No. 293, I. O. O. F. have been chosen for the ensuing year as follows:

Noble Grand, Grant Crandall; vice grand, Walker A. Miles; recording secretary, Lester Hall; financial secretary, P. R. Ross; treasurer, Clarence Coblentz. Fred Bergman was named member of the hoard of trustees for 3 years.

Appointive officers will be named prior to installation scheduled for the first meeting in January.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Makes me shiver to think about a year ago yesterday. The temperature here was 2 degrees above zero. It was 20 below at East Jordan and 14 below at Boyne City and Ironton. Lake Charlevoix was frozen over and frost a half inch thick which clung to the foliage produced a beautiful sight in the bright early morning sunlight. That was December 13, and in contrast this year's temperature on the same day was well up above the freezing mark and, followed a Suaday which was like an early fall day. We're in favor of a lot more uf such.

One thing about that limit of five mackinaw trout per person they're proposing to the legislature is that it won't bother anybody' arouad these parts to observe it. Observed mackinaw trollers here and also in Grand Traverse bay through the columns of the Traverse City daily sufficiently to kaow that in the past two years you could count those individuals who caugh: more than five mackinaws in one day on the fingers of one hand. Fact of the matter is that the largest catch I know of was nine in one day taken by a party of four. That was better than average for this whole region. The law might apply to those game hogs who catch a thousand pounds or more in a week's trip to Lake Superior, hut will still maintain that as far as Lake Michigan is concerned they might better leave the poor little troller alone and get busy on some scheme that will produce more fish.

Was going to say something about the lack of Christmas decorations on Bridge street, but have learned that the city council has come to the rescue and that we're going to be able to tell hy the looks of the street as well as the store windows that the Yuletide season is at hand

After seeing Coach Ray Kipke's 1938-39 Red Rayders perform against Petoskey last Friday night

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Voters of Michigan may be called upon to express approval or disapproval next April of two additional amendments to the state constitution.

Encouraged by the success of the "good roads" amendment at the November 8 election, the Michigan Education association proposes to seek legislative action next month to earmark state funds for educational purposes. So far the idea is yet in the hatching process, and no definite plan has been formally approved.

Educators are determined that public schools must be guaranteed a fair share of revenue, and a constitutional amendment is one way of assuring this.

Governor-elect Frank Fitzgerald has pledged support to statutory earmarking of school funds and he also has promised to recommend a state appropriation of at least $44,000,000 a year in state revenue. Last year the schools received $41,000,000.

CLARK NEWS

The road from Brock's corner to the school house is nearly impassible.

We are looking forward with great expectations to our Christmas program.

Miss Lawrence visited school on Thursday and brought us a case of books.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Warner attended the dental meeting Thursday evening.

We hope that Helen and Evelyn Wilber will soon recover. We hope they will soon return to school.

We have been making Christmas decorations for our school. We have Santa Clauses climbing out of the chimney on our bulletin board.

SOY BEAN PAINT IS WINNING APPROVAL

Tests Show Product Provides Outlet for Michigan Field Crop

Michigan's farmers can use soy bean paint with confidence and treat themselves to three distinct advantages, advises C. H. Jefferson, agricultural engineer at Michigan State College.

After a tour through paint factories and testing laboratories, Jefferson has checked his information with the knowledge he has gained in an extensive study of paint surfaces. From this he offers endorsement of paint made in part with soy bean oil.

The three advantages are important to farmers. They include obtaining a higher quality paint, making use of the soy bean in processing so that the byproduct of soy bean oilmeal becomes lower in cost for livestock feed, and creation of a market for more soy beans, grown in Michigan or other states.

Present supplies of oils used in paints include linseed oil, China wood oil or tung oil, and soy bean oil, most of these imported.

Tung oil, derived from a nut crop, is obtained largely from China. War in China has boosted the price of tung oil many times its former cost to paint manufacturers. So they are becoming increasingly interested in soy benn oil.

What happens to the paint is another phase of the problem. Jefferson finds that manufacturers are agreeing that 20 to 25 per cent soy oil makes a better non-fading paint, chalks instead of cracking and checking. The chalking, indicating oxidation throughout instead of just on the surface is called the test of a good paint. One of the modern paints now includes 60 per cent linseed, 30 per cent soy oil and 10 per cent thinner and dryer.

CHIPS TAKE BIG SLICE MICHIGAN POTATO CROP

Nearly Million Bushels to Be Used for Specialized Industry

Michigan's potato crop, second largest in the nation in 1938, will deliver nearly three-fourths of a million bushels to a specialized food industry, that of making potato chips, it is estimated by H. C. Moore, farm crops extension specialist at Michigan State College.

Moore has occasion to know, for some of the experimental work in production and storage of potatoes by the college staff concerns best varieties, sizes, shapes and culture and storage for ideal tubers for making chips.

Russet Rurals, Chippewas and Katahdins, three important varieties in Michigan, seem to be almost ideal for this special treatment. Shallow eyes and smooth surface are desirable.

In storage tests the buyers pay more for those potatoes which have been kept not below 40 degrees Fahrenheit. Best results in chips seem to be obtained when the storage temperatures are raised to 50 to 60 degrees two weeks before they go into the chip factory.

During the processing the potatoes are scrubbed and skinned and then soaked in water after slicing. Just before these slices are dropped into hot fat they are surface dried. Several large establishments in Detroit and others scattered throughout the state are in the business of making and distributing potato chips.

Up at Cadillac the Michigan Potato Growers' Exchange has started the manufacture of potato chips. Since June the exchange has been merchandising the food product under the name "Miss Michigan" in several sizes of packages.

OLDS NOVEMBER SALES WERE SECOND HIGHEST

Only Sales During Same Month in 1935 Eclipsed Current Record

Oldsmobile retail sales for the month of November were the second largest in the company's history, being exceeded only by November of 1935.

Total sales for November were more than 25 per cent greater than for the same month last year. Olds sales for the last 10 days of November showed a 52 per cent increase over the same period last year.

In commenting on the current outlook D. E. Ralston, general sales manager, said, "Our sales have shown a steady increase each ten days since the introduction of the 1939 Oldsmobiles. For some time the factory has been running a double shift working day and night to supply the nationwide demand for the new line. At the present time, with indications for a good Christmas business, it appears that the last quarter of 1938 will be the second largest year end quarter in Oldsmobile's forty-two year history."

CORRESPONDENCE

Mrs. Coru Dunlap is visiting at her sons at Hulburt, Upper Peninsula.

Hurry Mason is up and uronnd again after two weeks' illness. Glad to hear it.

Miss Harrison from Flint gave a short talk at Grand View Sunday school last Sunday.

Andy Dunsmore is now stopping at the John Stevens home. He is feeling about the same.

The little boy of John Clurk's, who was ill with pneumonia and cold, is now on the improvement list.

The N. Y. A. people are busy this week repniring toys, and decorating Christmas trees at the town hall.

Fred Doty has finished building himself a residence on south main street, just south of F. M. church.

A new baby boy wus born to Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Dawson of Bny View, at the Pallister hnme, Sunday evening. Local physician in attendance.

Fair weather for attendance at Sunday school again last Sundny. One more good Sunday and the rural Sunday schools will be closed, next Sunday, the 18th.

Rev. Mosher writes from Ocean Cove, Fla., that it is nice and warm there. He is seven miles from Jacksonville. Yesterday government reports gave 28 above zero at Jacksonville.

Howard Somerville has returned from Flint, where he went to seek employment. He says there is no chance for work, in spite of what newspaper stories tell of "pick-up" in business.

It is hoped to get the Pentacostal church in shape for Rev. Robie to preach there Monday evening, just before he goes back to Union Springs, New York for Christmas, then back to Traverse City, January 7th, and then to Cadillac.

Mrs. Andy Warner was taken ill quite suddenly last Saturday, with what appeared to be intestinal flu. Her daughter, Mrs. Credit, from Wolverine, has been caring for her, but expects to leave for home this week. Mrs. Warner is much improved at this writing.

John Dawsons had for visitors Sunday, Walter Anderson and family of Creswell, Forest Dewey and family of Ellsworth, Maurice Dawson and Jean of Bay View, Lyle Morse and wife of Bay View, Versile Morse and wife and son of Central Lake, Chas. Morse of Central Lake.

Saturday Rev. G. Stanley Hyde, wife and two sons, were present at Adventist church services. Rev. Hyde gave a reading for their Bible reading for this week, also a short sermon. Many friends were glad to see him back this way again. He now resides in East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Mattison of the Elk Rapids Progress, last week sent out to their correspondents some fine Christmas cards for which we wish to extend thanks. They both take active interest as teachers in the M. E. Sunday school at that place, and Mrs. Mattison as Sunday school superintendent.

Grand View program: Song, "Joy to the World"; Welcome, Patsy Mason; reading, "Precious Bible," Margie Harter; recitation, "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star," Fern McGuire; recitation, Louise DeForest; recitation "From O'er the Hills, Jaque McGuire; recitation "Christmas Gift," Betty DeForest; recitation "Christmas Eve," Sylvia DeForest; recitation "Sharing Joy," Marion McGuire; song "Away in a Manger," Young People; Scripture reading, Miss Minnie Osterbaan; sermon, Rev. Garrett; closing "Holy Night." Everybody invited to attend these services.

Attendances last Sunday were: Creswell 34, Greenwood 23, and Grand View 30. The following have been present at Sunday school every Sunday: Creswell—Mrs. Drought, Arlene and Lois Drought; Greenwood—Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lancaster; Grand View—Miss Minnie Osterbaan and Lois DeForest. Missed one Sunday only: Creswell—Mrs. Don McLachlan, Bobbie and Bruce, Marie and Marvetta Hubbel, and Betty Griebe; Turner—Ruth and Helen Bush; Grand View—Rev. Marshal Rector and Betty Rector. Helen and Ruth Bush have attended Ball in forenoon and Turner in afternoon.

Pete Russell and Mr. McPherson have a short job at trucking for awhile in Detroit. They tried getting work on a new school building going up at Walled Lake, but had to join a union to get the work, and then would have to wait six months before they could go to work, and by that time the building would probably be built, so they decided to save their money, and not join a union. That is the way it goes these days; the manufacturer or employer is told just how to run his business; work is held up, and we can't sell our farm produce because men out of work have nothing to buy with. See if Fitzgerald puts an end to that kind of nonsense!

Following is the schedule for speakers and singers for the rural Sunday schools next Sunday: Creswell — Paul Gardner, singing Mrs. Hooper and Mrs. Hostler; Greenwood-Turner at Greenwood—Alfred Christensen, singing Louiselle brothers and Loper young people; Greenwood at 1:00 p. m. Grand View—speaker Rev. Dorr Garret, singing Louiselle's and Loper young people; Bay View — Rev. Harry Hatterbee, singing Hatterbee singers (they will probably be at Greenwood too); Bush—Rev. Nelson and Mrs. Nelson, accordiun (it may be that they will have to be in Traverse City, and not able to be at Bush); Jordan—Otis Bunday, singers Jordan River quartette, also orchestra.

Creswell program: Song, "Away in a Manger"; welcome, Junior Anderson; Shepherds and Angels, Primary class; recitation, "God Bless You," Marie Hubbell; recitation, "Shepherd's Gift," Lois Drought; recitation, "A Present for Baby," Stella Udell; music and song, "Marie," Betty Gribe, Marvetta; song, Mrs. Hooper, Mrs. Hostler; "Night Before Christmus," Geraldine Shumaker; "Hark the Herald Angels," Young People and Juniors; recitation, Jean Donaldsnn; recitation, Berthn Donelson; "Little Town of Bethlehem," Stella Udell; recitation, Leroy Kaiser; song, Geraldine Shumaker, Mildred Bullock; recitation, Gloria Barnes; recitation, Grace Shumaker; closing song, "Joy to the World."

(Too late for last week)

Mrs. Grace Hooper is improving slowly from an uttack of neuritis.

Edward Dawson hus moved with his family onto the former R. R. Wilkinson farm, near Eastport.

Chas. Morse and Mrs. Cora Dunlap and daughter and baby, returned last week from the upper peninsula, where the former hunted deer (unsuccessfully), and the latter visited relatives.

Harry Mason of Eastport was tnken very ill last Saturday with a malady locnl physicians do not know just what it is. He says there are several cases in the county. Appears to be something like the grippe.

John Powell passed away last Saturday at his home west of Bellaire. He was a much respected citizen of that place, and in his nineties. He had stnyed for some time with his daughter, Mrs. Alfred Brooks, at Norwood.

Work has been progressing rapidly on the new church building at Central Lake, and it is now about all enclosed. Much credit is due the "men behind the guns," William James Sommerville, William Louiselle, and William Frame, the "bunch of Sweet Williams" who have been at work on the building since its beginning.

YULETIDE DECORATIONS IN BUSINESS DISTRICT

WPA Recreational and NYA Groups Take Over Project for Holidays

Provided necessary finances by the city council, the WPA recreational and NYA staffs are preparing Yuletide decorations for the business district.

Wreaths of evergreen are being made and will be hung from boulevard light posts along Bridge street. Instead of the customary community Xmas tree at the corner of Bridge and Clinton streets, a tree will be decorated with colored lights in Memorial Park during the holiday season.

Decorations will be put up Thursday, it is understood.

ASK BIDS FOR NEW CULVERT ON TRUNKLINE M-66

State Highway Department to Replace Wash-Out at Loeb Creek

Permanent improvement of the culvert and grade on M-66 at Loeb creek will be made within a short time by the state highway department.

Bids for removing the existing structure, constructing a new reinforced concrete box culvert, approach grading and surfacing will be received at Lansing on December 21. The culvert will be a special reinforced structure 8x8 feet by 101 feet long. The work will be embodied in a PWA project.

The Loeb creek culvert was washed out by freshets last spring and traffic since that time has been over a temporary fill. Preliminaries of the improvement program, which has also included widening of grade between Stover road and White's corner, has been in charge of D. H. Hubeck, state highway department engineer.

KENTNOR WARD BENNETT DIED SATURDAY, DEC. 10

Former Local Young Man Succumbed in Marine Hospital, Chicago

Kentnor Ward Bennett, '40, only son of Commander and Mrs. W. W. Bennett of the 10th coast guard district, Grand Haven, former residents of this city, died Saturday, December 10, in Marine Hospital, Chicago, where he had been confined since September 15. He underwent an operation two weeks ago.

Commander Bennett had given his son a blood transfusion Wednesday in an effort to save his life. The younger Bennett's widow and parents were at his bedside.

Born in Glen Haven while his father was a surfman at the Charlevoix coast guard station, Mr. Bennett lived on Beaver island and in South Haven and Elizabeth City, N. J., as his father was transferred to these places, and moved to Grand Haven in 1934 when Commander Bennett took charge of this area.

After attending school in Grand Haven and being graduated from Durand high school, Mr. Bennett married a Grand Haven girl, Marian Ekilson. He was an organizer of the Grand Haven Sea Scout troop, a Mason and former gas station operator. Last summer he served as lookout on the steamer North American.

Surviving, besides the widow and parents, are two small children. The body was removed to Grand Haven.

MRS. FRED YAHR IS DEAD AT BAY SHORE

Funeral Services Will Be Conducted Friday at Petoskey

Mrs. Frederick Yahr, of Bay Shore, died at their home Monday evening at 61 years of age.

Funeral services will be held at the Stone Funeral Home at 2:30 p. m. Friday with the Rev. J. A. Keller, of Petoskey, in charge. Burial in Greenwood cemetery will follow.

Mrs. Yahr was born in Barry county February 4, 1877, and was married at Petoskey October 16, 1908. Since that time Mr. and Mrs. Yahr made their home on a farm west of Bay Shore and gained a large number of friends in that area.

Surviving are: the husband; three children, Charles at home, Mrs. R. M. Sutton and Miss Margaret Yahr, of Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Yahr was a member of the Lutheran church in Grand Rapids.

"Therefore, the director is instructed to ask the legislature for authority, to establish an antlerless deer season, following the regular buck season in the fall of 1939; to determine by investigation next spring the areas in distress due to over-population and the approximate number of deer that should be taken from each area. The director also shall present a plan for the issuance of a limited number of licenses so that the kill may not be too heavy in any locality."

FORMER LOCAL WOMAN DIED TRAVERSE CITY

Mrs. Mary Nettleton Bain Succumbed After Brief Illness

Mrs. Bryant Bain, formerly of this city, died Monday morning after a brief illness at her home in Traverse City, where she had resided the past 30 years.

Mary Ellen Nettleton was born in Charlevoix, April 15, 1878, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Nettleton. She was a granddaughter of John S. and Phoebe Dixon, first Charlevoix settlers. She was educated in the local schools and on September 1, 1896, was united in marriage to Bryant Bain of Petoskey. The couple lived in Petoskey until 1907 when they moved to Traverse City. Mrs. Bain was prominent in church, social and benevolent circles in that city.

Left to mourn their loss are her husband; three sons, Lawrence D. of Omaha, Neb., William and Bryant Jr. of Traverse City; one daughter, Mrs. Harold Sherman of New York City; eight grandchildren; a brother, H. A. Nettleton of Chicago; her stepmother, Mrs. Rosa Nettleton, and two half brothers, Douglas and Arthur of this city, other relatives and a host of friends.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Traverse City with burial in Oakwood cemetery there.

Brown tallied 13 points to lead the Rayders. Pearl was next with 6 points and Carey scored 4. Vincent counted 10, Herrick 9, and Harbaugh 8 for the winners. Bates refereed the game nicely.

The line-ups:

Petoskey (33)	FG	FT	P
Harbaugh	4	0	2
Behan	1	1	1
Herrick	3	3	3
	12	5	8

Charlevoix (30)	FG	FT	P
Henley	0	1	1
Pearl	3	0	2
Brown	6	1	2
Withers	1	0	1
McGhan	1	0	1

Charlevoix's reserves were snowed under by a 36 to 13 count in the preliminary contest, giving Petoskey a double victory.

The Rayders play at Harbor Springs on Friday evening of this week and return to the home court for a tilt with Gaylord on Wednesday night, December 21st.

OFFICIAL VOTE OF NOVEMBER ELECTION

Governor Frank Murphy Ran Second and Democratic Ticket

Governor-Elect Fitzgerald's majority over Governor Murphy in the November 8 election was 93,493 votes, official returns compiled by the state canvassing board reveal.

Murphy's total vote, 753,752, was larger than that of any Democrat except Secretary of State Leon D. Case, who received 755,704 votes.

The majorities of other Republican winners were Thomas Read, attorney general-elect, 76,068; Miller Dunckel, treasurer-elect, 32,855; Vernon J. Brown, auditor general-elect, 95,687; and Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state-elect, 19,993.

Six minor party candidates for governor received only 4,223 votes out of a total of 1,605,241. It was the largest off-year vote in history.

The official vote:

Treasurer — Theodore Fry, Democrat, 739,595; Miller Dunckel, Republican, 772,450.

Referenda:

No. 1. Four year term for county officers—yes 414,832; no, 872,057.

No. 2. Appointment of justices of supreme court — yes, 504,904; no, 745,312.

No. 3. To prevent diversion of highway revenues—yes, 813,289; no, 529,859.

No. 4. Welfare referendum—yes, 497,569; no, 572,756.

AT THE MOVIES

"Safety In Numbers" Hailed as Num-One Comedy for Popular Jones Family

As long as Hollywood turns out pictures as good as "Safety In Numbers," the Jones Family's latest, no one can challenge the industry's current slogan that "Motion Pictures Are Your Best Entertainment."

Opening Wednesday, December 21 at the Palace Theatre, this delightful 20th Century-Fox comedy, finds America's favorite folks ten times funnier than ever—because this time they're all in a jam together, proving that where there's a jam there's bound to be a Jones, and vice versa!

"Safety In Numbers" presents Jed Prouty, Spring Byington, Russell Gleason, Ken Howell, George Ernest, June Carlson, Florence Roberts and Billy Mahan in their usual family roles, with Marcia Stephens, Iva Stewart and Henry Kolker featured. Joseph Hoffman, Karen De Wolf and Robert Chapin wrote the screen play from the original story by Dorothy Mannev and Zena George, based on the characters created by Katherine Kavanaugh.

Howard Returns as "Drummond" In Spy Picture

Patrons of the Palace Theatre will have the chance to see their favorite screen sleuth, "Bulldog Drummond," in a thrilling new mystery drama beginning next Wednesday, December 21, when Paramount presents "Arrest Bulldog Drummond!" there.

Hollywood actresses used three tons of face powder last year. It's not all gold that glitters.

the Supreme court bench and let the governor make his choices, the new amendment would merely require a non-partisan listing of judicial candidates for county and state courts. Party designations would be prohibited.

The amendment would affect circuit court judges and commissioners, probate court judges and justices of the State Supreme court.

Petitions were filed December 1 with the secretary of state by the Non-Partisan Judiciary Committee of Michigan.

A similar amendment was voted upon by Michigan citizens four years ago. It lost by 80,000 votes.

Drys and Townsendites

After each election the credit for victory is usually claimed by minority groups, each strong enough to swing the "balance of power."

The Townsendites are taking credit for Fitzgerald's victory over Governor Murphy, stating that the Republican nominee was favored by the $200 pension-per-month group because of his sympathetic support of congressional consideration in 1939 of the Townsend Plan.

Fitzgerald made a speech in Detroit during the primary campaign that was interpreted by Detroit daily papers as a clear outright endorsement of the Townsend scheme. Later the Grand Ledge citizen hedged a little on the claim of "endorsement."

In Michigan drys the election result was also pleasing. D. L. McBride, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league, points to the popular vote given to Luren D. Dickinson of Charlotte for lieutenant governor. Dickinson is president of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league.

Fitzgerald's position pleasing to the drys was a pledge to recommend removal of the state from the retail liquor business. Liquor would be cleared through state warehouses.

Milk Price-Fixing

Fearful lest state fixing of retail milk prices will increase consumer costs, the Milk Marketing Study commission, created by Governor Murphy, is ready to recommend state control of milk prices for producers only.

The retail price would vary in proportion to distribution costs and other competitive factors, according to a legislative draft prepared by G. Mennen Williams, assistant attorney general.

Milk regulations would be made by a non-partisan state commission. On petition by local dairy farmers, an election would be held to create a marketing district and then the state commission would intervene to fix basic prices at wholesale.

Labor would benefit by wage-hour regulations.

All of this Lansing control would cost between $100,000 and $200,000 a year. Who would pay the bill? State licenses would cost from $1 to $5,000 a year. In the long run, Mr. John Q. Public would probably pay for the hidden tax through increased retail prices.

Civil Service "Scandal"

Did Democrats violate civil service rules during the recent campaign?

Both James Thomson, chairman of the Republican state central committee, and Senator Miller Dunkel, treasurer-elect, have declared in press statements that they did.

During the campaign the Democrats were on the receiving end of contributions from state employees. Obviously someone must donate money to finance a campaign. It has been customary for years for politicians to get a substantial share from friends whom they have placed on public payrolls.

But civil service "dirt" will not fly until next month when the legislature convenes here. To air the evidence now, so Thomson explains, would be to place certain state employees in jeopardy of losing their jobs.

Treasurer-elect Dunkel, declining to appear before the civil service commission, explained:

"A more appropriate opportunity will present itself later for a correction of the condition which prompted my complaint."

In two years the tug-of-war will be probably reversed. The Democrats may be charging civil service violations, and the Republicans denying them.

By making a case against the Democrats this year, Republicans will be putting themselves in a position not to perpetrate such wrongs in 1940. Perhaps the public will have forgotten all about it by then. Perhaps virtue will triumph. Who knows?

CANCELS ORDER FOR RETURN OLD PLATES

No Longer Is Necessary to Trade Them In for New Ones

It is no longer necessary for persons purchasing 1939 automobile license plates to bring in their old plates to the bureau and turn them in, G. C. Eccleston, bureau manager, announced today.

An official communiention from the secretary of state's office rescinded the order recently. The plan, which had been placed in operation for the purpose of keeping persons from using old, discarded plates until the March 1 deadline, had made the bureau managers responsible for old plates. Mr. Eccleston has asked that persons now destroy their old plates immediately upon purchasing 1939 licenses

POULTRY HYBRIDS MAY BE VALUABLE

U. S. Investigators Report Two Kinds for Farms.

Supplied by the United States Department of Agriculture.—WNU Service.

In testing the hybrids produced from thirteen crosses of standard breeds of chickens in various parts of the country, poultry investigators in the United States Department of Agriculture have found that at least two of the hybrids may be valuable on many farms. One hybrid came from a cross of Rhode Island Red males with White Wyandotte females. The other, Barred Plymouth Rock males with Rhode Island Red females, is the one commonly used now for broiler production.

Knox and Olsen, of the department, say that if a poultry breeder wants to get high quality hybrid chickens, he must cross high quality parent stock in the first place. The investigators find that whenever the parents come from the flocks of good poultry breeders, the hybrids are better than those from flocks where no particular breeding work is under way. Compared with those from poor breeding flocks, hybrid progeny from the stock of the better poultry breeders lay an average of from twenty-five to fifty-five more eggs in a year, the eggs weigh more, and the layers show less broodiness.

Both hybrids are superior to Rhode Island Reds for broiler production. At the broiler age of ten weeks, the Rhode Island Red and White Wyandotte hybrids average about a third of a pound more, and the Barred Plymouth Rock and Rhole Island Red hybrids about two-fifths of a pound more than the pure Reds.

For the pooltryman who likes to sex his chicks at hatching time, the Red-Wyandotte hybrid offers an opportunity for a good job of sexing, simply on the basis of color. The females are predominantly red and the males predominantly white.

Mastitis Hits Two Rear Quarters of Dairy Cows

Which of the udder quarters in milk cows are most frequently involved in mastitis or garget infection?

On the basis of observations made at the Wisconsin experiment station, and reported in the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association, F. B. Hadley, station veterinarian, has concluded that the two rear quarters are more often affected than the two front quarters, but that there is no significant difference in occurrence of the disease between the right and left halves of the udder. Furthermore, when the two front quarters were compared with each other, and the two rear quarters were similarly compared, little difference also was noticed.

It is Doctor Hadley's opinion that the rear quarters are more subject to contamination, on account of being in closer proximity to the filth of the barn gutter and usually more pendulant, thus likely to become injured when the cow steps over high door sills or passes over rough ground. The location of the rear quarters between the thighs subjects them to greater pressure when the cow walks or lies down, which results in more disturbance to the circulation of the blood. Moreover they produce 60 per cent of the milk so are more active functionally, thus rendering them more susceptible to infection.

Depleted by Overgrazing

Of the 728,000,000 acres of range land in the United States, supporting about 55,000,000 head of cattle, sheep, and other live stock, large areas have been depleted by overgrazing, and must be restored by better methods of range management, W. R. Chapline, chief of the division of range research, United States forest service, told the International Grasslands conference at Aberystwith, Wales. Programs of restoration of depleted ranges will require years of determined co-operative effort, Chapline said.

Where to Keep Eggs

On the average farm it is difficult to have a satisfactory place in which to hold eggs, since they should be held at a temperature of about 55 degrees. Such a temperature will prevent germ development and retain, to a great extent, the interior quality of eggs, yet it is not cool enough to cause the eggs to sweat when they are removed from these quarters. A well ventilated basement usually affords the most desirable place to hold eggs.

Flushing Sows

Beginning about ten days or more before breeding, advises a writer in Wallaces' Farmer, keep the sows in a rapidly rising state of nutrition by a liberal use of corn or similar feed, supplemented with tankage, skimmilk, buttermilk, or a combination of these feeds. A flushing mixture may be made of 50 pounds of tankage, 25 pounds of linseed oil meal and 25 pounds of alfalfa meal. Feed liberally up to as much as three-fourths of a pound daily

SALES TAX GAINS, BUT IS BELOW 1937 FIGURE

Reports Show Collections for Month of November Was $4,258,890.56

Sales tax collections for November, based on October retail sales, amounted to $4,258,890.56, it was announced today by Draper Allen, managing director of the State Board of Tax Administration. Collections for the same month a year ago totaled $5,117,096.84, fourth highest monthly collection in the five year history of the tax.

For the first four months of the present fiscal year collections are 18.6%, under the same period a year ago, but collections for October and November have been 16.5%, under last year.

Collections under the Use Tax Act for November totaled $42,589.61 as compared with $49,463.81 in October.

CONTINUANCE BANG'S DISEASE CONTROL UP TO STATE LEGISLATURE

Warning that failure of legislature to appropriate funds will result in loss of over million dollars expended since 1934 in the control of Bang's disease, Lawrence O'Neill, director of bureau of Agriculture Industry of the Department of Agriculture recommended to over 700 farmers at Farmers' Institute in Alma that they lend their moral aid in obtaining matching funds from the state.

"In accordance with action taken by the federal government, Michigan will be required after July 1st, 1939, to match upon 50-50 basis the amount of indemnity paid to farmers for animals slaughtered. When we take into consideration the important part that cattle play in the farm income of this state and the necessity of having a desirable dairy product free from germ carrying diseases, it becomes the duty of all of us to lend our moral aid in an effort to see that the legislature appropriates the necessary money to care for the state's share.

"Since 1934, the United States Bureau of Animal Industry has paid costs of Bang's disease program, totaling over one million dollars. Unless the legislature appropriates matching funds this work will cease and the benefits gained from money expended to date will become a total loss."

The federal agency, reports disclose, spent $234,000 in indemnities in Michigan during 1936-37 fiscal year, and in recent months has been operating two trailer laboratories, completing county wide checks of the disease in 20 northern Michigan counties.

we believe their chances of ending up near the top in the current season's competition are good. They have quite a bit of basketball to learn yet, but they're sure a fightin' team and that's the kind that gets places.

Maybe Fritz Webster has got something here! You know that popular habit of "Dunking" is sort of frowned upon in some select circles and it shouldn't be at all. If a person wants to "dunk" that ought to be their own business if they like to and Fritz has sort of smoothed things out for the faithful in the following fashion:

"Whereas, the art of Danking Donuts, being composed namely of holding donut between thumb and third finger and dipping said donut in coffee, tea, milk or other palatable liquid and gracefully lifting the moistened bit to the mouth, is falling in discard and should be preserved,

"Now, Therefore and Whereas, I, C. S. Webster, President of the Charlevoix Board of Commerce, do hereby urge the people of Charlevoix to observe the week of December 14 to December 21 as 'Donut Dunking Week' by having a 'Dunking Good Time'."

That ought to be a real basketball game December 29th between members of the 1937-38 Red Rayder team and the former alumni group. If memory doesn't betray me, the alumni players trimmed the high school group last year and that same defeated team went on to win conference, district and regional honors and was finalist in class 'C' state competition. We'll see what difference a year makes in the caliber of their play.

BENEFIT MOVIE FOR RECREATIONAL ROOM

Show "Love Comes to Andy Hardy" at Palace Theater, December 20

Funds for the purchase of additional equipment for the recreational room conducted by the WPA recreational department in the high school basement will be sought from the showing of a benefit movie at the Palace Theater, December 20th.

Through the cooperation of Mrs. Elizabeth Moon, the popular movie "Love Comes to Andy Hardy" will be shown at an afternoon matinee and again in the evening. The proceeds above actual cost of the picture will be used to purchase games, ping pong equipment and materials for art craft projects.

Upward of 150 children are using the recreational room daily a recent check revealed and facilities for their entertainment have proven inadequate. Children using the room will sell tickets to the benefit movie and a generous response from the public is urged for this worthy cause.

MUNICIPAL SKATING RINK AGAIN PLANNED

City Council and School Board Cooperate Again this Winter

Following a custom of at least 15 years, the city council and school board will again cooperate in conducting a skating rink on the school grounds.

The school furnishes music and heat for the skate house, the city the light and water, while the labor cost is shared equally. This year the city has moved flood lights from the athletic field to be mounted at both ends of the rink and providing a great improvement in illumination.

Edgar Smith has been employed to look after maintenance and supervision. Work will be started as soon as the ground freezes sufficiently to form a good foundation. Every effort will be made to have skating at least by Christmas eve.

For the sake of safety and so that all may fully enjoy the use of the rink, simple regulations will again be enforced.

A Christmas Monologue supported by the Choir

With the idea of "Joy Month" in mind the services next Sunday will be distinctly Christmas. The monologue given by the pastor is a story written by Ernest H. Shanks, Ph.D. Lompoc, Cal. concerning the birth of Jesus in Bethlehem. You will like the story. By a large majority, it was the choice of the congregation last Sunday to have the Christmas worship service at midnight, Saturday, December 24th. With this arrangement there will be no service in our church Sunday, December 25. That service will be a candle light service and the public is invited. For January 1st we wish to mention again the service in which there will be no spoken word.

The Sunday school will give its Christmas program Christmas Eve. The Ironton Sunday school will give its program, a program of the Sunday school and public school, Thursday evening, December 22.

NEW EASTERN STAR OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED

Colorful Ceremony Marked Annual Event Wednesday Evening

Providing one of the most colorful events of the year, officers of Charlevoix Chapter No. 72, O. E. S., were installed Wednesday evening by local and visiting Eastern Star members.

Past Worthy Matron Laura Courier, assisted by Mrs. S. W. House of Beulah Chapter, Petoskey, installed the latter's niece, Mrs. Mildred Webster, as worthy matron. Past Worthy Matron Esther North acted as chaplain, Past Worthy Matron Dorothy See as marshall, Florine Stelter as organist and Margery Livingston as soloist. Twelve young ladies acted as escorts as the Worthy Matron approached the east, escorted by her father, E. E. Cross, and husband, C. S. Webster.

Other officers installed were: Worthy patron, Dr. F. F. McMillan; associate matron, Bernice Wexstaff; associate patron, H. R. Fowler; secretary, May Ladd; treasurer, Hattie Kemp; conductress, Fannie Siminow; associate conductress, Hazel McMillan; chaplain, Minnie Bonthron; marshall, Alice Ance; organist, Ruth Miller; Ada, Edith Curtis; Ruth, Elsie VanAllsburg; Esther, Olive Allen; Martha, Vance Walstead; Electa, Isabelle Sloan; warder, Caroline Sorensen; sentinel, Peter Ance.

The new Worthy Matron was presented with gifts, also Past Worthy Matron Alice Bellinger. Dr. F. F. McMillan was presented a past patron's pin in appreciation of his services. At the close of installation, members and guests were served refreshments in the dining room beautifully decorated for the occasion.

Will Hold "Feather Party"

The Charlevoix Encampment has announced plans for a "feather party" to be held the evening of Friday, December 23, at the I. O. O. F. hall.

CHARLEVOIX BUSINESS PLACES CLOSE DEC. 26

Gordon Todd, secretary of the Board of Commerce, has announced in behalf of local merchants that all stores will be closed Monday, December 26th, the day following Christmas.

STANDARD OIL CO. INTRODUCES NEW ECONOMY GASOLINE

Standard Oil company within the next few days will introduce to the motorist public of the middle west, a new economy gasoline to be known as "1939 New Stanolind Gasoline," which according to their engineers establishes a new high in the so-called third-grade or economy gasolines.

This new gasoline will be light green in color and treated with tetraethyl lead resulting in a substantially increased octane or anti-knock rating. In addition to its higher anti-knock rating it has been seasonally adjusted to provide the motorist with instant starting, rapid warm-up, smooth acceleration and maximum power and mileage.

Newspaper Advertising and point-of-sale banners will be used to acquaint the motoring public about the new gasoline, its merits, and just when it will be offered for sale.

FIRE WARDENS, TOWERMEN NOW OFF PAYROLL

Conservation Dept. Employes Had Longest Season on Record

All fire wardens and towermen are now off the payroll of the department of conservation until sometime next spring after having served thru one of the longest forest fire seasons on record.

Although the majority of wardens and towermen left their regular posts in October, many were placed on law enforcement work and held ready for fire call well into November in order to preserve at least a skeleton organization for emergency. Ordinarily towermen and wardens are removed from the payroll October 15, but this year serious fire hazards developed during the fall and continued well into November. The danger was not considered to be over until the fall drouth was broken by scattered snow and rain the first part of the deer season.

The wardens and towermen will be called back to full time duty as soon as the fire hazard develops in the spring.

LARGEST BOUNTY IS PAID FOR COYOTES

Wolves Taken Were Few, Indicating Scarcity in Game Cover

More than 95 per cent of the money paid out by the state on bounties this year went for coyote pelts, records of the department of conservation show.

Fewer wolves are turned in for bounty because Lobo is growing scarce in Michigan. A bounty also was paid for bobcats in past years but this was removed by the legislature when this species began to decline in number and when question arose as to the extent of its predation, combined with demands from sportsmen who enjoy bobcat hunting. However, although there is no price on the bobcat, it is not protected.

Predatory animal contracts issued up to October 1 this year totalled 1,323 on which bounties amounting to $22,970 were paid. Included in the take were 1,293 coyote hides and 30 wolf hides. The coyotes were made up of 487 males, 426 females and 380 pups. Thirteen of the wolves were mules, 10 were females and seven were pups.

CAMPAIGN IS LAUNCHED ON HIGHWAY DIVERSION

Nation-Wide Effort Started; Six States Adopt Amendments

A nation-wide campaign to prevent diversion of gasoline and license plate taxes has been announced by Murray D. Van Wagoner, American Road Builders' association president and Michigan highway commissioner.

Van Wagoner told delegates to the annual fall convention of the Illinois Road Builders' association that the nation should follow the lead of Michigan and six other states and insure the taxes for road purposes only by passing constitutional amendments.

Michigan, New Hampshire and California last month added amendments preventing use of the funds for any governmental functions except highways. Four others already have similar provisions.

White Pheasant

Ovid—Another oddity of the hunting season was the shooting of a white pheasant by Welto Stinson of Carland in Shiawassee county. It had white wings, neck, and head. It was apparently a cross between a white leghorn rooster and a hen pheasant, or vice versa.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Syphillis in Pregnancy

In a study of 2,150 pregnancies with syphilis the result of the pregnancy was classified as term, premature, late abortion and early abortion. The outcome of the pregnancy was disastrous in 633 women which means that 29.4% of the 2,150 women did not leave the hospital with a living baby. With regards to term pregnancies it is interesting to note that there is a direct relation between those who received syphilitic treatment before the baby was born and those who did not. The percentage varies from 49.4% when no treatment was received to 0.4% where ten or more treatments were received, indicating that best results are obtained when ten or more treatments before the birth of the child are given.

Regarding premature pregnancies it is interesting also to observe that those who had not received treatments before the birth of the child had 57.6% of the premature babies and of those who had good treatment gave birth to only 7.1%.

At the conclusion of this study it is stated that regardless of the activity of the disease sufficient syphilitic treatment before birth assures the woman of a syphilis-free baby in 95% of the cases. Treatment should be mild but continuous. There seems to be no condition in medicine that renders such huge dividends in life and health with such a small out put of money as that seen in congenital syphilis.

MONTHLY REPORT OF THE D. H. I. ASSOCIATION

Average production per cow for the month was 460 pounds of milk and 20.5 pounds of butterfat. Forty-nine cows, or 17% of those on the test, were dry.

Albert R. and Bert Elliott's herd of 10 grade and registered Guernseys attained the highest butterfat average for the month of November. Average production per cow for the month was 653 pounds of milk and 30.6 pounds of butterfat. Two cows were dry.

Four cows produced over 50 pounds of butterfat each.. High cow for the month was owned by Alex B. Weiss, a registered Holstein, which produced 1479 pounds of milk and 57.7 pounds of butterfat.

Dorton Gibhard, Tester.

OUT OF THE RED

Now that the election is over it is interesting to think of what the successful candidates will do toward putting the state in better financial condition during the next two years. Vern Brown, the new state auditor general, is a man I have known for years, in fact in 1926 he came very close to buying the Record and becoming a resident of Muskegon Heights, and it goes without saying the city would have been the winner if he had come here, for I admit he is a thorough newspaper man, a student of government and law and order, a really proficient writer and with the background of the Ingham County News at Mason, his newspaper has made for himself a high place in the esteem of Michigan people. Frank Fitzgerald, Tom Read and Miller Dunckel are three other friends of many years and I am sure they will live up to campaign promises and help to get Michigan out of the red before 1940.—Editor G. O. Currey, Muskegon Heights Record.

True Stories of Human Interest

Heroic Hog

Mason — Any hog that struggles for 77 days to unbury himself from a straw stack must be truly heroic. And that's just what a hog owned by George Diesenroth did. When it was standing beneath the blower of a separator on threshing day, the straw came down and buried the hog, who, when discovered to be missing, was given up for lost. Seventy-seven days later, Diesenroth saw something struggling at the straw stack, and out came the hog, 150 pounds lighter, but still alive.

Windshield Wreckers

Bay Port—Every hunting season, several birds fly through several windshields. That's what happened to Warren Miller of Gagetown when he was driving to work one day and a pheasant crashed through the windshield of his car. He had the glass replaced, and the following day was traveling over the same route, when, at almost the same place in the road, another pheasant repeated the performance.

Corrigan Geese

Crystal Falls — Has Corrigan's flight set a precedent for geese, too?

Large flocks were observed here late in the fall, but they were heading north instead of south. A local experienced woodsman said, "They're headed north because there's a mild winter ahead."

Who's Afraid of Wolf?

Scottville — A horse owned by Julian Smedly proved that a mined thing like a wolf doesn't bother him a bit. Smedly was riding his western bronco when they suddenly encountered a timber wolf. Unafraid, the horse snorted and gave chase. The wolf turned at once and ran, disappearing in a nearby swamp.

Hunters Fooled

Lawton — Forty-seven laughs was what hunting season brought a farmer living near Hastings, and all at the expense of hunters, too. He placed a stuffed pheasant, which he shot a year ago, in a prominent position near a building on his farm. During the next few days, 47 cars stopped, and hunters jumped out and blazed away at the bird.

Stairs Cut Ear

Ovid—Broken bones usually result when a man falls down the cellar stairs, but such was not the case with Elmer Thorpe when he suffered just such an accident here recently. His right ear was almost torn off, being saved only by the quick action of a physician.

November Strawberries

Ontonagon—Still more indications of freakish weather and plant behavior! William Schober of this city picked several luscious ripe strawberries in November. One measured 2x1¼ inches.

Unruly Turnips

Evart—Bert Owen harvested some turnips this fall that refused to grow in the shape that all polite turnips should. One was a 10-pound cow horn turnip, and the other was a specimen of the same variety that had become separated near the top and then had grown back together again.

ATTENTION! ALL CITY OFFICIALS

One of the outstanding city administrations in the state of Michigan is that of Royal Oak which is headed by Mayor Fletcher L. Renton. Mayor Renton is vitally interested in all things which tend toward saner government. Recently he has made a suggestion concerning the property which is being auctioned off by the state for back taxes. His proposal sounds like a good idea to us, therefore, we have requested him to briefly outline it so other municipal leaders in the state could determine whether or not they might wish to lend their aid in seeing that it be made a part of the present law by the next legislature.

Following is Mayor Renton's proposal:

Under the Michigan tax law as adopted by the Legislature in 1937 properties bid in by the state at the tax sale held in May of 1938 are held for redemption by parties having an interest in the property upon payment of the full amount of taxes and interest due.

In a vast majority of cases the city, village or township in which said properties are located, has a sizeable tax interest in the parcels bid in by the state. In the event these parcels are not redeemed and the State Tax Land Board or Conservation Department disposes of them, the municipalities will lose this tax interest under the present law.

The act should be amended to require the state to execute and deliver deeds conveying title to and upon the request of the respective municipalities after the redemption period expires and title vests in the state agency, but before the scavenger sale to the general public in the spring of 1940, provided, however, that the municipalities desire to use the property for parks, playgrounds or other municipal purposes.

This would enable the acquirement of property needed by the local governments in lieu of all taxes which are due thereon, and thereby insure to the benefit of all the communities of the state.

FAREWELL TO ALMS

Many years ago it was claimed that a famous railroad executive once said, "The public be damned." Later it was proved he did not say this, but because of the attitude taken by the railroads toward the public in those days, it sounded exactly like what one of the executives might say and therefore no amount of denial ever quite erased the words from the minds of the people.

We have a similar example of loose wordage today by a high officer of our government. Harry Hopkins is reported to have said, "The public is just too damned dumb to understand" and, "We will spend and spend, tax and tax, and elect and elect."

He has presidential aspirations. Or should we say he has had presidential aspirations? For no man can say things like that and expect to realize any political ambitions or hold the respect of the public. The public is a long way from being dumb as they have just proven by giving the lie to both of the wild horse statements he is said to have made.

This merely proves there ain't no such thing as a dumb public, and even if there were they sure don't like to be twitted about it. Good bye, Harry, it was nice to have saw you.

BEST SELLER

The best selling book, the Bible, will probably head the 1938 Christmas book list.

There are many comments made that the Bible is the best-selling, unread book ever written. A friend of ours contends that he spends many pleasant hours reading his copy of Dr. Goodspeed's translation of the New Testament. Dr. Goodspeed, when he finished his task of translation, said, "I arose from my desk with a great sense of two things regarding the New Testament. One was that that sacred compilation possessed an extremely moral elevation. Morally it is the most elevated thing in the world. The other factor was my realization of the intense feeling with which the New Testament is charged. It is not cold or commonplace, but radiates an intensity of feeling, of which I had never before been so conscious."

Dr. H. C. Link in a recent Detroit lecture said the design for living, for happiness, is contained in this verse from the New Testament (Luke 17:33): "Whosoever shall seek to save his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life shall preserve it."

SWORD-POINT

In the midst of warlike times we read with interest of Wilbur Smith's discovery. Mr. Smith lives in Florida. While backing his car out his drive the other day, he ran over an obstruction sticking a little above the ground. On examination it turned out to be an old Spanish sword in a rusty scabbard. The blade and hilt were well preserved. The hilt was a small replica of a Spanish soldier dressed in a coat of mail. Authorities have dated the weapon from the Spanish invasion during the sixteenth century.

Mr. Smith's discovery has interest because of its antiquity. But aside from that it turned our thoughts to the transitory nature of conquests in general. Florida and Ponce de Leon and a new land for His Most Christian Majesty, Charles I. Turn to history and read of the battles that swords, such as the one discovered by Mr. Smith, helped to wage. It may be a sobering experience. Even causes won are lost sometimes, to time. Spain's New World empire—a few lines now in a history book and a rusty sword in Mr. Smith's driveway in Florida, U. S. A.—Christian Science Monitor.

CARELESSNESS

"I am not much of a mathematician," said Carelessness, "but I can add to your troubles, subtract from your earnings, multiply your aches and pains, take interest from your work, and discount your chances for safety.

"Besides this, I can divide your thoughts between business and pleasure and be a potent factor in your failures. Even if I am with you only a small fraction of the time, I can lessen your chances for success.

"I am a figure to be reckoned with. Cancel me from your habits and it will add to your total happiness."—By Frank B. Craig.

THE CHALLENGE

The December 10 issue of the Saturday Evening Post carried the most comprehensive challenge to the Republicnn party on its editorial page, we have ever read.

It stated the fnults of the party in moderate terms, but when it came to the place where it began stating its shortcomings during the lnst few years, it was biting and sarcastic. And we agree.

The individnal candidates, said the Post, were able to go out and trim the sails of a goodly sized crowd of New Dealers. This was NOT because they followed the advice of the Washington headquarters of the party. Oh, No! It was because they had the individual guts to tell the folks exactly where they stood on this tomfoolery being dished out now by the New Dealers. But, continues the Post, hnd they waited for the heads of the Republican party down at Washington to give them a lead or to take the lead in a constructive progrnm upon which they could have based their fight, they would still be waiting.

The leaders of the Republican party have fniled miserably. They have pussyfooted, nnd waited, nnd beaten around the bush, nnd even worse than all this, they have made wenk and feeble efforts to copy after the New Dealers in a lot of the things they have been advocating ever since the 1936 election.

The Post speaks about a republican form of government as it was planned by our forefathers. They do not and pointedly so, advocate democracy ns we now know it. And they finish their piece with the very caustic remark that the Republican leaders may see the birth of a new party right under their very noses. This party may be led by just such good old fashioned Democrnts as Garner, Byrd, Hurrison, etc. And they nsk the question, wouldn't it be funny if these men were to steal the thunder out of the Republicans' hands by doing this very thing and become the leading party in the 1940 election.

Of course, the Post works up to this conclusion by drawing a first conclusion to the effect we nre all either born to be a liberal or n conservative in our thinking. They base this contention on biological and historical facts as proven through the ages. And say that is what we are coming to right here in Americn. Two parties, one liberal nnd the other conservative. We agree with this whole heartedly.

Certnin it is, the Republicnn party must, ns the Post snys, not be part one and part the other. It must make up its mind and quick or it will soon be too late. Our advice is—it better roll up its sleeves and go to work. It certainly knows now how the people themselves feel nbout the too liberal attitude followed by the New Dealers and the time is ripe to go into action. Tomorrow may be too late.

SHORTAGE OF SEED PREDICTED FOR '38

Caution Urged in Alfalfa, Red Clover Purchases.

Fnced with another shortage of adapted legumc sced, farmers will need to be cautious in their purchases of alfalfa and red clover for 1938 plantings.

The carryover of alfalfa seed is unusually smoll, and the 1937 production of seed odapted to the corn belt was short, the report stated. On the other hand productinn in the Southwest, which produces sced not well adapted to the corn belt, is reported to be 50 per cent above 1936, and the heaviest importation of foreign unadapted alfolfo seed in ten years was mode in 1936-37.

Supplies of red clover seed are alao ahort for 1938. United States production in 1937 is estimated at 30,000,000 pounds—only half the average annual consumption and the smallcst crop since 1926. Greatest decrenses occurred in the corn belt states, where the seed is grown. Although there is little if any carryover of domcstic red clover seed from the 1936 crop, approximately 3,000,000 pounds of imported seed not ndapted to the corn belt ore carricd over.

The 1937 crop of sweet clover seed, estimated at 54,000,000 pounds for the United States, was the largest since 1929. However, the carryover is comparatively small dcspite a larger crop thon estimatcd ond importntions of morc than 7,400,000 pounds, the largest importotion on record. The rapid disappenrance was coused by the low price as compared with red clover seed.

Even with a below-normal carryover of lespedeza seed into 1938 from the short crops of 1936 and 1935, supplies for 1938 plantings ore believed to be amplc.

Supplies of most grass seed seem adequnte. The large 1937 timothy crop nssures a supply in excess of anticipated needs in 1938. Total Unitcd States production is estimated at 90,000,000 pounds, one of the largest crops in recent years.

Production of red top seed is estimated at 18,000,000 pounds, which is in excess of annual consumption, nnd a liberal carryover of Sudan grass seed and a large 1937 crop will be ample for 1938 sceding.

Holds Heat Reflection Affects Poultry House

It is a matter well known in the industrial and scientific world of today that under certuin conditions heat is reflected, and under certain other conditions it is absorbed. Heat reflection nnd heat absorption are matters of degree, notes a correspondent in Hoard's Dairyman, and as one increases in any given case the other decreases. Colors make a difference in this respect, dark colors absorbing heat while light colors reflect it. It would be good business to have a poultry house painted black in the winter, but for summer it will be better to have it painted with white paint or aluminum paint.

It is also an established fact that a dirty window will absorb heat to a far greater extent than will a clean one. Thus, while it might not pay to be overscrupulous in keeping poultry house windows clean in winter, it will be a paying proposition in the summer, especially if one has trouble with the houses becoming excessively hot.

BARGAINS IN BOOKS

Readers of this column whose book budget is as lean as our's must be on the constant lookout for bargnins. Fortunately for impecunious book lovers it is possible to acquire a creditnble library at a low cost. Worthwhile books at bargain prices are available to those who can spend a little time browsing, and who care not if n book was new last week or last year.

Three sources of low priced books appeared in the past year. They are Mercury Books, Modern Age and Triangle.

The Mercury Books have so far all been reprints of older books. At least three of their selections are worth owning. "Company K," by Wm. March, a great war book; "The Postman Always Rings Twice," James M. Cain's best selling thriller; and a recent publication, "I Cover the Water Front," by Max Miller, which sold in the thousands when it came out a few years ago. There are other selections, including Sinclair Lewis' "Mantrap," that you might want.

Modern Age has published both new and reprinted books. William Saroyan's "The Daring Young Man on the Flying Trapeze," and his latest book of short stories, "Love, Here Is My Hat," are good buy for Snroyan fans. "You Have Seen Their Faces," by Erskine Caldwell and Margaret Bourke White, "I Like America" by Granville Hicks, William Bolitho's "Twelve Against the Gods" and "U. S. 1," a guide book to that famous coastal highway, are other good numbers.

The Triangle Books are for the most part cheap in quality as well as price. However, Steinback's "Of Mice and Men" is worth 39 cents if you like that sort of stuff, and if you enjoy Ben Hecht's rip-roaring, word-slinging extravaganzas, you will get a lift from "A Jew in Love."

Then there are the old standbys, the Modern Library, Everymans and the Oxford Library, who present most of what is best in books. They need no praise of mine.

AVERAGE MICHIGAN FAMILY WILL SPEND $77.13 ON YULE SHOPPING

Michigan's families will spend an average of $77.13 apiece this year for Christmas as their share of the nation's forecast two-billion dollar total, the National Consumers Tax Commission estimated today.

Of this amount, they will pay, most of them unknowingly, $11.80 in hidden taxes, according to the report announced at National Consumers Tax Commission headquarters in Chicago by Mrs. Kenneth C. Frazier, president.

The study indicated, she said, that total national retail sales for 1938 will "equal or surpass" the 1937 volume of nearly 40 billion dollars, and the average Christmas expenditure of the nation's families will be $62.50, of which $9.57 will account for hidden taxes.

Mrs. W. R. Alvord of Highland Park is the NCTC national committee member in Michigan.

In releasing the report, Mrs. Frazier explained that while many families will spend less than the national Yule estimate, expenditures of those in the upper income group will bring the average to that figure.

The "holiday business" volume, she said, was based on reports from all retail businesses including department, specialty, novelty, jewelry, variety and dry goods stores, food, drug, furniture, household furnishings and automotive lines.

"Indirect levies not only add to the price of Christmas purchases, but to the price of food, clothing and other year-round necessities," Mrs. Frazier said in commenting on the report's hidden tax figures.

She described the NCTC as a "non-partisan women's organization with more than 1800 units throughout the country analyzing all taxes, and combating those which penalize the consumer."

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

Reprint on Statutes Necessary

Orders were placed this week by Leon D. Case, secretary of state, with the state printers for reprints on three volumes of the state's Public Acts, namely: Public Acts of 1931, 1932, Extra Session, and 1933.

Originally 13,500 of each issue were printed. Approximately 9,000 copies of each issue are distributed to elective and appointive officials throughout the state, authorized by the state distribution act, leaving about 4,500 copies for individual sales. Each new legislature requires about 150 complete sets of the state law books for each session.

The reason for the popularity of these certain books is due to the fact that new legislation and the amending of existng laws was passed during these particular sessions: Act 328 of the Public Acts of 1931 is the revised Penal Code; Act 327 of the Public Acts of 1931 amended and brought up to date the Corporation Law; Act 13 of the Public Acts of 1932 dealt with the Public Debt Commission; Act 31 of the same year, which is known as the Horton Act, amends Act 150 of the Public Acts of 1927, which is the existing Gasoline Tax Law; Act 94 of the Public Acts of 1933 is a new law and provides for the construction, operation and acquisition of property for municipal public works programs; the Public Acts of 1933 also included Act 64, which was the first act creating the Liquor Control Commission and the first licensing act relating to beer and wine since prohibition.

Most of the acts in these particular books were needed legislation and this was the reason for the demand for these publications. A complete set of the Michigan Compiled Laws of 1929 and the Public Acts to date costs the individual $23.40.

Real Danger of Conquerors From Other Worlds

But the threat is not from monsters from Mars, but from tiny invisible spores, able to float through space and to live for years at absolute zero, points out Dr. E. E. Free, eminent scientist, in an article in The American Weekly, the great weekly magazine, with the December 18 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

It seems that the more you have to do to make some folks happy, the less you have to do to hurt their feelings.—Hard-Hearted Hiram, Neb.

USE, DON'T SPEND MONEY

By Hester Renwick Fraser
Consumers' Counsel

Using money, instead of spending it, when doing your Christmas shopping will make your dollar go farther.

Using money must be based on the individual needs of each of us. Inasmuch as women, as a whole, only know what they do not want, during the process of elimination the actual purpose of the desired article is lost by the variety of design or tempting advertising.

Good value is always good sense. Many shopping mistakes are due perhaps to unconscious attempts to make individual needs conform to something attractive or to an especially low price.

A muchly reduced price is never a bargain if you have no confidence in the article you are purchasing or if it will not serve its purpose adequately.

On the other hand, expensive items are just as stupidly bought when the actual need for the item calls for the inexpensive purchase.

So the intelligent way to make your dollar go farther is to decide—first, what the need is that must be fulfilled; second, what the budget can afford; and then, compare an assortment of items found in the shops.

With the cooperation of the sales force, know as fully as possible that you are buying an item that will serve your purpose at a price you can afford to pay. According to the Consumers' Bureau, State Department of Agriculture, by considering the quality and construction of an article, you can determine its usefulness.

In this way you will buy with confidence and make your dollar go farther.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday morning service, 10:45.

Sunday school, 12 o'clock.

Meets first Wednesday evening each month at 7:45 p. m.

We cordially invite the public to our service and reading room.

Reading room open Saturday 3 to 5 p. m.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, December 18th.

The Golden Text (Isaiah 48:12 13) is: "Hearken unto me, O Jacob and Israel, my called; I am he; I am the first, I also am the last. Mine hand also hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heavens."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Rev. 4:11): "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 295): "God creates and governs the universe, including man. The universe is filled with spiritual ideas, which He evolves and they are obedient to the Mind that makes them."

Both Sides of the Labor Controversy

Does the Wagner Act need revision Will the next Congress appeal the act? Is it unfair to employers? If you want a comprehensive analysis of both sides of the labor problem, read the series of articles by Blair Moody. They are now appearing exclusively in Michigan in The Detroit News.

Although the hunting and trapping seasons on this fur-bearing species open on different dates in different sections of the state, all seasons on it come to a close on December 15.

HOME TRADITIONS SPELL CHRISTMAS

All families should have traditional customs, menus and home decorations that "mean Christmas," suggests Frances Reis, instructor in related arts at Michigan State College.

Mixed in with the usual surprises that make holidays more enjoyable, there should be the traditions of cookery and good times that spell Christmas in a family's festivities, Miss Reis recommends visiting with old friends and holding an occasional open house or informal party during the holiday season.

"Even an informal party can be made to seem special through the use of written invitations, place cards or tallies. And if these are home-made, the whole family can enjoy creating the novelties and putting them together.

"You can trace or draw the shape of a snow man, Santa or some Christmas motif onto lightweight cardboard or stiff paper. Then cut this shape out to be used as a stencil or pattern.

"Buy dark colored construction paper and cut to the appropriate size for invitation, tally or place card. Place the cardboard stencil model on the dark paper, rub in white chalk all around the pattern. When you lift the cardboard, the shadowy design will have a definite professional appearance."

Table ornaments can be equally as simple, Miss Reis recommends. Christmas tree ornaments in a large glass plate will glitter in candlelight. Even the old idea of stringing cranberries and kernels of popped corn add a touch of Christmas atmosphere.

Let's make it an Old-fashioned CHRISTMAS

This is the Christmas Season. The air is charged with good will, cheer, and kindly feelings. New hopes, new ambitions, and new faith spring from the Christmas Spirit. The world is remade on Christmas Day. And it is the privilege of each and every one of us to make it a happy world for ourselves and other people. This year, let's make it a good "old-fashioned" Christmas with joy, laughter, good cheer, good times, and gifts for those we love and whose friendship we treasure, for the children, for the aged, for the sick and unfortunate. And with our own Nation pledged to world peace, let our prayer be, "Peace on Earth—Good Will to Men!" That is the true Christmas Spirit down through the ages.

The Officers, Directors, and Staff of this bank join in extending wishes for a joyous, happy, "old-fashioned" holiday season to everyone in our community.

RAYDERS WINNER OVER HARBOR "5"

COPPED FIRST CONFERENCE TILT BY 27 TO 22 SCORE

Meet Strong Gaylord Quintet in Second Home Appearance of Season Wednesday Night

Charlevoix's Red Rayders defeated Harbor Springs by a 27 to 22 score last Thursday night at Harbor in the first contest in defense of their Little Eight class C conference title.

The Rayders won easier than the score would indicate. They piled up a good lead in the first quarter and were never again headed. The first-stringers ended the opening period with a comfortable margin. A substituted line-up stretched the lead 13 to 7 by half time and the regulars went on in the third quarter to gain a 20 to 10 advantage. Harbor outscored a team spotted with reserves and without the services of Brown, center, in the final moments, during the fourth quarter.

Coach Kipke used eight players during the contest and a general improvement in play was apparent.

Brown led the Rayder attack with five goals and a free throw for 11 points. Carey scored 5, Henley 1 and Withers 3. Shepard was best for Harbor with 8 points.

NEW WINTER HIGHWAY MAPS ARE AVAILABLE

Latest Corrections on Trunkline System are Shown

The winter edition of the official Michigan highway map is just off the press and is available for free distribution to the public.

Michigan's importance as a winter sports state is emphasized on the reverse side of the map by drawings and pictures. Snow-plowing and ice-treatment operations are also emphasized to assure visitors of comfortable transportation facilities in coming to Michigan.

The map side contains the latest corrections on the trunkline highway system together with a mileage table, individual maps of the larger Michigan cities, the state ferry schedule, and a list of state game areas, national, and state forests. In addition to these features, the map retains the accordian fold of past editions.

Copies of the map may be obtained free of charge by writing Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, or applying at this office.

THREE YOUTHS ARE GIVEN PRISON TERM

SENT TO JACKSON FOR BREAKING AND ENTERING

Judge Victor D. Sprague, Cheboygan, Sentences Boyne City and East Jordan Young Men

Prison terms for breaking and entering were meted out by Judge Victor D. Sprague of Cheboygan, to three Charlevoix county youths in circuit court here Saturday afternoon.

Gerald Wayne Smith, 24, of Boyne City, was sentenced to serve from 2 to 15 years at Jackson prison for theft of gasoline from Boyne City school buses and for breaking and entering Kamp Kairphree on the north shore of Lake Charlevoix. His companion, Walter Sobkoviak, 20, also of Boyne City, drew a sentence of 9 months to 15 years.

Francis Holland, 17, of East Jordan, was given a sentence of 20 months to 15 years at Jackson. He had pleaded guilty to a series of robberies which included oil stations, garages and beer taverns, also the theft of three automobiles. One of his companions, Ira Higby, 19, of East Jordan, was placed on probation for two years. He was involved in one of the robberies. The other, David Johnson, 14, implicated in all of the crimes, has been turned over to the probate court.

ELLSWORTH VILLAGE ELECTION JANUARY 3

Adoption of Charter and Naming of Officers Scheduled Then

An election to vote upon the adoption of the village charter and officers to preside until March, 1939, will be held by the village of Ellsworth, recently incorporated, on Tuesday, January 3, 1939.

Registration of all voters will take place on Saturday, December 31, 1938, according to notice given. Tracy Hoss, Tony Shooks, Lorence Isaman and Bernie Klooster have been named as the registration board.

Trout Are Killed In Chub Nets Is Claim

Commercial Fishermen and Sportsmen Air Views of Lake Trout Problem at Traverse City Meeting

Planting of mackinaw trout fingerlings and the halting of chub net fishing is the answer to problems of both commercial and trolling fishermen, it developed when representatives of both groups met with Fred Westerman, superintendent of State fish hatcheries, and Dr. John Van Oosten, of the Federal Bureau of Fisheries, recently at Traverse City.

John Cross, of Charlevoix, who has $20,000 or more tied up in chub nets, was the one who suggested curbing this type of fishing.

"I contend that if you stop your chub rigs the fish will automatically come back. This is because the chub rigs catch the small, baby trout before they are ready for the commercial fishermen. If they are allowed to grow there will automatically be more trout," Mr. Cross said.

It was Claude Ver Duin, commercial fisherman of Grand Haven, who advocated the planting of fingerlings.

"The fishing problem seems to be that there are not enough fish," Mr. Ver Duin stated. "The only way to get fish is to put them in. Saginaw Bay is producing more trout fry than any place of its size in the Great Lakes and the records will show that it is one of the greatest fishing areas. The trout fry caught in our waters is not returned but is shipped to other locations. We cannot take fry out of the lake day in and day out and expect the fishing to remain good. I suggest a rearing pond in this region."

At the end of the meeting informal votes were taken on preventing chub fishing and only three opposed it. Neither was there any opposition to the suggestion that a limit of three or four fish per day be placed on each sports trolling boat.—From Detroit News.

ALUMNI CAGE TILTS ARE ATTRACTING INTEREST

Alumni vs. Alumni Contest Scheduled for Thursday, December 29th

Local basketball fans are looking forward with anticipation to a contest between two alumni teams scheduled for Thursday evening, December 29, at the school gymnasium.

One of the most interesting contests of the season is in prospect with this meeting a team composed of 1937-38 veterans who won conference, district and regional championships, and a group of former high school basketball stars.

On one team will be Keith Carey, "Chick" Gallagher, Dick Bergman, Charles Richardson, members of the 1937-38 Red Rayder squad, Winfield "Tinker" Kirby, Warren Allison and Ira Smith. Carey, Gallagher and Kirby are members of the Alma College freshman team. Opposing them will be Ed. Radle, Bob Pearl, Jack Foster, Lyle Ance and others, a combination which last year defeated the high school team.

Adding to interest in the event will be the appearance as referee of Birdie Tebbetts, star catcher for the Detroit Tiger baseball team.

Another special basketball attraction is scheduled for January 4th when the Red Rayders meet the 1937-38 alumni team.

SPECIAL HOLIDAY FERRY SERVICE ANNOUNCED

Winter Schedule, Now in Effect, Is Expanded During Holidays

Special holiday service will go into exect tomorrow night (Friday, December 22) on the ice crusher Sainte Marie now operating on winter schedule at the Straits of Mackinac.

Extra night trips will be made by the ferry Friday, Saturday and Sunday as well as December 30, 31, and January 1. The number of trips to be made will depend on the traffic demand, State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner said.

The winter schedule provides for three-hour service most of the day from both sides of the Straits. The first two trips are made at 7 a. m. and 10:30 a. m. from Mackinaw City and 5:30 a. m. and 9 a. m. from St. Ignace. Normally, the last trips during the night are made at 7:30 o'clock from the former city and 6 o'clock from St. Ignace.

KIWANIS "LADIES NIGHT" ENJOYABLE OCCASION

Guest Speakers Provided High Spot of Annual Christmas Meeting

The annual Kiwanis "ladies night" was a pleasant event of Tuesday evening at Hotel Charlevoix. Members and their wives enjoyed a fine Christmas dinner and program.

A happy surprise was the presence as guest of Gladwin E. Lewis of Traverse City, Michigan District Governor. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Loomis, also of Traverse City. Mr. Loomis, superintendent of schools at Traverse City, will be remembered as former Charlevoix high school principal and coach.

After speaking briefly of the days when he was located here, Mr. Loomis introduced Miss Lydia Kotilanen, Latin instructor in Traverse City high school, who gave a very interesting and instructive talk on her recent trip to Italy, covering her impressions of the Italian people and their present situation. She received hearty applause when she concluded with the statement that her "greatest thrill was to again set her foot on the U. S. A."

COUNTY CLERKS' ASSN. COMING HERE IN JULY

F. R. Bulow, Vice-President, Announces July 19-21 for Meeting

Charlevoix will entertain the 1939 convention of the State Association of County Clerks.

County Clerk Fenton R. Bulow, vice-president of the association and host for the 1939 convention, has announced that dates have been set for July 19-20-21.

Gordon B. Todd, secretary of the Board of Commerce, is assisting Mr. Bulow in arranging the program for the convention. State officials will be among the speakers. An extensive entertainment program will be arranged.

FUNERAL FOR JEROME A. HEATH WAS HELD FRIDAY

FORMER SAILBOAT SKIPPER IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Capt. N. P. Petersen, Who Sailed the Rosa Belle, Died Dec. 15

Charlevoix citizens, particularly older residents, will regret hearing of the death December 15 at Sheboygan, Wis., of Capt. N. P. Petersen, 85, a frequent visitor here in the days of sailing vessels.

Capt. Petersen was born in Schleswig-Holstein, a former province of Denmark. He went to sea at the age of 14 years, sailing on salt water until coming to Buffalo, N. Y., in 1873. He shipped on the Schooner Trumpf to Milwaukee and then sailed on the schooners Lem Ellsworth, City of Sheboygan, Evening Star and Charlotte Raab until 1881 when he took command of the J. H. Mead. He bought the Schooner J. L. Green, trading between Charlevoix and Sheboygan and later the Rosa Belle, which he sailed for 30 years between these two ports.

Capt. Petersen had been a member of the Odd Fellow lodge for 58 years and had many close friends in Charlevoix who will regret his death.

INSPECT FEDERAL HATCHERY PROJECT

SUPT. E. R. WIDMEYER ON VISIT HERE MONDAY

Contract City Council to Make Provisions for Electric and Water Requirements

Progress being made under a combined PWA and WPA project designed to change the local federal hatchery from a hatching to a rearing unit was inspected Monday.

Visiting the hatchery were E. R. Widmeyer, superintendent of Michigan federal fish hatcheries, and Louis Cruickshank, connected with the Federal Bureau of Fisheries, both of Northville.

While Mr. Widmeyer gave no information regarding future plans other than those already known, he expressed satisfaction over the work so far and intimated progressive plans are being made for the local unit. The work at the hatchery is in charge of E. M. Geer.

Mr. Widmeyer met with the city council Monday night and outlined requirements of the hatchery for water and electric energy. The council has taken the matter under consideration for future report to the proper authorities. Included in the project now under way, it is understood, is a complete change-over from steam to electric energy for hatchery operation, also installation of an electric cooling system for fish food.

HAYES FARMER INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Amandus Evers Suffers Broken Ribs in Mishap Monday Afternoon

Amandus Evers, well known Hayes township farmer, has been returned to his home following treatment at Charlevoix Hospital for injuries received in an automobile mishap Monday afternoon.

Mr. Evers suffered one fractured and several cracked ribs when his car skidded on the ice at the corner of Michigan and Petoskey avenues and crashed into a telephone pole and tree.

CHRISTMAS ACTIVITIES RESTRICTED

HALT CHILDREN'S PARTIES TO CURB SCARLET FEVER

School Vacation Advanced, Kiwanis and Church Program Postponed at Advise of Dr. R. B. Armstrong

Due to widespread sickness and several cases of scarlet fever in the city, a general restriction of Christmas activities planned for smaller children has been instituted at the advise of Dr. R. B. Armstrong, city health officer.

The precautionary measures had their beginning with the closing of schools Monday afternoon with the completion of the day's classes, advancing the holiday school vacation two days ahead of the closing originally scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, December 21. School children were given a note to their parents reading as follows:

"Christmas vacation will begin tonight, December 19th, at 3:30. School will resume Tuesday, January 3rd Due to the many absences and cases of sickness among the younger children, this is considered advisable. A few cases of scarlet fever have been reported. Parents are urged to watch their children very carefully. Avoid congregating in closed places.

"The Kiwanis dinner scheduled for Thursday has been postponed. Children under the 9th grade will not be allowed to attend basketball games, band concert, recreation room or the gymnasium.

"We hope this does not interfere too much with everyone's having a happy holiday season."

This action by school officials has been followed by a general cancellation of Christmas festivities planned for younger children. The Methodist, Baptist, Church of God, Congregational and other churches have cancelled their Christmas programs. The Kiwanis dinner scheduled for Thursday has been postponed, also the free movie planned for children at the Palace Theater on Saturday.

POST OFFICE OPEN SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Rural and City Patrons May Call for Mail Up to Five O'clock

Facilitating the handling of Christmas mail and providing added service for patrons, the Charlevoix post office will remain open Saturday afternoon, December 23, according to Postmaster J. M. Foster.

Both city and rural patrons are thus notified that they may call for packages and first class mail up until 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Mr Foster also announced that a city delivery of Christmas packages will be made Monday, December 26.

Three additional workers have been added to the regular postoffice staff to handle the Christmas rush. The volume of mail handled this year is expected to exceed last year's total. Mr. Foster urged that all shoppers who plan to mail packages or cards do so as early this week as possible to insure delivery before Christmas.

FARMERS' WEEK JANUARY 30 TO FEBRUARY 3

It's trying awfully hard to give us a "white" Christmas. Three inches of snow on the ground today and if it stays, things will be just as they ought to be.

You want to watch your step when you go into Mart Block's AG store. They've just laid some new inlaid linoleum on the floor and it's all waxed up and shines like nobody's business.

It's not yachting season or anything like that, hut it appears that regardless of the time of year those fellows who used the fine facilities and received some of the courteous treatment Charlevoix passes out during the summer have not forgotten such. Anyway that's the case with Curtis N. Vilas of Milwaukee, Wis., who writes "Doe" Todd under date of December 5th as follows: "I wish to thank you for your courtesy in allowing my yacht "Aquilon" to tie up at your docks during the past season. My friends and I are unanimous in stating that you have the best harbor and facilities for yachtmen's comforts on the Great Lakes. Due to the good treatment I received at your hands, I decided to lay up my boat in one of your local yards, so will no doubt contact you again next season." That's sure the way to have them feeling when they go home.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

"The art of government is the most difficult of all sciences," declared Governor Murphy in a post-election address at Michigan State College. "This is true because primarily it is one of experimentation."

Considering the fact that more than 1,000 bills are introduced at the average session of the Michigan legislators, the governor's statement is a modest one. Legislators are prone to tinker with laws.

As a practical illustration of the difficulty of making democracy truly democratic, Michigan today has a growing movement to modernize its system of nominations to state offices. For the most part the impelling force has come from a group of liberal newspaper editors who were dissatisfied with the control by a few politicians of the Republican state convention at Grand Rapids.

Prime mover of the convention reform plan is Elton R. Eaton, crusading publisher of the Plymouth Mail in Wayne county and a member of the house of representatives.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Scarlet Fever and Control Outlined

Scarlet fever is a contagious and serious disease. Grown people may catch scarlet fever but 95% of the cases that occur in Michigan are found to be in children under 15 years of age. It is especially dangerous in children under 5 years of age and for babies. The germs of scarlet fever are spread through discharges from the nose and throat and the person just coming down with the disease or who is in the first stages of scarlet fever is most likely to give it to others. Fortunately, the organism does not live long outside of the body unless it finds its way to a milk supply where it can be readily transmitted and many outbreaks are caused in this manner. Therefore, dairymen are not allowed to remove milk bottles from quarantined houses but rather they are supposed to remove the cap from the bottle and without touching the container pour the milk into such a container that has been left on the porch for the milk.

The doctor is required by law to report the cases to the local health officer who in turn quarantines and placards the home and sends a report to the District Health Department.

There is an antitoxin which is valuable when used early as treatment in severe toxic cases of scarlet fever. This scarlet fever antitoxin is on hand at the District Health Department. Most physicians do not use this in mild cases or for prevention. There is a method of protection against scarlet fever by injection of five doses of scarlet fever toxin. This does not always protect and those who gain immunity may lose it later.

When an epidemic strikes a town there will naturally be a spread of cases. It is much better that this epidemic be kept under control than to be allowed to gather force without anyone knowing where to look for the cases.

With regards to the schools, the belief is still held by some people that schools should be closed as soon as an epidemic threatens. While there may be circumstances that make this advisable, they are exceptional. As a general policy, schools should be kept open during an outbreak of communicable disease in order that the spread of the infection may be controlled more promptly.

If the school remains open, the children can be kept under close observation. Daily inspection by nurses or physicians will reveal the mild or so-called missed cases that are one of the most difficult problems in epidemic control. Children may have the disease in so light a form that they are absent from school for only a day or two, or perhaps not at all, yet they continue to carry the germs for a considerable time, innocently spreading the infection. If schools are in session, absences can be investigated and cases thus discovered.

Scarlet fever is the disease most commonly responsible for the closing of schools, and furnishes perhaps the best illustration of why they should be kept open. Whenever this disease is prevalent in a community, as shown by the presence of from four to ten diagnosed cases for each 100 pupils enrolled, it is fair to assume that there are several times as many mild and missed cases and carriers as there are cases which can be easily diagnosed. The well child, who is a "carrier" of the germs furnishes the same problem whether the schools are open or closed, but the mild cases stand a much better chance of detection and isolation if the school is in session.

If the schools are closed, all opportunity for supervision of the children in groups is lost. Moreover, even if it is forbidden, children will gather, on the street, in shows, in church, or in Sunday school. In rural districts it is a common thing for one family to visit another for Sunday dinner or for the evening. Of course, one family inquires whether the other family is well, but they fail to realize that the children of either family may be missed cases or carriers.

When the schools open, after being closed, the mild and missed cases return, still in the infectious stage, but after any possibility of detecting them is gone.

School and health authorities are urged not to close schools for the purpose of controlling an outbreak of disease without special recommendation from the State Department of Health.—District Health Department.

Typhoid a Constant Menace in This Area

Every year we have several cases of typhoid fever which occasionally, as it did this year, results in the death of some individual. As yet we have been unable to trace the source of these infections. However, for the most part, this disease is spread by people who apparently are in excellent health but maintain the living organism in their body. These individuals are known as "carriers."

It might be said with some truth that "carriers" of the disease, persons capable of carrying and transmitting the typhoid organism but who themselves are apparently immune, constantly menace our health till discovered and isolated. That more of us are not stricken with the malady is little short of miraculous.

Recently, Michigan health authorities traced the source of typhoid outbreak to a dairyman who seemed to be in perfect health. But on examination, both the stools and the bile from the duodenum were found to contain large quantities of the typhoid germ. An operation showed the gall bladder filled with stones and the bile heavily infected. Removal of the gall bladder removed the source of the disease—but not before the contaminated milk delivered by the dairyman had caused a total of 38 cases of typhoid with six deaths.

Many "carriers" have been traced who, themselves, had been free of the disease for more than 20 years. Removal of the gall bladder is the only means of checking infection from such sources.

Common sense, education and training in sanitation is as necessary in the home as in the local health department if infectious diseases are to be controlled. Health officers may faithfully guard the water, milk and food supplies and plan of effective disposal of sewage but sanitation in the home, strict cleanliness, the use of fresh foods or those which have been scientifically preserved is equally necessary.

ILLEGAL TO HAVE VENISON AFTER JANUARY 29

State Law Does Not Even Make Exception of Canned Deer Meat

If you are a successful deer hunter or a friend of a successful deer hunter who is still enjoying venison brought back from the 1938 season, you will be wise to have it all eaten by January 29.

The law says it is illegal to keep any piece or part of a deer, except the head, antlers and hide, for more than 60 days after the close of the season. And no exception is made for canned venison even though it might be preserved in good state through the winter.

Violation of the law is defined as a misdemeanor and the same restriction applies to bear meat.

Deer tails, used extensively in the manufacture of artificial flies for fishing, are a part which may be kept. Sale of deer tails also is legal provided a permit is obtained from the department of conservation. No charge is made for these permits, but prospective sellers must send the serial number of their deer license tag to the chief clerk of the department for a permit.

STRAITS DEER TRAFFIC HIT ALL-TIME RECORD

Seven Thousand Bucks Brought Across by 19,000 Deer Hunters

Close to 7,000 antlered bucks were transported across the Straits of Mackinac by nearly 19,000 hunters, a figure far above existing records for previous traffic at the Straits and more than a thousand above the figures last year.

The only seasons when the kill approached that indicated this year were in 1929, 1930 and 1932, when the buck traffic was above 6,000 each year. The 1929 figure of 6,286 was the previous all-time high. A total of 6,128 bucks were transported across the Straits in 1930 and the 1932 count was 6,264. The lowest count in the last 12 seasons was that of 3,900 in 1936.

In addition to the bucks carried, there were tabulated a total of 54 bear as against over 100 last season; four foxes, 12 coyotes, nine wildcats and one wolf.

William Haddix, 22, of Boyne City, entered a plea of not guilty Friday afternoon when arraigned before Judge Sprague on a charge of assault with intent to murder. Haddix, who was paroled from Ionia Reformatory last spring after serving two years of a 3 to 15 year sentence for breaking and entering, is accused of shooting William McCafferty, member of the crew of the Str. Stuart. It is alleged McCafferty was hit in the hand with the charge from a 16-guage shotgun shot by Haddix, who claimed in court that he shot at McCafferty after the former had shot at him.

Richard Sudekatus, alias Richard Myers, of Toledo, Ohio, was bound over to circuit court under bond of $1,500 following a hearing before Justice H. R. Fowler on a charge of attempt to break and enter. Sudekatus, who is claimed by officers to have a long criminal record, has been held in jail here since an attempt late in October to enter the Charlevoix Co-Op. Co. gasoline station on Ferry avenue.

BURGESS SCHOOL FIRST RAISE XMAS SEAL QUOTA

Proceeds Are Used to Fight TB in Charlevoix County

Burgess school is the first rural school in Charlevoix county to sell its quota of 1938 tuberculosis Christmas seals, the Michigan Tuberculosis Association announced this week. Returns were made by Mrs. Mildred Coblentz of Charlevoix, the teacher who supervised the sale.

Record making, record breaking were the efforts of Mrs. Coblentz and her twenty-eight pupils. In little more than a week after they had received their supply of the tiny 1938 health seals, every seal was sold. Their Christmas seal pennies will be used to help fight tuberculosis in Charlevoix county, the association said.

Rural school boys and girls, together with their teachers, in every corner of Michigan give splendid cooperation in the annual campaign against tuberculosis in Michigan, according to association officials. Their energy and fine spirit of willingness in selling tuberculosis Christmas seals is of invaluable aid in fighting the White Plague, it was emphasized.

Congratulations were extended by the association to Burgess school as one of the many Charlevoix county rural schools which are helping to prevent the spread of tuberculosis in Michigan.

CONSERVATION PATROL BOAT IN FOR WINTER

Will Go Into Dry Dock Here for Annual Winter Repairs

Michigan's conservation patrol boat No. 1 which cruises the waters of the Great Lakes each year on the look for illegal fishing has just gone into drydock here for winter repairs.

The boat is to be painted, caulked and its engine overhauled.

Capt. C. J. Allers, supervisor of commercial fishing, brought the season to a successful close by engineering a big haul of illegal nets just a few days before the boat terminated its year's work. Coming on a boat lifting nets off Manitou island shortly before midnight, the patrol boat crew confiscated nine and a half boxes of small gill nets worth approximately $500. Sixty fish also were seized.

The patrol boat will resume its vigil next spring as soon as weather conditions permit and the fishing season is again underway.

MARKET LOW, GROWERS HOLDING POTATO CROP

Drop in Price Results in Sharp Decrease in Shipments

Michigan potato and onion producers are withholding their products from the markets, awaiting increases in prices, according to Federal-state Inspection Service, which discloses a sharp decline in November shipments under the preceding month.

According to inspection officials, warehouses were well filled in October, with earlier commitments demanding fulfillment, forcing a high movement, which totalled 1,745 cars by rail and truck during that month. The decline in shipments in potatoes started early in November and dropped to but 1,427 cars. Onion shipments were off 40 cars under October, with 211 cars. Shipments of this product were 50 cars under the same month one year ago.

Bean shipments totalled 1,079 cars, the first complete month of compulsory grading for this product. But 11 cars of apples were inspected as compared to 269 in the same month in 1937.

PLANT 150 MILLION GAME FISH IN STATE

Conservation Dept. Announces Releases in Fishing Waters

More than 150,000,000 fish were planted in Michigan's lakes and streams during 1938, the State Conservation Department reports.

The department revealed that the number of adult fish planted slightly exceeded last year's figure of 129,000 and that the number of fingerlings distributed was practically the same.

Nearly 20,000,000 bluegills were planted for a new record in lake stocking, the department reported. Other stockings included 4,000,000 brook trout, 2,000,000 brown trout, 1,000,000 rainbow trout, 1,000,000 small and large mouth bass, 3,000,000 yellow perch, 110,000,000 pike-perch and 300,000 lake trout.

Well, well, so Harry Hopkins is going to be a candidate for president. At least he announced this week that he favored civil service for the PWA workers, increased pay and a pledge to keep 3,000,000 at work for thirty years. Isn't that a bid for votes.—Detroit Legal Courier.

PETOSKEY ANNOUNCES DATES ICE CARNIVAL

Preparations Are Under Way for Long Winter Sports Season

Preparations have been completed at Petoskey for a long winter sports season, featured by the sports carnival February 3 to 12, and all that are needed are cold weather and snow.

Norman Wells, new president of the Petoskey Winter Sports club, announced completion of a long, double tobogan slide which has been replanked and is believed to be one of the best runs in the north country. The hockey rink has been rebuilt and the club houses have been repaired. The skating rink has been re-leveled and lights installed for night skating.

In addition, Wells said, a high hill has been engaged south of the city for a ski run of a mile and a half. Ski meets and competitive events with other Michigan cities will be held frequently, Wells said.

Snow trains will run to Petoskey beginning January 8, he said, with contests each week end for visitors and visiting teams. Skating meets and hockey contests will be held regularly prior to the opening of the sports festival.

TRAPPERS MUST REPORT PELTS IN POSSESSION

Have Five Days After Close of Season to Comply With Law

Trappers are reminded that they are required by law to report the number of pelts in their possession, within five days after the close of the season.

Any trapper having any pelts on hand is required to notify a conservation officer. The officer inspects the pelts to determine that the number is the same as that reported by the trapper and issues a receipt showing that the legal requirement has been complied with.

In past years, some trappers have been under the misapprehension that they are required to dispose of their pelts within five days after the close of the season. The law only requires a report and not disposal of the furs, the trapper being entitled to keep his pelts as long as he wishes after he has made his report within the legal limit.

DOE AND FAWN KILL IS LARGER THAN LAST YEAR

Report Shows 78 Animals Found in This District; 34 in 1937

Although slightly fewer deer law violations were reported by conservation officers this year than last, the number of does and fawns found during and after the season was larger than in 1937.

Tabulations just completed from all of the conservation districts in the deer zones show that the recovery of illegally killed deer in the upper peninsula was 170 animals compared to approximately 100 in 1937, and 1,103 in the lower peninsula compared to 958 for 1937, or an increase of 115 for all districts.

In the lower peninsula, 78 animals were found in District No. 8, Emmet, Cheboygan, Charlevoix, Otsego and Antrim counties, compared to 34 in 1937. However, this district did not include Otsego county last year which was then in District No. 9.

right to select nominees. A machine-picked slate was handed to the delegates. The convention even received a naive and frank appeal by a platform speaker to "go right down the line and do as we're told." And they did just that.

All of this is no secret to anyone who witnessed this affair or who read the newspapers at that time. The historic fact is that a few party leaders, rather than the delegates themselves, picked the nominees.

It was the method employed, rather than the men whom were selected, that inspired the Plymouth editor to cry for reform. In his zeal to checkmate politicians, Editor Eaton proposes that the people select the nominees by primary ballot and that regulations be tightened to exclude from the ballot many of the minority parties that spring up overnight without substantial backing.

It would mean a long ballot. The Grand Rapids Press countered with a suggestion that the governor-elect appoint all the office holders except the auditor general. The Booth newspaper thus recommends a short ballot.

Vernon J. Brown's Idea

Agreeing candidly with Mr. Eaton that the machine-controlled Grand Rapids convention was an "offense against the rank and file of the party," Vernon J. Brown, auditor general-elect and the editor of the Ingham County News at Mason, proposes a different experiment.

He would seek to make the convention system truly representative of the wish of the party by decentralizing control into congressional conventions and thus making it more difficult for politicians to manipulate the strings.

The plan in brief: Elect delegates to county conventions except in counties which are divided into more than one congressional district. In all other counties, delegates to county conventions would elect delegates to the congressional district conventions. Each congressional convention, in turn, would elect delegates to the state meeting which would be smaller in size and hence more deliberative in action.

Hotel Suite Nominations

The auditor general-elect envisions the following result:

"The state convention then would naturally be much smaller in number than the present unwieldly, mob-like gatherings typified by the Grand Rapids gathering. No set of machine politicians, however astute, could possibly be at 17 points in the state simultaneously. Special trains, paid for by some political boss, would go out of fashion and hotel suites where now the business of the convention is done, would give way to a deliberative body of responsible delegates there to do the will of the people and not of a few self-seeking politicians."

But if such a plan could not be effected, the Ingham county publisher agrees with the Grand Rapids Press. He concludes: "If administrative officials are to be hand-picked in secret by self-appointed politicians as at present, far better that the constitution be amended and these administrative officials be appointed by the governor after his election."

Sales Tax Exemptions

Governor-Elect Fitzgerald has made it known that he intends to purge state payrolls sometime after January 1.

Determined to wipe out the deficit, Fitzgerald has put in doubt the continuance of upwards to 4,000 jobs, most of which are protected by civil service. And therein lies the Republicans' dilemma. They don't want to scuttle the civil service system, but they do want patronage to appease party workers.

As an alternative to payroll cutting (or an accompaniment to it) is the legislative possibility of plugging revenue leaks in the state sales tax law. Of the reported sales of $4,332,000,000 during the fiscal year ending July 1, 1938, the state collected the 3 per cent sales tax on only $1,661,000,000.

State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry blames exemptions such as resale in the form of tangible personal property. This accounts for $1,667,871,000, or more than 38 per cent of the grand total. Sales made for outgoing inter-state commerce are tax exempt, amounting to $150,000,000 last year. Government purchases are also exempt, involving more than $75,000,000.

As a potential source for new revenue for budget balancing purposes, the sales tax is a virtual gold mine.

And yet that path is one of additional taxation on the masses. Old-fashioned economy, such as Fitzgerald has proposed, could accomplish the desired results. It will be interesting to observe the choice the governor makes.

A Great Christmas Story For You

"Just Another Day" is a Christmas story that everyone in the family will enjoy. It's so good that the illustrater, James Montgomery Flagg, himself, says, "It's a perfect Xmas story." Watch for it in This Week, the colorgravure magazine with next Sunday's Detroit News.

EDITORIAL

THE INAUGURAL MESSAGE

The people of the state of Michigan are looking forward to Governor Fitzgerald's message on the first of January with the same attitude the English had before the Magna Charta. They feel sure it will be their release from the bondage they have suffered these last two years when practically everything they had was laid upon the auction block and sold to the union operators for a few paltry votes.

It will be the dawn of a new era for Michigan. Men will once again feel they can get a job, hold it for more than a few weeks, and not be forced to go on a strike by some addle pated union leader that doesn't understand the first simple rule of economics, or anything else.

There will be a place in this message devoted to reducing the almost unbearable tax burden we have been forced to bear under the banner of the baby New Deal fostered by Governor Murphy. Once again the state finances will be in order and we will not have to call a special session to aid the poor and the unfortunate. We may still have some of these on our hands but their misery will not be made the butt of political maneuvering.

We will have a labor law. It may not be perfect to begin with but it will be a beginning. It will not be sacrificed because it is not another Wagner law. It will be impartial to labor, and the public—and the employer. The years will help erase any defects which spring up from time to time. Time always corrects the faults which may not be apparent at first hand.

These things and many more Mr. Fitzgerald can be expected to include in his inaugural message.

But you can bet your bottom dollar there will be no dew and sunshine dripping about. It will all be good old fashioned, plain, hard, cold facts. We will welcome the change.

STATUE IN HONOR OF—

Lest we forget.

The man who, in our next legislature, is the first to rise and offer a new law governing the taxes imposed upon the poor automobile owner, and calls for a reduction in them, will go down in our hall of fame. We will laud his praises to the heavens. We will shout his fame from the housetops and we will honor and revere his memory for many years to come.

His name will become enshrined in the hearts of his fellowmen.

And long will live his fame.

The smart boys put over a fast one on the unsuspecting natives when they spent a couple hundred thousand dollars getting the public to give their OK to the third amendment in the last election. This amendment was so worded and the advertising concerning it was so deftly phrased that everybody was led to believe it was something which would do good for everybody. Instead it patted us on the back all the while it was looking forward to the time our hands would be tied and it could then reach into our pockets and take out more and more money to be spent on a road system that has no peer in all America now.

When this legislator steps forth in all his glory and offers this amendment to our present statutes governing the taxes we now pay on our automobiles, and he gets these taxes reduced, we will start right then to promote a foundation fund to build a statue in honor of his memory. We'll also make the first donation to show our sincerity. Don't crowd boys, one at a time. May the best man win.

Shocking news comes from the mistreatment of Jews in Germany. The way a helpless minority is abused outrages the Christian sense of justice. Kindly disposed Germans who excel in art, science and letters, must look on with a feeling of horror as a tyrannous dictatorship practices cruel intolerance comparable to that of darkest middle ages. Inhumanity to no race harmonizes with the tenets of Christianity, and the world needs right now a renewed infusion of the spirit taught and practiced by the founder of Christianity.

SHOP AT HOME CHRISTMAS

Let's shop at home this Christmas.

All other factors controlling one's purchasing being equal, why should we not spend our Christmas money in our own community?

Lay aside all this bosh about its being one's patriotic or civic duty to buy at home. For that is no reason in this realistic age. Supporting the local business has ceased to be a charity. People buy and sell now on the basis of values received and values given.

And is there any reason the local stores may not stand the test of critical analysis on just that simple basis? None that we know of except the one of larger selections. But until one exhausts the possibilities of the selections at home, one need not go elsewhere. It is our experience that we overlook a lot right in the local store.

There are the obvious values of buying at home. Money spent here builds purchasing power here. It helps everyone. It maintains the capital investment which in turn supports the community in the way of taxes. These are the usual arguments.

FAMILY BUDGETS REAP HAPPINESS

Family roundtables to plan the most efficient use of finances in 1939 will do more for rural happiness than any other recipe, suggests Miss Mary Rokahr of the federal extension service in Washington. She addressed the Michigan extension service staff at Michigan State College in the recent annual conference.

"Look back, look ahead and then make decisions," Miss Rokahr suggested.

She described the home circle, largely feminine, and then the farm circle, largely male, and drew a cross between the two in which the entire family should help plan how much of home foods can be produced, decisions on home improvements, electrification, use of appliances and participation by the family in various community enterprises.

Michigan State College extension staff were urged to get more families in the state involved in family discussions and family decisions. The extension service finds this increased use of planning and budgeting can be obtained through project groups, outlook meetings, through farm security loans and through a start in working out "net worth" statements, which is the looking back part of planning.

Lack of planning, Miss Rokahr contends, is the cause of most family unhappiness. She points out that discords so often refer to financial difficulties that wise use of budgets can lead to greater family happiness and financial success.

True Stories of Human Interest (Michigan Press Association)

Horse Goes to School

Allegan — This city boasted an education-seeking nag and surprised school officials recently. When janitors came to work one morning, they found a horse roaming in the first floor of the high school. The spectacle brought many a laugh and a job for the janitors. Oh yes, the day before the horse was found was Hallowe'en.

Fish Without Tackle

Portland—One of the finest pike which has been taken from Grand River in some time was caught without tackle by Russel Messer, a nine-year-old Lyons boy. He was walking near the river when he saw the pike caught back of several stones. The lad waded in and grabbed the 4½ pound pike by the gills.

A Big Birthday

Vassar—George F. Heusted's 88th birthday was a big one, proving that the people of Mayville went out of their way to honor Michigan's youngest civil war veteran. He was presented with a huge birthday cake 18 inches tall and weighing 20 pounds. In addition, he received a bushel basket full of birthday greeting cards.

Strong Little Fellow

Mason—A small, furry animal was attacked by two dogs and five men here, but escaped safely without even a scuffle. The event took place in Mason's business section. You see, the animal was a skunk, and the attackers decided that discretion would be the better part of valor. The skunk withdrew leisurely, and the cleaner didn't get any extra business.

Too Many Coats

Dearborn — Police thought something was a bit strange when they discovered a man in a factory locker room wearing three zipper jackets. He was arrested, and admitted that he was wearing two too many coats. He was sentenced to serve 30 days in the Detroit House of Correction.

Hallowe'en Junk Pile

Bad Axe—This city must have had some ambitious and husky pranksters on the loose Hallowe'en night. The following morning residents found an impromptu junkyard under a traffic light at a main street intersection. None less than 12 cars, from good to bad but mostly old, were parked so as to block traffic in all directions. It took city workmen two hours to clear away the mess.

Healthy Onions

Lake City — Michigan seems to have been gaining a reputation as the state where big vegetables are grown. In addition to big pumpkins, tall corn, and freak turnips that have been reported this year, now comes an onion specimen. Warner Corwin of Lake City has a 29-ounce onion which he grew in his garden.

Albino Deer Seen

Newberry—Albino deer, a rarely sighted animal freak, have been seen in several places in the upper peninsula this season. An albino buck was reported 18 miles south of Munising. Conservation officers reported seeing several of the all white animals near Vanderbilt, and another one has been seen in the vicinity of L'Anse.

AT THE MOVIES

Heiress and Reporter Romp Through Gay Adventures in "There Goes My Heart"

The merry romantic adventures of a madcap heiress who runs out on her fortune and into a roving reporter who's out to get her story but comes back with her heart, are gaily depicted in Hal Roach's "There Goes My Heart," in which Fredric March and Virginia Bruce romp into the Palace Theatre for a two-day stay on Saturday, December 24-26.

A great cast, headed by the new streamlined Patsy Kelly, Alan Mowbray, Nancy Carroll, Eugene Pallette and Etienne Girardot, supports the stars in this comedy romance of a girl who threw away a million dollars, deserted her yacht for a bargain basement, and found that you can have a barrel of fun eating hamburgers, riding subways—and falling in love—with a guy to whom you'd always been just a headline—and a headache.

Patsy Kelly and Alan Mowbray strike a bizzarre romantic note as an electric vibrator demonstrator and her subway motorman sweetheart, who works at night and spends his days studying chiropractic.

"There Goes My Heart" is Roach's first film under his new agreement to release through United Artists. The screen play was prepared by Eddie Moran and Jack Jevne from an original story by Ed. Sullivan. Norman Z. McLeod directed.

Politics in this country today isn't so much a case of what a candidate stands for as what the voters fall for.

USE, DON'T SPEND MONEY

By Hester Renwick Fraser
Consumers' Counsel

Using money, instead of spending it, will make your dollar go farther.

Are you confident that the gloves you buy will serve their best purpose at a price you can afford to pay?

Good glove-leather has a fine texture. It feels soft and supple, not papery, or stiff. The finest gloves are "table cut." Expert workmen cut each glove individually. Each piece of leather is pulled and stretched by hand to put the right amount of leather (or "give") in each glove and avoid any defective pieces in cutting. "Crossed scissors," stamped inside a glove, is the Glovers Guild trade mark, indicating a table cut product and generally good leather. However, all table cut gloves are not manufactured by members of Glovers Guild.

Suede is the term applied to any leather with the surface removed and finished in soft, velvety effect. It is not especially durable, but is beautiful and soft.

Glaze is the term applied to any leather where the natural grain or outside surface is untouched and presents a glossy finish.

Capeskin is the name used to designate medium and heavy weight skins taken from sheep with the grain left on. The skins have a splendid texture and are very strong and durable.

Kidskin gloves are strong, though extremely fine in grain. Kid stretches so easily, it is essential to have a perfect fit. It is the most durable leather in a dress glove.

Lambskin gloves are sometimes sold for kid. It is almost as fine a leather, but is not as resistant, nor will it wear as well. Reputable shops will clearly designate kid or lamb. Real kid gloves are rarely as inexpensive as lamb skin gloves, as the supply of skins is limited, and the manufacturing process more elaborate.

Mocha gloves are made from the skins of long-haired Arabian sheep.

Pigskin gloves are of heavy weight and durable, as are buck and deer skin.

Know the texture and workmanship of gloves you buy. It will give you confidence in them and make your dollar go farther.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

Department of State Deputy Named

A Battle Creek man has been appointed to an important post in the department of state, effective January 1, 1939, by Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state-elect.

James G. Frey will take the post of deputy secretary of state, succeeding Bernard J. Youngblood, who was appointed to the office two years ago by Leon D. Case, secretary of state.

Mr. Frey was born in McKeesport, Pennsylvania, April 5, 1896. He received his education in the public schools of Dubois, Pennsylvania and later graduated from the University of Michigan in 1922.

He has edited and published the "Tyler Keystone" (a Masonic magazine) since 1922. Prior to this date he was engaged in newspaper work on the Dubois Courier, the Ann Arbor Times-News and the Battle Creek Enquirer-News. He has resided in Michigan for the past 22 years.

He was elected to the legislature from the second district in Calhoun county on November 6, 1928, and served in the legislature in the sessions of 1929, 1931, 1933 and 1935.

He is a veteran and served with the American Expeditionary Forces in France and with the Headquarters U. S. A. A. S. with the Italian army and is active in veteran organizations.

The Golden Text (from Isaiah 9:2) is: "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (John 14:12): "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father."

he is putting a nice big addition on the kitchen at Gray Gables Inn on Belvedere avenue.

I was always brought up to believe that if I'd been a good boy Santa Claus would remember me with the things I wanted at Christmas time. That same rule should apply for the other fellas around town, and if they've been good the line-up should be something like this:

Don Herrick: The new city hall wrapped up in a package from the PWA.

Charlie Heise: A nice shack somewhere up across the straits in good deer country.

Joe Troyer: A rear-view mirror so he can see those bucks that sneak behind him.

Yours Truly: A gun that shoots straighter.

The new fish pond in East Park was initiated this week. Roy Ranger released a dozen or more nice big rainbow trout that were brought over from the Oden hatchery into it and next summer, we understand, a lot more fish are going to be placed there so as to furnish a real attraction for our summer visitors.

A new dam built recently on Inwood creek by a colony of bank beaver is creating a lot of interest. Many have seen this wonderful piece of work. The dam, about 4 feet high across the center and probably 75 feet wide, is just up the stream a short distance from the mouth. Another larger dam may be found west of the Sutton farm on McGeagh creek. It is not so high, but is much wider and backs up a lot more water than the Inwood creek dam. The McGeagh creek dam is the oldest and it must be that the beaver had a family ruckus of some kind or other and part of the colony went over to Inwood creek.

It's going to be a lot of fun and give me downright satisfaction to pick on, throw wrenches into, find fault with and condemn generally any plan proposed and presented to the next legislature to open a season of any kind on doe deer.

Cherrio! A very Merry Christmas to you all.

Hull Residence Burned

TIBBITS IN LINE FOR HOUSE SPEAKERSHIP

Will Attend Preliminary Caucus at Lansing on December 30

Chairman James F. Thomson, of the Republican state central committee has called Republican members of the 1939 lower house December 30 for the purpose of getting acquainted but it is anticipated that the event also will serve as a preliminary caucus for the organization of the house.

The official caucus, at which the speaker, clerk, sergeant-at-arms and possibly a majority floor leader will be elected at the meeting which will be held Tuesday night, January third, the day before the legislature is convened.

Those who have signified their willingness to serve as speaker include Ellis E. Faulkner of Delton, Douglas D. Tibbits of Boyne City, Howard Nugent of Bad Axe, Charles R. Feenstra of Grand Rapids, Maurice E. Post of Rockford, Walter F. Femer of Saginaw and Joseph E. Warner of Ypsilanti.

MODERATE WEATHER IS HOLDING UP SKATING

Freezing Temperature Awaited to Ice School and Hockey Rinks

With flood lights installed and other preparations made, freezing weather is awaited to prepare the ice rink at the school grounds and the hockey rink at East Park for use.

Edgar Smith, who will supervise the municipal rink at the school grounds, started preparation of a foundation late last week, but subsequent mild weather has stopped operations. The skate house was brought down from the athletic field Tuesday. It was hoped to have the rink ready for use by Christmas, but preparation is dependent upon the weather.

The East Park hockey rink, blown down by recent heavy wind, has been repaired by the WPA recreational staff, whose members will start building an ice foundation as soon as conditions permit.

Various organizations and societies will handle the distribution of gifts, Christmas candies, etc., to the children intended by direct distribution instead of the customary programs and gatherings.

Dr. Armstrong reported Tuesday afternoon that six homes where cases of scarlet fever exist, have been quarantined and that there are probably numerous other cases where physicians have not been called or where patients have recovered without medical attention. All cases have been extremely light. He stated that the prevention of gatherings of smaller children, among whom the disease is most prevalent, will greatly aid in curbing the epidemic.

XMAS SEAL SALE 100% BENEFIT TO COUNTY

Funds Raised by Sale Used for TB Eradication Efforts

Tuberculosis Christmas seal funds raised in Charlevoix county return, in benefits, one hundred per cent to Charlevoix county residents. That was the point stressed this week as the Michigan Tuberculosis Association urged all who have not yet purchased a supply of 1938 Christmas seals to do so soon. There is still an opportunity for all to help in the thirty-second annual campaign to raise funds for tuberculosis fighting, it was pointed out.

Charlevoix county residents have, in the past, established a record for generous response to the annual appeal for Christmas seal pennies to fight tuberculosis," declared Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the association. "But generous as their contributions are, there is always an urgent need for funds which will allow the association to increase its already extensive program against the White Plague."

Emphasizing that tuberculosis spreads, unseen, from person to person, from community to community, Mr. Werle declared that if the penny Christmas seals did nothing more than prevent a single case of tuberculosis in a year, they would be accomplishing a great work.

"Five Charlevoix residents were killed last year by tuberculosis," he reported. "Each of these deaths was a needless tragedy, for tuberculosis is a preventable disease. Still more deplorable, however, is the fact that others were unwittingly infected with the deadly tubercle baeilli. To prevent, through modern health education and case-finding, the spread of tuberculosis is the primary purpose and chief accomplishment of the tiny tuberculosis Christmas seals.

"No Christmas seal contribution is too small, or too great," Mr. Werle declared. "Every penny, every dollar becomes an essential unit of the single fund that makes possible a great humanitarian effort—the fight to stamp out tuberculosis."

WINTER SPORTS MEETING FRIDAY EVENING

All Devotees Asked to Attend to Outline Program for Winter

Plans for a winter sports program during the remainder of the winter season will be formulated at a meeting to be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Board of Commerce office.

All those interested in winter sports activities are invited to attend and present their views for consideration and development by the winter sports committee.

It is also asked that all those interested in playing hockey report to Gordon Todd, secretary of the Board of Commerce. Organization of teams is to be completed as soon as possible.

CHRISTMAS SERVICES AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Rev. George W. Marshfield, New Rector, Will Be in Charge

A Christmas day service at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, December 25, will afford members of Christ Episcopal church their first service in charge of Rev. George W. Marshfield, who November 1st succeeded Rev. Edward Doan as rector of Emmanuel Episcopal church at Petoskey and of the local church.

Holy Communion will be observed and Rev. Marshfield will preach on the topic, "The Babe of Bethlehem." All members of the church are urged to be present for this first service. Plans will be discussed for further winter services.

Christmas Services
Charlevoix: Midnight Saturday
Candle Light Service
Ironton: 11:00 a. m.

Because of the precaution being taken by the health authorities, all gatherings of younger children have been discouraged. Therefore there will be no Sunday school Christmas program as planned, nor Sunday school on Sunday. The Christmas treat will be given out the following Sunday, or any other manner a teacher of a class may decide.

These measures do not affect the regular Christmas worship services. The mid-night services will be carried out as planned. The service will be a candle light program, beginning promptly at 12:00 o'clock Saturday night.

Coming January 1st: A service without a spoken word. Plan to come.

HOUGHTON MAN GIVEN DEPUTY AUDITOR POST

Vernon J. Brown Appoints Gus T. Hartman as Deputy

Vernon J. Brown of Mason, auditor general-elect, has selected Gus T. Hartman of Houghton as his deputy.

Hartman was deputy to Auditor General John J. O'Hara who was appointed by Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald on January 21, 1935, after the death of the man who was elected to take office, John K. Stack, Jr.

For many years it was a tradition that the auditor general should be a resident of the upper peninsula. The Democrats gave the nomination to George T. Gundry of Flint two years ago and Gundry handed the deputyship to an upper peninsula resident, James K. Jamison of Ontonagon.

Hartman's qualifications, besides residence in the upper peninsula, include six years' experience as a member of the house of representatives. He is a graduate of Cleary Business College, Ypsilanti, and worked up in the railroad business until he was an assistant superintendent. He also has engaged in the real estate business.

When the days begin to lengthen, the winter begins to strengthen. When the temperature goes to zero 40% of a battery's efficiency is froze up. You have only 60% left to turn over a cold motor. 40% less than in warm weather and 20% to 50% more for the battery to do. Better come in and find out what condition your battery is in. You can't tell by the looks of it, nor by its performance in moderate weather. Our instruments can. Come and it will be some satisfaction to know. CHARLEVOIX M. E. CHURCH

John W. Alexander, Minister

10:00 a. m. Church school. It has been advised that all children 14 years and under remain at home as a precaution against the epidemic which appears to be in our city. The classes for the adults and high school students will be held as usual.

11:00 a. m. Worship service. We cordially invite adults and young people to worship with us. The same rule for little folks will have to be applied to the church service as to the church school. The choir under the direction of Mrs. Bebling will present three special Christmas numbers. The pastor will deliver a short Christmas message. The service will be brief.

There will be no evening service but the young folks will meet at the parsonage at eight o'clock. From there they will make calls on the sick and aged and sing carols.

There will be no Christmas program at the church Friday evening, following the advice of the health authorities relative to the epidemic which at present is in the city. This is done as a precaution. The teachers of the Children's Division will visit the homes with the church school candy and collect the children's gifts for the children of the Indian Mission as well as the little red stockings (offering) for our Children's Village at Detroit.

Replace Worn Tires Now!
Firestone
BRINGS YOU LONG WEAR, SAFETY AND ECONOMY!

Icy roads are not far off so now is the time to install new tires and enjoy the safety and comfort of motoring even though the roads are slippery. Careful drivers everywhere select FIRESTONE because of its deep, heavy tread; because of its economy in providing thousands and thousands of miles of road service and because they know it provides the utmost in tire safety. You really must see the FIRESTONE Convoy to fully appreciate this extra-value tire. Drive in to any of the dealers listed below and examine the Convoy—have one or a set installed and right then and there real motoring pleasure begins for FIRESTONE sets a new all time high in tire value with these outstanding features.

NEW HIGH QUALITY—First choice rubber and cotton selected that conforms to Firestone's rigid specifications.

LONG MILEAGE—Safe, silent tread design made of tough, slow wearing rubber that assures long mileage. Sturdy bars and rugged notches give protection against skidding.

BLOWOUT PROTECTION — Nine extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone Patented Gun-Dipping process. Every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber which counteracts internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

PUNCTURE PROTECTION — Firestone's patented construction of two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread protects against punctures.

NEW LOW PRICES — Because Firestone saves money by controlling and securing rubber and cotton at the source and by more efficient manufacturing and distribution. These savings make possible the extra values at these new low prices.

CITY HALL PROJECT IS GIVEN APPROVAL

START WORK THURSDAY TO GET UNDER PWA DEADLINE

City to Do Excavation; Contract for Construction Will Be Awarded on January 23rd

Supervised by City Superintendent Don Herrick and through authorization by the city council, excavation for the new city hall and fire station at the corner of State and Mason streets was started Thursday morning.

The council's action followed receipt last Thursday of approval by the Public Works Administration of a $29,025 grant and, in order to meet a PWA requirement that the work be started by December 31st, the council by resolution adopted Tuesday night made request for approval of a "force account contract" for excavation only in order that construction could be started under the deadline.

Under this arrangement, the city has established a special construction fund of $800 for the excavation part of the total contract, which sum will be reimbursed after the contract is awarded.

In addition to this special action, the council also took other legal steps required to get the project under way. Other resolutions accepted the PWA offer of grant; advertisements calling for bids on January 23rd, 1939 were authorized; a resolution authorizing the issuance of $36,000 in general obligation bonds voted December 7th by local taxpayers was passed, also advertisements calling for bids on such bonds to be received by up 8 p. m. January 16th, and establishment of a wage scale in accordance with PWA requirements.

Under the present set-up, contract for the city hall will not be let until January 23 and consequently construction other than basement excavation to be done by the city will not be started until after that date.

City officials are highly elated over PWA approval of the city hall project which gives Charlevoix two large construction jobs providing needed civic improvements and winter employment. Total grants to the city by PWA now aggregate over $35,000.00.

VALUE MICHIGAN FARM CROPS DROP LAST YEAR

Decrease of 8 Per Cent Noted in Annual Crop Summary Report

The total value of production of the 24 principal field and fruit crops produced in Michigan during 1938 is estimated at $123,890,000 compared with n valuntion of $135,206,000 for the production of these crops in 1937, or a decrease of 8 per cent. These estimates of farm value of total crop production do not include livestock products. The values shown are for the marketing season or crop year and should not be confused with calendar year income.

This year's production of the general field crops exceeded that of a year ago. Of the 17 general field and seed crops, only the production of rye and wild hay fell below the production in 1937. In contrast with the favorable season for field crops, the production of all tree fruits except pears was the lowest in recent years.

This season Michigan ranked first, compared with all other states, in the production of field beans; second in the production of potatoes; third in the production of clover seed and fourth in the production of sugar beets and buckwheat.

PRESIDENT'S BALL COMMITTEE NAMED

PLANS UNDER WAY FOR SIXTH ANNUAL CELEBRATION

H. O. Wiles, Boyne City, County Chairman; Dan Geneit and J. M. Foster Charlevoix Committee

H. O. Wiles of Boyne City, has been named chairman of Charlevoix county's annual President's Ball which is to be held January 30th at the Argonne.

Other persons appointed in charge of arrangements in this county include Delbert Pouquette and John Judkins of Boyne City, Dan Geneit, and William Foster of Charlevoix, and Jason Snyder and Merrit Shaw of East Jordan.

The nation-wide war against infantile paralysis was declared last year by President Roosevelt when he urged the creation of a new National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis on September 23, 1937.

The campaign to fight Infantile Paralysis was launched by Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foondation, on June 21, 1938 when he received the President's birthday gift from the nntion.

The fight against this illness started by President Roosevelt twelve yeurs ago now reaches permunence und size. The time is here when the country means business.

Under the new plan, the county chairman, after receiving the net proceeds from the local chairman, deducts expenses for organizing the county and then divides the total halance on a fifty-fifty basis. Half is retained by the coonty chairman in trust for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., and the other half goes to the National Committee.

POST OFFICE SHOWED AN UNUSUAL INCREASE

Postmaster J. M. Foster has released figures showing that 35,977 letters went out, sales included 24,500 1½ cent stamps, 14,500 3 cent stamps, all a very decided increase over a year ago. It is estimated an average of 80 sacks of parcel post were sent out each day during the week preceding Christmas and that the incoming parcel post was in excess of the previous year.

The regular post office force was augmented by several extras and for several days prior to Christmas efforts of the men were taxed to keep the incoming and outgoing mail cleared.

PROGRAM WINTER SPORTS PLANNED

CHARLEVOIX WINTER SPORTS CLUB IS FORMED

Meeting Scheduled First Week of January to Arrange Program for Remainder of Winter

At a meeting to be held the first week of January at a date to he announced, plans for an organized and directed winter sports program for Charlevoix during the remainder of the winter will be formulated.

The Charlevoix Winter Sports Cluh, inactive for several years, has been re-organized with the following officers: President, Fred E. Cartier; vice-president, P. D. Campbell; secretary, Gordon B. Todd; treasurer, Archie L. Livingston. Directors named were: Charles H. Emrey, Earl A. Young, S. O. Sorensen, Harold Hallett, Frank F. Bird and Pat Hawley.

At the forthcoming meeting, plans for skating, skiing, tobogganing, hockey and other winter sports activities will be made, dates set for programs, etc. Officers of the winter sports club will seek the coopernion of the WPA recrentional department in supervising sports programs on designnted days. Facilities for skiing and tohoggnning are nvailable at Mt. McSnuby, a hockey rink at East Park und skating rink at the school grounds.

With the recent sunction of a Northern Michigan Skating Association, local elimination meets will be held to determine representatives to compete in district and regional events.

All winter sports devotees are urged to lend their support to the Club officers in outlining programs and competitive events.

NORTH MICHIGAN SKATING ASSN. IS APPROVED

A. L. Livingston Named Vice-President of Organiaation

The Northern Michigan Skating Association was voted into existence by members of the Amateur Skating Union according to word received from Otto J. Allbrecht, secretary of the national organization.

Don Barnes, Petoskey, is president of the new group. Other officers include A. L. Livingston, Charlevoix, first vice-president; Glenn S. Bain, second vice-president; Ben Wright, Alpena, third vice-president; and Wilson J. McDonald, secretary and treasurer. The executive committee is composed of Myrt Riggs, Chehoygan; Ned Herrick, Harbor Springs; Norman Wells, Herman Meyer, Walter Kring, Ray H. Herrick, C. L. Johnson and H. C. Spitler of Petoskey.

The officers expect to meet soon to arrange a winter speed skating event which will probably be held the latter part of January.

PETOSKEY BIDDER IS LOW ON LOEB CREEK CULVERT

Low bid for construction of a culvert across Loeb Creek on M-66 was submitted by the A. W. Hodgkiss Company, of Petoskey, it was announced at Lansing when bids on 12 road projects were revealed by the state highway department.

The culvert was destroyed last spring when rains flooded the creek. The Hodgkiss bid was $10,625.

TAXES AVERAGE $466.15 YEARLY FOR FAMILIES

National Consumers Tax Commission Points Out Heavy Burden

Taxes paid by Michigan residents for the support of local, state and national governments average $466.15 annually for every family in the state, a National Consumers Tax Commission survey shows.

"Most of this burden—in fact 63 per cent—is paid by all Michigan residents, rich and poor alike, in indirect or hidden taxes," the report stated. "They pay in increased prices nn every purchase, including the necessities of life."

Mrs. W. R. Alvord, of Highland Park, Michigan national committee member, who announced the survey, said the report showed residents of the state contrihute more than $550,000,000 a year to local, state and national governments.

"The average low-income family may find solace in the erroneous belief they are tax-free," the report said. "Actually that family's standard of living is being lowered because of unsuspected hidden tax raids on its pocketbook."

Mrs. Alvord said the commission, waging a non-political crusade against "taxes that penalize the consumer," through local women's groups, has found that taxes now are equal to 23.6 of the national income.

Already women in more than 2,200 communities in states across the nation, Mrs. Alvord said, have banded together in local commission units to "consolidate their protests against hidden taxes and tax legislation that mean added borden to the consumer." The commission has national headquarters in Chicago.

NEW FISHING LICENSES ARE BEING DISTRIBUTED

Department Prepares 1,300,000 for Anticipated Record Demand

Michigan's approximately 2,200 hunting and fishing license dealers are now supplied with 1939 fishing licenses and fish law digests.

Shipment of 960,000 of the new licenses has been underway this month, including 605,375 resident non-trout licenses and 155,690 resident fishing licenses, the one dollar permit. For non-residents, 102,650 of the temporary class, 43,090 annual and 50,940 permits for non-resident wives are shipped.

Fishermen will not find any major differences in the regulations for 1939 from those which prevailed during 1938.

A total of 1,300,000 licenses and digests were printed this year, the same amount as was obtained for the 1938 season. A reserve stock is being held to supply dealers who may exhause their current allotments.

Licenses, of course, also are on sale at all conservation department headquarters.

MICHIGAN FARMERS PLANT SMALLER ACREAGE WHEAT

For the second successive year growers in Michigan have materially reduced the acreage sown to winter wheat. The 746,000 acres sown to wheat this fall for harvest in 1939 is 18 per cent less than the 910,000 acres seeded a year ago, and about 27 per cent less than the 1,027,000 acres seeded in the fall of 1936. The acreage seeded to wheat in the fall of 1936 was the greatest area devoted to that crop since 1932.

RAYDERS TROUNCE GAYLORD QUINTET

SCORED 30 TO 12 VICTORY HERE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Team Showed Championship Form in Holding Visitors to Pair Free Throws in First Half

Seeking their second Little Eight class C basketball title, Charlevoix's Red Rayders soundly trounced Gaylord high by a 30 to 12 coont here last Wednesday night to chalk up their second conference victory.

That the Rayders disposed of Gaylord in no uncertain manner is indicated by the score. They held the visitors scoreless in the first period and limited them to a pair of free throws in the second quarter. Charlevoix led at the half by a 16 to 2 margin.

The third period was almost a repetition of the first two, Charlevoix tallying 7 points to Gaylord's single goal for a 23 to 4 ndvantage.

Coach Kipke used 9 players in numerous combinations during the game and all seemed to click. Pearl, last season's veteran, was not available for play.

Brown had a big night, scoring 14 points for the Rayders. Withers followed closely with 11. Madsen, center, was high for Gaylord with 6.

Robert Cornell of Petoskey, refereed the game in a satisfactory manner.

Next Closed Season Takes in Lower Peninsula Pike Lakes Mar. 15

Black hass fishermen will wind op their sport for another season on the last day of this month. The season on both small mooth and large mouth bass closes December 31, not to open until June 25.

The next season closing will come March 1, when pike lakes in the lower peninsula will be forbidden to fishermen and on March 15, when pike lakes in the upper peninsula will be closed. This will be only the second closed seasnn on pike lakes in Michigan.

SCHOOLS RESUME TUESDAY AFTER HOLIDAY VACATION

Bringing to a close the customary two-week holiday vacation period, Charlevoix schools will resume classes Tuesday morning, January 3.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Well, got some results from those Christmas wishes I made for the boys last week. Don Herrick got the PWA grant for the city hall and I understand someone gave Joe Troyer the rear-view mirror. As for myself, some smart guy sent me one of those anonymuous letters suggesting I get a crotched stick.

If you've happened to notice that belligerent look on the faces of the Masons and Odd Fellows lately and didn't know what it was all about, I'm just going to tip you off that they are practicing their "cribbage faces" in order to be in trim for the annual winter contest which opens next week. There's a lot of honest-to-goodness rivalry under the surface when it comes to this cribbage thing.

Don't want to be too optimistic, but the way Kipke's Red Rayders romped over Gaylord the other night looked good for the future. Gaylord trimmed Harbor Springs badly, Charlevoix beat Harbor by 5 points and then knocked Gaylord off in no uncertain manner.

Heard that the fellows on the west side of Bridge street have petitioned the weather man for greater equality — meaning they want it fixed up so that the fellows on the east side of Bridge street get their share of the snow next time.

FARMERS OF 10 NORTHERN COUNTIES REPAY $660,000 OF CROP LOANS

The first 5 years of service to farmers of northern Michigan by a local financial institution they organized when the depression was near its worst, will come to an end December 30, and leaders of the movement who were active in forming the association are this week checking up on the 5-year record.

Roy Anderson of Gaylord, Charles Shepard of Boyne City, H. L. Ostrander of Afton were among the farmers who helped get the organization, the Gaylord Production Credit association, under way, and who are members of the present board of directors.

Since their charter was granted in December 1933 the association has provided farmers of 10 counties in the northern part of the lower peninsula $864,000 in short time loans, which was used chiefly to buy feeder cattle, dairy cattle and to finance the marketing of crops. Loans outstanding at this time total more than $203,000.

Along with these 3 veteran members of the association's board there are several others who have remained active members of the association during the past 5 years and who helped talk up the plan to their neighbors. Among them are T. R. Shepard of Alba, C. W. Heflin of Alba and S. A. McMonagle of Afton. All were interested in the proposal that came from the Farm Credit Administration which had been established in May of that year, that lack of funds for farm operations could be overcome by the organization of local farmers' cooperatives, which could then discount their local notes with the intermediate credit bank.

A meeting was held late in the fall attended by a number of farmers from several counties, and as a result the production credit association was formed. A tentative board of directors was chosen and application for a charter was made. Three members of the present board have served 4 of the 5 years the association has been in operation, Roy Anderson, the president, Frank Sluyter of Petoskey, vice-president, and Charles Shepard. Mr. Ostrander has been a member for 3 years and David McConnell of Lachine, the fifth member, has served for 2 years.

The association's territory includes Crawford, Oscoda, Alpena, Montmorency, Otsego, and most of Antrim counties, Charlevoix, Emmet, Cheboygan and Presque Isle. In this area there are 816 members, every one a stockholder, and their shares paid for in cash amount to $15,780. Other resources of the association as its fifth year comes to a close include $12,646 in reserves and undivided profits. No losses have been sustained in the 5-year period.

Secretary-Treasurer A. J. Townsend of Gaylord, who is in charge of the business with the help of a small office force and a few representatives in its widely spread territory says:

"When you consider that the original responsibility for sound management of an association like this rests on a group of farmers, the directors, and that they have made such good loans that $864,000 was supplied to farmers without loss over a period of 5 years, you realize that farmers can handle financial problems through a cooperative.

"There is another point worth considering also: The farmers who got this credit have paid back over $660,000, and the repayment plan was arranged so that in most cases it was not very difficult for them to make repayment. We always plan with the borrowing member how he is to repay the loan before he gets the money, so he knows pretty definitely just what to count on. And that plan is arranged so the loan will come due when he has something to pay with. If he is lucky enough to be able to pay something ahead of time, he saves interest on that much, for the association charges him interest only for the actual number of days he uses tbe money."

A Poor Rich Boy's New Cinderella—and Troubles

Telling of a young millionaire's marriage to a waitress which upset his parents more than all his other weddings. But they can't really disinherit him because wise old grandma sewed up his $20,000,000 legacy, minus, perhaps, the $850,000 settled on wives Number 1 and 2 and 3. Be sure to read the article about the young millionaire in The American Weekly, with the January 1 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

PERSEVERANCE

It is not enough merely to begin; staying power is necessary. It is not enrollment, but the years of study that provides an education. The same with life itself. Success means staying power. The reason for many failures is lack of perseverance.—Grit.

FLANNAGAN

By FRANK H. SWEET

Copyright.—WNU Service.

"OH, FLANNAGAN, here's your milk."

Flannagan dropped his stockinged feet from the woodbox and twisted so he could peer toward the door. The dawn was still too faint to see clearly, but the outline of a generous figure was without. Flannagan had thrown the door open before making his fire. His breakfast was baking in the oven. Salt was on the table. He had smoked half a pipe with his feet on the woodbox. When the other half was finished breakfast would be ready. He would eat, lock the door and be on his way to work by the time the road could be seen clearly.

"Flan-na-gnn! Come an' get your milk," came the voice, rising impatiently.

The feet returned to the woodbox. "Go 'way from my door," their owner growled. "Ye've lost your way. I'm not buyin' any milk."

"'Tis from your own red cow—the wanderin' baste! Come, git it, ye bed-lazy! The night's gone."

"I'm not in bed," surlily. "I'm smokin' me praties rendy." The feet went to the floor again and their owner toward the door. "Me red cow, ye say? What for did ye milk her—to get a share?"

A bucket was set down so forcibly that part of its contents slopped on the floor. "To relave the poor baste, who was sufferin'. I wouldn't be touchin' a drap of your milk to keep me from chokin', Tim Flannagan. 'Twas for the baste I did it. She hangs around me shanty to get something to eat. 'Tis likely ye starve her."

There was a roar from inside. "Starve anything—me, Tim Flannagan! There's always more grain an' hay in her shed than she'll eat. 'Tis her conthrariness an' spite. I told mesilf yesterday mornin' I'd never hunt the crayture round for another milkin'. I said to Pat Sheenan he could have her for half the cost if he'd throw in a good beatin'. Hey!" at the sound of footsteps dying away. "Come back an' get your bucket."

"Too far on in the day for more lingerin' on laziness," came back the retort. "'Tis Pehlim's dinner I must be puttin' into a pail, an' then be gettin' to me half dozen washin's. 'Tis not a millionnire like some folks I am to lave me two shoes empty till the sun warms them up. I'll send for the bucket."

"Oho!" bellowed Flannagan's big voice. "Phelim's dinner, is it? Then ye're the Widdy Grogan. I'll be sendin' back the bucket mesilf, with half the milk inside. I'll not stay beholden to anybody."

That night when Flannagan returned from work he was accompanied by Pat Sheehan. "We'll lock in the shed first," said Flannagan, "but 'tis likely she's over to the Widdy Grogan's. All the boys an' four-legged craytures have a way of windin' up there. Maybe she gives them sugar, or pats them, or 'tis a way of her—I don't know. But I counsel ye to kape the red cow bed till she feels at home, or ye'll rant her at the Widdy Grogan's for the mornin'."

"Widdy Grogan?" inquired Pat. "'Tis a new name to me. Is she here long?"

"Two months, or maybe more. Come from the West. Man was a miner or something, I've heard, an' stayed too long near a dynamite charge. Left her enough to buy the Cassidy shanty an' lot. The widdy is a worker, though, an' hen coops an' stable an' pig pen have been goin' up from her own earnin's. Ya know the Phelim boy? Well, 'tis her own son he is, an' the most promisin' b'y o' me knowledge. I wish I had the likes of him for ma own."

"'Tis a wonder ye never married, Flannagan."

"Not so. I was young whin I crossed over, an' the craytures here are not wimmen, but things to hang ribbon on an' to fill up room in the movie shows—all except the widdy."

"Why don't ye marry the widdy, then?"

"Och hone!" throwing up his hands in pretended horror. "Me marry the widdy, whin we never come in sight of each other without words o' fightin' character! 'Tis often I feel thankful we're not both of us men or both women. 'Twould be a bad example we'd set."

Pat snorted. "'Tis only your bark, Flannagan," he derided, "'an' if the widdy draws b'ys an' bastes with the way o' hers, 'tis only bark there, I'm thinkin'. Sure, an' both o' ye are but chickens inside. Ye nade a home, Flannagan, ye do so, with all the money ye've saved up, an' gettin' to be boss an' all, an' still livin' in the same old shack. Ye need somebody to show ye how to spind."

The cow was not in the shed, nor in any of the sheds around. So they went to the Widdy Grogan's.

It was evening. The day's work was done. Widdy Grogan was rocking contentedly by her fire, singing the tender words of a little Irish song in a voice that belied the heavy face and figure of the hard working, middle-aged woman.

The door was open, and the two men stood without, listening to the sweet, rich voice rise and fall. Soon Pat made a motion to leave, but Flannagan gripped his shoulder.

"Don't ye dar stir, Pat," he whispered fiercely. "I must henr it all through. 'Tis crazy I am, or dreamin'. The words o' that song was made up by me own grandfayther an' never printed. 'Tis an unknown poet he was, an' the song was only sung by him an' a colleen I know—Norah O'Brien, the girl I left in the old country an' lost."

When the song ceased, Flannagan stepped impetuously into the cabin. "Evenin', Widdy," he greeted. "Where'd ye get that song? Ye've no claim to it, an' an' to singin' it in the same heart-reachin' way. 'Tis the right o' Norah O'Brien only, for me grandfayther is dead. Did ye know her? Where'd ye come from?"

The Widdy looked at him coldly. "Kerry I'm from, an' I did know the colleen, Tim Flannagan. An' I know ye made love to her, an' thin come off to America an' forgot. 'Twas a bad showin' ye, Tim Flannagan."

"I did not so forget," cried Flannagan, bringing his big fist down on the table so it jumped. "'Tis a lie to say it. I never married on account o' Norah. For a year I worked hard all day an' many a night to send for her, an' the money came back. Then I took it an' borried more, an' went over an' hunted through Kerry. But she'd gone, never a one knew where. Five years, an' I went a second time, an' came back alone. Through it all I've never had a sign o' her till the song ye sung. 'Twas hers. Where is she? Where is me girl?"

Widdy Grogan had risen to her feet. Her fat, kindly face was working curiously.

"Say ye so? Say ye so, Tim?" she murmured softly. "Why didn't ye write?"

"I did."

"'Twas a letter that played truant, then. Norah waited a year; then come to America an' got a job with a family who took her west. When five years had gone by an' she counted ye dead or forgettin' her, she married Torence Grogan, who was kilt."

There was a queer sound in Flannagan's throat, but no word came. He walked entirely around the Widdy, and again stopped in front.

"'Tis the voice, like an angel's," he thought aloud. "An' the eyes—but I dunno, I dunno."

"Thirty years it is, Tim," suggested the Widdy. "An' folks change, even slim colleens. Look to yoursilf in the glass."

Very likely Flannagan had not studied himself in all the thirty years. What he saw in the glass made him scowl. Then he chuckled. "'Tis so," he conceded. "May I sit a while, Widdy, an' talk things over?"

"Sure ye can," cordially. "Take that chair with the cushion. 'Tis the easy one."

A shuffle of soft footsteps came as of one slipping from the room. Flannagan remembered.

"I'd forgot ye, Pat," he apologized. "But 'tis no matter. Ye shall not have the baste. 'Tis the Widdy's. I will pay ye wages for the time ye lost."

"Ye will not," indignantly. "'Tis me respicts to the Widdy. She shall ask me to the weddin'."

Then he closed the door softly.

Operation of 2,000 Years Ago

A skull on exhibition in the London museum contains evidence of an operation performed 2,000 years ago. In the center of the skull appears a neat round hole, drilled, according to the experts, to let out the evil one inside the patient, who was probably suffering from epilepsy.

Epithet Now Praise

One of the epithets hurled at Washington during the early days of its development as the national capital has since come to be an expression of prnise. Opponents of the District of Columbia location termed Washington "The City of Magnificent Distances." This cognomen, originally uttered in sarcasm, has since come to describe the long, straight and beautiful streets of the city. Other names indicative of the attitude of the coiners included such unlovely slogans as "Capital of Miserable Huts," "The Wilderness City" and "City of Streets Without Houses." The beauties of the capital have developed to confound these early criticisms.

The Mingo Indians

The Mingo Indians, from which Mingo Junction in Jefferson county, Ohio, got its name, were the "door" of the Ohio valley. Among the other tribes they put on all the airs except claiming that their ancestors came over on the Mayflower.

Wanted to Vote

Harbor Springs — David Ducker, who was visiting here at the time of the November election, must have been pretty anxious to vote. He sent to Columbiaville for an absent voter's ballot, and when it failed to arrive on time, Ducker boarded a bus and traveled 250 miles to his home town—to cast his vote.

A Queer Potato

Rochester—Do potatoes grow on the vine like flowers? There is a Rochester lady who always believed this, and this year found proof. To the local newspaper office this lady brought a picture of a potato vine, showing a fair-sized potato hanging from the center of it.

Easily Named Baby

Scottville — Election helped solve the problem of naming a son born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brunke on election day. The father's name, you see, is Frank, and the first names of both gubernatorial candidates is Frank. So why not make it easy and name the baby Frank.

Dog Shows How

Three Oaks—When a horse slipped and fell in a creek near here, he presented a problem. The owner, a crew of neighbors struggled to raise the horse, but the more they worked, the quieter the horse laid. Then a dog showed them how. He nipped the horse on the leg, and old dobbin hopped up without any help and walked out of the water.

Impressive Safety

Flushing — Although this impressive safety act was staged as a Hallowe'en stunt, it should be good any time. A man wearing a huge death's head, a long black cape, long rattling fingers, and carrying a "father time scythe" appeared on Flushing streets one night. On the scythe appeared the words, "Use common sense in driving—I'm out to get you."

Those Political Stephens

Scottville — Stephens, Stephens, and Stephens sounds almost like a law firm, but it is the line-up of a Republican family here, all three of whom hold public office. Rupert Stephens, Sr., is Mason county's next legislative representative. Lloyd is a Mason county coroner, and Rupert Jr. won the Republican prosecutorship in Manistee county.

Chief Rings Alarm

Ferndale—Although the chief is usually called to fires, Don Post, Ferndale fire chief, reversed the procedure and did the calling recently. When someone knocked on the door of the chief's home and told him the house across the street was on fire, Post sent in the alarm.

USE, DON'T SPEND MONEY
By Hester Renwick Fraser
Consumers' Counsel

Using your money, instead of spending it, will make your dollar go farther.

The secret of using money, as compared to spending it, lies in your confidence that the article you are purchasing will serve its purpose.

Neckties, poorly chosen, are indeed money misspent.

For a tie to hang well, the tie fabric and the lining should be cut and finished on the true bias. To ascertain this, hold the tie at each end and stretch it lengthwise. If it twists badly, it has not been well cut. It should also be so constructed as to make it stretchy and springy, rather than firm and solid.

A well made tie is cut full, usually showing four or five folds of fabric at the broad end. An expensive tie will often have seven folds. An extra fold or two will give the tie body and sufficient weight to hang well. Ties so designed, are usually made of lovely materials.

When buying a silk tie, determine the filling in the material by asking your salesman. This filling will be depleted in the drycleaning and may leave a slazy tie instead of one that seems to have been of firm material.

Today lovely ties are made of celanese rayon and other rayon fabrics, as well as pure silk.

The quality and durability, as well as the care with which ties are made, are the essential points to be considered regardless of the material used.

To be truly usable, a tie must not only suit the taste of the person for whom it is chosen, but it must tie easily and fall evenly and softly.

In choosing neckties with care, you will find the best values and make your dollar go farther.

I'm a rolling, I'm a rolling, through an unfriendly world," said the old song. The football player feels so when he tries to roll the football through the line of huskies ahead.

SALES TAX EXEMPTIONS

It is reported that the state of Michigan this year collected $51,449,000 on the 3 per cent sales tax levy. This sum is more than a third of the state revenue to the general fund and is in itself a vast sum.

We wish you all the Greetings of the Season and thank you for your patronage.

WESTERN UNION
OLIVE ALLEN, Manager

However, included in the news report, this statement was made: "Tax experts in the department declined to estimate how many millions of dollars the public is paying in the form of sales taxes which never reach the state coffers. One exemption alone leaves $1,450,000 in the retailers' hands."

Due to many exemptions, the state collects 1.18 per cent of the total sales made in the state instead of 3 per cent of this same total. Undoubtedly there are justified exemptions. However, it seems to us that greater efficiency is much needed in adjusting the sales tax problem. If sales taxes had been turned over to the state on the total sales, it is estimated the revenue would be $78,000,000 greater than it is. That's quite a figure!

It certainly follows that if greater efficiency in the sales tax administration were established, many millions more would accrue to the state.

BOYNE CITY ELECTRIC PLANT BEING REBUILT

New, Modern Equipment to Replace Plant on Boyne River

The dam on Boyne river, about two and one-half miles east of Boyne City is being rebuilt, supervised by John Tibbs, engineer of the Price Construction Co.

The dam, which was undermined by heavy freshets in the early spring, was finally swept away, late in March by flood waters. The power house, destroyed early in June by lightning, also is being rebuilt. The system of employing several caretakers will be changed, according to the local management. One man will control the operation of the unit from the city office by remote control.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Fatigue in School Children

Dr. Gertrude .Forrester recently investigated complaints from various sources that city children returned to school on Monday listless and tired after the week end. Most teachers believed that the week end was a period of increased activity instead of a time of rest. Approximately 8500 children were investigated, based on a complaint of the teachers.

Although the replies did not always confirm the complaints, the first conclusion was that habitual late bedtime was of far greater importance in producing tiredness than an occasional late night during the week or over the week end. This applied especially to younger children.

According to the teachers, one reason for the late hour of retiring was the large number of social activities. However beneficial these might be, they should be carried out at a time that allowed school children to go to bed at a reasonable hour. It was found that many children listened to the radio when in bed. About 25 per cent of the children read in bed. Quite apart from the fact that a great deal of exciting literature was read in bed, inadequate lighting, and unsatisfactory posture may be harmful to the child.

A large proportion of the children who were fatigued went to the cinema at least once a week, many times on Saturday afternoons, when they might better have been exercising in the open air.

From this study it can be concluded that the child of today does not get sufficient rest to assure a healthy body. Some children are fatigued by loss of rest, others are made irritable and restless. The latter lose weight and may develop a social tendencies.

The social and industrial conditions of modern life, together with the general freedom from restraint, unfortunately foster this tendency. It seems that the activities of children outside of school hours should be confined to healthy exercise and play. The strain on the city child is much greater than it was 20 years ago. The adult population sets the pace and the children follow it. In any event, present day children should have at least as much rest today as their parents had in their own childhood.

farmer, will hold this key position. Although Rep. Maurice E. Post of Grand Rapids has the backing of the county supervisors headed by Melville B. McPherson, also of Kent county, the Kent county legislator has the incidental handicap, for such it is, of being from the same city in which Frank D. McKay is a republican leader.

Governor-elect Fitzgerald is reported as being firm in his decision to avoid any "compromising situations" with McKay. No matter what were the actual facts, the selection of Post for speaker would be interpreted widely as proof of McKay's power behind the scenes. Hence, the present swing to Nugent.

State Reforms?

As the original civil service study commission created by Fitzgerald left a troublesome baby on Frank Murphy's doorstep, so Murphy's pet hobby, the state commission on "reform and modernization of government" is leaving a problem child on Fitzgerald's lap.

Governor Murphy has oft referred to this group as an agency to effect much needed "streamlining" of state government. It also fits neatly into the national New Deal pattern. President Roosevelt, you will recall, upset Congress last year with a request for a revamping of national government, inspiring Father Coughlin and others to raise a hue and cry about "dictatorship."

Murphy's commission, like the Fitzgerald civil service body, is nonpartisan in setup. Among the members are loyal Republicans as well as ardent New Dealers.

Reapportionment

Here are some leading reform objectives:

1. Reapportionment for the legislature. This is desired by Detroit and the large industrial centers which are deprived of rightful legislative representation on the basis of their present populations. It is true that half of the members of the House represent only 25 per cent of the state's population. Downstate Illinois and Chicago have been at war, legislatively speaking, for many years due to differing viewpoints on this same issue.

2. Four-year term for the governor. Voters of Michigan rejected this tenure plan for county officials at the November 8 election. If the constitution had been so amended in 1936, Governor Murphy would continue in office until 1940. Likewise, if in effect in 1934, it would have meant Fitzgerald being governor during the sit-down strikes of 1937 and the recession of 1938.

What is your attitude on these two reforms? That will depend largely on your interests which influence your point-of-view.

Fair Trade

If your local legislators were to introduce, as co-authors, a bill at Lansing and called it "Good Government Bill," they could righteously denounce anyone who dared to oppose its passage.

To our way of thinking, such is an analogy to the "Fair Trade" type of legislation which will occupy many days of time at the 1939 legislative session.

Retailers are opposed to vicious price-cutting competition, although the consumer has never been heard to refuse a bargain just because its sale does not bring a fair profit to the seller. At the 1937 session at Lansing varied interests sponsored "fair trade" bills. Gasoline dealers formed their own state association and raised a big lobbying pool. Grocers sought to outlaw loss-leaders. Even the dentists tried to forbid mention of prices in dental advertising.

Behind all the fanfare about "ethics" and "unfair practices" was the uniform desire to reduce competition and stabilize prices.

They're At It Again

The legislative battle over "fair trade" will be resumed in January.

Already lobbyists are appealing to potential beneficiaries to send in their contributions at once. We had the privilege of reading one of these letters in which a business firm was requested to mail a check by Saturday, December 17, for $300. "We want to know who are our friends," the letter explained. "Here is your opportunity to assist us in getting a Fair Trade law for Michigan."

Actually, a half dozen bills, all labeled by the same title will confront the legislature in 1939.

Some measures, if passed, would be detrimental to the welfare of the consumer who usually foots the bill.

So don't be fooled by mere labels. As consumers, you have the right to insist that legislation shall be in your interest, not that of a small group who can afford a paid lobbyist at Lansing.

The sincerest way in which we can say Happy New Year is to let you know we appreciate and will continue to appreciate your business.

BOYNE CITY LEGION TO HOLD BOXING TOURNEY

Plans for Golden Glove Meet January 17-19 Are Under Way

All preliminary arrangements for the first Golden Gloves amateur boxing tournament to be staged in Boyne City have been completed by the Ernest Peterson Post, American Legion, Boyne City.

The tournament, which is of top rating as far as amateur fisticuffs are concerned, although of course this elimination is the first of three a fighter must weather to get into the Grand Rapids Golden Gloves later in the year, is scheduled for January 17th, 18th, and 19th giving contestants plenty of time to get in sufficient training before the first official leather is thrown.—Boyne Citizen.

MOST SEVERE WINTER STORM HERE TUESDAY

Blizzard Blocked Country Roads and Sent Mercury to New Low

Charlevoix and northern Michigan is today digging out of the winter's most severe storm.

While traffic on trunk line highways was kept open under the greatest difficulty and railroad schedules were maintained, all but main county roads were blocked by Tuesday's blizzard which whipped a heavy snowfall into huge drifts and sent temperatures tumbling down to near-zero.

Rural mail carriers were unable to make their routes Tuesday and Wednesday covered only the district served by trunkline highways.

Don't discourage your son if he shows a desire to play the accordion or the banjo. He may want to run for congress some day.

THE MILL GRINDS

When Frank D. Fitzgerald appointed a commission of men to study the possibilities of Civil Service in this state of Michigan, we agreed that it would eventually come to save the people of this state millions of dollars a year if such a law was adopted. Well, such a law was adopted, not under Mr. Fitzgerald but under the regime of Mr. Murphy. Now any sane man or woman knows that the Civil Service law as adopted was a poor sham so far as an honest interpretation of what a law of this nature should be. We still plunked for it wholeheartedly even though we knew the Democrats intended to blunket in all the employees they had on the payrolls when the law went into effect.

The law went into effect January 1, 1938. Two weeks before it was put into effect, Governor Murphy issued a statement that no one would be fired from his job between then and the first of the year in order to make way for some deserving Democrat, and that the sacred principle of Civil Service would be upheld, etc. And, please believe us, this was just good reading. All the Republicans had been fired by then and no more of them could be fired because they were scarcer than worn shovels in a WPA gang, at the time the statement was issued. Everybody knows that all the deserving Democrats it was possible to shove into jobs on the state payroll were put in and kept there by the blanketing-in process which was written into the law before it was adopted.

And now the incoming administration says it is going to cleun some of them out. Well that was only to be expected. They will get rid of some of them, and then the next regime will do the same and so it will go until eventually the state job holders will become pretty well mixed together and nobody will know who voted for which or which voted for whom. Then we will have real Civil Service and that will take just about as long as we onre predicted. It may take ten years, but we believe it will be worth it. Time will tell. All Civil Servier is not good we will admit. But at least it will keep the employees of one administration from quitting November 9th and just sitting around until January 1st, if it really is made to work some day.

As it is now, it would take more than the average sense of duty for the majority of employes to give their best or even next best effort to an expiring job.

One psychologist makes the prediction that "the society of the future will be constructed in the light of a technical psychology which does not yet exist." That places this matter exactly on a par with a balanced federal budget.

To hold democracy should not exact more wisdom and courage than were required first to gain it and later to maintain the union of states.

VIOLATION OF POTATO LAWS PROVES COSTLY

Fines Paid by Violators Average from $25 to $50, Report States

Violation of Michigun's potato luw is becoming increasingly expensive, according to the records of the department of agriculture. Fines during the present potato season paid by violutors are averaging between $25,00 and $50.00, compared to between $10.00 and $25.00 during the 1937 season.

Records disclose that outstate truckers are among the most frequent violators of the law, two drivers of trucks for A. J. McCarty of Huntington, W. Va., being fined $50.00 and $7.50 costs, or 30 days in jail, at Oxford for illegal transportation of potatoes during the past week.

Department of agriculture officials recently enlisted the co-operation of Michigan State Police in enforcing the regulations, which exempt only the actual producers from transporting ungraded or misbranded potatoes.

It is seldom that a person who goes on a fool's errand returns to report the success of his mission.

WHY PAY IN THE DARK

— An Editorial —

No one would be so foolish as to choose a pitch dark room in which to compute monthly bills for rent, clothing, fuel and food, and to count the necessary money due on each.

Yet the average consumer is made to do something just as foolish by paying taxes in the dark—taxes that cannot he seen because they are concealed in the purchase price of every necessity. A competent estimate is that 63% of all taxes—local, state and national—are hidden.

The average consumer pays taxes in the dark, for example, when he pays his rent—one-fourth of which on an average goes for taxes. The cost of a bottle of medicine includes its proportional part of 172 different taxes levied on every step of production, distribution and marketing. There are 112 hidden taxes in a pair of shoes, and the taxes on milk exceed the profit gained by the farmer.

This pyramided tax method is the target of a militant attuck by the National Consumers Tax Commission, representing prominent women in a nation-wide crusade against taxes that increase the cost of living. With headquarters in Chicago, units are being formed by leading women of this state, who believe the consumer is entitled to know how taxes, direct and hidden, reduce buying power, cause unemployment, curtailed payrolls and lower wage rates.

Thus the fight against unseen taxes on the necessities of life is really a crusade to protect the American standard of living.

Adopted by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas—Aldermen Cartier, Erber, Hallett, Heise and Wood. Nays—none.

Moved by Alderman Hallett, seconded by Alderman Cartier that the city clerk be instructed to open special account to be known as City Hall Construction Account and that a special fund he created, to he known as City Hall Construction Fund, to carry all appropriations or money raised, received or allocated, for purpose of building city hall and equipping same according to plans and specifications. Carried.

Moved by Alderman Cartier, seconded by Alderman Wood that the clerk be instructed to transfer $800.00 from the Contingent Fund to the City Hall Construction Fund. Motion carried.

Alderman Heise offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Alderman Cartier.

Be It Resolved:

Section 1. That the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works be requested to approve a force account contract for the excavation only on project Mich. 1796, City Hall and Fire Station, in order that construction on this project may start prior to December 31, 1938.

Section 2. That it is impossible due to lack of time for the city of Charlevoix to advertise and receive and open bids for the construction of this building including excavation, letting the contract, and have construction work started by December 31, 1938.

Section 3. That the city of Charlevoix is qualified in the way of equipment, personnel, and supervision to undertake and complete the excavation of this building, and that the sum of eight hundred dollars ($800.00) has been deposited in a special construction account for the accomplishment of this part of the total project.

Adopted by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas—Alderman Cartier, Erber, Hullett, Heise and Wood. Nays—none.

Alderman Cartier offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Alderman Hallett.

Resolved by the common council of the city of Charlevoix that the detailed plans and specifications for the construction of a City Hall and Fire Station as prepared and presented by G. Harold Thompson, architect, as revised and amended, be, and the same are hereby, approved and adopted.

POPCORN JUMPS INTO SOUP, SALAD

Popcorn popularity is no longer confined to the hot, buttered "crispy" munched while watching the fire burn to coals. It has taken its place among the aristocrats of foods.

The hors d' oeuvres platter frequently holds heaps of crisp, salty popcorn. It adds an attractive touch as well as being tasty and appetizing, observes Miss Jeanette Lee, foods instructor at Michigan State College.

A few of the white flaky kernels may be placed as a garnish on a bowl of steaming cream soup or they may be served as an accompaniment to soup or fruit cocktail instead of the traditional salty crackers.

When the crowd drops in for the midnight snack after the party—a big bowl of popcorn may find a welcome place amidst the array of cheeses, cold meats, fancy pickled fish and crackers on the buffet.

"Popcorn makes a fine substitute for potato chips as an accompaniment to a fruit, meat or fish salad," says Miss Lee.

Large tin cans of popcorn, already popped, can be purchased at most grocery stores. It is convenient to have on hand in this form. Low prices for popcorn due to an unusually large supply are expected to coax many persons to dust off the corn popper this winter.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

1938 Plates Good Until March First

The present black and green license plates may be legally used on motor vehicles until March 1, 1939.

Prior to 1938, the statute governing registration of motor vehicles provided that the secretary of state have authority to extend the deadline for the use of old plates to not later than March 1st, and this was usually done. Then the 1937 legislature, by resolution, still further extended the final date that year to April 1st.

The 1937 legislature amended this act, fixing March 1st as the definite deadline for the use of old plates.

Reciprocity agreements with other states makes it possible for motorists to drive outside the state with their present plates until the deadline established by statute.

People who are expecting to purchase plates in the near future are asked to do so as soon as possible as waiting until the deadline causes the hiring of additional help and expense to the department.

Resolved further, that the city clerk be, and hereby is instructed to receive bids for the construction of said building according to said plans and specifications up to eight o'clock p. m. of January 23rd, 1939, and to advertise for such bids by publication of a notice in two issues of the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper published and circulating in the city of Charlevoix, at least ten days before said date, and by publication of a like notice in the Michigan Contractor and Builder, a paper printed and circulating in the state of Michigan, in the same issues of December 31st, 1938 and January 7th, 1939 of said paper, which notice shall be in substantially in the form set up and contained in the contract documents pertaining to said improvement now on file, and heretofore approved by the council.

Adopted at a regular meeting of the common council held in the council rooms in said city on the 27th day of December, 1938 by aye and nay vote as follows: Ayes—Aldermen Cartier, Erber, Hallett, Heise and Wood. Nays—none.

Alderman Erber offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Alderman Heise.

Resolved by the common council of the city of Charlevoix, that

Whereas, it has been determined by the common council that it is necessary for the city to raise the sum of $36,000 for the purpose of defraying a part of the cost of constructing and erecting a City Hall and Fire Station together with the necessary accessories and equipment thereof, according to detailed plans and specifications heretofore approved and adopted by the council, and for such purpose to borrow said sum of $36,000 and issue its general obligation bonds as evidence of such loan in said sum.

And Whereas, at a special election duly called and held in said city on the 7th day of December, 1938, a proposition to issue said bonds for such purpose was duly submitted to the qualified electors of the city and at such election was duly approved by the affirmative vote of more than two-thirds of said electors.

Therefore Be It Resolved, That the city of Charlevoix issue its general obligation bonds in the said sum of Thirty-Six Thousand Dollars consisting of thirty-six bonds in denominations of $1000 each, numbered from one to thirty-six inclusive, to bear date as of January 16th, 1939 and payable as follows: $1000, January 16th of each year from the year 1941 to 1946 inclusive; $2000, January 16th of each year from the year 1947 to 1953 inclusive; $4,000, January 16th of each year from the year 1954 to 1957 inclusive; with interest at a rate not to exceed 3 percentum per annum, payable semi-annually, to be stipulated in said bonds when and as issued.

Resolved Further, that the city clerk be, and hereby is, instructed to receive bids for the purchase of said bonds up to eight o'clock p. m. of the 16th day of January, 1939, and to give notice thereof by publication at least seven days before the date of sale in the Michigan Investor, a paper published and circulating in the state of Michigan, and carrying as a part of its regular service notices of the sale of municipal bonds, and approved as such by the Michigan Public Debt Commission, and also by publication of a like notice in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper of general circulation and published in the city of Charlevoix.

Resolved Further, that each bidder be required to deposit with his bid a certified check payable to the city treasurer in a sum equal to five per cent of his bid as security that he will, if required, receive and pay for said bonds in accordance with the terms of his bid, otherwise such deposit to be forfeited to the city as stipulated damages for non-performance, all such certified checks so made shall not bear interest or draw interest from the city in any event.

Resolved Further, that the city reserve, and does hereby reserve the right to reject any or all bids so received, and that the cost of printing said bonds and of legal opinion as to their validity be borne and paid by the successful bidder.

Resolved Further, that the period of usefulness of the said public improvement, be and hereby is, fixed and determined to be Fifty years.

Adopted at a regular meeting of the common council held in the council rooms, in said city, on the 27th day of December, 1938, by aye and nay vote as follows: Ayes—Aldermen Cartier, Erber, Hallett, Heise and Wood. Nays—none.

Alderman Wood offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Alderman Hallett.

Be It Resolved by the city council of the city of Charlevoix, state of Michigan as follows:

1. That it is deemed advisable and for the best interests of said city that the contract between the said city and the Clement Industrial Electric Company, the contractor, covering work on the project of said city, be changed in the following respects:

(a) Furnish and install from points A to B, B to C, and C to D, one bare stranded single conductor, size No. 00 copper cable in addition to the three conductor No. 00 lead covered cable covered by the contract. Net addition in price—$28.40.

(b) Furnish and install from points A to B, B to F, and F to G, one four conductor No. 4 lead covered, 600 volt cable. Net addition in price—$313.60.

2. That it is hereby determined that all the data necessary to obtain a comprehensive and intelligent bid, which data, prepared and assembled by D. F. Herrick are referred herein and made a part hereof, were properly submitted to said contractor with a request that such contractor submit a proposal to said city covering such proposed change.

3. That the proposal of said contractor, a copy of which is hereto attached, and made a part hereof, to make the said change and accept therefor an estimated increase in the contract price of $342.00 be and the same is hereby accepted for and in behalf of said city.

4. That such acceptance of the contractor's proposal shall be in full force and effect when a certified copy of this resolution is sent to the contractor by the engineer of the said city, and not until then.

Adopted by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas—Aldermen Cartier, Erber, Hallett, Heise and Wood. Nays—none.

On motion the council adjourned.

Ray S. Hamilton, City Clerk.

scheduled and couldn't have been much worse if it had tried harder. If I was Scotch, I'd have felt bad about spending a quarter for a shave that morning, for the wind sure would have blown them off for nothing.

Three big cheers for Northwestern Michigan Conservation League! Those fellows went on record the other day in favor of retaining the present state law limiting deer hunters to one buck and condemning out-of-season killing of does for any reason. They sent a resolution to the conservation committee of both the state house and senate to study the views of Michigan sportsmen at their next meeting. And we might add right here that the ideas of the sportsmen who farm their opinions from observations in the field, are not bad material for consideration when any legislation regarding hunting or fishing is to be made.

It is mighty comforting to city officials and should be to Charlevoix citizens when they stop to reflect upon the fact that over $85,000 in PWA funds, given outright to the city, either are now being, or will be, spent this winter to furnish needed public improvements. The PWA is paying for around $56,000 of the electric light system extension which was so sorely needed, and now has granted $29,000 for the city hall. We'd say $85,000 is a mighty nice gift for anyone to take and reflects a lot of credit upon those responsible for getting it.

Just in case you might be planning to go fishing right away after Saturday, will tip you off that the 1938 fishin' licenses expire at midnight on December 31st, which happens to be Saturday.

In view of the fact New Years is only a few days away, would like to suggest a number of mighty good resolutions. Have learned by experience though that the will usually bows to the material, so why waste time. There's one thing I'm going to do, however, and that's wish each and every one of you the most Happy New Year you've ever had.

Services:
Charlevoix 11:00, Ironton 12:15
Sunday School:
Charlevoix 10:00, Ironton 11:00

Next Sunday we will have the service we have spoken of so many times, the service with no spoken word. It will be different, and impressive.

Please Notice: There will be Sunday school services Sunday morning for those in the older grades, the Juniors, Intermediates and Seniors. But the primary children, or all under eight years, are asked not to attend. The Christmas "Treat" will be postponed until the whole Sunday school can assemble.

Notice to Hayes Township Taxpayers

I will be at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank Saturday, January 7th for the purpose of collecting taxes for Hayes township.

COMMUNITY LEADERSHIP COURSE IS COMPLETED

Fifty-One Were Enrolled and 33 Course Cards Were Issued

Reports have been turned in by instructors of the Community Leadership Training School which held weekly sessions from October 10 to December 12, inclusive, at the Congregational church.

The Church of God, Baptist, Congregational and Methodist churches of Charlevoix, also the South Barnard Reformed church cooperated in setting up the school and furnishing instructors.

There were 51 enrolled and 33 course cards were issued to those who completed the work satisfactorily and attended the required number of sessions. A number of others did the reading and were often present but not the necessary number of times.

MEGGISON-JOSLYN WEDDING EVENT OF DEC. 23 AT BIRMINGHAM, MICH.

The marriage of Erma W. Meggison, daughter of Mrs. James E. Meggison, this city, to Alvin L. Joslyn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis B. Joslyn of Birmingham, Mich., took place at 8 o'clock Friday evening, December 23, in the First Baptist church in Ypsilanti.

The auditorium was attractively decorated with Christmas greens and white candles. Each window held three lighted tapers rising from an arrangement of pine boughs tied with red bows. Two crystal candelabra above baskets of pine marked the entrance to the channel where white tapers were also burning on the altar. The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. William R. Shaw.

Dorothy DeLeo played a short piano prelude after which Maxwell Ament sang "At Dawning" by Charles Wakefield Cadman, and "Calm as the Night" by Carl Bohm. The wedding party entered to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march played by Audrey Carpenter.

Mrs. H. T. Kirby, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, wore a floor length gown of pansy taffeta with a corsage of yellow roses. Little Jimmy and Kay Kirby followed their mother as ring bearer and flower girl. The bride wore saphire blue velvet with short sleeves and square neck line, and long skirt with princess lines. Her arm bouquet was of white snapdragons tied with a shower of white satin ribbons in which gardenias were caught.

Philip Blough served as best man, and the ushers were Glen Tease of Ypsilanti and Robert Daggy of Huntington Woods.

A reception for one hundred guests followed the ceremony in the social hall of the church. The same decorations were repeated here with the addition of two silver-trimmed Christmas trees. Geraldine Taber of Ypsilanti, assisted. Mrs. Oliver Huston of Ypsilanti, and Mrs. Waldo Campbell of Alpena, sisters of the bride, served.

Mr. and Mrs. Joslyn left immediately on a short week-end trip. The bride wore a rose rust frock of wool for traveling.

Mrs. Joslyn is a graduate of Cleary College and a former student at Michigan State Normal College. She is at present bookkeeper in the extension department of the college. Mr. Joslyn is a graduate of Michigan State Normal College and has done graduate work at the U. of M. He is now teaching at Inkster.

After January 8th, Mr. and Mrs. Joslyn will be at home at 131 College Place, Ypsilanti.

TWO NEW YEARS PARTIES AT THE ARGONNE

"Bill" Kerns Announces Entertainment Features for Week-End

If advance reservations may be taken as an indication, the special New Years parties at The Argonne will be a repetition of two successful Christmas parties held last week, according to W. J. Kerns, operator of this popular entertainment place.

Scheduled for this week are special parties New Years evening and night. Mr. Kerns promises the "best orchestra in the north" playing as long as there are dancers. There will be favors, noise-makers and hats. Reservations are requested for the special parties.

Sunday morning service, 10:45.

Sunday school, 12 o'clock.

Meets first Wednesday evening each month at 7:45 p. m.

We cordially invite the public to our service and reading room.

Reading room open Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

"God" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 1.

The Golden Text (Isaiah 44:6) is: "Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hosts; I am the first, and I am the last; and beside me there is no God."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Isaiah 42:8): "I am the Lord: that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 330): "God is infinite, the only Life, substance, Spirit, or Soul, the only intelligence of the universe, including man."

ICE FISHING SEASON DRAWS NEAR

ANGLERS AWAIT LAKE FREEZING FOR SPORT

Laws Governing Fishing and Spearing same as Last Year Are Reviewed in Detail

With inland lakes cavered with ice and indications pointing to an early freezing over of Lake Charlevoix, the days of the fishing shanty, the ice spud, the apear and ice lines is here.

The laws governing ice fishing and spearing remain as they were last winter, but many fishermen are still confused over some of the regulations, especially those that apply to the methods and species of fish that may be taken in inland waters as compared with the Great Lakes.

Great Lakes Rules

On the Great Lakes and their connecting waters, which includes Lake St. Clair, the following species may be speared through the ice with or without the use of artificial lights: carp, suckers, mullet, red-horse, sheepshead, lake traut, herring, smelt, perch, walleyes, great northern and grass pike, muskellunge, whitefish, ciscoes, Menominee whitefish, cntfish, doglish and gar pike. The senson opens as soon as the lakes become icecovered and runs until the break-up. The number that may be taken is listed in the digest of the fish laws, which is given to every angler purchasing a license on or after January 1st. No license is needed for the Great Lakes and their connecting waters.

The inland lakes regulations differ from the Great Lakes. All fishermen must have a license costing $1. All the above mentioned fish can be speared on inland lakes except herring, perch, walleyes and catfish. They can only be taken with ice lines. The spearing season on inland lakes is contined to January and February only.

Ice Line Rules

An unlimited number of ice lines can be used on the Great Lakes, but only two on inland waters, and the species that may be taken in this manner include all of the above and in addition white, rock, strawberry and calico bass, pike and walleyes, perch, bluegills and sunfish, Warmouth bass and muskies up to and including March 1.

There is no open season for black bass after January 1 or brown, brook or rainbow trout after Labor Day so none of these can be caught.

OLD ALUMNI DEFEATED FORMER RED RAYDER "5"

Repeated Last Year's Rosult by Winning Holiday Cnntest 28 to 24

Basketball history repeated itself Thursday night when a team of former high school baaketball stars defeated members of the 1937-38 Red Rayder team.

In an Alumni vs. Alumni attraction, a team composed of Keith Carey, "Chick" Gallagher, Charles Richardson, Dick Bergman and Winfield Kirby, which last year carried Charlevoix high achool colors to the state class C finals, was defeated 28 to 24 by a combination composed of Ed. Radle, Bob Pearl, Jack Foster, Lyle Ance and Junior Supernaw in a rather rough exhibition. The old alumni line-up was nugmented by Chub Wilmot, Robert McCall, Charles Carey and Norman Ance. The result was a repetition of last year's alumni attraction.

Adding to interest was the appearance of George "Birdie" Tebbetts, young Detroit Tiger catcher, who refereed the game.

NAME JOHN S. COLE TO RELIEF OFFICE

SUCCEEDS HAROLD F. LAMB AS ADMINISTRATOR

Appointment by County Committee Follows Lamb's Request for Leave af Absonce

Assuming his duties Tuesday morning, John S. Cole became acting administrator of the Emergency Relief Administration offices af Charlevoix and Antrim counties, succeeding Harold F. Lamb.

Mr. Lamb, whose leave of absence to continue study for his degree at Ypsilanti becnme effective January 1, had served as administrator of the Charlevoix county ERA for three and a half years after coming from a similar position in Antrim county. The latter part of that period he had been director for both counties.

Mr. Cole was appointed to the position by the Charlevoix county Emergency Relief Commission. He has been with the local office for 5 years as disbursing officer and accountant.

Mr. Lamb leaves the office to enter the educational field with a very successful record. Under his direction, the organization for handling relief in Charlevoix and Antrim counties has been most complete and satisfactory, especially from the standpoint of close cooperation and understanding with the boards of supervisors of the two counties.

In taking over his duties, Mr. Cole has stated he will follow closely the successful policies instituted by his predecessor.

TRAINING STARTED FOR ICE CARNIVAL

SEVENTY REHEARSE FOR PETOSKEY CELEBRATION

Ice Show, "A Fantasy in Eskimo Land," Planned for Queen Coronation on February 3rd

The seventy members of the Petoskey Figure Skating club and all the youngsters of this year-raund resort city who switch to the flashing blades as soon as winter comes, are busily engaged in rehearsing for the colorful ice spectacle which will be presented as a part af the coronation ceremonies for Michigan's Winter Queen on February 3. The affair will open the 10 day 12th Annual Michigan Winter Carnival.

The ice show, to ke known as "A Fantasy in Eskimo Land," will present choruses of costumed penguins, polar bears and Eskimos, ngainst a back drop of the ice throne and igloos af the Eskima village. On the hillside behind the throne a special lighting system will be set up to provide a colorful display uf Northern Lights against the winter sky.

The ice show which marks the coronation is one af the big attractians of the snaw fete, not only because of the professional finesse with which it is given but because the boys and girls who take part in it all are local youngsters who spend hours learning the group and solo numbers because they love to skate.

Special pragrams have been arranged for each of the ten days of the Michigan Winter Carnival. On Sunday, February 5, an invitational ski meet is the high spot on the program with special emphasis placed on the slalom and down hill events. Fancy skating exhibitions, a hockey game, general skating and tobogganing are planned for the visitors at the Winter Sports Park.

More emphasis will be placed on skiing at Petoskey this year with the development of the Wabmeuc Hill slopes, a short distance from the city, and the installation of the first ski lift in Michigan.

Although the Michigan Winter Carnival is the big event of the season winter sports activities also will be found in West Michigan at Charlevoix, Traverse City, Frankfort, Cadillac, Ludington, Muskegon, Holland, St. Joseph, with winter fishing featured at Beulah, Boyne City, East Jordan and many other spots.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT UP AS ILLNESS DECREASES

Drop in Absentees on Second Day of School Report of Supt. North

Indications that an epidemic of illness and scarlet fever which resulted in curtailment of activities for children during the holidays is subsiding, is shown in school enrollment figures reported by Supt. O. P. North.

Out of an enrollment of 600 students, 110 were absent Tuesday, the opening day following the haliday vacatian. Many of this number were out of the city. There were 61 absent Wednesday morning, 24 from the kindergarten and first grade and 10 from the entire senior high school.

Supt. North reported that only one new case of scarlet fever has been reported.

'38 A BANNER YEAR FOR 4-H CLUB WORK

COUNTY MEMBERSHIP HIGHEST EVER RECORDED

Many High Awards, Trips and Scholarships Featured Activity During Year Just Closed

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

The year of 1938 closed with the largest number of 4-H club projects ever supervised in the county. Not alone this, but an enviable record was made by many of the autstanding club members. Never before have so many high honors been given in this most splendid extension activity.

Just to briefly summarize, it can be said that there were 712 project members starting various projects of which 676 were completed for a percentage of 94.9. The average club member carried 1.6 projects, so during the year we had 230 different boys and 213 different girls who carried an 4-H club activities. It is interesting to note that seventeen different projects were carried on, again showing the great number of interests that are incorporated in the boys and girls club program.

One project that has greatly increased in activity is the hot lunch program. Charlevoix county had 22 schools that supervised the serving of at least one hot dish daily. This coming winter this activity will show a further increase. In fact, there are now only two or three schools in the county that are not serving a hot dish at noon or making plans to organize the first of the year.

When it comes to achievements, probably the highest honor has come to Einer Olstrom of East Jordan, who was selected as one of two boys to receive a trip to Washington, D. C., next June. Next would be Irene Brintnall of East Jordan, who was chosen as the All Around County champion for 1938. State scholarships amounting to $95.00 each were awarded to Einer Olstrom in potatoes, Irene Brintnall in canning, and Melvin Somerville in forest fire study. Three boys, Robert Straw of Charlevoix, Ronald Lyon of Charlevoix, and Glenn Trojanek of East Jordan, received a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago this last month. Seven boys and girls won trips to the Michigan State Fair at Detroit this last year. Eight boys were selected as delegates to the 4-H Conservation Camp held at Camp Shaw at Chatham, during the summer. Thirty-two boys and girls were selected as delegates to the Gaylord 4-H Club camp last August.

KIWANIS OFFICERS INSTALLED TUESDAY

HAROLD HALLETT TAKES OVER PRESIDENCY FOR 1939

Preparations Under Way for Entertainment of Michigan Kiwanis Convention Next Summer

New officers of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club took over their duties for 1939 at a meeting held Tuesday evening.

With O. P. North, Robert Bridge and M. A. Levinson acting as installing officers, the bell and gavel were turned over to Harold Hallett, president, who succeeds Robert F. Sloan. Robert Bridge presented Mr. Hallett with the president's pin, and M. A. Levinson presented the retiring Mr. Sloan with a past president's pin as a token of appreciation for his efforts in behalf of Kiwanis during the past year.

Other officers installed for the coming year were; vice-president, Clarence Wood; secretary-treasurer, William F. Meyer.

With entertainment of the 1939 convention as the major item of the coming year, Kiwanians face a busy season. Appointment of committees by President Hallett will be announced when completed.

PIONEER IRONTON RESIDENT TAKEN BY DEATH

Mrs. Dorthea Lyngklip, 84, Succumbed Monday; Funeral Here

Ironton lost a beloved pioneer woman Monday in the death at Detroit of Mrs. Dorthea Lyngklip, a resident there 56 years.

Dorthea Johnson was born November 28, 1854, in Denmark. She was married to Ole Lyngklip in 1881 at Copenhagen and the couple came to this country in 1883, settling near Ironton, which has since been her home.

Surviving her are two sons, Ole of Detroit, with whom she was residing at her death, and Emil af Chicago; also 5 grandchildren and a great grandchild.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the See Funeral Home, Rev. G. R. Parker officiating. Interment was at Brookside cemetery.

RAYDERS DROP TWO DURING HOLIDAYS

DEFEATED 33 TO 18 BY ROGERS CITY VETERANS

Lost Second Contest of Soasan to Petoskey in Overtime Period by 22 to 20 Caunt

Charlevoix's Red Rayders met defeat in twn basketball contests during the haliday senson.

Rogers City's veteran nggregation secured their lead in the Little Eight class C conference with a 33 to 18 win over the Rayders last Wednesday night, and Petoskey's class B Northmen made it two straight far the season with a 22 to 20 overtime victory at Petoskey, Friday night.

It's been a long time since a Charlevoix team was defeated by 15 points. Rogers City turned the trick and the result may be taken as an indication of the strength af the Presque Isle county outfit which has won all its games so fnr this season.

Rogers dominated play throughout the contest. They limited Charlevoix to one gaal and a pair of free throws in the first half while scoring 17 points. Brown, high scorer of the Rayders in games to date, was limited to a single goal during the contest. Tom Carey led the Rayders with 10 points, Henley and Bissell each scored 3. Newhouse, Schultz and Cook, the farmidable Rogers City football tria, proved equally effective on the basketball court, scoring 29 points between them.

The Charlevoix-Petoskey tilt Friday night was a close contest as was their initial meeting on Charlevoix's court in the season-opener.

The Northmen led the Rayders 6 to 1 at the close of the first period and had a 10 to 8 advantage at the half. Each team scored five points in the third period. Brown tied the count at 15-all early in the fourth period. Herrick's goal and Behan's free throw were matched by a dence by Withers and Henley's gift shot to tie the score at 18-all as regulation play ended.

HOCKEY PROMISES TO BE A POPULAR SPORT

Tentative 12-Game Schedule Awaits Preparation of Hockey Rink

Hockey ha promise of being a popular addition to winter sports activities here for devotees and fans alike.

Gordon Todd, who has been lining up players and n schedule for the winter, has announced the tentative signing of 12 games. Home-and-home contests have been lined up with Petoskey, Traverse City, Manistee, Ludington, Cheboygan nnd Cadillac. Some home games will be played at night and others Sunday afternoons. A definite schedule will be announced as soon as completed.

While heavy snowfall and lack of proper equipment has handicapped members of the local WPA recreational staff in preparing the East Park hockey rink, it is expected a good ice foundation will be obtained soon and practice sessions started. It is expected the first home game will be held January 18.

TRAPPING NOW LIMITED TO PREDATORY ANIMALS

Predators are now the only animals which may be trapped in Michigan.

Closing of the muskrat and mink season December 31 leaves anly wolves, coyotes, bobcats, skunks, fax, weasels and woodchucks, the non-protected fur-bearing animals, as legitimate quarry for trappers.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usbor

Ho, Hum! Another year has rolled around and the only difference as I can see is that I have trouble writing 1939 instead of 1938.

Was rummaging through a bunch of old photographs the other night and found one that we sure got a great "kick" out of. Remember the "Womanless Wedding?" Found a picture of the cast taken on the stage of the gymnasium and got the best half hour's amusement we've had in a long time. There was Frank Bird and Nels Tillotson dressed as bad boys and Frank with a black eye; Charlie Marshall dressed as a baby and nursing from a gallon jug; "Shorty" Sternberg and "Wash" Washburn dressed as Irish biddies and looking like they just dropped out of Dublin; Don Campbell in dress and with curls and was he bowlegged; Oscar North as the Rube with the funniest face you could ever imagine; Ray Hamiltan as Charlie Chaplin and "Hap" Kibbe as a Jewish peddler—probably the best characterizations in the bunch; "Hank" Buddy as a vamp—made my heart ga aflutter-ing; Milt Block as the bride and Art Bergeon as the groom—quite a comparison in size. What's more interesting than old pleasant memories? My only regret is that all of that bunch is not still with us. Six that I could count have passed on and of course some have gone away.

It has always been my experience that if you're looking for trouble, you're sure to find it. And that's how President Roosevelt's and other high government official's meddling around with the private affairs of Germnay, Japan and Italy appeals to me—just borrowing trouble. They probably don't care what Roosevelt, Hopkins or Pittman or anyone else for that matter, thinks about what they're doing over there in Europe and it would seem a mighty good idea to "keep on our own side of the

The state legislature convened Wednesday of this week at the tall domed capitol, ready for an eventful biennial session that should last four to five months. May 1st should see the wiudup of law-making activities of the Senate and House with adjournment taking place shortly after.

The inauguration Manday of Frank Fitzgerald as governor for a second term brought to ardeot partisans mixed feelings of satisfaction and apprehension. They were jubilant over the return of Republicans to power at Lansing, yet were frankly apprehensive over the dimming prospect of a harvest of tax-paid plums.

James Thomson, republican state chairman, hit the nail squarely on the head (for the partisans, at least) when he denounced the present civil service law as a device employed by Democrats to keep party workers in office. While Governor Fitzgerald was prompt to renew his devation to civil service, Thomson's declaration was echoed by every job aspirant, and there are thousands of them eager to serve the people.

BOYNE LEGION PLANS BOXING TOURNAMENT

First Golden Gloves to Be Staged January 17, 18 and 19

Boyne City Legionnaires this week were completing final arrangements for the staging of Boyne City's first Golden Glove amateur boxing tournament to be held in the high school gym Tuesday, Wednesdny and Thursday, January 17, 18 and 19.

Amateur boxers from all over northern Michigan are cordially invited to enter this tuurnament. However, it is expected that most of the entries will come from Antrim, Emmet and Charlevoix counties.

According to Legion committeemen, there are no restrictions on the number of entries each county or community may have in each division. The tournament is to be run off in an elimination basis and the contestants are to be paired by drawing, boxing three two-minute rounds. Winners of this tournament will go to the Grayling tournament with all expenses paid.

The ring is the same used at the Grayling tournament last year and conforms to all state boxing commission regulations.

Extensive preparations are going forward to completely equip the local gym to handle the large crowd expected and to extend the contestants every possible courtesy and accommodation.

WATER LOWEST ITEM IN COW FEED COST

State College Recommends Taking Chill Off Water in Winter

Cold weather in Michigan brings out the warning from the dairy extension service at Michigan State College that fresh water and fresh air remain the cheapest "feeds" that a dairy cow can be given.

Too much credit usually is given to cold waves for cutting milk production suddenly. E. C. Scheidenhelm, extension dairyman at the college, puts out a few reminders of the requirements of the average cow.

It takes 6.2 pounds of water for each 100 pounds that a cow weighs just to maintain body requirements. A 1,000 pound animal needs 62 pounds of water daily, if she is average, in order to maintain health and sleekness, let alone produce milk. Since milk is 87 per cent water, milk production requires an additional amount of water. If the animal fails to get an adequate supply, the milk production drops sharply.

Zero weather discourages a cow if she is driven outside to gulp a few icy swallows of water. So the extension service of the college recommends taking the chill off the water. Individual drinking cups, even if homemade, are suggested, or at least a water supply that can be sipped occasionally, in line with a dairy cow's habits.

GIVE CHRISTMAS CANDY TO CONGREGATIONAL CHILDREN NEXT SUNDAY

The Christmas candy will be given to members of the Congregational Sunday school next Sunday.

It is hoped by that time the primary children can assemble. If not, their candy will be sent to them.

The school has enrolled in the national Sunday School Building Campaign which began January 1. The object is to increase the enrollment, the average attendance and interest.

Marriage Is Announced

AT THE MOVIES

Hardy Family Goes Out West in Latest of Popular Series

For the fifth time, the Judge Hardy Family flashes on the screen with their typical American humor and adventure when "Out West With the Hardys" comes to the Palace Theatre on January 7, 8 and 9.

The picture again stars the group of favorites whom millions of motion picture fans have come to know and love. Lewis Stone continues as Judge Hardy, Mickey Rooney as Andy Hardy, Cecilia Parker as Marian, Fay Holden as Mrs. Hardy, Sara Haden as Aunt Milly and Ann Rutherford as Polly, Andy's girl.

"Becky" Has Orphan Role in New Film

Eleven-year-old Ann Gillis, who skyrocketed to screen fame as the inimitable "Becky Thatcher" in Mark Twain's "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" a season ago, now plays the title role in Paramount's "Little Orphan Annie," a comedy drama based on the adventures of the famous comic strip character of the same name. It opens locally on January 11th at the Palace Theatre.

Scrooge, Tiny Tim, the Cratchits and the rest of the beloved characters in the Charles Dickens story come to life in "A Christmas Carol," filmization of the classic tale, which comes January 11 to the Palace Theatre.

The cast includes Gene and Kathleen Lockhart as Bob Cratchit, the clerk, and his wife, parents of Tiny Tim. Lynne Carver and Barry Mackay are the romantic leads as Scrooge's nephew and his sweetheart, and Leo G. Carroll, Lionel Braham, Ann Rutherford, D'Arcy Corrigan and Ronald Sinclair are among the players.

Thus, it can be seen that the 4-H club program has been the most successful this past year of any year and shows a decided increase in enrollment. As the curtain is drawn on 1938, we only hope that the new year will show the same quality of work. The leadership among the young people throughout the county is certainly worthwhile. The educational development is likewise of great importance, and the contacts that these young folks have, have a big influence in their advancement.

The common council of the city of Charlevoix having under consideration the matter of the offer of the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works to aid by way of grant in financing the construction of a municipal building known as City Hall and Fire Station, Alderman Cartier offered the following resolution and moved its adoption. Such motion was seconded by Alderman Hallett.

Resolution

Accepting the offer of the United States to the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, to aid by way of grant in financing the construction of a municipal building.

Resolved, by the common council of the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, that the offer of the United States of America to the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, to aid by way of grant in financing the construction of a municipal building, a copy of which offer reads as follows, be, and the same is hereby in all respects, accepted.

(Copy of Offer)

P. W. 86527-4
Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works
Washington, D. C.
Dated: Dec. 27, 1938
Docket No. Mich. 1796-F.

City of Charlevoix,
Charlevoix, Charlevoix County, Mich.

1. Subject to the terms and conditions (PWA Form No. 230, as amended to the date of this offer), which are made a part hereof, the United States of America hereby offers to aid in financing the construction of a municipal building (herein called the "Project") by making a grant to the city of Charlevoix, Charlevoix county, Michigan (herein called the "Applicant"), in the amount of 45 per cent of the cost of the project upon completion, as determined by the Federal Emergency Administrator of Public Works (herein called the "Administrator"), by not to exceed, in any event, the sum of $29,025.

2. By acceptance of this offer the Applicant covenants to begin work on the Project as early as possible but in no event later than December 31, 1938, and to complete such Project with all practicable dispatch, and in any event within 10 months from the commencement of construction.

3. This offer is made subject to the express condition that, if the Administrator shall determine at any time that the Applicant has paid, or agree to pay, whether directly or indirectly, a bonus, commission or fee to any person, firm or corporation for attempting to procure an approval of the Applicant's application, or for alleged services in procuring or in attempting to procure such approval, or for activities of the nature commonly known as lobbying performed or agreed to be performed in connection with the application, then the Administrator shall have the right, in his discretion, to rescind the offer and any agreements resulting therefrom, and, in the event of such rescission, the United States of America shall be under no further obligation hereunder.

United States of America
Federal Emergency Administrator
Of Public Works
By (Sgd.) H. A. Gray,
Assistant Administrator.

Resolved Further, That the said city of Charlevoix do agree, and does hereby agree, to abide by all the terms and conditions of said offer including the terms and conditions annexed thereto and made a part thereof.

Resolved Further, That the city clerk be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to send to the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works three certified copies of the proceedings of the common council in connection with the adoption of this Resolution, setting forth this Resolution in full, and such further documents or proofs in connection with the acceptance of said offer as may be requested by the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works.

Adopted at a regular meeting of the common council held in the council rooms in said city, on the 3rd day of January, A. D. 1939, by aye and nay vote as follows:

Ayes — Aldermen Cartier, Hallett, Heise, Hooker and Wood. Nays—none.

Alderman Hallett offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Alderman Heise:

Resolved by the common council of the city of Charlevoix, that

Whereas, it has been determined by the council that it is necessary for the city of Charlevoix to raise the sum of $36,000 for the purpose of defraying a part of the cost of construction of a City Hall and Fire Station together with the necessary accessories and equipment thereof, and for such purpose to borrow said sum of $36,000 and as evidence of such loan to issue its general obligation bonds in said sum.

And Whereas, at a special election duly called and held in said city on the 7th day of December, 1938, the proposition to issue said bonds for such purpose was duly submitted to the qualified electors of the city and duly approved by the affirmative vote of more than two-thirds of said electors.

Therefore Be It Resolved, That the city of Charlevoix issue its general obligation bonds in said sum of $36,000 consisting of thirty-six bonds in denominations of $1000 each, numbered from one to thirty-six inclusive, serial in form, and to bear date as of January 25th, 1939, and payable as follows:

$2,000, January 25th of each year from 1948 to 1954 inclusive.

$3,000, January 25th of each year from 1955 to 1959 inclusive.

with interest at a rate not to exceed 3 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, to be stipulated in said bonds and coupons thereto attached, as and when issued.

Resolved Further, that the city clerk be, and hereby is, directed to receive bids for the purchase of said bonds up to eight o'clock, p. m. of the 16th day of January, 1939, and to give notice thereof by publication at least seven days before the date of said sale in the Michigan Investor, paper published and circulating in the state of Michigan, and also by publication of a like notice in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper published and circulating in the city of Charlevoix.

Resolved Further, that each bidder be required to deposit with his bid a certified check payable to the city treasurer in a sum equal to 5 per cent of his bid as security that he will, if required, receive and pay for said bonds in accordance with the terms of his bid, otherwise such deposit to be forfeited to the city as stipulated damages for non-performance, such check so made not to draw interest from the city in any event.

Resolved Further, that the city reserve, and does hereby reserve, the right to reject any or all bids so received, and that the cost of printing said bonds and of legal opinion as to their validity shall be borne by the successful bidder.

Resolved Further, that the estimated period of usefulness of the City Hall and Fire Station, be, and the same is hereby declared and determined as fifty years.

Resolved Further, that a certain resolution of the council on the same subject, adopted December 27th, 1938, be, and the same is hereby, rescinded.

Adopted at a regular meeting of the common council held in the council rooms, in said city, on the 3rd day of January, 1939, by aye and nay vote as follows: Ayes—Aldermen Cartier, Hallett, Heise, Hooker and Wood. Nays—none.

On motion the council adjourned.

Ray S. Hamilton, City Clerk.

ERA the Certifying Agent for Surplus Commodities

There has been some misunderstanding on the part of persons receiving Old Age Assistance concerning their eligibility for surplus commodities. At the present time the E. R. A. office is responsible for determining which Old Age recipients are eligible for surplus commodities. This is done by comparing the amounts received with those given to persons on direct relief. Those eligible on the same basis as persons on relief are certified for surplus commodities. Persons receiving Old Age Assistance should not report for surplus commodities unless notified to do so by the E. R. A. office. John S. Cole, Acting Administrator.

MARION CENTER SCHOOL NEWS

Happy New Year everybody!

We had our Christmas party the afternoon of December 22. Refreshments followed the program. About seventy attended. Everyone had a good time. Santa Claus came with candy and presents for all.

The children gave a picture "Christ and The Doctors" to the school.

Our teacher, Mrs. Sally Blake, had a nice surprise Christmas morning. The Rayman children walked to town and gave her a turkey. Last week she got a pumpkin pie with whipped cream.

We are glad to see the names of several from our school on the high school honor roll.

We have studied "Winter" by Shakespeare. Poor fellow, did he have to go over ice and snow too?

Thirty-two of our thirty-five children came through the storm to school Tuesday.

Semester tests are coming.

A new minister is coming to the church at Phelps next Sunday, January 8th. Everyone is cordially invited to attend the services.

fence." It's true, us liberty loving Americans haven't any use for dictators and frown generally upon oppression of any race or creed, but as long as they do their dictating and oppressing over in their own countries, let's mind our own business and leave them alone.

Warren Shapton and his buddy, "Rochy" Rochester had an interesting job during the holidays. They were hired by the conservation department to make as accurate a count as possible of the elk over in the Pigeon river forest east of Vanderbilt. Just turned them loose to sneak up on the big fellows, ascertain their number, feeding habits, etc. The boys counted 53 the first day, but after that had trouble keeping up with the bands which appeared to be almost constantly on the move. They counted over 30 in subsequent days and enough signs to indicate that there is quite an elk herd right in that confined area, not considering other bands which are scattered over a large area in those eastern counties.

It appears that Rogers City is the basketball team to beat in the northern Michigan class C loop this year. Coach Quinn, who you'll remember won a state championship with a Harbor Springs team not so many years ago, has a veteran combination at Rogers City that has been going places so far. They nipped Charlevoix's Red Rayders by 15 points on their own floor and the sad part of it is that the Rayders won't meet them again this season. Rogers tripped up Boyne City on Boyne's court and seem to have pretty much the upper hand in class C competition.

As long as the weather—mostly bad—has been the big topic of conversation lately because it's been so bad, it might be interesting to learn some facts about the past month. Went down and buzzed Cap Smith at the coast guard station this morning and learned all the low down, for there's where they keep all the records. While the temperature was above normal the first part of December and we grinned every time we noticed how the coal pile was holding out so well, Cap's statistics showed there was but one clear day during the month. And snow! Maybe you won't believe it, but it snowed every single day between December 21st and January 4th. The total snowfall for that period, not counting the days when the record showed a trace, was just exactly 28 inches and if you don't believe just take a look out the window and figure it out for yourself. As far as can be found out, that snowfall is the heaviest for a like period since records have been kept.

REFRESHMENT BOOTH FOR SKATERS PROVES POPULAR

Proving a popular feature with skaters at the municipal rink on the school grounds, is a refreshment booth opened by Mr. and Mrs. William Freeburn on the Lamphear property adjoining the skating rink.

A passageway has been opened to the booth for the skaters. Hot drinks and sandwiches are served at tables in the heated cottage.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES
G. Russell Parker, Pastor

Services:
Charlevoix 11:00, Ironton 12:15
Sunday School:
Charlevoix 10:00, Ironton 11:00
Subject:
"The Teachings of Jesus"

Sunday we will begin a new series of addresses on the "Teachings of Jesus." Two remarks from leading citizens are the reason for this series. One remark: "Folks in Charlevoix are changing, they are doing things today they would not have done ten years ago." The other: "We must develop an interest in people for the church and for what it stands." To do our share in helping people into the right way we are beginning this new series.

But will people come and hear? Another observer said: "People do not go to church and Sunday school for fear they will hear something against what they wish to do." If that is so we are cowards, afraid to face realities, and we hide behind every available excuse. This is my challenge to our membership and friends, I dare you to hear these sermons.

The annual meeting of the church will be held Tuesday evening at the church at 7:30. Officers will be elected and reports of all organizations will be heard.

The complete Sunday school will assemble next Sunday. Come and hear the plans for our unreceived Christmas treat.

Coolly recalling the experience of his previous administration, the governor has been adamant to patronage pressure. If there is a "job purge" at Lansing, it will be done in the name of economy.

Appointments to Wait

For every person who gets a state job, 20 others are disappointed.

Governor Fitzgerald has announced a sensible determination to take his time in filling state appointive offices. Thus, no drastic turnover of administrative heads occurred this week, setting a new precedent in Michigan state government. The governor merely said that he had confidence in the willingness of Democrat leaders to stay on a few more weeks or months.

The hold-over policy, however, may put certain officials in an embarrassing position of being requested to reduce their own payrolls. One prominent Democrat has said repeatedly that he would like the opportunity to get rid of some expensive jobholders whom were forced upon him by higher-ups. He may get his chance!

Fitzgerald's campaign pledge that he would reduce the state payrolls by $8,000,000 in 60 days has come home to roost. It has been figured that such an accomplishment, within the time stipulated, would be a first-class miracle, at least in political history.

Firing 4,000 workers is not easily done. Such is the number which is estimated would be necessary for Fitzgerald's economy pledge.

Conservative

In general, the legislature is expected to be conservative toward business, liberal as always in its desires to spend, and fairly progressive in matters such as labor, old age pensions, relief, and conservation.

Certainly there is no doubt about Fitzgerald's policy on sit-down strikes. He will neither condone nor tolerate them.

A labor mediation board, created along non-partisan lines, will be sought to eliminate many of the costly wild-cat labor strikes which have plagued both the United Automobile Workers and Michigan automobile manufacturers. A "cooling off" period between the announcement of intention to strike and the actual walkout of workers would be highly desirable in the opinion of industrial leaders.

The U. A. W. union (CIO) will continue to be active in legislative affairs, but with clipped wings. Homer Martin's dissention with John Lewis and the CIO makes the UAW less of a threat than it was in 1937.

Low Automobile Numbers

Leon D. Case, retiring secretary of state, will be remembered chiefly for his grist of low automobile license numbers.

Using letters to key each county, high state officials now run into fairly low numbers. Furthermore, state police can tell the approximate residence of motorists.

The craze for low automobile numbers is somewhat of a confession of human vanity, the universal desire to be considered important in the eyes of others. In 1937 Case started a policy of special numbers for his friends and those of the administration. Certain important people even obtained license plates consisting only of their initials.

About December 1, 1938, following the election, Case decided to call a halt to the practice. "I am not recommending its continuance to my successor," he said. The "LC" series will likely disappear in 1940.

Gambling Rumors

For many weeks there have been persistent rumors that gambling would "open up" soon in Michigan.

The slot machine ban, ordered by Murphy, Starr, and the liquor commission was never popular in the resort sections of northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula. Across the Wisconsin line the liberal LaFollette administration permitted gambling "wide open."

At Mackinac Island, Petoskey and other favorite vacation spots the gambling casinos have always reaped a good harvest from the summer trade with local law enforcement officials fully aware of their activity.

Floyd Fitzsimmons, the Benton Harbor sports promoter, is reviving his dog racing bill which nearly passed the legislature two years ago. Floyd visited certain counties in southwestern Michigan before the primary and inquired discreetly about the availability of certain people for legislative candidates.

Fitzsimmons points to the licensing of horse racing as a moral precedent.

Dog racing, however, like soft ball, is a night pastime that caters to the moderate income group, a class that can afford least to gamble. The price of admission is small. Profit comes from pari-mutual betting on the greyhounds.

MICHIGAN BELL PROMOTES HERBERT LANGE

Is Named Assistant to President George M. Welch

Herbert F. Lange has been appointed assistant to president, by George M. Welch, president of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, it was made known today. The appointment became effective January 1st.

Mr. Lange entered the service of the Michigan Bell Company as a student in July, 1919, after graduating from Clark University. Following other advancements, he was appointed traffic superintendent of the company's central division, with headquarters at Saginaw, in September, 1927, and in July, 1937, went to Detroit as assistant to vice president and general manager.

Notice of Bond Sale
$36,000 General Obligation City Hall Bonds of the City of Charlevoix, Michigan

Sealed proposals for the purchase of an issue of $36,000 General Obligation bonds of the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, to be issued for the purpose of defraying a part of the cost of construction of a City Hall and Fire Station, will be received by the undersigned at his office in said city, until 8 o'clock p. m. of Monday, January 16th, 1939.

Said bonds will be coupon bonds of denominations of $1000 each, dated as of January 25th, 1939, and will bear interest not exceeding 3 per cent per annum payable semi-annually, and expressed in multiples of ¼ of 1%. Both principal and interest to be payable at the office of the city treasurer, and to mature as follows:

$2,000 January 25th of each year from 1948 to 1954 inclusive.

$1,000 January 25th of each year from 1955 to 1959 inclusive.

The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid produces the lowest interest cost to the city.

Envelopes containing bid shall be plainly marked "Proposal on Bonds."

A certified check payable to the city treasurer in a sum equal to 5% of the bid shall accompany the proposal as security that the bidder will, if required, receive and pay for said bonds in accordance with the terms of the bid, otherwise to be forfeited to the city as stipulated damages for non-performance. No interest will be allowed on any such check.

The cost of printing bonds and legal opinion as to their validity shall be borne and paid by the successful bidder, and the city reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

ALPENA SKATE MEET IS GIVEN APPROVAL

New Association Sanctions State Races for This Area

At a meeting of the Northern Michigan Skating Association held last Thursday evening at Petoskey, it was decided that due to lack of time the association will not attempt to stage championship races this year.

The group formally voted to sanction the state speed skating meet which is scheduled for Alpena this year, and urged skaters of this association to participate in the races staged in that city.

A letter from Benjamin Bagdade, secretary of the Michigan Skating Association, requesting permission and sanction of the Northern Michigan group, for the state meet at Alpena was approved. In allowing the meet to be staged in Alpena, officials of the NMSA hope to create goodwill with the Detroit group and also to afford the skaters of this entire region an opportunity to attend a championship event.

Plans for the state meet at Alpena were made several months ago and before the Amateur Skating Union had granted the new territory to the Northern Michigan Skating Assn.

RAYDERS DROP TWO DURING HOLIDAYS

Brown gave the Rayders a momentary lead with a goal in the first minute of overtime, but Adams matched the two points and Herrick came thru with the winning goal for the Northmen.

The Rayders had 7 field goals and scored 6 free throws out of 17 chances. Petoskey counted 10 goals and two free throws.

Brown was high scorer for the Rayders with 8. Withers scored 6, McGhan 4, Henley and Carey one each. Adams and Behan were high for the winners with 8 each.

Charlevoix's reserves lost the preliminary contest by a 30 to 14 margin.

The Rayders meet the Alumni at the high school gym tonight (Wednesday) and play away from home their next two games. They are scheduled at Mancelona on January 6th and at Gaylord on January 13.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION HAS TROUBLE

FOUR IMPORTANT ISSUES ARE FULL OF DYNAMITE

Economy, Civil Service, Labor Relations and Gambling Only Few of Headaches at Lansing

Economy, civil service, labor relations and gambling were the most frequently discussed subjects in the capital as the first week of Governor Fitzgerald's administration ended.

Several developments portended significant trends in governmental policies. Others were packed with political dynamite. They included:

1. The inauguration of a retrenchment program, with the first blows striking in the offices of the auditor general and tax commission.

2. Disclosure of Fitzgerald's views on a labor relations act, which won general approval in the Republican-controlled legislature but which were received cooly by labor leaders.

3. Opening of an investigation into civil service administration.

4. Reopening of gambling places in the Detroit metropolitan area, with repercussions in Lansing.

Fitzgerald was pleased with the start made toward balancing the budget. In his address to the legislature he reiterated an assertion he often made during the campaign—that $8,000,000 can be lopped off the payroll by elimination of unnecessary employes. He predicted that results would begin to show in the February 15 report of the auditor general.

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown made an impressive start by firing 59 persons from his staff. Melville B. McPherson, whom Fitzgerald elevated to the chairmanship of the tax commission, gave 14 employes in his office notice of dismissal.

The largest development along that line came from John B. Strange, who was appointed commissioner of agriculture by Governor Murphy. He submitted to Fitzgerald a plan which would reduce his department's annual budget by more than $50,000. The budget in 1938 was $289,940.

The administration's labor relations bill will be introduced in the legislature next week. Until that time, the reaction of labor leaders and employer group representatives will not be known fully. John Reid, secretary of the Michigan Federation of Labor, found fault with the governor's proposal, as outlined in his message, in that it does not contain sufficiently stiff penalties for employers who refuse to bargain collectively.

ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES FOR WOMEN ANNOUNCED

Supervised Program at School Gymnasium Monday Evenings

A program of supervised athletic activities for women of Charlevoix is being provided at the high school gymnasium under the direction of Miss Muriel Tobin.

The gymnasium is available to women every Monday evening between the hours of 9:00 and 10:00. The program being carried out is scheduled as follows: 9:00 to 9:15, exercises; 9:15 to 9:30, games; 9:30 to 10:00, volley ball.

All Charlevoix women are invited to enroll.

GOVERNOR SAYS GAMING UP TO LOCAL OFFICERS

Asserts Enforcement Will Be Up to Local Communities to Handle

Governor Fitzgerald last Friday denounced gambling, but asserted he was not going to make a group of "snoopers" out of state police.

"Enforcement of the laws is entirely up to local authorities until it is determined that they cannot or will not enforce them," the Governor asserted in answer to criticism that gambling houses in Macomb county had opened and were operating unmolested.

"First, I want it to he known that I hate gambling and won't be associated with anything that has to do with it," Fitzgerald declared, "but I sincerely believe and maintain that it is up to the local officials to control the practice."

MASONIC BUILDING ASSOCIATION MEETS JANUARY 17

H. R. Fowler, secretary, has announced that the annual meeting of the Masonic Building & Loan association will be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, January 17th, at the Masonic temple.

Election of trustees and reports will come before the meeting.

PRESIDENT'S BALL PLANS PROGRESSING

LOCAL COMMITTEE ACTIVE IN CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS

County-Wide Celebration to Center in Dancing Party Scheduled January 30th at The Argonne

Plans are being made throughout the county for the 6th annual President's Birthday Ball, which is scheduled for Monday evening, January 30th, at The Argonne.

Arrangements for Charlevoix's participation in this annual event sponsored in connection with nation-wide efforts to raise funds for the fight against infantile paralysis, are in the hands of Dan Geneit, William Foster and J. M. Foster, named by H. O. Wiles, Boyne City, county chairman, as the local committee.

As a preliminary step in raising funds, small containers, bearing the wording: "Join the march of dimes—Help fight infantile paralysis," have been placed in stores throughout the city to receive contributions. Proceeds of the dancing party at The Argonne and other contributions are divided equally, half going to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., and the other half to the national committee after expenses are deducted.

Charlevoix citizens are urged to make contributions to the fund and also reserve the date of January 30th for participation in this nation-wide effort.

CALL MEETING TO REORGANIZE PYTHIAN SISTERS

MARINE CLUB GIVING FREE LESSONS

COURSE IN SMALL CRAFT NAVIGATION OFFERED

Series of Meetings Starting Wednesday Night Will Continue to Second Week in March

Landlubbers who want to become sailors and boat owners who want to know about marine rules can attain their desire by attending a series of winter meetings sponsored by the Charlevoix Marine Club.

The course of instruction in piloting and small boat handling is sponsored by the Club in cooperation with the United States power squadron. A large crowd was out for the initial meeting for registration held at the council rooms last Wednesday evening. A most interesting series of movies showing maneuvers of the U. S. navy fleet was shown.

Subsequent meetings will be held Wednesday evenings through January and February and the first two weeks of March. The schedule and topics for discussion, are outlined by Commodore Don Campbell as follows:

January 11, equipment; January 18, vessel lights and rules of road; January 25, seamanship; February 1, the compass; February 8, aids to navigation; February 15, charts; February 22, piloting; March 1, etiquette and customs; March 8, review.

Meetings will be held at 7:30 o'clock in the senior high school building. There is no charge or fee in connection with the classes and the purchase of text books is optional. All interested persons are invited and urged to attend.

MASONS TRIMMED ODD FELLOWS AT CRIBBAGE

Out-Scored Rivals by 622 Points in Second Contest Monday Night

The Masons swamped the Odd Fellows in the second contest of their annual cribbage series Monday night to wipe an early Odd Fellow lead and gain a margin of 558 points.

With 10½ tables in play the Masons made a team score of 19,060 to 18,438 for the Odd Fellows, a difference of 622 points. The Odd Fellows won by 64 points in the series opener a week ago.

Ray Ashdon and Tony Pakomic were tied with 941 points for Masonic high score, whiles James McGeagh, Fred Bergman, Carleton Ikens and Frank Curtis each scored 915 points for the Odd Fellows.

The next contest is scheduled for Monday evening, January 16, at the I. O. O. F. hall.

MARRIAGES, DIVORCES DECREASED IN COUNTY

Births Increased, Deaths Fewer in Charlevoix During Year 1938

Cupid's activities and divorces took a drop in Charlevoix county during the year just past as compared to 1937, figures released by County Clerk Fenton R. Bulow reveal.

Marriages numbered 93 during 1938, a drop of 29 from the previous year. Divorces totaled 15, which is three less than 18 in 1937.

Births increased and deaths decreased as shown by the records obtained from the city clerk's office. Births in 1938 were 105 as compared to 103 in 1937, and deaths numbered 55 as compared to 62 in 1937. These figures cover the city of Charlevoix.

BANK DIRECTORS CHOSEN TUESDAY

TWO LOCAL INSTITUTIONS HELD ANNUAL MEETINGS

Elmer D. Hawley Becomes Director County State Bank; Wm. Srigley Named by State Savings Bank

Officers and directors for 1939 were chosen hy stockholders of Charlevoix's two banking institutions, the Charlevoix County State Bank and the Charlevoix State Savings Bank, at their annual meetings Tuesday.

One change was made in the hoard of directors of the Charlevoix County State Bank. Elmer D. Hawley succeeds Charles Carey, who retired from the board. Other directors are Robert Bridge, J. M. Foster, M. A. Levinson and E. J. Hiller. One change was made in the officers of the institution, E. J. Hiller succeeding Mr. Carey as vice president. Robert Bridge was re-elected president and Mr. Hawley continues as cashier.

One change was made in the hoard of directors of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank. William W. Srigley was elected to the board, succeeding Martin Block, who retired. Other directors are H. A. Craig, F. F. McMillan, Fred S. Myers and A. L. Livingston. While the annual election of officers was not held, the present set-up will he retained with H. A. Craig as president; F. S. Myers and F. F. McMillan, vice-presidents, and A. L. Livingston, cashier.

Both institutions, in statements issued as of December 31, 1938, showed satisfactory financial condition.

BOYNE CITY MAKING PLANS FOR SMELT RUN

Other Cities Asked to Join at Meeting Scheduled January 20

With winter scarcely under way Boyne City's civic leaders turned today to preparing for an annual March smelt run.

Under direction of Harvey Eustrom and the auspices of the Boyne City Rod and Gun Club, sportsmen of Boyne Falls, East Jordan, and Charlevoix will be asked to join with Boyne City officials January 20 in discussing an elaborate program for the runs which each year attract thousands of tourists.

Feature of the 1939 activities will be a "smeltania" on Lake Charlevoix, called the "only city on ice in the world."

KIWANIS GIVES TOYS FOR HOSPITAL WARD

Committee Announces Purchase for Children's Room at Hospital

Plans of the Kiwanis Club to provide toys for a new children's ward to be established at Charlevoix Hospital in the near future were divulged at Tuesday night's meeting.

The Kiwanis committee on underprivileged children announced before the meeting the purchase of fifty new toys to be turned over to the hospital.

Harold Hallett, newly installed president, outlined advertising plans which have been started as a means of attracting Kiwanians to the 1939 convention which is to be held in Charlevoix.

Meet January 18th

Regular meeting of Charlevoix Chapter No. 72, O. E. S., will be held Wednesday evening, January 18, preceded by a potluck supper at 6:30 o'clock.

MICHIGAN OIL INDUSTRY ON LARGE SCALE FOR '39

Past Year Established Record for Activity in Many Counties

Michigan's newest big business, the gas and oil industry, moves into the new year on a still larger scale than that on which it began 1938.

Not only was a new record set during the 12 months just ended for the number of oil and gas well permits issued — a total of 996 — but daily average production increased from 46,189 barrels of oil during 1937 to approximately 55,000 barrels during 1938, completed figures just released by the state supervisor of wells show.

Drilling and testing operations for oil during 1938 were carried on in 43 of the state's 83 counties and extended from Mackinac county in the upper peninsula to counties bordering the states of Indiana and Ohio. New fields were discovered in Tuscola, Midland, Allegan, Van Buren, Isabella and Clare counties, and important extensions were made to existing fields in Gladwin, Ogemaw, Arenac, Isabella, Clare, Allegan and Van Buren counties.

During the last few years activity in the oil industry has included drilling operations in every county in the lower peninsula except Oscoda.

TRI-COUNTY FARM BUREAU MEET HERE

ANNUAL SESSION MARION CENTER, JANUARY 17TH

Interesting Program Arranged for Farm Membership in Charlevoix, Antrim, Kalkaska Counties

The annual meeting of the Tri-County Farm Bureau, with a membership of around 2000 farmers in Charlevoix, Antrim and Kalkaska counties, will be held this year at the Marion Center grange hall on Tuesday, January 17, at 10:30 a. m.

The meeting in previous years has been held at Ellsworth, but due to the Farm Bureau taking over the Cnarlevoix Cooperative Co. under a management contract, it was believed the place for meeting this year should be in the Charlevoix area.

The program includes reports of delegates to the Saginaw legislative meeting, at which W. R. Ogg, legislative counselor for the American Farm Bureau Federation, informed the delegates regarding the program of the national organization. Other features will include reports of delegates to the annual convention of the Michigan State Farm Bureau at Lansing; timely farm topics by B. C. Mellencamp, Charlevoix county agricultural agent; advancements made in the machinery field by Bob Addy of Lansing, and a talk on the topic, "What Cooperation Is Doing for You Today" by Fred Harger of Lansing.

The meeting will adjourn following election of directors.

POSTAL RECEIPTS SHOW DECREASE DURING 1938

Drop of $431.10 Revealed by Figures Released at Local Office

Keeping pace with general business conditions during 1938, receipts from stamp sales at the Charlevoix post office showed a drop during the early months and an increase during the last six months last year, according to Postmaster J. M. Foster.

Stamp sales aggregated $18,658.39 during 1938, or $431.10 less than the 1937 total of $19,089.49. Figures for preceding years were $18,435.17 in 1935 and $18,512.32 in 1936.

RAYDERS LOSE PAIR OF CLOSE CONTESTS

DROPPED ALUMNI TILT HERE BY 29 TO 24 COUNT

Mancelona Nosed Out 28 to 26 Verdict on Home Hardwood—Rayders Play Gaylord Friday

Two defeats in as many starts was the record of Charlevoix high school's Red Rayders during the past week.

In a contest marked by frequent penalties on both sides, the Alumni copped a 29 to 24 decision from the Rayders last Wednesday night, and Friday night Mancelona's veteran combination nosed out the Rayders by a 28 to 26 count at Mancelona.

In the Alumni tilt, last year's results were repeated as a combination composed of Dick Bergman, Bob Pearl, Ed. Radle, Junior Supernaw, Jack Foster and Norman Anée downed the high school team. The winners led 12 to 4 at the quarter, 19 to 8 at the half and 22 to 20 at the third intermission. Referee Cohen called a total of 34 fouls, 17 on each team, indicating the type of play.

Bob Pearl with 11 points and Junior Supernaw with 10 led the Alumni scoring, while Brown was high for the Rayders with 13 points.

Mancelona Wins Close One

The Rayders' defeat at Mancelona in a closely contested game knocked them off the top standing in the northern Michigan class C conference.

That the game was hard-fought is indicated by the score. The Rayders had a 5 to 3 advantage at the close of the first period and led 9 to 7 at the half. Mancelona outscored the Rayders 12 points to 8 during the third quarter for a 19 to 17 lead and that margin proved sufficient to win, for both teams snared 9 points during the final period.

Henley had a big night for the Rayders, scoring 5 field goals and a free throw for 11 points. Brown made 6, Withers 4, Carey 3, McGhan and Bissell each one. Hardy scored 11 points to lead the winners.

The line-ups:

CHARLEVOIX (26)	FG	FT	P
Henley	5	1	3
Goss	0	0	0
	11	5	6
MANCELONA (28)	FG	FT	P
Thomas	1	0	2
Turnipseed	3	0	4
Smith	0	1	2
Hardy	5	1	3
Dickinson	0	0	0
Moote	1	0	1
	13	2	12

Charlevoix's reserves dropped the preliminary contest at Mancelona by a 20 to 18 score after a close struggle through every period.

The Rayders play a return engagement with Gaylord on the latter's hardwood in their next game and the week following will meet a strong East Jordan team at home.

ELLSWORTH VOTERS APPROVED NEW CHARTER

Officers to Serve Until March Named at Election Last Tuesday

A new village charter was adopted at Ellsworth last Tuesday by a vote of 84 to 24 and the following officers were elected:

President, Elmer H. Rood; clerk, Glen S. Supernaw; treasurer, James Ruis; assessor, John W. Parsons; councilmen, Charles D. Edson, Henry E. VanderArk, Emery J. Wilson, John Kooyer, August VanderArk and Herman Tornga.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

All an editor has to do to find out if his newspaper is read is to make a mistake. He'll find out plenty then. Made a slip last week by stating that a $1 license was necessary to fish in inland lakes. Conservation Officer Ed. Deuell got so many inquiries as a result that he hustled over here and asked us to make a correction which is being done herewith. The $1 license applies to those who want to fish trout, otherwise a 50c license which covers other species. Sorry to cause such a rumpus, but was glad so many noticed the error.

Had a lot of people remark about the mention made in this column last week regarding the "Womanless Wedding." Numerous persons recalled amusing things about the play and various individual performances. They observed more about the thing than I did for it happened that I was dressed up as a blushing maiden and wasn't out in the audience to see the going-ons up on the stage. Will never forget the experience of being dressed up though. Borrowed from my wife and sisters until I had all the thingabobs. Tsh, tsh—makes me blush when I think about them "unmentionables" they togged us boys up in—even down to the lace and frills.

George Shaw in his Pigeon Progress says: "Now that they are putting vitamins in lipstick, there is no excuse for a man growing old."

And speaking about the weather, we can't complain about the lack of variety this winter. That 28 inches of snow started disappearing with last Tuesday's thaw and was about gone this week Tuesday. Spring-like temperatures prevailed for an entire week and folks changed their winter togs for rain coats. Even had a little thunder shower Monday night. Within less than a week from the time highways were plugged with

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Like a tight-wire artist crossing an abyss, Governor Frank Fitzgerald proposes in his first message to the legislature to accomplish a remarkable balancing feat.

He would wipe out a treasury deficit of staggering proportions and eventually balance the budget by reducing payrolls $8,000,000 to $8,500,000 in 60 to 90 days, eliminating expensive duplication in state accounting, tightening collection of the state sales tax, and otherwise by "living within our income."

At the same time the Governor would increase the amount of state aid to public schools from $11,000,000 (which they actually received in 1938) to $15,000,000 for each of the next two years; liberalize state old age pensions "at the most rapid possible pace so beneficiaries will have a total monthly income of not less than $30;" and step up the state tourist promotion fund from $150,000 to $200,000.

Governor Fitzgerald has chartered a course of fiscal sound government that will meet widespread approval

We exceedingly regret to chronicle the death of our esteemed friend and neighbor, Capt. Jensen, who passed away suddenly the night of December 22nd, at the home of his nephew, Arthur M. Larsen in this village. Since the death of his wife, two years ago, he has been making his home with his nephew. Friday morning, December 23rd, when Mr. Jensen did not put in his appearance for breakfast, as was his wont, Mrs. Larsen became alarmed and decided to investigate, which resulted in her finding him lying on his bed, arms folded cold in death. He had passed away quietly in his sleep. Mr. Jensen was widely known in marine circles, having rendered assistance to more than one ship-wrecked mariner during his long residence around the islands. He was a man of sterling quality, magnanimous, fearless and loyal. His simplicity of character coupled with his devotion to his excellent wife and his many friends inspired the confidence of this entire community. Born in Denmark, December 17, 1858, he immigrated to

Magic of Iodine Cuts Birth Loss

Many young animals are lost each year due to the prevalence of goitre in those areas where there is not sufficient iodine in the drinking water or feed to prevent this trouble. The feeding of potassium iodide to pregnant animals is an insurance against losses at lambing, farrowing and foaling time, which the Michigan livestock breeder cannot afford to ignore, suggests G. A. Brown, head of the animal husbandry department at Michigan State College.

Pre-natal goitre results in many still-born animals and others which are very weak and succumb to the trouble soon after birth. A medicinal dose of potassium iodide fed once per week or a small amount added to the salt which is kept before the animals will provide insurance against these losses.

"With the college sheep and beef cattle," says Professor Brown, "we add two ounces of potassium iodide to each 100 pounds of salt or to each 100 pounds of salt and bone meal which is kept before the animals.

"To mix the ingredients thoroughly, one should use a spoon and basin and first mix the potassium iodide with one pound of the salt and bone meal, then with five pounds and finally with the entire amount.

"With the swine, we dissolve one ounce of potassium iodide in one quart of water. This gives 480 grains of potassium iodide in thirty-two ounces of solution, or a solution each ounce of which contains fifteen grains of potassium iodide. One ounce of this solution is a daily dose for 10 brood sows.

"With the brood mare in foal, one ounce of this solution should be fed weekly on the grain."

Cold Simplifies Rural Meat Cure

At this season of the year, rural families can plan and complete preparation of a year's supply of meat and meat products. The average person in the United States consumes annually approximately 150 pounds of meat. The family of four persons thus needs approximately 600 pounds of meat or meat products for the year if it is to consume its share of this product valued for health and energy.

Home meat supplies can be provided at approximately one-half the cost entailed when it is purchased at retail, it is pointed out by members of the animal husbandry department at Michigan State College.

All classes of meat may be preserved either by canning or curing. Lamb and veal are most satisfactorily preserved by canning, although they can be preserved for short periods of time by curing in brine or dry-salting. If left in a brine cure for over a month, however, they take up more salt than is desirable. Where refrigeration is available, a lamb ordinarily can be stored in a family refrigerator until used.

Beef and pork are the real standbys in Michigan when it comes to providing the year's meat supply. The average actual per capita consumption of each of these is from 6 to 10 times that of either lamb or veal. Both beef and pork may be brine-cured, dry-cured or canned with satisfactory results. In fact, where a year's supply is desired, it is advisable to use both a salt cure and canning in order to provide variety.

Essentials in the preservation of meat are: (1) cleanliness at time of dressing; (2) thorough cooling; and (3) placing in a curing mixture as soon as possible. An excellent curing mixture for 100 pounds of meat consists of 7 pounds salt, 2 pounds sugar, 2 ounces saltpeter, added to four gallons of water poured over the meat in an earthenware receptacle which is not cracked and has been thoroughly cleaned.

Full directions for dressing, curing, smoking and canning are found in Extension Bulletin No. 151 which may be had by writing the Bulletin Clerk, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

Fruit Bulletin Tells 100 Uses

An attractive booklet giving recipes for several Michigan fruits has been printed recently at Michigan State College. It is "Fruits for Year Around Use" by Ruth M. Griswold.

More than a hundred recipes are included for canned and fresh blueberries, cherries and peaches, fresh grapes and grape juice. Some of the recipes are quite unusual and some are old favorites. The bulletin has a gay-colored modernistic cover and an unusual arrangement of the printed pages.

Usually some change is necessary in a recipe when canned fruit is substituted for fresh fruit. These recipes were tested carefully with fresh fruit and later with canned fruit. Any changes necessary when using canned fruit are given. Usually less sugar is needed because sugar has been added to the fruit in canning. An index is included of recipes for each fruit tabulated under fresh fruit, canned fruit, and juice from canned fruit.

United States in 1883 and came west to the Great Lakes that same year, settling on Washington Island at the mouth of Green Bay, being a fisherman from boyhood in his native country, he sought to gain his livelihood by the same means in the waters of Lake Michigan. Hearing about the excellent fishing which the waters around the Beaver Islands afforded he and his partner, Jack Larsen, set sail in June 1884, for Beaver Island and fetched up on Squaw Island. There he met up with Daniel Boyle and his two sons, Hugh and Dennis, who had been fishing there since the opening of navigation. The latter intended leaving Squaw Island in a few days for French Bay, at the south end of Beaver Island, consequently they informed Mr. Jensen that he could have the use of their shanty for the balance of the season. Thus was cemented a friendship between those men that never was violated. That same year Mr. Jensen took up a homestead on the north side of Garden Island, where he resided until the death of his wife two years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Jensen were the most benevoleat, most hospitable couple it has ever been our good fortune to meet. They kept open house for all comers and goers and their hospitality knew no bounds. If by chance you happened to pay them a visit you were treated like a king, no matter how lowly be your station in life. No visitor was allowed to leave their home without partaking of food, whether they felt like eating or not and the dainty viands heaped upon the humble board would do justice to a king's feast. Many a belated foot-sore and weary traveler heaved a sigh of relief when the welcome light from Mr. Jensen's house penetrated the gloom following a long cold trek across the storm-swept serrated expanse of ice from Cross Village to the island. Even our mail carriers who transported the mail across the ice from Cross Village were grateful to accept Mr. Jensen's hospitality more than once, furthermore, he would be highly insulted if anybody offered to remunerate him for his services. The burial took place in Charlevoix cemetery beside that of his wife.

URGE PUBLIC RESPOND XMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN

Funds Derived Protect Michigan Children from Tuberculosis

Tuberculosis Christmas seal activities protect Michigan children from the menace of the White Plague, officials of the Michigan Tuberculosis association declared this week in urging all who have not yet paid for their 1938 Christmas seals to do so today. In making a return for the seals sent them on Thanksgiving Day, Michigan people will be providing the means to fight tuberculosis, the foe of youth, during 1939, it was emphasized.

"As part of the 1938 anti-tuberculosis campaign, the Michigan Tuberculosis association x-rayed 2,053 Michigan school children," Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the association, reported. "Of these, 720 or 35.0% were found to have the childhood type of tuberculosis, a stage of the disease resulting from contact with an active case of tuberculosis."

If checked early, the childhood type is harmless, it was pointed out. Emphasis was placed on the fact, however, that if neglected, this primary infection of the tuberculosis germ may be the first step leading to the dangerous adult type.

"Through Christmas seal financed publications Michigan parents are helped in planning the care of children so as to prevent the development of tuberculosis," Mr. Werle explained. "Parents are advised that the childhood type of tuberculosis can be halted if they will see that their children follow a good health regime.

"Christmas seal pennies provide x-ray examinations for Michigan people to detect early tuberculosis. They make it possible for the Michigan Tuberculosis association to prepare and publish health education material for the benefit of Michigan people. Every Christmas seal contribution is needed to finance tuberculosis prevention and control during 1939."

One reason why society is what it is can be seen when one contemplates the compensation given a football coach and a professor.

BOYNE LEGION SET FOR BOXING TOURNAMENT

First Golden Glove Event Promises To Draw a Heavy Entry

With the opening night of the Boyne City American Legion Golden Glove amateur boxing tournament just five days away, fighters hailing from all over northern Michigan are girding their belts, determined to make good this try for recognition in the realm of fistiana.

Entries are pouring in from every section, some forty-odd to date, and it is expected that by the deadline, set for January 14th, more than sixty amateur fighters will have applied to enter the tournament. Entries have already been received from Cheboygan, Petoskey, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Boyne City, Central Lake, Wolverine CCC camp, Boyne Falls, Hillman and Elk Rapids. Entry blanks can be obtained by contacting William Tryon, Boyne City, or by writing directly to the Sports Desk of the Boyne Citizen.

As this tournament shapes into a real boxing classic, interest among the fight fans in northern Michigan hits a high level. Applications for ringside seats are beginning to rain on the head of Gilbert Lindsay, Legion Commander, Boyne City, who is in charge of ticket sales. Of the estimated seating capacity of 2,000, about three hundred will comprise the reserved section. Reservations can also be obtained at the office of the Petoskey Evening News in Petoskey, at the Chamber of Commerce in Charlevoix and at Dinty LaLonde's in East Jordan.

Bronze statues of boxers, Lindsay said Wednesday, will be awarded the winners of the tournament and the runners-up. Winners will be entered in the Grayling tournament with all expenses paid.

IMAGINATIVE HUNTER SHOT PIG FOR RABBIT

Results Expensive; Didn't Have License and Paid for Pig

Hunters have mistaken each other for a variety of game but an error that is slightly different is revealed in the monthly report from Conservation Officer Winey of Kalamazoo county.

In this instance, the hunter's imagination stretched to the point where he mistook a hog weighing 125 pounds for a rabbit and shot it.

The result was expensive. The hunter was assessed a fine of $15 and costs of $6.85 for hunting without a license and was also required to pay the farmer whose hog he shot $10.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Glenroy Ikens are the parents of a baby son, born Wednesday.

Geo. Stafford is receiving medical treatment.

Chas. Carney of East Jordan submitted to a tonsil operation Friday.

Mrs. Carl Anderson submitted to a major operation Friday.

CHRISTMAS 1938
(By Harold Hampton)

Pause With Me
As Memory Lifts the Screen to Paint
Those Things We've Seen.

Waves on the beach are piling high
As a northern blizzard rides the sky.
Clouds of snow drive with the gale
That tunes the pine to whistling wail.

Deep drifts form in graceful line
As arc lights swing and dimly shine.
A tinkle of sleigh-bell comes to ear.
Soft—now strong—now not so near.

A loose pane, in the window there,
Scarce the force of the gale can bear.
As curtains move and sway—alive.
Tender to gusts that to enter strive.

The furnace fire, how it leaps and roars
Rising to battle the cold outdoors.
While registers give forth welcome heat
To soothe and warm our chilly feet.

Press your nose to the kitchen glass,
View those white-caps that foam and mass
'Till lost in the mist of the stormy haze
They rise phantom-like to meet your gaze.

The darkly hemlocks on the bluff
Bend to the storm and cry "enough."
The very house that braves the blast
Rocks — and groans it cannot last.

And thus the hours wear close to ten.
Mystery — excitement deepens, then
We're off to bed, to toss and dream
Of mammoth pines — alit — agleam.

The storm wears through the midnight hour—
With break of day has lost its power.
To leave behind a land entranced.
Where through the night the reindeer pranced.

As a curtain from a picture drawn,
A beauteous vista greets the dawn.
A dress in purest white, the trees, the hedge,
The bush, the roof, and chimney's edge.

And thus the slant of the sun's first ray
Lightens the birth of a Christmas Day.
Christmas Day in a northern clime
That memory doth make a shrine!

IMPORTANT APPOINTMENTS GO TO BISHOP

29th District Senator Given High Posts in Michigan Senate

Friends of Senator Otto W. Bishop of the 29th Michigan district, will be pleased to know of the important committees in the state senate to which he has been appointed by Lieutenant-Governor Dickinson.

The lineup of committees puts the senator from this district in a position of great importance in the legislative business now being considered, and for the two years to which he has been returned to represent this section of Michigan.

Senator Bishop's committee appointments show that he is on the powerful finance and appropriations committee, that he is on highways, he is chairman of the important banks and corporations committee, he is on the committee of senate business; which has to do with the governor's appointments, and he is also on the committee of institutions for state wards, which this year, through the reduction in the number of committees from thirty-seven to twenty-six, means that it represents all state institutions.

The lineup of committees will keep the senator very busy, but as he says, not too busy at any time to see his constituents, do for them what he can, and to answer with dispatch all correspondence which comes from his constituents.

Beaver dams were credited by engineers with saving three main highways in New York state from washing out during the hurricane and flood conditions several weeks ago.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS
By B. C. Mellencamp

Managers and Directors of Cooperatives in Northern Michigan to Meet Tuesday, January 17

The first winter meeting of managers, directors, and others interested in cooperatives in northern Michigan will take place at the Hotel Dilworth on Tuesday, January 17, beginning at 10:30. Topics for discussion will include the main problems that are common for all cooperatives such as merchandising, salesmanship, potato information, and the various laws affecting cooperatives such as the unemployment insurance, and others. Judging from the past attendance, plans will be made to entertain at least forty key men in the field of cooperatiou.

Charlevoix county can be justly proud of her accomplishments thru cooperntive organization. Very recently the Top O' Michigan Rural Electric company has been organized and is functioning. While this is the newest arrival, from the standpoint of number of members it far outnumbers any cooperative in northern Michigan. Then again, the Jordan Valley Cooperative Creamery has taken its place as one of the most successful organizntions in the state of Michigan. Add to these the three cooperative marketing associations located in the three cities in the county and we have five organizations that are rendering valuable service to the farmers.

Home Management Leaders to Receive Third Lesson

After a short vacntion through the holidays, the home management project will again receive attention when the third lesson in the present course is given by Miss Helen Noces in the Boyne City Library on Thursday, January 12, beginning promptly at ten o'clock. The project will cover five lessons when completed, and it has already received an enrollment of over 250 women throughout the county.

The project this year is also featured by the addition of three new communities, namely, East Jordan (No. 2), Bay Shore and Walloon Lake. This fact, the interest in this project is very high and the result greatly appreciated by the members enrolled in the project.

Series of Meetings Scheduled for Dairy Farmers

All dairy farmers will be interested in the announcement that a series of three meetings will be held to discuss the most important items pertaining to profits in dairying. Each year presents a different situation which means that a different means of attacking the problem must be employed. This year we find a rather abundance of good dairy feed available on the average farm, but with a somewhat low price for dairy products. Purposely, the first discussion will be on dairy feeding so that the most efficient use of feeds on hand will be suggested. This meeting will be held in the East Jordan City Hall on Thursday night, January 12, beginning promptly at eight o'clock. In order to make the evening somewhat more enjoyable, a light luncheon will be served.

All dairymen are cordially invited and urged to attend this first meeting of a series of three, all to be held at the same location. The second meeting will be held on the night of February 16 and the third on the evening of March 16. For your interest, the second meeting will be on the subject of selection of dairy sires and the third on pasture and pasture improvement.

We are most hopeful that a goodly number of dairymen will be present at all three discussions.

AT THE MOVIES

"Trade Winds" Set is a Babel of Languages

Players on the huge sound stages of Walter Wanger's "Trade Winds," the romantic adventure tale opening at the Palace Theatre Saturday, January 14, were referred to as members of "The International Settlement," because they actually hailed from all corners of the globe.

"Trade Winds" visits seven Pacific nations before its plot reaches a surprising climax and Producer Wanger learned a long time ago that it takes a lot of different people to make a successful motion picture.

"The International Settlement" brought about interesting and entertaining results during filming of "Trade Winds," which is a United Artists release.

MONTHLY REPORT OF THE D. H. I. ASSOCIATION

Average production per cow for the month was 528 lbs. of milk and 23.1 lbs. of butterfat. Forty-six cows, or 15% of those on test, were dry.

High herd for the month was owned by Albert R. and Bert Elhott. Average production per cow for their 10 grade D Rex Guernseys was 739 pounds of milk and 36.0 pounds of butterfat.

Second high in the association was Sam Straw's grade herd which averaged 627 pounds of milk and 29.0 pounds of butterfat.

High cow was a registered Jersey of George Meggison's, which produced 1101 pounds of milk and 62.8 pounds of butterfat.

"Designing Women" Starts Sunday

Here's a feature especially for the woman who would always look her best no matter how small her clothes budget might be. Frankly, the principle of this series is to emphasize good points in appearance and minimize faults. All feminine figures are divided into simple groups; faces, too, are classified so that a woman can tell at a glance what type she falls into. From then on, the advice offered by this illustrated series is so easily grasped that no woman can fail to gain from it. Be sure to read "Designing Women," the most helpful fashion service ever published by any newspaper. It starts next Sunday in The Detroit News.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

December Gasoline Tax Collections Show Upward Trend in Business

Figures recently released by Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state, from the gasoline tax division of the department of state show that Michigan motorists used some 58,327,005 fewer gallons of gasoline in 1938 than they did in 1937.

The revenue collected by the gasoline tax division for the calendar year of 1938 amounted to $29,028,542.07 as compared to the 1937 collections of $30,778,353.12, or an approximate decrease in revenue of $1,749,810.15 or 5½ per cent. This decrease in the use of gasoline is attributable to the general business conditions and to the increase in mileage now obtainable with the newer modeled automobiles.

The figures for the year just passed, however, represents an increase in gasoline consumption of 69,994,023 gallons of gasoline, an increase in revenue of $2,099,820.64 or an 8 per cent increase over the calendar year of 1936. The collection of revenue received for December shows the highest December collection in the history of the gasoline tax division. Collections for the month show an increase of $21,840.20 over 1937 and $243,815.92 over the same period in 1936.

This revenue derived from the tax of 3 cents per gallon imposed on all gasoline used in propelling motor vehicles on the public highway, is used exclusively for highway purposes including the payment of public debts incurred thereof, the maintenance of our present highway system and the building of new highways.

STUDENTS EAT MICHIGAN FOODS

With a fence around Michigan, the Student Union at Michigan State College still could serve a thousand customers each day if substitutes could be found for citrus fruits, spices and seafoods.

Seventy-five per cent of the foods used at the Union Cafeteria, college operated food service, is Michigan grown or processed. Many of the 6,000 students eat regularly at the Union and nearly all of them eat there occasionally.

From Lake Superior and Lake Michigan fish to Benton Harbor cherries and peaches, from St. Clair salt to Frankenmuth cheese, the entire state contributes the best of its foods to feed the students. Figures compiled with the aid of food distributors show that 90 of the 125 staple articles of food used at the Union are grown or processed in Michigan.

Even a startlingly large majority of canned foods from applesauce to tomato juice, from asparagus to spinach and sauerkraut, and blueberries and mincemeat are among purchases obtained from canning factories of the state.

Local farmers bring their products to the Union. The farmers sell fruits and vegetables in season, eggs, chickens and turkeys when they have them.

Some purchasing is done at the Lansing farmers' market, which means that these foods are Michigan grown. Dairy products are from Michigan production and the range also includes articles from celery to sugar, melons to meat, and beans to potatoes.

Let but patience be in the heart, and neither anger, nor discord, nor hatred, will be able to find a dwelling within it.—Augustine.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday morning service, 10:45.
Sunday school, 12 o'clock.
Meets first Wednesday evening each month at 7:45 p. m.
We cordially invite the public to our service and reading room.
Reading room open Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

"Life" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 15.

The Golden Text (Proverbs 12:28) is: "In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof there is no death."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (John 17:3): "And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou has sent."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 410): "'This is life eternal,' says Jesus,—as, not shall be; and then he defines everlasting life as a present knowledge of his Father and of himself, —the knowledge of Love, Truth and Life."

LANSING LETTER

Sympathy for Under-dog

The previous administration, following the pattern set by President Roosevelt in his New Deal, has espoused consistently the cause of the "forgotten man," the so-called "under-dog."

In fact, Governor Murphy in his zeal to advance the welfare of the worker tagged the Michigan Democratic party as a "labor party."

Edward Fry, writing as state chairman to county leaders, put it: "For too long a time we have been considered a labor party . . . We have featured our labor support too strenuously." Fry pointed out a 1938 loss of 30,000 votes in Wayne county.

Hence it is interesting to examine the Fitzgerald message in the light of the previous administration. We cannot find evidence that the new administration will be reactionary. The hungry are to be fed. The aged are to receive considerate attention. Education is not to be neglected. Civil service is not to be "undermined." Conservation needs are to be carefully safeguarded.

Liquor Control

The controversial issue of liquor control—as long as a demand for liquor exists, controversy is inevitable—is injected into the 1939 program by the governor with an emphasis on greater revenue earnings by the state.

Governor Fitzgerald would take the state out of the retail business whereby the state maintains community liquor stores for sale of liquor purchased by the state at wholesale in large quantities.

Retail merchants would take over the selling. The state would act as "a clearing warehouse, a tax collecting agency and an enforcing arm."

"I believe that with proper adjustments, greater revenues could be derived if state liquor stores were abolished," he points out. "Hundreds of thousands of dollars could be saved in decreased payrolls, rent, maintenance and so forth."

This policy has the endorsement, it is understood, of Lieutenant Governor Lauren Dickinson of Charlotte, a long-time dry.

State Tourist Bureau

Following a cue given by many tourist-minded states, Fitzgerald favors the retention of the state tourist bureau which was created by the last legislature with $50,000 state funds.

Coordination of tourist promotion work so that a central advertising campaign is carried on for Michigan as a whole would be continued by the governor with $100,000 at his bidding, instead of $50,000.

However, half of the additional $50,000 would be utilized to promote the sale of Michigan agricultural products on a matching of state aid basis. The success of Maine, Washington, Oregon, and Idaho in promotion of their agricultural products through advertising is well known. Fitzgerald endorses this growers' movement with an offer to match their funds up to $25,000.

Notice to Strike

The highlight of the governor's labor relations plan, as outlined in considerable detail in his message, is a ten days' notice by labor of strike action.

Strike orders would be filed with a non-partisan state board. In ten days' time the orders would become effective.

But in the meanwhile, while both sides were "cooling off," the board would strive by mediation alone to settle the differences involved. Picketing privileges would be limited to workers of the plant. Sit-down strikes would be made illegal. Wild-cat strikes in defiance of state law would automatically subject employees to liability of loss of their jobs.

On labor's side are these new restrictions imposed upon the employer. "It would be incumbent upon employers to rehire, and not discriminate against, workers participating in a legal strike." In event of an "emergency situation" wherein wage reductions were to become effective at once, the board could order "any employer to restore conditions to their former level, pending the outcome of mediation." Workers would receive the same wages, work the same number of hours, etc. during the 10 days' interim between declaration of a strike and the actual walkout.

Public Opinion

Employing only voluntary mediation to effect labor peace, the governor's plan, if enacted by the legislature, would lean heavily upon public opinion as its enforcement arm. Accordingly, a free press is highly important to the success of the proposed labor relations plan in Michigan. Additional responsibilities would be imposed on newspapers, both dailies and weeklies.

UNIFIED

TELEPHONE SERVICE

MEANS

CHEAPER SERVICE

FOR You

IF THERE WERE NO BELL SYSTEM, with its 25 regional telephone companies, your telephone service would probably cost more. Local service in some areas would lag behind that in others. Long distance calls would be greatly complicated. Duplication of manufacturing and research, with duplication of expense, would mean higher telephone rates.

Instead, these telephone companies centralize their manufacturing in the Western Electric Company, their research in the Bell Telephone Laboratories. Whenever one company develops an improvement, it is promptly shared with the others.

This makes for economy and, because of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company's membership in the unified Bell System, means better telephone service at a lower cost to you.

drifted snow, we were driving on roads as bare and dry as mid-summer. Made things rather bad for winter sports plans, but guess nobody would want to trade one kind of weather for the other.

Read in one newspaper a while back where Al Capone, whose given about as frequent publicity as the president of the United States, was completely broke. Someone apparently slipped, for just the other day another announcement came out telling that he dug up $37,692 to pay part of a $50,000 fine assessed him before he was taken to the "Rock."

Last week I thought we certainly had something to brag about with that 28-inch snowfall in about 10 days. Found out it was just peanut stuff compared to Gaylord where 70 inches of snow fell from Christmas eve until January 3. They certainly don't fool around them parts.

Hardly seems possible, but it isn't long before city election time. Have heard a few rumblings, but nothing much else so far. Won't be long now, though.

This mild weather of the past week was a "break" for Charlevoix and the commercial fishermen. Heavy snowfall and low temperatures had about brought the lakes to a freezing point, which would have meant that the fishermen would either have to quit or move their operations to more southern ports. Take the commercial fishermen away from Charlevoix during the winter and there isn't much else left.

Have you noticed Sheriff Floyd Ikens' beaming countenance lately? Well, the reason for it is a grandson, a new-comer at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenroy Ikens. Makes the count two girls and a boy at Ike's place. And was he happy! You know, I'm always tickled when a family gets their first son, for the stork brought four girls to my place before he finally got the order straight. Was never able to get as optimistic as Ike did, though.

VALUE OF MICHIGAN'S CROPS DROP LAST YEAR

Decrease of 8% from 1937 Valuation Noted in Report Released

The total value of production of the 21 principal field and fruit crops produced in Michigan during 1938 is estimated at $123,890,000, compared with a valuation of $135,206,000 for the production of these crops in 1937, or a decrease of 8 per cent.

These estimates of farm value of total crop production do not include livestock products. The values shown are for the marketing season or crop year and should not be confused with calendar year income.

CONSERVATION DEPT. FINDS A PAUL BUNYAN

Season's Bag of Sportsman Exceeds All Fondest Expectations

Paul Bunyan was just a tenderfoot compared to one small game hunter among those now reporting to the department of conservation as required before February 15.

This hunter's 1938 kill, as tabulated on his report card, numbered no less than 265 animals including 11 different species ranging from pheasants to skunks. The card lists, in the spaces printed for an accounting of game bagged, 50 cottontails, 30 geese, 30 grouse, 25 pheasants, 25 prairie chickens, 25 ducks, 25 shorebirds, 25 snowshoe hares, and 10 each of sharptails, woodcocks and skunks.

Since there was only one Paul Bunyon, tabulators in the department of conservation concluded the hunter had misunderstood the instructions on the card and listed all game he had seen, not bagged, or else was just being funny. In either event he contributed nothing to the data which is being sought because of its importance in effective wildlife management.

The inflow of hunters' reports has been increasing during the last few days and cards are now being received at a rate of about 1,500 a day. Deer hunters and all trappers as well as small game hunters are required to send in their returns by February 15th.

SCHOOL MEN MEET AT GAYLORD, JANUARY 11

Adequate School Aid to be Principal Topic Before Educators

All school board members and superintendents, and others interested in Area 10 (Emmet, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Otsego, Montmorency, and Alpena counties) are invited by the executive committee of the MEA Department of School Board Members and Superintendents to attend a meeting at the high school in Gaylord, on Wednesday, January 11, 1939, at 8:00 p. m.

Among the matters to be discussed at this meeting are: (1) adequate state school aid; (2) guaranteed state school aid; (3) financing the construction of needed school buildings; and (4) extending the powers of school boards to borrow money.

BILL PROPOSED WOULD STOP RAIDS ON FUNDS

Legislation to Protect State General Fund is Submitted

Sen. D. Hale Brake, R., Stanton, has filed a bill which he asserted, if adopted, "will stop the highway department's raid on the general fund."

The bill would repeal act 102 of the 1937 session which gave the highway department $5,000,000 a year from the general fund. It was this fund over which Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner and former Governor Murphy disagreed, almost to a point of a split in the Democrat party. Because of acute relief needs, Murphy refused to allow the full appropriation.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

From the office of
Fred Bradley, Congressman
11th District, Michigan

What's the reaction to the president's message to the opening session of the 76th Congress? The viewpoints are as far apart as the two poles. Administration supporters are hailing it as a masterpiece. The critics see in it an effort to divert attention from the failures of the New Deal policies. Between these two extremes one will find fairer appraisals of its true worth.

Too Much War Scare

There is general agreement that the president placed on the unrest abroad more emphasis than seemed necessary.

The plea for a return of faith and religion, to unite as one people to guard against the invasion of foreign isms, met with popular response.

So also did the proposal that this nation, in cooperation with other democracies, provide adequate defense against invasion by what the president termed "aggressor" nations.

His recommendation that we abandon our neutrality legislation in favor of another policy was not made clear. The temper of the present congress does not suggest that we are prepared to abandon our existing neutrality law. Some suspicion exists that the president would lead us into some understanding with Communistic forces in Spain, China and Russia against the Fascist and Nazist forces operating in other European and Asiatic nations. That would not be so popular.

A special message is promised for the near future in which the president will make recommendations for "two essentials of defense against danger which we cannot safely assume will not come."

Unbalanced Budget

The president persists in advocating an unbalanced budget which he believes essential as a means of bringing the national income to 80 billion dollars. This income would bring to the government enough in revenue, he maintains, to balance the budget.

"It does not seem logical to me," says the president, "at the moment we seek to increase production and consumption, for the federal government to consider drastic curtailment of its own investments."

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan's senior senator, whose views are looked upon as sound by a large following, directed attention to the abandonment of the policies advocated by the president in his message of March 10, 1933. At that time, the federal deficit was five billion dollars and Mr. Roosevelt declared;

"Too often in recent history liberal governments have been wrecked on the rocks of loose fiscal policy. We must avoid this danger."

Those out of agreement with the administration's spending policies are more or less agreed that some provision must be made for the unemployed. They believe though that this could be done and the budget balanced on the basis of the estimated receipts. This, they contend, would in itself contribute to the recovery of business, bringing the national income to the presidential goal of 80 billions. It was that in 1929, without all the government attempt at "planned economy."

Murphy and Investigation

The appointment of former Gov. Murphy as attorney general will be confirmed. He will be called before the Judiciary Committee of the senate and asked to elaborate on his policies as the nation's chief law enforcement officer.

Members of congress recognize that the president has a right to a free hand in the appointment of his official family. The only objection to Mr. Murphy is his handling of the sit-down strikes, and his refusal to accept his repudiation at the polls as an indication of his wrong attitude towards the enforcement of the law.

Attorney General Murphy will also direct another activity which played an important part in the Michigan election. His department will make further investigation of subversive activities brought to light by the Dies committee. Some of the evidence it will be recalled, involved Gov. Murphy himself.

The committee is asking for a further appropriation of $150,000 to carry on its work. This is expected to be made available after considerable debate.

EXPERIMENTS ON CONTROL OF DEER

STUDY METHODS TO STOP RAIDS ON FARM CROPS

Michigan State College, Farm Bureau and Conservation Department Consolidating Efforts

Three agencies are cooperating in preparations fur an experiment in methods of preventing deer raids on farm crops.

Michigan state college, the state farm bureau and the department of conservation are planning to test the use of electric fencing as a means of keeping hungry deer out of farm fields. Data on the cost and operation of electric fences is now being gathered and the experiment is to be made soon in Alcona county, where considerable deer damage has occurred in the past. The territory exemplifies the trouble which may occur where farms are located in the midst of game land.

Tests which have been conducted elsewhere indicate that the use of flash-guns, noise-makers, chemical substances, scarecrows and such devices is not entirely satisfactory as a means of keeping deer off cultivated land. Eight-foot, woven wire fences have been demonstrated to be deer proof but their cost is prohibitive for the average farmer and discouraging to large scale use.

Electric fences have been experimented with in several other states including Pennsylvania which has had an acute deer damage problem for a considerable time. In experiments conducted at the Cusino game refuge varying results were obtained. In one instance, the deer crawled under the fence without appearing to receive any electric shock. In another, a single strand fence was sufficient to keep three captive buck out of one end of the pen where they had been accustomed to go. After receiving a few shocks the deer made no additional attempts to pass the wire. In a third test, however, made with three young deer, the animals learned first to crawl under the wire and when it was lowered they jumped over it.

The experiment planned for Alcona county is intended to demonstrate what specifications will be most effective for use with deer in the wild.

RURAL WOMEN TO VIEW NEW STYLES AT M. S. C.

Hilda Roen, Charlevoix, Is Among Those Who Will Model Clothing

Sixty-three home economics students at Michigan State College will put on a collegiate style revue for the entertainment and information value it will present to rural women during the 24th annual Farmers' Week program at Michigan State College Jan. 30 to Feb. 3.

Included among those who will model clothing is Miss Hilda Roen, daughter of Mrs. O. W. Trayte, this city.

This 1939 fashion show is being directed by Miss Marion Hillhouse, assistant professor of clothing at the college.

To make the style revue more interesting, the modeling by the girls will be of garments which they have planned and completed as part of their work in clothing classes.

All types of material and costumes for various occasions are to be featured as the girls tread the stage of the Little Theater in the Home Economics building. The students originally started in elementary classes. In advanced work they did not use commercial patterns but went into individual design and then modeled and constructed the garments. The revue is scheduled for 10 a. m. Wednesday, Feb. 1.

REPUBLICANS ISSUE CONVENTION CALL

BIENNIAL SPRING SESSION AT EAST JORDAN

Nominate County School Commissioner, Name State Delegates at Meeting February 8

Call for the biennial spring Republican convention for Charlevoix county has been issued by Clarence B. Meggison, chairman, and Agnes Lorch, secretary of the Charlevoix County Republican committee.

The convention will be held at the high school auditorium in East Jordan at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, February 8th. Purpose of the convention is to elect delegates to the state convention to be held Thursday, February 23rd, at Flint, and for the nomination of candidate for county school commissioner in accordance with the provision of Section 385 of the 1938 election laws, and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the convention.

One hundred delegates, chosen at the November general election of 1938, are entitled to attend the county convention. Charlevoix county is entitled to send five delegates to the state convention but customarily sends a larger delegation with a split voting power in accordance with the number chosen.

SKATING RESUMED FRIDAY AT THE MUNICIPAL RINK

4-H CLUB TRAINING MEET HERE JAN. 26

ALL CLUBS IN COUNTY WILL BE REPRESENTED

Dinner and Program Arrangements Under Muriel Tobin and Josephine Schurer, Local Leaders

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

The second winter 4-H club leaders training meeting will be held in the Charlevoix high school on Thursday night, January 26, with a pot luck dinner served at 5:45. An attendance of over one hundred teachers, club leaders and club representatives is anticipated. Each club in the county is invited to select one club member, in addition to the club leader.

A. G. Kettunen, state club leader, and Miss Beatrice Boyne, assistant club leader, will be present and discuss the big features of the 4-H club program. At this time well over five hundred project members are busily engaged in carrying out their requirements. Following the banquet community songs and a short program will be given. Then two groups will be formed to take up their particular subject matter. Mr. Kettunen will discuss the handicraft club program with the boys, while, at the same time, Miss Boyle will meet with the clothing club representatives and discuss this project.

The dinner has been developed under the supervision of Miss Muriel Tobin and Miss Josephine Schuur, 4-H club leaders and members of the Charlevoix faculty. The girls in the two groups will act as hostesses for the occasion. A very profitable evening is in store for the 4-H club leaders and representatives throughout the county.

STRAITS BRIDGE PROJECT IS STILL ALIVE

Sen. Prentiss Brown Talks with President Roosevelt on Proposal

President Roosevelt is still "very much interested" in plans for construction of the Mackinac bridge, Sen. Prentiss M. Brown, D., Mich., said Friday.

"About six months ago," Brown said, "I talked to the president about the matter. He showed great interest. I brought up the subject of a WPA allotment to provide funds for construction of approaches. We talked about that and finally reached the conclusion that a survey should be made."

Brown said $150,000 was appropriated for the survey, which is being undertaken by a commission headed by Don Kennedy, official of the Michigan State Highway department.

"As the highway commissioner, Mr. Kennedy, and other officials were in Washington Thursday," he said, "we decided to see the President and report to him on the progress we are making.

"He was pleased with our work and said he was still very much interested in the project. It will take us about four more months to complete our survey, however, and no definite action can be taken until then."

CITY REACHES OUT FOR CONVENTIONS

REPRESENTATIVES GO TO DETROIT THIS WEEK

Harold Hallett at Mid-Winter Kiwanis Meeting to Arrange for 1939 Convention to be Held Here

Charlevoix's bids for 1939 summer convention business is being carried to the Detroit metropolitan area this week by representatives of the local Kiwanis Club and the Board of Commerce.

Harold Hallett, president of the Kiwanis Club, left Tuesday to attend the mid-winter Kiwanis convention at Detroit, at which plans for the 1939 summer convention to be held in Charlevoix will be made. Dates for the meeting will be set and to some extent program features will be arranged.

Gordon B. Todd, secretary of the Board of Commerce, accompanied Mr. Hallett and will show several movie reels of Charlevoix summer activities and scenic attractions, giving Kiwanians advance notice of the facilities available here for their entertainment next summer.

In addition to the Kiwanis contact, Mr. Todd is scheduled to meet with officials of the Chicago, Duluth & Georgian Bay Transit Co. to arrange for summer cruise conventions, discuss possibilities of making Charlevoix a permanent port of call on its summer schedule, and meet with other corporations planning conventions during the 1939 summer season.

CITY AWARDS SALE OF NEW CITY HALL BONDS

First of Michigan Corporation Bid Low in Field of 11 Bidders.

Bid of the First of Michigan Corporation for purchase of a $36,000 issue of general obligation bonds for the city hall and fire station was accepted Tuesday night by the city council.

The bid, low among 11 bids entered, was an attractive one. The interest rate on the bonds is 2½ per cent with a premium of $148.67 in addition to furnishing bonds and legal opinion. The rate is believed the lowest of any outstanding city bonds.

RAYDERS WINNER OF GAYLORD TILT

SCORED 25 TO 13 VICTORY LAST FRIDAY NIGHT

Meet Strong East Jordan Combination in First Home Appearance in Several Weeks Friday

Charlevoix high school basketball teams broke even on a double hill at Gaylord last Friday evening, the varsity winning by a 25 to 13 count and the reserves dropping a 20 to 8 decision to the Gaylord reserves.

Friday night's results compared closely to the outcome of a previous meeting of the two teams here. Charlevoix won the earlier tilt by a 30 to 12 score, while the reserves were handed a 23 to 14 defeat.

That the Rayders again completely out-classed Gaylord is indicated by the score. Gaylord was held to a single goal in the first two periods and strangely coincident is the fact that they were limited to a pair of free throws during the first half in their previous contest. Charlevoix led 8 to 2 at the quarter and 17 to 2 at the half. Gaylord managed 10 of their 13 points in the third period while Charlevoix was scoring a single goal, und in the final period netted a single free throw while Charlevoix found the hoop for three goals.

Members of the Rayder squud divided the scoring quite evenly. Brown netted 7, Henley 6, Carey 5, Withers 4 and Bissell 3. Noirot was best for Gaylord with 6.

The line-ups:

CHARLEVOIX (25)	FG	FT	PF
Henley	3	0	3
Carey	2	1	0
Brown	3	1	3
	11	3	6

GAYLORD (13)	FG	FT	PF
Madsen	2	0	2
Krueger	0	0	2
Hanes	1	0	0
Glasser	0	1	2
Noirot	1	1	1

The Raydors return to their home hardwood Friday night for the first time in several weeks to meet East Jordan, one of the strong teams in the class C conference. The Jordanites have been gathering strength as the season advanced and have several wins to their credit. The contest should he a close and fast one.

FINISH SHEET PILING EAST PARK FRONTAGE

Work Marks Anotber Step in Park Improvement Program

Another step towards completion of the East Park improvement and development program is under way this week.

Following completion of excavation of the city hall basement, the city-owned steam shovel has been moved to East Park for the purpose of driving steel sheet piling along the unfinished portion from the new yacht slips to the north line of the Milton Block property.

Completion of this project will provide a lake frontage with steel sheet piling from the foot of Clinton street to the foot of Antrim street.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Saw in an exchange paper an article by Dr. John VanOosten of the Federal Bureau of Fisheries, in which he stated that extensive studies indicate smelt feed largely upon Mysis, a small crayfish which is very abundant in the Great Lakes; and this fact removed the fear held for several years that the establishment of smelt meant trouble for our lake trout and whitefish. Dr. VanOosten's remarks made me wonder if he had ever seen a smelt tackle a minnow and if he knew they fed on minnows. And regarding smelt troubling lake trout, we fellows here have seen the mackmaws disappear gradually out of Lake Charlevoix since the smelt invaded that water, the spring and fall "runs" of herring minnows decrease year by year, and the "runs" of steelhead, which feed largely on herring minnows, drop in proportion to the plentifulness of minnows. We can only come to one conclusion and that is that Dr. VanOosten picked out the wrong place to study smelt habits and the inroads they have made on other fish species. From our own observations, crayfish form a very small part of the smelt's diet, and we can prove our assertions by pointing out the things that are happening right under our own noses.

Don't suppose a fellow should laugh over another's misfortunes, but saw something so funny the other day I couldn't help it. While driving along Lake Charlevoix near the light plant, glanced out on the lake just in time to see a man acting as if he was trying to climb an invisible wall. His arms and legs were reaching for something they didn't find and finally he went down kerplunk. As far as I could see the ice was perfectly level there, too. If I'm not mistaken it was Max Smith, the band director.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

By beating the legislature "to the draw" through November 8 adoption of the anti-diversion amendment, Commissioner Murray D. "Pat" Van Wagoner of the state highway department has put the "good roads" cause in rather an invulnerable position for 1939.

In fact, there is considerable speculation as to what, if anything, legislators can do to clip Van Wagoner's wings.

Voters back home possess a peculiar yearning for more highways. The chamber of commerce is always agitating one road improvement or another that would take motorists from somewhere to elsewhere. Good road sentiment knows no party lines; it thrives amid all income groups.

When Governor Fitzgerald proposed that the highway department provide free ferry service at the Straits of Mackinac, build its own office building at Lansing, and cease dipping into general funds, he threatened what former Governor Murphy tried to do in spirit. Murphy wanted to divert highway funds for welfare

SAFER..

MEANS Confidence

Modern, intelligent men and women want facts—facts about everything they do—everything they eat and drink. The thousands who drink Schmidt's know that they are getting a combination of perfect taste and perfect safety in a perfect brew. Their beer-drinking pleasure is doubled because they drink with confidence. Schmidt's is SAFER because it is the NATURAL BREW. If you like beer you're certain to enjoy Schmidt's.

You are Equipped with the Best When You Install a Set of Firestone Tires

And the Record of This Famous Tire is Your Guarantee of Many Months of Service

At this time of year your tires are required to undergo rigid tests of endurance. Extremely cold weather, soft slushy days, icy roads with sharp obstructions here and there and the usual slippery road surfaces that you encounter throughout the winter all are factors that require the best of tire quality to survive the rigid test of winter driving.

Install Firestones for winter driving—then you're equipped with the best and your winter driving is a pleasure because you are not interrupted on your trips by tire trouble from time to time that occurs when your car is equipped with inferior tires.

Firestone's patented process of gum-dipping (an exclusive Firestone feature) insulates every strand in every cotton cord with liquid rubber, thus providing maximum resistance against the severe strain of winter driving just as it does for driving at all other seasons of the year. Firestone is the perfect year-around tire. Installation of one or a set of these famous tires now assures you of good "rubber" in other seasons of the year.

Thousands of motorists throughout the world are enjoying complete satisfaction with Firestone every year, and you can too if you will but try them. Install one or as many as you need and experience a new pleasure in tire comfort.

The dealer listed below will be pleased to be afforded an opportunity to serve you. Drive in to them and ask to have your tires examined. They'll tell you if you need new tires and they'll also tell you if you really don't need them yet.

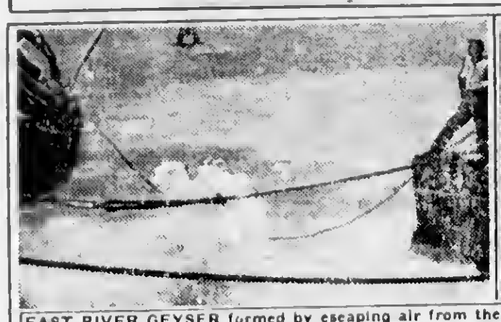
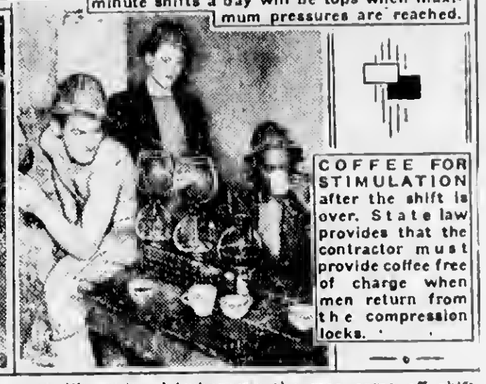
Day's Work on New York's Newest Tunnel Set At Ninety Minutes a Day for 2,000 Sandhogs



EAST RIVER GEYSER formed by escaping air from the tunnel 70 feet below is the only surface indication of the sandhogs at work under the river bed.

COMPRESSED AIR keeps the river away. Increases in pressure cut down the amount of time men are permitted to work. Two 45-minute shifts a day will be tops when maximum pressures are reached.

HONOR FOR THE SANDHOG—Model of a statue honoring the daring craft is shown by sculptor Leo Lentelli to Queens Midtown Tunnel Commissioner, Wm. H. Friedman.



COFFEE FOR STIMULATION after the shift is over. State law provides that the contractor must provide coffee free of charge when men return from the compression locks.

Working Time Will Be Cut as Dangerous Tube Job Reaches Most Difficult Phase

NEW YORK—Working schedules for 2,000 sandhogs on the new $58,000,000 P W A financed Queens Midtown Tunnel are being progressively cut as the project, one of the most dangerous underwater jobs ever constructed, reaches its crucial stage of development.

The twin bores, from the Manhattan side and from the Queens shore, have now been pushed out under the bed of the East River, requiring constant increases in the air pressures used to keep water out of the excavation. As the pressure rises the safe working time for the men is steadily reduced. By the time maximum pressure of 33 pounds per square inch is reached, sandhogs who spend six hours underground under lower pressures will be working only two 45-minute shifts a day. Wages, however, rise with each increase in pressure.

Sandhogs Protected by Law

One of the most dangerous of callings the sandhog's profession is ringed about with numerous laws and safeguards. Among other hazards, he is subject to the occupational disease known as "bends," against which elaborate precautions have been taken.

For example, state law requires contractors to supply, free of charge, quantities of steaming hot coffee whenever the men come off shift. Coffee provides the stimulant necessary to offset the let-down on returning from the oxygen-laden headings to normal atmospheric conditions. A common sight in the "hog-house," or barracks, is a knot of mud-spattered sandhogs gulping down hot black coffee.

In addition, showers and lockers must be provided and physicians are on duty in a specially equipped hospital 24 hours a day. A careful individual check is made of each man's passage through the compression chamber that acclimatizes him to changes of pressure.

In spite of shortened shifts, the tunnel is progressing according to schedule, and is expected to be opened to vehicular traffic late in 1940.

Although a number of cases of scarlet fever are reported in Ellsworth, we have been lucky to keep the epidemic from Atwood.

Mr. Speckman of Ellsworth died Wednesday evening at the home of his daughter. He had been in ill health for the past six months. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved family.

Rev. and Mrs. Dornbush went to Jenison, Mich., Tuesday to attend the dedication services of the new church built in Jenison, which were held Wednesday evening and Thursday. They returned to their home Friday.

CENTRAL LAKE

Nice little fall of the "beautiful" (7 inches) Sunday morning.

One doesn't feel so bad, though, when one hears on the radio, 62 inches of snow in Colorado.

C. H. Morse has been spending a few weeks visiting his daughter, Mrs. Jay Emory and family, in Flint.

Doyle Morse has been home sick with the flu the last few days, and unable to be at the Hank Station garage.

Lyle Morse and wife write from Melbourne, Fla., that they arrived there without accident at a cost to all four of only $23. They say the weather is fine.

Kenneth Greenman and family, who formerly lived near the Doty place, south end of town, are now residing in Ellsworth. He had formerly worked as section hand on the Pere Marquette.

A Traverse City lumber company's men have about finished lumbering on the A. I. Sage farm here, and then will turn to the Hannah Arnold farm, Eastport, to do some lumbering, transporting the logs to Traverse City.

Walter Anderson's people have moved from Creswell to Ellsworth, where Mr. Anderson has work at repairing cars and tractors at Kloster's garage, formerly "Corner Garage." They have moved into a cabin down near Big Fish Inn.

Bandits broke into the farm home of Jasper Loper, three miles north of town at the top of Keefe hill, and stole several articles and wrecked things. The Lopers had just last week moved to town with his brother, Charles. It is pretty well known, it is claimed, who the culprits were.

Search is still going on for the bandits who robbed the Martin Smith store. The wrecker which they used was traced to the Metcalf shop north of town, where it was thought to have been obtained. Mr. and Mrs. Smith surprised the intruders as the Smiths returned to the store about 11 o'clock last week Tuesday night, to see if all was well after the storm.

Some persons or persons broke into the Harold Dawson farm home on top of the hill back of the Welfred Davis farm west of town, taking several things, destroying dishes, etc. They put a towel into a bucket of tar. It appears as though some finger prints could be taken of these mauraders. State Police have a cap the Smith store robbers left instead of a good one they took.

Maurice Dawson and Edward Dawson are working on WPA project on Bently Hill, east of Atwood. The hill will be widened twenty feet on each side, and lowered eight feet. Their men recently contributed for flowers for Mrs. Chas. Johnson of Mancelona, daughter of Highway Commissioner Barney Mitchell. Last week they contributed help for the John King family, whose infant child died at Traverse City Hospital.

Sympathy is extended to Miss Wilma Hoopfer and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hoopfer and family of South Milton. Miss Wilma was one of those injured in the terrible school bus catastrophe, when the bus was side-swiped by a stock truck, driven by Mr. Denup of Ellsworth. Miss Hoopfer and twin sisters were helpers in our Sunday school work. Rev. Weaver did not believe young people under age should be away from home evenings unaccompanied by parents, and would not allow his daughter to play basketball except at home. She has been for thirty years a successful teacher in the Cincinnatti, Ohio public schools.

A terrible accident happened last Saturday afternoon at Central Lake. Robert Eckhardt, coming west, started to cross the Pere Marquette railroad tracks at the first crossing north of the station, and for some unaccountable reason failed to see the south bound passenger train, due here at 5:17 p. m. His car was struck by the locomotive and crushed. The car was dragged only about a rod before the train stopped. Robert was taken out unconscious and taken over to the Pallister home as the local physician was called. This Monday morning he appears to be coming out of the accident all right. There doesn't appear to be any bones broken, or any loss of blood. He certainly appears to be a lucky boy in escaping from what might have been a fatal accident.

We certainly can sympathize with the editor of the Courier. Our name appeared in a Union Sunday school quarterly along with a Norwood Sunday school class a few years ago. Our first name being somewhat similar to a girl's name, it was mistaken for that by a lady from Alabama, and another from Tennessee, and it being during the depression, they wrote me asking if I could let their girls have some of my old clothes. I had just received a lot of lady's clothing at a grab-bag sale, and I did the best I could, and sent these along with some aprons I had received at an apron social. About the same time, just before the Teachers Association meeting at Cadillac I received sample cloth and ladies hosiery from a ladies' clothing store there, and asking me to call there and inspect their goods during the Institute. I forgot to call.

KITE FLYING

Americans, more than other people, seem to possess the gambling instinct. They "take a chance" when others hesitate.

Stock markets in New York, Chicago and other cities are largely supported by men who "take fliers." There's more buying on margin than outright purchase of securities.

Such kite flying is vastly different from that with which Benjamin Franklin experimented. He knew there was electricity in the clouds. He simply tried to bring it down—and did so successfully.

Kite fliers on the stock market do not know whether there is profit or loss — all they know is there is a stock or commodity which, bought at the right time, brings profit, and at the wrong time loss.

What is the right time? They pay for a guess.—Frank B. Craig.

THIS PATMAN BILL

What will happen if the Patman taxation bill for chain stores becomes a law? Professor Malcolm McNair, marketing expert of the Harvard business school, believes it would cause a slump into a financial depression.

Whatever the physical results of the passage of the bill might be, the psychological results would be dire indeed. It would show business when vast enterprises are built up that legislation can easily be obtained which would destroy them. That would instill more caution in the minds of business leaders and excess caution is not an ingredient in that concoction we have learned to call "prosperity."

The chain food stores employ hundreds of thousands of men and women and the annual payroll runs into scores of millions of dollars. And for us of the rural areas it seems that any legislation affecting this great food distributing industry would send produce prices into a tailspin.

Why pick on the chains? In Michigan we have several flourishing chain stores and a number of prosperous independents. Ask those who trade at the chain stores if they want them removed or placed in a position where prices would have to be raised. If prices go up who do they affect? True the increase would provide more government revenue. But who pays the bill?

The wide-awake independent merchants consider the chain stores keen competition. They do not take them to task any more than they do their independent competitors.

Arguments presented by the great chains are sound and logical. If the Patman bill passes they will be sorely wounded with possible fatal results.

If Uncle Sam must have more money let us try a different route. When extra taxation must be had, why direct it at bread, butter, meat and potatoes? Even those least able to stand taxation must have them.

The Patman bill does not look good!

USE, DON'T SPEND MONEY

By Hester Renwick Fraser
Consumers' Counsel

Consumers can look toward a happier new year through the efforts of the merchants of the state who are extending a generous cooperation toward furthering a mutual confidence between the consumer and the merchant stores. Many efforts for the consumers are being made to help the consumer buy her wares with a greater understanding of what she is purchasing and the consumer can encourage these benefits by in turn cooperating with the merchants.

You, the consumer, can help gain benefits for yourself by:

1. Exchanging Christmas gifts and returning packages promptly.

2. Asking questions of the sales people at the time of purchase that will assure you the things you are purchasing will serve their real purpose.

3. Start the new year by making a shopping list that you will have a clear idea of what you need to purchase when going shopping.

4. Garments you are considering should be tried on in the store, whenever possible.

5. Compare merchandise according to the quality and its usefulness rather than just comparing price. The most expensive item may not serve the purpose as well as a less expensive item.

6. Do not send garments home unless you are sincerely considering keeping them. Try and have complete confidence in anything you are buying at the time you are buying it and you will find that your dollar will go farther. This will make for a happier consumer new year.

SEEK REPEAL BILL LEGALIZING HORSE RACING

Pari-Mutual Betting Would Be Outlawed If Bill Is Passed

A move to repeal the law which permits pari-mutuel betting on horse races has been started in the legislature by Rep. Joseph E. Warner, R., Ypsilanti.

Warner also introduced bills to abolish the State Crime Commission and the Legislative Council which he said are "unnecessary, superfluous and a needless expense to the state."

Regarding repeal of pari-mutuel betting, Warner explained that agricultural interests object to the use of land set aside for agricultural purposes at the state fair grounds for gambling.

"If we are going to legalize betting, let's do it all the way," he said.

SNOW PLOWS EQUIPPED WITH NEW TYPE LIGHTS

State Highway Department Installs New Safety Equipment

New types of lights to provide greater safety are being installed on snow-removal and ice-treatment equipment operating on the state trunkline highway system.

Larger trucks are being equipped with two rear blinker lights flashing alternately and continuously while a single light of this type is being installed on the smaller trucks. A spot light from the cab will shine on the blade of the snow plow, while an amber light will glow on men working on the dump box on sanding equipment. The three green lights on the front of the cab will be retained.

TAX AGENCIES IN MICHIGAN TOTAL 8,905

Governmental agencies in Michigan with the power to raise revenue from the public, principally through taxation, have increased to where they now total 8,905, a National Consumers Tax Commission survey showed today.

The study, made at the commission's headquarters in Chicago, was announced through Mrs. W. R. Alvord, of Highland Park, Michigan, national committee member and a leader in the organization's nation-wide crusade against "hidden taxes that are increasing the cost of living."

"Taxing units in Michigan are nearly equal in number to the state's schools, hospitals and libraries, the combined total of which is 9,320," the report stated. "These agencies average one for every 544 persons or for every 6.45 square miles."

The report pointed out the taxing agencies include those of counties, incorporated places, towns and townships, and others as well as state and national units.

"It is small wonder, therefore, that taxes of all types, supporting local, state and national governments, now are equal to 23.6 per cent of the national income," it continued.

"Sixty-three per cent of the huge tax burden for these governments is paid by everyday consumers in hidden taxes, against which the commission is fighting through non-political local women's groups in more than 2,500 communities throughout the country. These indirect levies are drawn from the people as a whole through increased prices of every purchase."

ODD FELLOW DANCING PARTY FRIDAY NIGHTS

Beginning Friday evening, January 20, and continuing throughout the winter season, dancing parties will be held Friday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall under auspices of the Odd Fellows. The "Gents of Swing" will furnish music for the parties.

The Rebekah ladies will hold a card party at the home of Mrs. A. J. Hamilton, Tuesday evening, January 24. Admission 15c.—Adv. 3t1.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

First Constitution of the State of Michigan

Buried among the archives and records of the department of state and hidden in one of the huge vaults is the original first constitution of the state of Michigan, dated June 24, 1835, and signed by the members of the first constitutional convention.

It was adopted by the people of the state in October, 1835. This constitution remained in force as the fundamental law of the state until the constitution of 1850 went into effect. This constitution, written before the extensive use of printing and lithographing, is in longhand.

The writing at the present time is very clear and easily readable. The pen used in writing the first constitution was placed in the cornerstone of the present state capitol in Lansing when it was laid in 1873.

Originally the constitution was stored in a round metal cannister for safe keeping as were all state documents of importance at that time. With frequent handling, the documents became seriously impaired and many of the signatures were torn and worn off by this method of preservation.

In 1913, the Sophia DeMarsac Campau Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution petitioned the board of state auditors, that this priceless and historic state document be preserved for future generations. Subsequently this request was granted and in 1914 the remnants of the document were sent to the manuscript department of the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., for restoration. The remnants were pieced together and pressed into manuscript gauze, the same method used as in the preserving of the will of George Washington, our first president.

Today we find the first constitution of the state of Michigan, bound in a large gilt edged, blue leather covered volume placed on the shelves along side of the constitution of 1850 and 1908, under the care of Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

By B. C. Mellencamp

Septic Systems Cost But Little

Stimulation of increased installations of septic systems in Charlevoix county is being encouraged through cooperation of the office of County Agricultural Agent B. C. Mellencamp and the extension service of Michigan State College.

Most recent survey in the state indicated that but 8 per cent of rural homes in Michigan are serviced with sanitary septic systems. This fell below even the low percentage, 18 homes in 100, equipped with running water.

George Amundson, extension specialist at the college, estimates that materials for sanitary facilities for the average rural home would cost but $25 to $30, including a syphon. Some systems are constructed without syphons, but experimentation at the college has led to the recommendation of systems using a syphon. Cost of tile for the aerating line is additional to this estimate.

Work of the county agents in the program in many counties includes locating concrete forms which can be used on the farms on a rental basis for each job. By keeping these forms in circulation, more farm homes are being equipped at low cost.

Meetings are being scheduled by Amundson and county agricultural agents for demonstrations in Eaton, Kent, Kalamazoo, Branch and Van Buren counties within the next few weeks.

MICHIGAN FAMILIES PAID $256,000,000 HIDDEN TAX IN 1938, SURVEY STATES

Michigan families paid a grand total of $256,000,000 in hidden taxes on their 1938 retail purchases, the National Consumers Tax Commission estimated in a year-end business survey today.

Retail sales in the state for the old year of $1,674,000,000, slightly higher than the 1937 figure, were estimated in the survey, directed from the commission's headquarters in Chicago.

"More than 15 per cent of that amount, or the tremendous sum of $256,000,000 went for hidden taxes," the report said. "Those taxes, paid through increased prices on every purchase, averaged $53.01 for every person, or approximately $217 per family.

"Throughout the nation, families in all income groups paid comparative hidden tax amounts. During the year they contributed, for the most part unknowingly, 63 per cent of all local, state and national revenues. Every purchase, whether luxury or necessity, was burdened with indirect taxes that forced up retail prices and lowered buying power."

The NCTC, a women's organization waging a "non-political nation-wide crusade against unnecessary taxes that penalize the consumer," made public its report through Mrs. W. R. Alvord, of Highland Park, member of the national committee.

Local groups in more than 2,500 communities across the country already have been organized in its educational campaign, the report said. More than 100 of such groups have been formed in Michigan, it added.

AT THE MOVIES

Miss MacDonald and Eddy Coming in "Sweethearts"

The outstanding musical treat of the new movie season comes to the Palace Theatre January 21-22, with the fifth co-starring appearance of Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy in "Sweethearts," filmization of the noted Victor Herbert operetta and marking the first appearance of the popular singing team in a technicolor production.

The new picture also marks a departure upon the part of Miss MacDonald and Eddy from such of their previous triumphs as "Naughty Marietta," "Maytime," and "Girl of the Golden West," in being a modern comedy, the screen play having been adapted from the Herbert operetta by the famed comedy writers, Dorothy Parker and Alan Campbell.

Miss O'Sullivan and Lew Ayres in "Spring Madness"

College romance in the modern manner, with its inevitable problems of love and economics, provides the basis for the story of "Spring Madness," which opens a two-day showing January 25 at the Palace Theatre, with Maureen O'Sullivan and Lew Ayres heading a topnotch cast.

Others in prominent roles include Ruth Hussey, last seen with Ayres in "Rich Man, Poor Girl," Burgess Meredith, who has scored in one hit after the other on the New York stage, Ann Morriss, Joyce Compton, Jacqueline Wells, Frank Albertson, Truman Bradley and Marjorie Gateson.

Olympe and Ray "Young Marrieds" In New Romance

Olympe Bradna — as a French bride of an American playboy, who takes a job as maid in his apartment until they can break the news to the family — and Ray Milland — as a handsome society lad, who has to shield his marriage from the world in order to save his father from bankruptcy—play the lead roles in Paramount's "Say It In French," a gay comedy of life in Manhattan's smartest circles, which will have its first local showing January 25 at the Palace Theatre.

RETAIL BUSINESS HAS INCREASED IN PAST YEAR

Income for 1938 Shown to be Greater Than Previous Year

Following the general upward trend, many retail lines in Michigan showed slight increases over 1937 figures, the NCTC survey reported. Despite unseasonable weather which slowed early Christmas sales, department stores, the recognized retail business barometer, reported an indicated two per cent increase over the year before, the report stated.

Retail trade throughout the state, the commission said, was favorably influenced by the upswing in the automotive industry last fall. An increase of 50,000 in October employment rolls, as well as similar increases in other months, in the Michigan area, contributed heavily to the final quarter advance.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday morning service, 10:45.

Sunday school, 12 o'clock.

Meets first Wednesday evening each month at 7:45 p. m.

We cordially invite the public to our service and reading room.

"Truth" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, January 22.

The Golden text (Deuteronomy 32:3, 4) is: "Ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Psalm 57:9, 10): "I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people: I will sing unto thee among the nations. For thy mercy is great unto the heavens, and thy truth unto the clouds."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 286): "The understanding of Truth gives full faith in Truth, and spiritual understanding is better than all burnt offerings."

Hero of 1,000 Rescues Gains Fame Anew By Aid to Doomed Youths

BUNGING his record total of rescues above the 1,000 mark, Clifford Thorne, famous Detroit lifeguard, saved three boys who were caught in a storm while swimming in Lake St. Clair, Michigan. The boys were terror-stricken and almost exhausted when Thorne, by the light of his flashlight, found them clinging to a sea buoy that was rocking and plunging in the waves.

Thorne had rowed far out on the lake to fish and, striking good luck, did not start back until dark. About half a mile from shore, he was caught in a sudden storm. Driving rain fell, and the wind whipped up a heavy sea. Thorne's boat began shipping water so badly that he had to stop every few minutes and bail out.

While he was busy trying to keep his craft afloat, he heard a cry for help. He answered, and the cry was repeated. Due to the noise made by wind and water, he could not make out from what direction the call came.

"Then," Thorne said, "I thought of my flashlight. It was cov- about ia water in the bottom of the boat, but when I snapped the switch, it worked. I swung it around, peering through the rain. After a few minutes I spotted the boys. They were hanging to the buoy, but in danger of being dislodged at any moment.

"As exhausted and frightened as they were, they let out a shout of joy. I rowed toward them, but I was afraid to come too close to the buoy—my boat might be smashed. One at a time, the boys swam to the boat and I helped them in. I then rowed for shore, with one boy holding the flashlight and another bailing.

"In my business, a rescue can become just another job, but that one was as lucky as any in my career. At the same time, it wouldn't have been possible if I hadn't put fresh batteries in my flashlight so that it worked when I needed light. If it hadn't worked, I would never have found those boys. And they couldn't have held on to that buoy much longer."

The three youths swam out to the buoy and were resting for the trip back when the storm caught them. Thorne's remarkable rescue record was described in a newspaper feature recently. It was said that his reward for saving 1,000 lives had been one cigar. He does not smoke.

YOUR MICHIGAN—AND MINE

True Stories of Human Interest
(Michigan Press Association)

The Good Old Days?

Portland—Although he has owned three autos, Edward Thomas prefers the old fashioned "safe, sane, and slow" way of traveling. Thomas, who is a 71-year-old Fowlerville farmer, recently made a 100-mile trip to visit friends in Ada, traveling in an ancient surrey, drawn by two fine driving horses.

Modern Pied Pipers

Hastings—Noticing that rats were undermining his farm buildings, Ben Proba-co of Sebewa put on his own pied piper act. When he plunger his spade into a nest while digging, a swarm of rats streamed out. Then he and his wife, armed with clubs, started swinging. The couple killed 32, and another battle under the corn crib netted 65 of the pests.

Human Fly

Royce—Charles E. Dozer, gasoline station attendant, turned in a professional job of the human fly type of wall climbing recently. When he noticed sparks on the roof of a nearby church, Dodge ran from the station. Climbing up the porch column and eaves, he reached the roof and ripped off the burning shingles, holding the fire in check until firemen arrived.

"New Deal" Weather

Boyne City—Instead of measuring height of muskrat houses, testing thickness of racoon fur, or using other Indinn methods, Andrew Chippeway, Indian sage of Peshawnabov, has found a new method of weather prediction. Andrew said: "Winter will be mild: Great White Father, he cuttin' down on relief.

Pass the Muskrat

Keego Harbor — Members of the local chamber of commerce were enjoying dinner one evening, when someone made the belated announcement that the tasty dish everyone thought was rabbit, was really muskrat. Several appetites were satisfied immediately, although about 60 rats had already been eaten by the 65 guests.

Narrow Escape

St. Louis—Dr. C. A. Fuller had a narrow escape on New Year's eve. He had just stepped out of his car, parked on a road on the outskirts of St. Louis and lighted a cigaret. In some manner, a small can of gasoline setting on the floor of his car became ignited and exploded. The windows were blown out of the car, and the interior badly burned. Dr. Fuller was uninjured.

Joke Scares Kids

Fremont—Several local pranksters were thoroughly frightened when a gas station attendant told them the foul-smelling substance they found in an old car was the body of a child. When State Police investigated, they couldn't find the corpse. Later it was learned that the station attendant had put the body of a dead cat in the car to discourage children from damaging the old cars in a nearby used car lot.

Planted Montana Grayling Are Doing Well in Michigan

Efforts to Re-Establish Variety Showing Signs of Success

Finny brothers of Michigan's once most famous fish, two Montana grayling, planted in two lakes in the Pigeon river state forest, appear to be doing well in their new habitat.

Recent checks indicate that the transplants from the west have grown rapidly and are in a good state of health. The first were planted in the fall of 1936 in Ford lake—about 5,000 5-months-olds. A second planting was made in 1937 in Section Four lake, in which about 1,000 adults were placed. The fish which have been collected for scientific purposes from the lakes recently ranged in length from 10 to 12 inches and were in excellent condition, according to Dr. A. S. Hazzard, director of the institute for fisheries research of the department of conservation, which is conducting the experiment.

Natives Fail

The Montana grayling were imported after efforts to catch and propagate Michigan grayling failed. This fish, which once teemed by the millions in several Michigan streams, is now believed to be extinct, the cause of its disappearance still being a scientific mystery.

The chief difficulty in the artificial propagation of the grayling, according to the records of fish research, has always been that of feeding. A voracious eater, the grayling is believed by many researchers to thrive only on living food, other than fish. Apparently it is no cannibal, notwithstanding the tremendous appetite which makes it easy for fishermen to catch.

Another trait of the grayling indicated in many experiments is that it may travel considerable distances to spawn.

The longer a man lives the more lost opportunities he has to regret.

LANSING LETTER

relief; instead the legislature authorized a "blank check" for $10,000,000.

Free Ferries

The free ferry idea, like free school books, sounds fine.

Obviously, such a service would be popular, for motorists are just as human as anyone else. The present law provides that the ferry toll charge shall meet the cost of operating the ferry service which approximates a half million dollars each year.

Where the difficulty arises is over the financing of a bridge across the Straits. In all estimates made so far, engineers have assumed that the tremendous investment would be liquidated in part, if not eventually, thru payment of toll fees. Once the state authorized free ferry service, bridge sentiment would rapidly subside.

The office building recommendation has merit, as has the suggestion that no further appropriations be made from the state general fund.

These latter proposals, like the first, will have to run the inevitable gauntlet of good road boosters who want every highway dollar available for matching by the federal government. Washington will send to Michigan in 1939 a total of $4,114,084 for highway improvements. Of this amount $3,012,993 will match state funds on a 50-50 basis; $451,949 will match funds that are raised 50-50 by counties and the state, and $649,147 will be an outright grant to build grade separations in metropolitan districts.

On February 3, Governor Fitzgerald will face the same hurdle that Murphy had one year ago. On that day the Michigan Good Roads federation holds a big rally at Grand Rapids, to which the governor has been invited to speak.

Gambling, Civil Service

The honeymoon period for the new state administration has been unexpectedly upset by a press tempest over gambling in Macomb county.

Taking the position that county officials, the sheriff and prosecuting attorney, are responsible for local law enforcement, Governor Fitzgerald let it be known, early this month, that gambling was a home rule responsibility. He didn't intend to order the state police hither and yon to clean up local conditions, unless or until the probate judge officially ousts the local officials and thereby invites the state to intervene.

Actually, this position is no innovation with Fitzgerald, and everyone concedes that there is plenty of good common sense to his views.

But it has been most annoying, to put it mildly. A compensating factor, however, is the announced determination of the new liquor control chairman, Orrin A. DeMuth of Detroit, that the present prohibition would be continued against slot machines in licensed establishments. He did intimate, however, that private clubs might be permitted to operate them if they could prove that all revenues were used for operating expenses or for benevolent purposes.

It raises a neat question: What is a "private club"? The Club Ackman, gambling house in Detroit, poses as a private club with an initiation fee of $5 and monthly dues of $1.

Civil Service Storm

Governor Fitzgerald's utterances in recent days have indicated a growing apprehension that patronage-minded legislators might go too far in revision of the civil service law.

After Personnel Director William Brownrigg had been pounded verbally by investigating legislators, Fitzgerald telephoned George Burke of Ann Arbor, Democrat and chairman of the civil service commission, to come to Lansing and back up Brownrigg in presenting a true story of civil service. Attorney General Thomas Read was reminded tartly that under the law he was vested with responsibility to provide legal counsel for Brownrigg.

Brownrigg did admit that the law made it "legally and theoretically possible" for employees to be assessed for political purposes. During an investigation of telephone fees paid by motorists at a Detroit branch of the secretary of state, statements were made to the effect that employees were assessed 2 per cent of their pay for campaign purposes by order of Bernard Youngblood, deputy secretary.

Medical Insurance

Socialized medicine under voluntary leadership of the Michigan State Medical society is assured for the low income wage-earner. Hospitalization insurance rates would vary from 60 cents an individual to $1.25 a family, depending on whether the patient is in a ward or a private room.

SHOT AT RANDOM

ken through the ice have been reported in Michigan in the last couple weeks. Should make us appreciate more fully the fine skating rink provided for our children at the school grounds where they are safe from the dangers of the lakes, and make parents more particular about seeing that their youngsters stay away from such dangers.

Have heard an awful lot of powwowing lately over how much it cost to dig the basement of the new city hall over on the corner of State and Mason streets, and inasmuch as the various calculations were in such variance—running from 75c to $1.50 per cubic yard—thought it might be a good idea to find out from someone who actually knew, how much it really did cost. Did just that and learned that they moved a total of 2225 cubic yards at a cost of $719.25, which, according to the arithmetic I learned at school, comes to 31.8c per cubic yard. In detail, the expenditures were:

Truck drivers, 286 hrs @ 75c	$214.50
Laborers, 44 hrs. @ 50c	22.00
Crane operator, 128 hrs @ $1	128.00
Fireman, 121 hrs. @ 65c	78.65
Foreman, 132 hrs. @ 75c	99.00
Truck rental, 286 hrs. @ 50c	143.00
Water service repair	6.60
Coal, 5 tons @ $5.50	27.50
	$719.25

It seems that because the original PWA "force account" was reduced from $800 to $500 and it was necessary to stay within that amount in city funds, contributions of city equipment and coal, also WPA truck and driver totaling $97.00 were used to finish the project, so when the $97 is deducted from $719.25, the net cost is $622.25. These figures include moving the steam shovel from the municipal electric light plant to the job and from there to East Park. And when you consider the city gets back 45% of the $500 from the PWA, it wasn't so expensive as some folks would want you to believe. It is to be granted that more money would have been spread out in labor had the council hired men with shovels to dig the basement. But then, is it the duty of the city council to throw away the taxpayers' money by doing the job the most expensive way? I realize it is getting close to election time and people sometimes greatly exaggerate facts to impress others when they have a purpose in view. So just to set everybody right about this whole matter have gone to all this trouble of digging up the figures and presenting the situation as it should be.

"Shorty" Sternberg wants to know if you call a new concrete road 'Barber's Highway' because of the close shaves you have trying to cross it?"

Have also heard more or less rumor covering the subject of native stone vs. brick for construction of the city hall. It so happens that the specifications given bidders provide three alternatives—native lime stone, Indiana stone and brick. Of the three, brick is by far the cheapest. If the bidders find lime stone too expensive to allow them to get under the amount available for the project, it is quite probable the low bid will be on brick construction and the council will be obligated to accept the low bid and we'll have a brick building. It all sums up to the fact that if you have only a limited sum available for the project and the bids run higher than that amount, the city will have to start over again with new plans, new specifications, new bids, etc. If we expect to have a city hall, let's leave the details up to the council and go on about our own business.

A local preacher was heard to say that every time a man goes into a saloon the devil goes with him, but the devil never pays for the drinks.

We're not altogether unaccustomed to unusual sights, but seeing kids riding their bikes to school here in the middle of January is something a little out of the ordinary.

BOYNE CITY PLANS TO SELECT WINTER QUEEN

Plan Winter Queen's Ball at Gym on Monday, January 23rd

Boyne City will select a wioter queen for participation in the Petoskey competition for Michigan winter queen at a winter queen's ball to be held Monday evening, January 23, at the high school gymnasium in that city.

The queen contest is sponsored by the Monday Study Club and a committee composed of Maxine Dilworth, Florida Kaden and Virginia Shaub assisting. Mrs. Gordon Bartlett (Delphine Stacku), the 1938 Boyne City winter queen, was chosen Michigan winter queen at Petoskey.

CONTESTS DOT FARMERS' WEEK PROGRAM AT MSC

24th Annual Event Scheduled for January 30 Through February 3

Contests embracing principal phases of Michigan agriculture in crop and livestock production and rural living again will dominate many of the events planned for the 24th annual Farmers' Week program at Michigan State College January 30 through February 3.

Through competition and spectator interest the event has become Number One of its kind in the United States.

Farmers and their families will come to the campus at East Lansing to see several or many of the scheduled events. They will be able to participate in rifle shooting, livestock judging, and presentation of short plays in the annual rural drama.

Champions for the state will be named for potato production, colt development, sinewy light and heavyweight pulling teams, high school baton twirlers, beans, corn and nearly all the other principal crops grown in Michigan.

Monday is Dairy Day. Tuesday is Livestock Day. Wednesday will see all the departments presenting programs, culminating in an evening schedule in demonstration hall for short speeches, horse pulling competition, parade of floats and livestock. Thursday the departments again operate to provide information and demonstrations. The evening program allots 10 minutes to an introduction of Governor Fitzgerald by Robert Shaw, college president.

Friday offers more departmental work. Feature of the day is the rural drama contest and State Grange singing contest in the morning. And those are but a few of the hundreds of events that occur during the week.

KROGER SALES SHOW HIKE OVER LAST YEAR

Period Sales for 1938 Were Above Those for Previous Year

For the first time in 1938, period sales of The Kroger Grocery and Baking company showed an increase over those of the same period in 1937, it was announced at the company's general offices at Cincinnati, Ohio.

Thirteenth period sales for 1938 were 2 per cent above those of the same four-week period last year, with a total of $19,207,034. Sales for the same four weeks in 1937 were $18,898,869.

Cumulative sales for the thirteen periods, ending Dec. 31, 1938 were $231,257,796, compared with sales for the same thirteen periods of 1937 which were $248,444,280. This represents a 7 per cent decrease.

Average number of stores in operation during the last period of 1938 was 5,094, while average number for the thirteenth period last year was 4,126.

SALES TAX REVENUE HIGHER IN DECEMBER

Figure 3% Under Last Year, But 4% Higher Than November

Collections under the sales tax for December, based on retail business done during November, totaled $4,152,328.01, according to figures issued by Draper Allen, managing director of the State Board of Tax Administration. The figure was 3% under the $4,591,011.97 collected in the same month of 1937 and was 4.5% higher than the sum received in November, 1938.

Collections during the first five months of 1938-39 fiscal year total $20,472,990.80 as compared with $24,283,957.93 collected in the same period of the 1937-38 fiscal year, a drop of 11.2%. Collections for the twelve months of the calendar year of 1938 were 17.9% under the twelve months of 1937.

SMALL DECREASE FERRY TRAFFIC NOTED IN 1938

Drop of 7 Per Cent Reported by State Highway Department

Ferry traffic at the Straits of Mackinac during 1938 was the second largest in history, the state highway department reported.

The banner year was 1937 when receipts totaled $490,895. Receipts last year were $459,368, a decrease of 6.4 per cent. The number of vehicles carried across the Straits declined 7.2 per cent and the number of passengers slumped 7.4 per cent.

The ferries carried 255,068 vehicles and 433,322 passengers last year. In 1937 they transported 274,749 vehicles and 467,842 passengers.

It was the first decrease since 1932.

BIG FEDERAL AID HIGHWAY PROGRAM BEGUN

Report States 41 of Michigan's 83 Counties Are Participating

The state highway department announced this week that 41 of Michigan's 83 counties are now actively participating in the so-called Federal Aid Secondary Program.

In 22 counties projects are already under way. In 19 others, plans are in process of preparation and bids for the actual construction will be taken in the near future.

The total program for secondary roads in Michigan amounts to more than $3,000,000 with half of the amount being supplied by the federal government. Of the total program 27 per cent is ear-marked for expenditure on secondary state trunklines and the remaining 73 per cent for expenditure on county roads. The Federal funds directed to the counties will be matched by the county road commissions and the money directed to the state highways will be matched by the state highway department.

As the year ended there was nearly a million dollars worth of projects under contract with another half million dollars worth in the plan stage.

Most of the work included in the program will consist of grading and gravel base preparation, oil aggregate surfacing, bridge construction, and a small mileage of concrete. This is the first program under which federal aid funds have been available for improvement of county roads.

MASONS INCREASE LEAD IN CRIBBAGE CONTEST

Out-Scored Odd Fellows by Margin of 130 Points Monday Night

The Masons substantially increased their lead over the Odd Fellows in the annual winter cribbage series through a second consecutive victory Monday night.

With 11 tables, the largest gathering of the series, in play, the Masons scored 19,798 points to 19,668 for the Odd Fellows, giving them an advantage of 130 points for the evening and 688 for the series. The winners were led by George W. Priest and Ray Ashdon with scores of 950, while Fred Christensen and Arthur Richardson turned in cards of 940 for the Odd Fellows' high score.

The next contest will be held Monday evening, January 23rd, at the Masonic temple.

TWO FIRES ARE CAUSED BY OVER-HEATED FURNACE

Slight damage resulted from two fires which called out the department since Sunday.

The Joseph Moore dwelling on West Hurlbut avenue was slightly damaged at 1:30 Sunday morning from a blaze caused by an over-heated furnace, and a fire resulting from the same cause Tuesday noon at the Charles Hendrickson residence on Mason street was extinguished with slight loss.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

From the office of
Fred Bradley, Congressman
11th District, Michigan

Millions for relief but not one cent for politics. That is the stand of a congress that proved in debate and by its voting that it was no longer a rubber stamp for the executive branch of the government.

The budget bureau estimated originally that a sum of $725,000,000 would be needed as an emergency appropriation to carry on the WPA program from February 7 to July 1. The president jumped the figure to $875,000,000.

The appropriation committee recommended by a vote of 22 to 10 that the figure be returned to that originally recommended by the budget bureau. Two days of debate followed, in which democrats joined with republicans in attacks on WPA policies, especially in the last election.

When the vote was taken the count was 399 to 16 in favor of the lower figure for the emergency appropriation, $725,000,000.

Purging Relief Rolls

Debate on the subject of relief policies disclosed a wide demand for the "purging" of the relief rolls. Sentiment favors relief, adequate relief for those in need, but, the feeling prevails that the WPA has been dominated by what was termed "career" men who have absorbed much of the money that belongs to those in need.

The amendments proposed give some idea of the division of thought on the subject of relief.

Republicans, joined by several democrats, believed that the appropriation should be limited to two months, to be followed by a revamped work program designed to better take care of the unemployed. Investigation of the practices of the WPA and a survey of the need for the future would be made during that time.

That was voted down, likewise the proposals that the appropriation be increased to $1,050,000,000 or, to the amount asked by the president.

Congressman Tarver, Georgia democrat, produced proof that the WPA wage scales varied as much as 900 per cent. His amendment that the differential be limited to 25 per cent carried—171 to 138.

The congresswoman from New York sought the ear-marking of 22 millions for the WPA art and theatre projects. This was literally shouted down after allegations had been made that communistic plays had been produced in the federal theatre project.

Members of both parties arose to decry the use of the WPA in politics in the last election. Congressman Hook rose to the defense of the democrats and the WPA, and charged the opposition was winning support from those on WPA by promising more than they were getting under his party.

Increase of Private Jobs

The expectation is that the emergency appropriation granted will take care of the nation's needs. Business is figured by WPA authorities to absorb not less than 1,500,000 and the PWA program will also provide more work and money offsetting the reduction in WPA funds.

Purging of the work relief rolls of the career men and tax eaters who do not belong on the government payroll, the transfer of unemployables to the relief rolls, all these things are expected to operate to reduce the cost of the work relief program.

Balancing of the federal budget, or even the adoption of policies promising that objective, would serve as an incentive to private business and open up the field of employment, many believe.

The Dies committee will likely be granted the $150,000 asked to carry on its investigation of un-American activities. Former Governor Murphy was given the confirmation of the senate judiciary sub-committee when he asked to be allowed to present his side of the story about the Michigan sit-down strikes. The president's request for $525,000 for a national defense program is regarded as conservative and will likely be granted.

WILLIAM WITHERS TAKEN BY DEATH

PROMINENT MARION DAIRYMAN SUCCUMBED SUNDAY

Was Promiocet in County and Township Affairs — Fuoeral Held Wednesday Afternoon

Marion towuship lost a pioneer and Charlevoix county a prominent citizen in the death Sunday night of William Withers, who succumbed following an illness of several months.

Born April 22, 1859, at Toronto, Canada, Mr. Withers came to Charlevoix nt the age of 19 years. He worked for John S. Dixon, one of Charlevoix county's first settlers, for several years, then took a week to cut a road through virgin timber to the site he picked to homestead in Marion township. Not n stick of timber had been cut in that section and for many years he was compelled to wield an axe rather than a hoe and in the meantime followed his trade as a lather. As he cleared the land, Mr. Withers hauled the logs to a sawmill to be ent into lumber which was saved for the present home, a dwelling maoy years ago equipped with all the conveniences of the city home.

While Mr. Withers operated a dairy for over forty years and specialized in purebred Holstein cattle, he made a success of frults, having won a bronze medal for apples at the St. Louis world's fair, and of growing grains. The buildings and equipment of the farm, which grew from 120 to 321 aeres, were of the most modern type.

Mr. Withers took an active part in civic affairs. He was county drain eommissioner at his death, was Marion township clerk 21 years and highway commissioner 10 years, a school and Grange officer and was a member of the Masonic fraternity.

Mr. Withers was married Deeember 9, 1885 to Belle Hlack, who survives him in addition to a daughter, Mrs. Florence Williams, two sons, Clarence and Harold, a brother, Robert Withers, seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'eloek Wednesday afternoon from the See Funeral Home, Rev. G. R. Parker officiating. Burial was at Brookside eemetery.

WPA APPROVAL CITY-WIDE SEWER PROJECT

Grant of $20,817 Toward $28,225 Program Is Aooounced

Charlevoix city offieials were jubilant Tuesday over approval of another major WPA grant for this eity.

A telegram received from Washington by City Superintendent Don Herriek announeed presidential approval of a WPA grant of $20,817.00 for a eity-wide water and storm sewer project. The total eatimated eost of the project is $28,225.00, of wbieh the eity's contribution totals $7,408.00.

The program is designed to alleviate bad eonditions on the north side particularly and also eovers eertain districts in the valley and south side. Mr. Herriek gave no definite time when the project would be started.

PLANS PROGRESSING FOR LOEB CREEK POND

Preliminary Surveys Show Fine Possibilities for Project

Progress is being made by the Charlevoix Sportsman's Club on plans to establish a trout pond on Loeb Creek, 3 miles south of this city on M-66.

Roy Ranger, president of the organiznation, has completed preliminary surveys which revoal that a pond three-quarters of a mile long, several hundred feet wide and with a depth of from 3 to 12 feet, ean he made. Property rights for the pond have been granted by Mrs. A. H. Loeb of Chicago, prominent Charlevoix summer resident.

Provided permission can be obtained, it is planned to use a portion of the new fill to be made over Loeb creek, contracts for which have been awarded by the state highway department, for the dam. A camping site for tourists would be developed east of the pond head if plans are carried out.

SCHOOL AIO MONEY IS REAL CONCERN

FITZGERALD STUDIES INCOME TO FIND FUNDS

Goveroor Has Promised to Recommend $45,000,000 for School During Each of Next Two Years

Fioding money for state aid to schools is a source of coneern to Governor Fitzgerald as he made n eursory study of departmental requests for the next biennium.

If the state could, and would, grant everything the department heads and the schools want, appropriations would exceed revenues in 1939-40 by more than 50 million dollars and in 1940-41 by 45 million dollars.

The requests were eompiled by Budget Director Harold D. Smith in a volume entitled "Hudget for the biennial fiscal period ending June 30, 1941" and submitted by former Governor Frank Murphy to the legislature. Fitzgerald said it was anything but a budget.

"It is just a compilation of things the department heads wnnt," he said.

Fitzgerald has promised to recommend $45,000,000 for schools during each of the next two fiscal years. That means that schools would get nearly half of all anticipated revenue. Smith estimated the state's income, based on present tax laws, at $97,394,880 for next year and $97,400,490 for the following year.

If business conditions continue to improve, revenue will exeeed those figures. Revenue for the present fiscal year is estimated at $102,206,109.

COUNCIL REJECTS 9 CITY HALL BIDS

ALL BIDS SUBMITTED IN EXCESS OF ESTIMATES

Decision of PWA Sought on Procedure to Follow for Continuation of Project

The city council Monday night rejeeted nine bids submitted from construction firms on the combination city hall and fire station.

The aetion was taken in view of the fact all bids, which ranged from n low of $69,143.00 to a high of $90,427.00, were above the estimates and in exeess of the amount the city has available for the project. Funds nvailable include a bond issue of $36,000 approved by voters and a PWA grant of $29,025.00.

The nine bids were submitted by A. W. Hodgkiss of Petoskey, Reniger Construction Co. of Lansing, Muskegon Construction Co. of Muskegon, F. W. Bürgstohler & Sons of Grand Rapids, Sorensen-Gross Construction Co. of Flint, Nelson & Young of Petoskey, Kit Carson Lumher Co. of Charlevoix, H. G. Christman-Lansing Co. of Lansing, and Rogers Construction Co. of East Jordan.

Further progress on the project depends upon the decision of PWA officials in Chicago on the method of procedure. It is possible that the PWA will allow changes in the specifications to arrive at a desired base bid without re-advertising for new bids. It is oxpeeted the matter will be cleared up in a brief time.

In addition to aetion on bids, the council passed n payroll aggregating $2,803.51; approved the form of bonds for the city hall project, and entered eootract with the Pere Marquette Railway Co. for right-of-way on railroad property for eertain portions of the Chnrevoix-Bellaire transmission line.

FAIR ASSOCIATION ELECTEO OFFICERS

JESS SMITH, CHARLEVOIX, RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT

Charles Murphy Retaioed as Secretary Aoother Year—Fair Grounds Are Being Improved

Some fourteen directors and officers of the Charlevoix County Agricultural Society reeently held their first meeting for 1939 at East Jordan.

Secretary Murphy was appointed as the fair board's agent nn the WPA grounds and buildings repnir projeets.

In all, about $28,000 has been alloted by the WPA for the following items: Repairs on the various buildings, the electric light lines rebuilt, gravel roads completed, race track reclayed nnd grounds re-fenced.

The dairy industry in this region is fast developing nnd as a result the cattle exhibit barns are inadequate in their present capacity. To care for this, the present hog and sheep exhibit barn will be converted into a cattle barn. The old dining hall—long outgrown its usefulness—will be moved into line with other exhibit barns and placed in condition to house hogs and sheep.

The south wing of the educationnl building will be converted into a dining hall.

A strip of 50-feet of bleachers will be erected on each side of the grandstand and the track re-fenced.

A crow of fifty WPA workers started on the various projects last week Thursday under the supervision of Percy Riness.

Another meeting of the direetors and officers will be held in the near future to hear reports on attractions secured by President Smith and Secretary Murphy at the recent convention of fair managers in Detroit, set dates for the coming meet, and plan many other details.

STATE KIWANIS CONVENTION DATES SET

Come to Charlevoix for 1939 Meeting Aug. 31, Sept. 1 and 2

President Harold Hallett reported on the Kiwanis mid-winter eonvention held last week in Detroit at the local Kiwanis meeting Tuesday night.

He brought the information that dates for the 1939 state eonvention, to be held in Charlevoix, were set for August 31, September 1 and 2. His observations at the Detroit meeting revealed that many of the Kiwanis Clubs of northern Miehigan are backing the Charlevoix program with mueh enthusiasm.

BISHOP SEEKING MORE CASH FOR ADVERTISING

Introduces Senate Bill to Increase Appropriation for Promotion

Advertising Michigan's tourist and resort advantages and its agriculture produets will eost $400,000 the next two fiseal years, if a bill introduced in the senate by Sen. Otto W. Bishop, R., Alpena, is passed.

The hill specifies the amount suggested by Governor Fitzgerald in his message to the legislature and is $100,000 more than appropriated in the 1937 session.

There would be $100,000 a year to be spent at the Governor's direction for advertising agriculture. A like sum would be divided up nmong the four state tourist associations.

Two years ago the legislature set aside (but the amount was cut by economic measures), $150,000 a year, $50,000 of which was spent by the state and $100,000 by the tourist bureaus. A $5,000-a-year fund for promoting the sale of Michigan apples wns the only subsidy for any agricultural product.

PRESIDENT'S BALL MONDAY EVENING

SIXTH ANNUAL COUNTY EVENT AT THE ARGONNE

Support Solicited in Nation-Wide Campaign for Funds to Fight Infantile Paralysis

Charlevoix county's sixth annual President's Birthday Ball, sponsored in connection with a nation-wide effort to raise funds for the fight against infantile parnlysis, will be held Monday evening, January 30th, at The Argonne.

H. O. Wiles of Boyne City, chairman of the county committee handling the event, states that most gratifying response has been given to efforts of the various community committees, indicating a good attendance at the event.

W. J. Kerns, operator of The Argonne, has announced that Howard Davenport's "Gents of Swing" will furnish music for the party and that other special arrangements are being made to make the evening a most enjoyable one for those attending.

The "March of Dimes" campaign, which has been meeting wonderful response throughout the nation, is being placed on a house-to-house basis through an arrangement whereby envelopes for contributions will be distributed by Western Union messenger to all residences. Dan Geneit and William Foster, members of the Charlevoix committee, have announced that this phase of the campaign will be carried out in Charlevoix.

Funds derived from the President's Ball will be equally divided, 50% remaining in the community and 50% going to the national headquarters.

Patriotie eitizens are urged to either attend the ball or contribute financial support.

Contest Close All the Way—Play at Boyne City This Week — Meet Jordan Again February 3rd

Charlevoix's Red Rayders maintained their leadership in the "Little Seven" class C haskethall conference with a 19 to 16 vietory over East Jordan on the home court Friday night.

The Rayders topped the aggressive East Jordan combination only after a hard-fought battle which saw them trailing nt the end of the first quarter and leading by a narrow margin the balance of the game.

The Jordanites netted two goals and a gift shot in the first period of play to give them a 5 to 4 lead at the quarter. The Rayders found the hoop for a goal and pair of free throws in the second period and emerged with an 8 to 7 advantage at the half. They maintained a lead during the remninder of the contest, showing a 15 to 11 advantage at the third intermission.

Withers scored 9 points to lead the Rayders, Brown netted 6. Saxton was best for Jordan with 8 points.

The score by quarters:

Charlevoix	4	4	7	4—19
East Jordan	5	2	4	5—13

The line-ups:

CHARLEVOIX (19)	FG	FT	PF
Henley	1	2	0
Carey	0	0	3
Goss	0	0	1
Brown	2	2	3
Withers	4	1	2

EAST JORDAN (13)	FG	FT	PF
Antoine	0	0	1
Cihak	0	1	1
Isman	0	0	2
Bulow	2	2	3
Saxton	2	4	2
Gee	0	1	2
	4	8	10

The Rayders play away from home two suceeeding weeks before returning to the home hardwood to finish their schedule. They meet Boyne's powerful team Friday night in what promises to be a feature contest of the season, and a week later play a return tilt at East Jordan.

TOWNSEND CLUB NAMED OFFICERS ENSUING YEAR

C. V. Miles Re-Elected President; Others Contioue in Office

The 1938 officers of the Charlevoix Townsend Club were re-elected for the ensuing year at the recent annual meeting of the organization.

Those chosen were: President, C. V. Miles; vice president, William H. Cook; secretary-treasurer, Harry E. Cohlentz. Named to the advisory board were: H. R. Fowler, William H. Cook, George Brown, George W. Weaver and Mrs. Lena Wallace.

The Hiller family, whose palatial summer home is located on Michigan avenue, are numbered among Charlevoix's earliest regular summer residents.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

It just goes to show you how little a fellow sometimes knows about the little ordinary things. I always thought the reason fish entrails were taken out and placed on farm lands was to fertilize the soil. Just found out that it wasn't the fish entrails that done the fertilizing, it's the sea gulls that gather around to eat the entrails.

Remember "Jock" Rowker, the gusty old chap who staged the Great Lakes Open golf tournament held a number of years ago at the Belvedere course to sort of introduce the lay-out? Well, I had completely forgotten him until just recently I happened to pick up the rotogravure section of a metropolitan daily and there was his picture taken with a group of golf luminaries down at Pinehurst, N. C. It recalled old memories. "Jock" took a lot of pride in a healthy crop of hair on his head. He used a special concoction of bay rum to fertilize the growth and was always generous in recommending its use to others. I remember he gave a bottle to a certain fellow, who, after using it for some time finally drank the stuff. The only hair resulting was an imaginary growth on his tongue the next morning. I really never found out whether Jock applied the stuff internally or externally.

In Michigan you have to wait five days after making application for a marriage license before you can get hitched and then, if the circumstances make it necessary, they can get on relief at once. Out in Cook county, Iowa, a couple that weds receives no relief until a year after the ceremony. Those on relief can't drive an automobile, either. License plates must be turned in at the welfare office before relief will be granted.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

A bean grower himself, Governor Fitzgerald expressed delight at the opportunity last week to proclaim February 2 to 8 as "Eat More Beans Week" in Michigan.

Therein lies interesting news.

Michigan grows 86 per cent of all the navy beans in the United States. In lima and kidney beans, we're also up high in the national list.

For the past two years the weather has been ideal for bean culture, resulting in bumper crops and a surplus stock that has depressed prices. It is estimated that more than 1,000,000 bags of beans constitute a surplus on the hands of Michigan growers.

Hence the lowly bean takes on a new economic significance. When you eat bean soup, you'll help thousands of Michigan bean growers. Among these is Farmer Fitzgerald at whose Grand Ledge country place this month were 3,000 bags of beans, part of the million bag surplus.

4-H Forestry Clubs Becoming Active

The first meetings held in 1939 for 4-H club forestry members were featured by soand moving pictares shown by Charles Welch, state conservation department, last week, Monday.

The pictures were of high class and meloded topics of interest in conservation. They showed beavers actually at work building dams, all state mammals, the moose herd on Isle Royal, how the various animals are caught and shipped to new homes, the death loss in deer from starvation, and many other subjects being studied by the 4-H club members.

Next month another meeting will he held with W. Ira Ball, extension forester, present to discass other problems in forestry. A third series of meetings is planned for March or April to be followed by actaal tree planting.

The 4-H forestry club program is attracting great interest. In fact, many individaal projects are being planned for this winter on various subjects.

Home Management Leaders Received Third Lesson Last Week

Miss Helen Noyes, specialist in home management, met with the local leaders in the home management project last Thursday and presented the third lesson to representatives from fifteen groaps. With the thermometer well below zero, many guesses were made as to how many leaders would brave the elements and attend. In spite of this condition, only two groaps in the county were absent which very nicely proves the fact that this project is greatly appreciated by the rural and arban communities throughout the county.

Approximately 250 farm women are participating in the program. Seventeen communities are organized. The material given has practical application in every home. You will want to see the results of this program on achievement day next May. The next lesson will be given on March 2.

Tuesday, January 17, Devoted to a Study of Cooperatives

Sometimes it is said that nothing ever happens but this certainly was not true a short time ago when two important meetings were held on the same day, at the same time, and with somewhat the same subject matter.

At Marion Center Grange hall the Tri-County Farm Bureau held its annual meeting with a very appreciative audience of farm leaders from Antrim and Charlevoix counties. The program included reports of delegates to state meetings, remarks by our county agent, and addresses by Mr. Harger and Mr. Addy, representing the state organization. This organization is closely identified with any legislative effort in behalf of agricultare and any policies for the advancement of farmers.

At Boyne City the first school of cooperation meeting was held starting at 10:30. This meeting attracted forty cooperative managers and board members from northern Michigan. Educationally, the featare of the program waa a discussion of Michigan's Unemployment Act as related to cooperatives.

The discussion in marketing Michigan potatoes was handled by F. P. Hibst, Cadillac Growers Exchange, while the problems of organization were discussed by Arthur Howland and C. L. Nash, specialists in agricultural economics.

Another meeting will be conducted, probably in February. For many years those interested in cooperatives meet together two or three times during the winter and discuss legislative acts, that affect Co-ops, as well as other timely topics that develop from time to time.

AT THE MOVIES

Gary Cooper Sings for First Time

For the first time in an otherwise varied screen career in which he has ridden horses, climbed mountains, flown airplanes, been shot at and done a bit of shooting himself, Gary Cooper sings.

It's for the Samael Goldwyn production "The Cowboy and the Lady," coming January 28-29 to the Palace Theatre, that Cooper first opens his mouth in song and his voice turns out to be a shade on the hasso side of baritone, according to the sound department.

For this initial effort at warbling, Cooper has the help of others in the cast.

CHAPTER I

Mary looked about the living room with mingled emotions of affection and despair. Phrony had just completed the first thorough cleaning it had undergone in two months, and the place did not seem quite as cluttered as usual. The woodwork and furniture had been polished with something Aunt Mamie had bought from a door-to-door salesman; the windows shone from yesterday's washing; the nap of the Axminster "nine-by-twelve" positively stood up as a result of Phrony's vigorous sweeping with the ancient, but still active, vacuum cleaner. Holly wreaths, tied with rather too narrow red ribbon, hung at each window, while Aunt Mamie now labored over the arrangement of a bunch of the same leaves for a vase on the mantel.

"The house looks more festive than it has for years," Mary remarked happily. "Christmas decorations certainly help."

Aunt Mamie compressed her thin lips. "Not half as much as a good, first class cleaning," she replied. "Why your mother puts up, year after year, with incompetent help is beyond my understanding. Of course, this isn't my house, and it's not up to me to interfere."

Mary's young shoulders straightened defiantly. "You know why Mother puts up with incompetent help, as you call it, Aunt Mamie. Phrony's the only maid we can get in Hawkinsville who'll cook for this big family, and clean, and wash, for five dollars a week."

Aunt Mamie, her father's maiden sister, was getting more and more on Mary's nerves as the years went on. She had been dependent on Mother and Daddy's hospitality for two decades now, yet she eternally found fault with Mrs. Loring's housekeeping, criticized the conduct of Mary, her eighteen-year-old sister Ellen, and their harum-scarum and adorable little brother, Peter; complained constantly about her health, which, as far as the Lorings could determine, was about on a par with that of a truck horse; continually referred to the purely imaginary men she might have married. In fact, as time had worn on, Mamie's illusory suitors had become more and more real in Mamie's mind, increasingly ardent in their affection for her; their words, never actually spoken, their deeds never actually committed, more and more colorful and graphic in her frequent recitals of them.

Mrs. Loring, always eager to avert unpleasant feeling, eternally seeking peace at the cost of any concession she might make, forced a smile to her lips. "How charming everything looks!" she exclaimed brightly. "I know Linnie and Lelia will think the house is sweet. It's been years since they've seen it, you know."

Mamie turned about, and gazed dolefully at her sister-in-law. "Too many years, I'd say," she remarked. "Seems to me a woman that was born and raised in Hawkinsville would see fit to return to her home town a little oftener; but, of course, Linnie always was a gadder."

Mrs. Loring flushed to the roots of her dark hair. "Well, why shouldn't she be a gadder, Mamie? She has no ties, whatsoever; she loves to travel, and she has a very nice income."

Mary hadn't seen her mother's sister, Linnie Cotswell, for ten years, but she was quite willing to fly to her defense. "I think she's a darned good sport," she said defiantly, "and if I were in her shoes, I'd live just the sort of life she's chosen to live—Europe in the summer, New York in the autumn, Florida for the winter."

"And dashing about, spending other people's money, like a drunken sailor!" Mamie persisted, the tip of her long thin nose twitching convulsively.

Mrs. Loring seated herself in one of the armchairs by the round center table, and with apparent calm, picked up the Hawkinsville Journal, fluttered it open, and pretended to read the headlines. "The money Linnie spends is her own," she said, her eyes fixed unseeingly on the print. "It was begotten to her—by several different people."

Intrigued by this revelation, Mary asked, "How come, Mother?"

"Stop saying 'how come,' Mary! I've told you again and again that I hate that expression. Well, when your Grandfather Cotswell died, Linnie was the only one of us who had not married, and he naturally felt that what money he had should go to her. He thought—that since all the rest of his daughters had husbands, we would, of course, be provided for."

"Dirty trick, I'd say!" sniffed Mamie. "I can't see why one daughter should have been singled out. How did he know Linnie wouldn't later marry some man that'd outshine the husbands of all the others? Too bad he didn't set aside a tidy sum for you, Janet."

Mrs. Loring's eyes clouded. "Jim was a very promising young lawyer at the time, Mamie. My father had no reason to believe that—that we would later have to struggle—as we have had to do."

"We're having a very nice dinner," Mrs. Loring went on, trying valiantly to avert a clash. "I bought a lovely roast beef at Hulbert's, and Phrony's going to try Mrs. Upham's recipe for French-frying those little hearts of cauliflower."

Mamie's eyes glittered with anticipation. She was inordinately fond of food, although she was constantly telling how little she ate. Even hearing about a meal was a pleasure, and now being informed that beef and cauliflower were in store for her, her attention was diverted from the topic of the inconvenience caused by Linnie Cotswell's and Lelia Ormsby's visit.

"Mother, are you going to the station with Dad, or shall I?"

"You go, darling. I know you can hardly wait to see Aunt Linnie."

Five minutes later, Mary was speeding through the wintry dusk, up Concert street to Seventh, down Seventh to Main, and up the rather dirty brown steps that led to her father's dingy law offices in the Cactus building. A light snow had begun to drift earthwards, and to cover the little town with a magic carpet of white.

James Loring was seated at his desk when Mary, without knocking, opened the door of his office. He was alone, his one office assistant being Ellen, who had left an hour before to do some last-minute Christmas shopping. A green-shaded electric bulb shone down upon his thinning hair and the well-thumbed law book over which he was poring. "Poor Daddy," Mary thought, a quick hard lump filling her throat, "sitting here in this dreary old office the afternoon before Christmas, and reading up on a case that was probably tried somewhere fifty years ago! Well, it's a good thing the railroad keeps him on as their local attorney. Heaven knows, his cases of any other sort are few and far between, and pay practically nothing when they do come."

He glanced up as she entered, his face lighting with a smile as he saw how smart she looked in the new fur coat she had bought from her own savings, and the little hat that dipped rakishly over one eye. "How pretty you look, my dear!" he exclaimed, rising from his chair with that old-world courtliness which he extended even to his female children. "It must be getting colder. Your cheeks are almost crimson, and your eyes positively sparkle."

Mary put her gloved hand on his arm. "If my eyes are sparkling, Daddy, it's because of Aunt Linnie's coming—and not the weather conditions, although it is getting snappier every minute outdoors. Hurry, Dad, and close up shop. The train's due now in ten minutes. Good heavens, I don't believe you're at all excited over the arrival of our prodigal relatives!"

Mary linked one arm through her father's as the train blustered in. They were coming! They were coming! Those creatures from another world! Suddenly, she caught sight of them through the snow-splattered windows of the Pullman.

Mary pressed forward, reaching Miss Cotswell as she stepped to the ground. "Aunt Linnie!" she exclaimed. "Aunt Linnie!"

Linnie Cotswell caught her in a swift, fragrant embrace, kissed her lightly, then wheeled about to the porter. "Are you sure all my bags are here?" And, being assured that her six, and Lelia's three pieces, of pigskin luggage were duly piled together, she returned her attention to Mary. "My dear!" she exclaimed. "What a lovely young woman you've grown to be! This is Mary, isn't it? Darling, you were terrible in glasses and dental braces the last time I saw you! And Jim! Dear old Jim, how nice it is to see you! And, of course, you know this is Lelia!"

Lelia, one lovely blue eye almost obscured from view by the dipping fur of the Cossack hat, extended a hand, first to Mary, and then to James Loring.

The train began chug-chugging its way from the station, and Linnie, glancing at her brother-in-law, sensed his dismay. "Poor Jim," she laughed, "are you wondering why in the world we brought so many bags? Well, six of them are mine. When a woman reaches my age, you know, she simply has to carry about a lot of clothes, and astringents and cold creams in order to be constantly warding off the ravages of time. Isn't there a redcap in this place?"

Mary laughed. "Not one in a carload, Aunt Linnie, but I can manage at least three of those gorgeous bags. I'm young and strong and willing, as they always say in advertisements."

"And I can manage the other six," said Christopher Cragg, appearing suddenly from behind a baggage truck. "Why not let me take all of them in my car?"

"And why not?" retorted Mary, although her heart skipped a beat as it always so foolishly did when she came upon the young doctor unexpectedly. "Aunt Linnie, this is Christopher Cragg. Mrs. Ormsby, Doctor Cragg."

Five minutes later, James Loring's car, carrying the three women, was crawling discreetly up Johnson Street hill, while Christopher Cragg's sedan, filled to the roof with luggage, followed sedately.

"Where in the world did that young giant come from?" Linnie Colswell demanded. "If only I were thirty years younger, I'd fall in love with him. He's not a Hawkinsville man, is he, Jim?"

"He's not from a Hawkinsville family," Mr. Loring returned, his eyes ahead of him as he piloted his old car towards Main street, "but he's chosen to live here. Old Doctor Ehinger died a year ago, you know, and this chap happened to finish his interneship at the Glenrotin Hospital in Chicago just at that time. Well, he had gone to Harvard with one of the Johnstone boys, so Johnstone, knowing Doctor Cragg was looking for an opening in a small town, wrote him about the practice and the office and the little house Doctor Ehinger had left. Without a head Cragg dashed right down to Hawkinsville and bought out the whole works from Jessie."

"And I can manage the other six," said Christopher Cragg.

"But, Jim," asked Linnie, "wasn't Doctor Ehinger's equipment terribly antiquated? I can't see how a doctor just starting off in life could put up with it."

"It was simply incredible," interpolated Mary. "Chris has thrown most of it out, and bought beautiful new stuff. Everything is white tile and glistening metal now. It seems he went through the deal with Miss Jessie just as a matter of good will, and really he's profiting by it. All the younger people in town are taking their children to him."

"Even so," Linnie Cotswell said meditatively, "he can't expect to make a fortune in a town of this size. After all, a city's the place for a modern young doctor."

"Most people think he's just a little too modern for their tastes," returned Jim Loring. "After all, the old ways are the best."

"Oh, fiddlesticks," Linnie Cotswell chortled. "Why, isn't this your house?"

Mrs. Loring had lighted the place from top to bottom, and the freshly washed windows cast shafts of brightness into the night.

"What will Lelia Ormsby think of our home?" Mary asked herself.

Aunt Linnie was in Mrs. Loring's arms now, and they were exclaiming and weeping and laughing all at the same time; then, Mrs. Loring was greeting Lelia, and drawing them all into the hall, while Ellen and eight-year-old Peter rushed pell-mell down the bare steps, with Barrie, Pete's Airedale, following at their heels.

Mary looked towards the curb to see if Chris was pulling up. Yes, there he was, opening the door of the car, dragging out Linnie's and Lelia's bags. She ran out to help him, insisting on carrying three of the smaller pieces, while he swooped the other six into his grasp.

"Isn't she the loveliest thing you've ever seen, Chris?" whispered Mary, as they slipped and slid over the icy walk to the house.

ISLAND MAIL BOAT ON SPECIAL TRIP SATURDAY

St. James Harbor Found Ice-Locked; Land at Sand Bay

About a dozen passengers and considerable freight and mail was transported Saturday to Beaver Island by the mail boat Mary Margaret.

Capt. Leroy Allers made the special trip, the second in a week's time, when adverse weather conditions had grounded the mail plane for several days, resulting in an accumulation of passengers desiring to go to the island and to handle freight and mail.

Due to St. James harbor being ice-locked, a landing was made at Sand Bay, this harbor providing the closest approach to land.

The Literary and Sewing Club will hold a cafeteria supper at 5:30 Friday evening, January 27th at the Methodist church basement. Menu consists of baked ham, meat and salmon loaf. 4t1.

ULYSSES J. McCANN A VICTIM HEART ATTACK

Sudden Death Monday Morning Shock to Family and Friends

Ulysses J. McCann, 45, well known boat designer and builder, died of heart attack at the S. O. Sorensen residence on State street at 11 o'clock Monday morning. His sudden passing came as a severe shock to his family and friends.

Mr. McCann was born at St. James November 14, 1893. He was educated there and when a young man built the motor ship Sea Hawk which he operated as a fruit carrier. He worked in shipyards in California a year and during the World War built seaplane bodies at Port Clinton and Boston. He was prominent as a designer and builder of commercial boats.

Mr. McCann married Irene Gallagher at St. James on January 7, 1924. She died in 1925. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. James McCann of St. James; two sisters, Mrs. Marguerite Runberg of St. James and Katherine of Lansing; four brothers, Roland and James of St. James, Emmett of Charlevoix, and Charles of Bay City.

The body was taken Tuesday to St. James. Funeral services and interment will be Thursday.

FACES TWO CHARGES OF STEALING AUTOS

Ralph Richards, East Jordan, Held in Jail to Circuit Court

Ralph Richards, 24, of East Jordan, waived examination before Justice H. R. Fowler, Monday afternoon, on a charge of illegally driving away two motor vehicles.

It is charged Richards stole a car at East Jordan last Thursday night and abandoned it near Central Lake and then stole another car at Central Lake which he abandoned at East Jordan. He is also alleged to have broken into the residence of Mrs. S. Ludbrook, about a mile north of Central Lake, apparently taking nothing.

Richards was bound over to circuit court.

LOCAL FIGHTERS LOSE AT BOYNE TOURNAMENT

Oliver Duplessis and Archie Wasegesick Reached Semi-Finals

Oliver Duplessis, a lightweight, and Archie Wasegesick, a bantam weight, were cuffed out of the Golden Gloves tournament at Boine City in the semi-finals Thursday night.

Duplessis, who had won two matches by the knock-out route, was defeated by knockout in the first round by Ben Kosbinski of Boyne City. Wasegesick dropped a close decision to Melvin Stowe of Petoskey, after advancing to the semi-finals by winning a pair of decisions.

The tournament provided a lot of good matches and many local fans attended the programs. The winners and runners-up continue competition at Grayling.

CHARLEVOIXANS NOW IN FLORIDA GIVE PARTY FOR ALBERT HOLMES

A communication from Florida tells of a surprise birthday party Januury 19th at Port Orange for Albert Holmes, local resident, attended by a group of Charlevoixans wintering in the south.

Attending the party were Mesdames Louise Elston, Rose Taylor, Anna K. Wood, Maude A. (Stover) O'Neil, Jennie Price, also Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lamphear, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Platt R. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. George Bergman, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Aldrich and Miss Alida Holmes.

The evening was spent playing cards, which were followed by lovely refreshments including a birthday cake. The occasion proved a delightful get-together for this group of Charlevoixans.

OLD AGE ASSISTANCE OFFICE COURT HOUSE

Will Be Maintained Each Thursday for Charlevoix Applicants

William B. Lindsay, in charge of the Charlevoix county Old Age Assistance bureau at Boyne City, announced today that a Charlevoix office would be maintained one day each week to assist applicants in this city.

Arrangements have been made to establish office hours between 10 a. m. and 12 o'clock each Thursday in the probate office in the court house.

Applicants for old age assistance are invited to make use of the facilities to be provided by the office.

SCHOOL AID MONEY IS REAL CONCERN

In discussing state aid for schools, Fitzgerald said he could not understand why school taxes on real estate have not diminished in recent years when state aid appropriations were increased. He paid 1938 taxes on his farm in Delta township, Eaton county, Saturday and was surprised to learn that his school taxes were $55. They were $30.25 in 1937 and $27.50 in 1936.

Plane Drops Sign

Ionia — Ionia residents wondered what strange thing was falling out of the sky recently when an advertising banner being towed by an airplane became detached and fluttered to the ground. The 100-pound banner landed in a vacant field, thus avoiding serious damage. The plane was about 1,000 feet in the air.

Lucky Escape

Norwalk—A Mr. Hardenburgh and his nephew of Manistee feel that Lady Luck has been pretty good to them. While driving near here recently, their car left the road and crashed head-on into the concrete steps of a nearby building. It rolled over several times, breaking the front end in and tearing off the wheels. Both men escaped uninjured.

Tough Guy

Elkton — Burt Posade of Oliver township recently demonstrated what a tough guy he is, but he doesn't care to repeat the demonstration. While erecting a radio aerial at his home, Posade tossed a piece of telephone wire attached to the aerial across two 4600 volt power lines and was thrown to the ground by the shock. The wire touching the two high voltage conductors almost simultaneously short circuited the line and saved his life.

Florida in Michigan

Alma — Florida publicity men please note! There are alligators in Michigan. A 13½-inch specimen was found by Alma youths in the Pine river recently. It is now in captivity and doing nicely. It is thought that someone brought the reptile from the south and freed it here, or did not watch it closely enough to prevent its escape.

Relatives Born Same Day

Fremont—Here's a family puzzler for you. An uncle was born just 15 minutes after his niece arrived in this world. This happened when a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Laid Hoover of Sand Lake, and a son was born to Mrs. Hoover's parents a few minutes later.

More than 20 species of ducks, three of geese and one species of swan migrate through Michigan.

Male humming birds might be called errant fathers. They desert their mates while they are still brooding and long before the young appear.

Pine martens are the most ferocious killers of the weasel family but usually kill only when in need of food. An adult may measure three feet long.

DESTROY OLD PLATES KELLY ASKS DRIVERS

Eliminates Possibility of Criminals Picking Them Up for Use

Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state, cautions all motorists to destroy their old 1938 motor vehicle license plates as soon as they install 1939 plates on their cars.

Kelly points out that in some instances criminals have picked up cast off plates for temporary use on their own cars in the committing of a crime. The danger of this possibility grows during the last few days preceding a license plate deadline. With thousands of plates being carelessly thrown away, available to anyone who might want to use them perhaps for only a few hours and thus motorists sometimes unwittingly lend aid to criminals who could equip their cars with discarded but undefaced 1938 plates.

For the convenience and help to motorists who do not have the facilities to destroy plates, Kelly has instructed all branch offices of the department of state to accept 1938 plates when 1939 plates are purchased. Such plates will be destroyed as a measure of cooperation with police officials throughout the state.

RUDY PEKRUL PLAN FOR FLYING SCHOOL READY

Start Organization of Thirty Member Unit on February 15

Final details have now been worked out with Rudy Pekrul of Petoskey for the organization of a "Michigan Plan Flying Club" at this location in the early spring. It is contemplated to start the organization of a thirty member unit on February 15th with the expectation of having the organization completed and the new club plane available ready for operation not later than April 1st.

Mr. Pekrul is now carrying on weekly flights to Beaver Island from the Charlevoix Airport carrying mail, express and passengers. His contract for this work will expire about March 1st. Mr. Pekrul during the past two years has been operating very successfully at Boyne City carrying on student flight instructional work. He is a very thorough and capable pilot with a good background of experience and would be a credit to the Michigan Plan clubs that have been endorsed by the Michigan State Department of Aeronautics, and the club at Petoskey will be formed with the support and assistance of the state aeronautics department.

OLDSMOBILE SALES HIGH FOR NEW YEAR

3,183 Units Reported Sold First Ten Days of January

Oldsmobile retail sales are off to a flying start for the new year, according to figures released today by D. E. Ralston, general sales manager for Oldsmobile.

Retail sales of Oldsmobiles for the first ten days of January totaled 3,183 units. This is an increase of 84.4 per cent over the 1,726 cars sold during the first ten days of January a year ago.

"Present indications are that January, 1939, will be one of the biggest Januarys in Oldsmobile's long history and prospects for a record-breaking spring business are exceedingly optimistic," Ralston said.

POLAR BEARS WINNER OVER BOYNE'S BAKERS

Copped 26 to 23 Victory in Overtime Contest last Thursday

The Charlevoix Polar Bears, recently organized for a winter's basketball campaign, evened the season's count with the Boyne City Bakers by winning a 26 to 23 decision at Boyne last Thursday night. Boyne won a game played here previously.

The Polar Bears came from behind to snatch the game in overtime. They trailed 5-2 at the quarter, 13-12 at the half, 19-17 at the third intermission. Netting 3 points to Boyne's 3 tied the count and in overtime the Polar Bears marked up 3 points to Boyne's one.

Pearl and Radle led the Polar Bear attack, the former with 7 points and the latter 6. Supernaw netted 5, Foster 4, Bergman and Scott each 2.

We are well into the teachings of Jesus Christ. We have considered His teachings concerning God and Himself. Next Lord's Day we undertake one of the most vital subjects, the teachings of Jesus concerning the Holy Spirit. The Spirit of God is most vital to Christianity, yet this Person, it seems, is the least understood and most falsely interpreted of the Divine Personalities. We may praise another's zeal for truth but if that zeal is based upon ignorance or false teachings only one result can come, a misunderstanding of the whole Christian system.

Our new venture is a Sunday night discussion group. Do you have questions, do you have problems in following Jesus, do you want directions toward a radiant Christian life? Then you should join us. But unless you are prepared to "take it" walk carefully. Time 7:30. The public is invited.

The most fruitful source of spiritual declension is the neglect of the Word of God and of private devotions. Just so long as the spirit of man keeps on terms of intimacy with the loving Spirit of God, whilst the Bible is regularly and prayerfully studied and the habit of retirement is maintained, there will be a regular growth in grace and in the knowledge and love of God.

DON'T SEND LICENSE WITH HUNTING REPORT

It May Be Needed and Costs Fifty Cents for Duplication

If you are a small game hunter—
If you expect to need a gun permit between now and October 1—
If you want to save 50 cents—
Don't accompany your game kill report to the department of conservation with your small game hunter's license.

Small game hunters who fail to detach their licenses from the report cards before sending the latter to Lansing will find that the error will cost them 50 cents if they happen to want a gun permit. It is necessary to show your hunting license to get a gun permit—and a duplicate license costs 50 cents.

Although the number of hunters who are making this mistake this year is not as large as the number who did it last year, enough licenses have been received to warrant the reminder, the conservation department's incoming mail shows.

"Love" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world Sunday, January 29.

The Golden Text (Psalm 36:7) is: "How excellent is thy lovingkindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (1 John 3:18): "My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 518): "The rich in spirit help the poor in one grand brotherhood, all having the same principle, or Father; and blessed is that man who seeth his brother's need and supplieth it, seeking his own in another's good."

WHITE COLLARED FARMERS

Proof of the trend to agriculture by city youths is represented in this picture taken in an agricultural engineering laboratory at Michigan State College. Three young men, enrolled in short courses, are from the city. At left is Merrill Guttschalk, 20, son of a Detroit doctor He hopes eventually to own and operate a dairy farm. The other two already operate farms in partnerships with their fathers. Center is John Williams, 26, Gull Lake, farming 160 acres. Right is Frederick Tullas, 30, operating 300 acres of farm land near Monroe.

Harold Hittle of Lansing, is determined to won back the favor of the "forgotten man" in Michigan.

Too long has the Republican party, they aver, been associated with industrialists and "big business" in general.

Restored to power at Lansing, the party has an opportunity to demonstrate its friendship with the working man as well as the farmer, so the liberals declare. Among the bills favored are those to outlaw deficiency judgments after property has been repossessed and to protect the worker from stringent garnishment of his wages. Governor Fitzgerald has been making overtures to organized labor to appease leaders as to restrictions in the proposed labor relations act.

This all augurs well. As Republican leaders put it, it's the "square deal" instead of the "new deal." Talk alone, however, doesn't pass bills. Friends of labor are watching these New Year's resolutions with candid skepticism.

Gunning for Van Wagoner

Certain members of the legislature are making no bones about it that they are "gunning" for Murray D. Van Wagoner, No. 1 democrat and titular head of the state highway department.

They would like to deprive "Pat" of some of his power.

Charging "politics" in management of the highway department, Republican leaders are advocating varied ways to bring about "reform": (1) Create a non-partisan state commission of non-salaried members, such as the set-up for the state conservation commission, who would appoint the commissioner; (2) Compel the department to live within its own revenues and not ask legislative authorization for matching appropriations from the state's general fund; (3) Require the department to provide highway illumination on state routes through towns and villages, free ferry service at the Straits, and so on.

If Van Wagoner were a republican, we doubt if legislators would be so zealous. As it is, 1939 is "open season" for the highway leader.

20 Million Deficit?

In lieu of an official finding, the deficiency in the state treasury is somewhat of an unknown amount.

State Treasurer Miller Danckel, like Mother Hubbard, has found some of the cupboards bare of cash.

Last summer, just before the primaries, the legislature signed a blank check for $10,000,000 to provide welfare relief. We understand from reliable sources that the state deficit will be closer to $20,000,000 than $10,000,000 after all items are considered. With this financial handicap, Governor Fitzgerald has impressed everyone by his grim determination to effect needed economies. At present there are six budget examiners on the payroll at salaries ranging from $3,600 to $5,800. The budget director gets $7,500; the superintendent of construction, $5,000, and the director of the board of pharmacy, $5,000. Fitzgerald is ready to wield a vigorous axe on what he terms "high salaries" at the very time when deserving republicans are swarming the governor's executive offices pleading for jobs.

Liquor Again

Getting the "state out of the liquor business," one of the governor's recommendations, will not be easy to accomplish.

Members of the legislature are not in accord on proposed eliminations of state retail liquor stores. Furthermore, evidence is available that local control as a cure for liquor evils isn't a sure thing so long as local officials look upon liquor licenses as a source of operating revenue. As long as most of the license money stays in the community, many city officials are prone to approve any applicant for a liquor license.

At present, the state buys liquor at wholesale, sells it at retail, and otherwise controls the business.

Fitzgerald advocates a return to the private buyer and private retailer with the state acting as a warehouse agent for collection of a liquor tax. The governor puts it this way. "The state should enforce the law and collect the tax, but that is all."

Advocates of the state store system maintain that control is easiest to effect when the state has full responsibility. Otherwise, greed for profits will result in ruinous price-cutting and flagrant law violations, they say.

The legislature is not likely to rush Michigan back to the days of competitive liquor selling. If any action is taken in 1939, it will be after full deliberation of the pros and cons of this problem which is as old as civilization itself. That much is certain.

Hounded to Suicide—By His Rowdy Pupils

How pupils set fires in their principal's office, cut his phone, took the hinges from his doors, broke up his tea party, and, when they drenched him with dirty water, he deliberately walked up a track to be killed by a speeding train, will be told in one of many feature articles you will find in The American Weekly, the great weekly magazine with the Sunday Detroit Times.

Strange Secrets of the African Jungles! A thrilling series by Brian O'Brien, famous explorer. A double page feature illustrated in color in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with the Sunday Chicago Herald and Examiner.

A large share of the mink taken in Michigan each winter is trapped within 60 miles of downtown Detroit.

DON'T BE SKINNY

Amazing gains of 5 to 12 pounds in a few weeks are often made by adding Yeast Vitamins and Iron (as contained in Vinol) to your diet. Vinol helps stimulate appetite, improves blood and nervous system. Vinol has helped thousands gain needed weight and energy. Vinol is delicious to take.

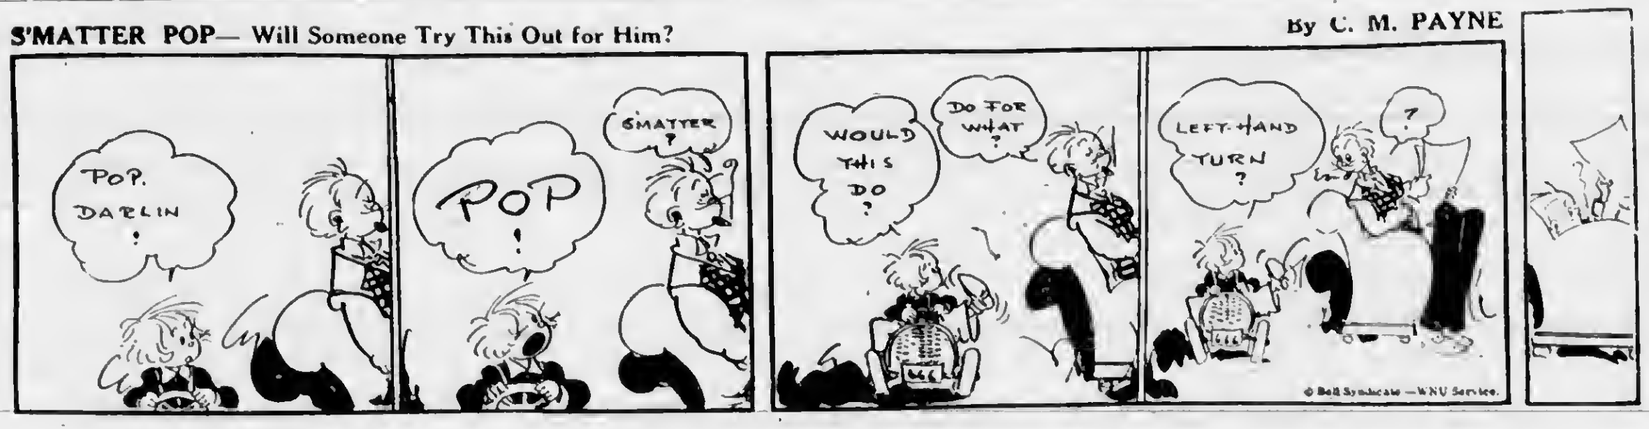
S'MATTER POP— Will Someone Try This Out for Him? By C. M. PAYNE



LUNCH ON THE TRAP LINE

Propping his snowshoes and gun against a tree, a state trapper pauses to prepare luncheon on the trap line. Michigan has seven state trapper-instructors, three working in the upper peninsula and four in the lower. It is their duty to trap predatory animals causing farm damage, or to instruct others in the technique of trapping. The furs lying to the right of the trapper's gun are two coyote pelts.

"Shall the city of Charlevoix, Michigan, issue its general obligation bonds in the sum of $36,000, the principal sum to be payable serially with interest at a rate not to exceed four per cent per annum, payable semi-annually for the purpose of defraying that part of the cost of the building and construction of a City Hall and Fire Station with the necessary accessories and equipment therefor remaining after deducting from the total cost thereof estimated at the sum of $64,500, the sum or amount of the grant of the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works equal to 45 per cent of such cost and not to exceed the sum of $29,025, all as proposed in and pursuant to a resolution of the common council of said city adopted November 15, 1938, and

Whereas, more than two-thirds of the voters voting at such election voted in favor of said proposition, and it has been duly determined by the common council that said proposition was carried by more than a two-thirds vote;

It Is Hereby Resolved, that bonds of the city of Charlevoix be issued in the sum of $36,000 for the purpose of building and equipping a City Hall and Fire Station, said issue to consist of thirty-six bonds of $1,000.00 each, numbered from 1 to 36 inclusive, dated January 25, 1939, and payable $1,000 January 25th of each year from 1941 to 1947, inclusive; $2,000 January 25th of each year from 1948 to 1954, inclusive; and $3,000 January 25th of each year from 1955 to 1959, inclusive, with interest at two and one-half per cent (2½%), payable semi-annually on January 25th and July 25th of each year, both principal and interest to be payable at the office of the city treasurer, Charlevoix, Michigan.

Resolved, Farther, that the mayor and clerk sign and execute said bonds on behalf of the city and cause the corporate seal of the city to be affixed thereto, and that interest coupons be annexed to said bonds bearing the fac-simile signature of the mayor and city clerk; that said bonds when executed be delivered to the treasurer, and by him delivered to First of Michigan Corporation, the purchaser thereof, on payment of the purchase price thereof in accordance with their bid therefor which has been accepted:

Resolved, Further, that the form of said bonds and coupons shall be substantially as follows:

United States of America, State of Michigan, County of Charlevoix
City of Charlevoix
City Hall Bond

No. $1,000.00

Know All Men By These Presents, that the city of Charlevoix, Charlevoix county, Michigan, acknowledges itself to owe, and for value received hereby promises to pay to the bearer the sum of one thousand dollars, lawful money of the United States of America, on the twenty-fifth day of January A. D. 19....., with interest thereon from the date hereof until paid at the rate of two and one-half (2½%) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually on the 25th day of January and July of each year, on presentation and surrender of the annexed interest coupons as they severally become due. Both principal and interest of this bond are hereby made payable at the office of the city treasurer, Charlevoix, Michigna, and for the prompt payment of this bond, both principal and interest, the full faith, credit and resources of the city of Charlevoix are hereby irrevocably pledged.

This bond is one of a series of thirty-six bonds of even date and like tenor except as to date of maturity aggregating the sum of $36,000.00 issued for the purpose of building and equipping a City Hall and Fire Station, and has been authorized by two-thirds vote of the electors of said city voting thereon at a special election held in the said city on December 7, A. D., 1938, in accordance with the provisions of section 2154, Compiled Laws of Michigan, 1929.

This bond is payable out of the interest and sinking fund of said city of Charlevoix and it is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by law precedent to and in the issuance of this bond exist and have been done and performed in regular and due time and form as required by law, and that the total indebtedness of said city including this bond does not exceed any constitutional or statutory limitation.

In Witness Whereof, the city of Charevoix, Charlevoix county, Michigan, by its common council, has caused this bond to be signed by its mayor and countersigned by its clerk, and its corporate seal to be affixed hereto as of the 25th day of January, A. D., 1939.

Alderman Wood offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Alderman Heise.

Be It Resolved by the city council of the city of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, as follows:

1. That it is deemed advisable and for the best interests of said city that the contract between the said city and the Hall Electric Company, the contractor, covering work on the project of said city, be changed in the following respects:

(a) Change right-of-way north of Bellaire—$242.00.

(b) Furnish and install nine (9) side arm assemblies at $11.63—$104.67.

2. That it is hereby determined that all the data necessary to obtain a comprehensive and intelligent bid, which data, prepared and assembled by D. F. Herrick are referred herein and made a part hereof, were properly submitted to said contractor with a request that such contractor submit a proposal to said city covering such proposed change.

3. That the proposal of said contract, a copy of which is hereto attached, and made a part hereof, to make the said change and accept therefor an estimated increase in the contract price of $346.67 be and the same is hereby accepted for and in behalf of said city.

4. That such acceptance of the contractor's proposal shall be in full force and effect when a certified copy of this resolution is sent to the contractor by the engineer of the said city, and not until then.

Adopted by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas—Aldermen Cartier, Hallett, Heise, Hooker and Wood. Nays—none.

Moved by Alderman Hallett, seconded by Alderman Cartier, that the city superintendent be authorized to purchase 400 feet of 1-inch water pipe and 600 feet of drain tile for Ferry Ave. Park. Motion carried by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas—Aldermen Cartier, Hallett, Heise, Hooker and Wood. Nays—none.

On motion the council adjourned.

Ray S. Hamilton, City Clerk.

laurels at the Petoskey regional tournament won't be a bit sorry to find out that the fast-stepping Rogers City team, which is taking everything, regardless of class, in its stride, will compete in class B. Due to the fact high school enrollment has reached above the 300 mark, the State Athletic Association has notified Rogers City school officials that from now on they compete in the upper class. They were a class B school last fall when they won the Northern Michigan "Little Eight" conference football title, too, and just how the matter is to be settled is somewhat of a current problem.

Had a fellow tell me the other night that the arguments used in this column were a one-sided proposition. Inasmuch as there is no fun in a one-sided argument, this is an invitation for anyone who cares to express their views in writing and such will be printed.

And right now I'm going to express a personal preference for a law which would entitle any group of four deer hunters a doe for camp purposes as a means of alleviating the over-population claims which has got many hunters all hot and bothered in favor of an open season of some sort on does. If such a law were passed, the estimated 120,000 deer hunters would probably kill at least 25,000 does and at this rate it wouldn't take many years to obtain the proper balance again. The same, or even a somewhat higher license fee than the present one for a camp deer permit could be charged. Such a law would satisfy the majority of hunters and at the same time correct a threatening situation.

Five inches of snow which fell Tuesday was blown around something scandalous by a heavy northwester Tuesday afternoon and night, but Wednesday morning the sun shone brightly and except for the cold everything is serene. Some of the fish boats and the Beaver Island mail boat Mary Margaret sure took an awful shaking up before making port late Tuesday afternoon. TRAPPERS TAKE OVER A MILLION MUSKRATS

Trapping Season Just Closed More Profitable Than Last Year

Reports now being made to the department of conservation by fur dealers on recent purchases in Michigan indicate that muskrat trappers enjoyed one of the best seasons in several years during 1938, with their total take of pelts nearly doubling that of the previous season.

When all reports have been completed from both dealers and trappers, it is expected the record will show close to one million muskrat pelts for 1938 compared to approximately 600,000 taken during the previous season. The fur dealers also report that the quality of the fur is good.

Game investigators believe that one reason for the considerable increase in the number of muskrats trapped this last season was the warm weather which reopened the lakes and ponds toward the close of the season after they had frozen over, the open water giving trappers a better chance to place and tend their trap lines.

MASONS AGAIN WINNER IN CRIBBAGE CONTEST

Defeated Odd Fellows Third Time Monday for 780 Series Lead

Winning for the third consecutive contest, the Masons increased their lead over the Odd Fellows in the annual winter cribbage series Monday night.

Masonic scores, with nine tables in play, totaled 16,157 points as compared to 16,065 for the Odd Fellows, a difference of 92 points. With a margin of 688 a week ago, the Masons now lead by 780 points. Harrison Bedford led the Masons with a card of 953, while Floyd Ikens turned in a card of 915 for the Odd Fellow high.

The next contest will be held Monday evening, January 30, at the I. O. O. F. hall.

AWAIT FARMERS' WEEK AT MICHIGAN COLLEGE

MSC Facilities to be Throwo Open to Entertain Visitors

All major facilities on the campus of Michigan State College are in readiness for the 24th annual Farmers' Week January 30 to February 3 as agricultural departments of the college complete details in their plans.

No major phase of agriculture in Michigan will be neglected in the program. From horse pulling contests to the lighter touch of the feet of clog dancers in an entertainment skit, the five days of education and amusement are filled with scheduled events.

In 1938 the event drew an estimated total attendance of more than 50,000 rural persons from all sections of the state.

The 1939 program depends largely now upon the weather man, says E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture and general chairman for the week, and R. W. Tenny, short course director.

For the men, the meat of the program will center around latest scientific knowledge in engineering, poultry, horticulture, soils, farm crops, animal husbandry, dairying, conservation, forestry, economics, farm management and entomology.

For the women there will be opportunity to watch a coed style review, hear talks and see demonstrations in food, clothing, psychology, home furnishings and home management. . .

Wednesday and Thursday evenings some of the lighter sides of the week will occur when demonstration hall will see a succession of events beginning with a concert by the college military band and terminating each evening with the horse pulling competitions.

USE, DON'T SPEND MONEY

By Hester Renwick Fraser

Use, don't spend money, and make your dollar go farther.

When buying blankets or clothes or materials for wurmth, remember less than twenty-five per cent wool content will not give much wurmth. The quality grade of wool used in materials will help determine the durability of a product and should be reflected in the price range. Therefore, know the kind of wool and the amount of wool for which you are paying. The following names are some that may only be used to denote wool fabrics.

All Wool—100% all wool.

Distinctive Woolens—100% wool filling.

Harris Tweed—worsted.

Lambs Wool Filling—100% virgin wool.

The (trade name) Woolen—wool.

Serge—woolen.

100% Pure Wool — wool finish serge.

100% Pure Worsted—wool serge style.

Virgin Wool means that which has never previously been woven, knitted, felted, or otherwise processed into cloth or fabric nor used for any other purpose.

Reclaimed Wool, Reworked Wool, is wool fibre which has been reclaimed from mill waste or reconverted into loose fibrous state after having been woven, knitted, felted or otherwise made into a woof product, cloth or fabric.

Shoddy is material which has been previously fabricated, but is not necessarily all wool and commonly contains a mixture of fibres. Know whether the fibre is all wool or wool and rayon; wool and cotton; wool and silk, etc.

Lambs Wool is first growth of wool of a young sheep and is taken at the first shearing. Subsequent shearings cannot be described as lambs wool. Lambs wool is frequeatly incorrectly used in describing mattress filling, coat interlinings, etc.

Therefore, when you buy woolen articles, know the amount of wool in the fibre used to make the material and its quality that you are sure the article will serve your purpose at the price you can afford to pay. Confidence in your purchase will make your dollar go farther.

MUST EMPLOY 8 FOR UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

Social Security Board Explains Working of Social Security Act

The fact that a person works for an employer who is covered by the old age insurance part of the social security act does not necessarily mean that worker is entitled to unemployment compensation if he becomes unemployed.

This statement was made today by Clifton H. Little, manager of the social security board field office in Traverse City.

"All employers of one or more, in commerce or industry, are usually covered by the social security act's old age insurance plan," Mr. Little said.

"But in Michigan only those employers of eight or more persons come under our state's unemployment insurance law. Therefore in the smaller establishments workers may be covered under the old age insurance plan but not entitled to job insurance benefits if they become unemployed," Mr. Little added.

The state employment offices should be consulted by those who believe they may be entitled to job insurance benefits, as these payments are made entirely by the state.

E. J. KIBBE OPPOSES ROBERT BRIDGE FOR MAYOR

Contests on Republican Ticket for Clerk, Treasurer; Second Ward Supervisor aod Alderman

Contests for three city and for several ward offices will be presented voters at the primary election March 6th as the result of Republican nomination petitions filed with the city clerk and disclosed at the deadline Tuesday afternoon.

Heading the ticket will be a mayoralty contest between Robert Bridge, the incumbent seeking his second term, and Ernest J. Kibbe, former veteran alderman of the second ward. Two new-comers have stepped into primary race for city offices, Kenneth Usher opposing Ray S. Hamilton, 15 years city clerk, and Elwood Livingston, who seeks the nomination for the office of city treasurer, held by Fred V. Tyler, who is a candidate for re-election.

Two present aldermen are not seeking re-election. They are Karl Erber of the first ward and Fred E. Cartier of the second precinct. Charles Bellinger has filed to succeed Mr. Erber, and in the second ward Charles H. Lamphear, former city clerk, nnd Herbert C. Wilson, another political new-comer, seek the nomination. The second ward also has a contest for nomination for supervisor between D. F. Meech, the incumbent, and George W. Priest.

Following is the full ticket:

MASONS WIN FOURTH SESSION OF CRIBBAGE

Added 393 Points for an Advantage of 1173 at Mooday Nigbt's Session

Winning for the fourth consecutive session of the annual winter cribbage series, the Masons increased their advantage over the Odd Fellows again Monday night.

With 7½ tables playing, Masons turned in aggregate scores of 13,636 as compared to 13,243 for the Odd Fellows, giving them a margin of 393 points. They now lead in the series by 1173 points. Ray Ashdon was high for the Masons with a score of 957, while Ed. Goldstick led the Odd Fellows with 955 points.

The sixth contest of the series of ten will be held Monday evening, February 6, at the Masonic temple.

LOCAL HOCKEY TEAM LOSES TO CADILLAC

Visitors Scored 5 to 1 Victory at East Park, Sunday Night

The Charlevoix hockey team, making its second appearance of the season at the East Park rink Sunday evening, lost by a 5 to 1 score to the crack Cadillac team.

In view of the local team's lack of practice and the fact that the Cadillac skaters have established a fine record, the outcome of the contest was encouraging to local fans.

Wolgast led the Cadillac attack with three goals, Bock scoring the other two. Tremble scored for Charlevoix.

Playing for the winners were Campbell, Cooley, Allen, Frisbe, Wolgast and Springherg, with Ewing, Wilson, Kilgren, Turner and Bock as extras. The Charlevoix line-up was composed of Ager, Supernaw, Wilmot, Swanson, Tremble, Sharrow, with House, Radle, Ance, Smith, Young, Robinette and Olnck as extras.

John Hallett of the local WPA recreational staff acted as referee, Bud Hallett as penalty time-keeper.

The Charlevoix team's next contest will be announced.

OPEN NEW BIDS ON CITY HALL FEB. 2ND

THREE LOW OF NINE ORIGINAL BIDDERS ELIGIBLE

Advice of PWA Officials to Revise Origioal Plans, Let Three Firms Bid, Are Beiog Followed

New bids on the combination city hall and fire station will be opened at a speciul meeting of the city council to be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the council chambers.

Acting upon the advice of PWA officials in Chicago, City Superintendent Don Herrick revised original specifications and submitted them to the three low bidders of the nine whose bids were rejected January 23rd. Under this arrangement the firms eligible to re-bid are the Muskegon Construction Co. of Muskegon, A. W. Hodgkiss of Petoskey and Christman-Lansing Co. of Lansing. The Muskegon firm was low of the nine firms whose bids ran from $69,143.00 to $90,427.00.

The city has available $65,025 for the project, which includes a bond issue of $36,000 and PWA grant of $29,025. It is hoped that revision of the original specifications which embody numerous eliminations, will allow bidders to come under the amount available sufficiently to permit granting of contract for the construction.

MEYER'S SERVICE GARAGE IS BURNED

HEAVY DAMAGE CAUSED BY FIRE LAST THURSDAY

Olson Mattress Co. and Foster Beverage Co., Occupants of Building Are Heavy Losers

Charlevoix's most disastrous fire in recent years practically destroyed the Meyer's Service garage on Antrim street last Thursday afternoon.

The fire broke out about 12:30 and is believed to have been caused by an overheated stove. It quickly spread throughout the structure, filling the building with dense smoke which made it difficult for firemen to locate the actual blaze. The entire structure except the east portion of the first floor was completely gutted.

Included in the loss, estimated as high as $20,000, was the stock and equipment of the Olson Mattress Co., occupying the west front portion of the second story; part of the stock of beer and wines and a truck owned by the Foster Beverage Co., occupying the west front portion of the first floor.

The loss of William F. Meyer, owner of the building, included a new Pontiac car and another machine in the repair room, the furnishings of an apartment occupying the east front portion of the second floor, besides equipment and damage to the building.

Upwards of a dozen automobiles were removed from the garage, volunteers carrying ropes forming a human chain to reach them in the smoke-filled building. The school bus was taken out along with the others.

Only the walls and floor structure of the building remains standing. Mr. Meyer carried partial insurance coverage.

GRAND RAPIDS GIRL IS CHOSEN WINTER QUEEN

Janna May Locks, 18, Selected from Field of Eight at Petoskey

Miss Janna May Locks, 18-year-old Grand Rapids girl, was chosen queen of Petoskey's winter carnival from a field of eight contestants last Friday evening.

She will be crowned February 3rd by Attorney General Thomas Read on a beautiful snow throne in Petoskey's winter sports park.

Other entries in the contest were: Virginin Lindsay of Boyne City, Estelle Livingston of Charlevoix, Florence Stead of Cheboygan, Louise Bechtold of East Jordan, Roberta Rolison of Indian River, Betty Priest of Mancelona and Billie Trimble of Petoskey, who will form the queen's court.

GETS PRISON TERM FOR EAST JORDAN CAR THEFT

Ralph Richards, 24, of East Jordan, was sentenced Friday afternoon to serve from two and one-half to five years at Jackson prison by Judge Parm C. Gilbert, following a plea of guilty to charge of illegally driving away two motor vehicles.

Richards stole a car at East Jordan and abandoned it at Central Lake, where he stole another which he abandoned at East Jordan.

MICHIGAN WINTER CARNIVAL FEB. 3RD

BIG PROGRAM FOR 12TH ANNUAL PETOSKEY EVENT

Festivities, Lasting Ten Days, Open Witb Coronation of Winter Queen Friday Night

The Michigan Winter Carnival, which opens February 3, at Petoskey, will be the major attraction for the winter sports fans for tho next ten days. On that day the Michignn Winter Queen, Janna May Locks of Grand Rapids, will be crowned by Thomas Read, attorney general of Michigan, in a ecremony which will climax an elaborate fancy skating show, "A Fantasy in Eskimoland."

The fancy skating ahow will make use of the members of the Petoskey Fancy Skating club in a colorful costumed event.

An invitational ski meet on Sunday, February 5, is a big event and this will bring out many of the outstanding skiiers of the state to take part in the slalom and down hill events at Wahmeme Hill, the new ski layout of the Petoskey Winter Sports club, whero they have installed the first ski lift in the state.

Special events are planned for every day and evening for the visitors and on Friday night, February 10, the Grand Carnival Ball honoring Michigan's Winter Queen will be held. This is the outstanding indoor event of the winter season in northern Michigan.

On Saturday, February 11, an open house for the children of northern Michigan is planned, with skating, skiing, jumper races, and tobogganing planned for the entertainment of the juveniles and with a rink party in the evening. A special program for the visitors is planned on Sunday also.

Although many other communities in western Michigan, Charlevoix, Harbor Springs, Traverse City, Cadillac, Ludington and St. Joseph, have their winter sports programs during the season most of them plan to join with Petoskey in helping this pioneer winter sports center in celebrating its 12th Annual Michigan Winter Carnival.

STATE AUTO FERRIES A 2 MILLION INVESTMENT

Receipts During Past Year Were Not Much Below Expenses

The state of Michigan has a total investment in the state ferry service at the Straits of Mackinac of nearly $2,000,000.

State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner this week announced that a compilation of the receipts and disbursements of the state ferry service for its first 16 years of operation showed a total outlay for boats and docks of $1,942,178. Of this amount a little more than $1,000,000 was spent in purchasing and altering the five boats now included in the state fleet. The remainder was spent for dock facilities.

The commissioner's report also showed that operating and maintenance costs for the 16-year period amounted to nearly $3,000,000. Total costs for the ferry service from its beginning to the end of the 1938 fiscal year amounted to $4,913,077. Receipts for this same period totaled $4,257,778. The difference between total receipts and total disbursements was made up by advances from regular state highway funds.

NO PRIMARY ELECTION THIS SPRING

CONVENTIONS NAME SCHOOL COMMISSIONER

William C. Palmer, Incumbent, and Kenoeth R. Rehkopft, Bay Shore, Republican Candidates

Republican and Democratic county conventions scheduled for early this month hold added significance this year through a recent election law change which charges them with the responsihility of selecting candidates for county school commissioner to be voted on at the approaching spring election.

An act of the 1938 legislature changed a procedure of many years in eliminating the primary system for this particular office. The new law brings a return to the old convention system of nomination, thus relieving aspirants for office the necessity of participating in a primary election with its cost and work.

The Republican party in Charlevoix county will have at least two candidates. Petitions of the incumbent, William C. Palmer, also of Kenneth R. Rehkopft of Bay Shore, have been filed with the county clerk. Under the new law, candidates must file as previously. These names, and others if filed, will come before the county convention.

Delegates to the two conventions are those elected from each precinct in the county at the primary election last September. In addition to nominating the candidate for school commissioner, they will choose delegates to the state conventions scheduled later this month in Flint.

The Republican county convention will he held February 8th at East Jordan. The date of the Democratic convention has not been announced.

CHARLEVOIX LIBRARY IS GIVEN STATE AID GRANT

The first and second quarterly payments of the state aid grant has been made to the Charlevoix public library by the state board for libraries.

These payments amount to $89.81, and under provisions of the law the money can be used for salaries of personnel, purchase of books and equipment, extension of service.

RAYDERS LOSE TO BOYNE RAMBLERS

DEFEATED BY 39 TO 25 SCORE FRIDAY NIGHT

Victory Gives Boyne City Class C Conference Lead—Rayders Play at East Jordan This Week

Charlevoix high school's Red Rayders relinquished their leadership in the "Little Seven" class C basketball conference to Boyne City last Friday night. The Ramblers defeated the Rayders by a 39 to 25 count, elevating them from second to first position and pushing Charlevoix into second place.

Boyne led throughout the rontest in a game that was fairly close except in the final period. They were ahead 10 to 6 at the quarter, 19 to 10 at the half and 28 to 20 nt the third intermission. A last quarter scoring rampage netted 11 points to 5 for the Rayders.

Hosegood of Boyne, was high scorer of the contest with 16 points. Deitz scored 10 and Schaeffer 9 for the winners. The Rayders' scoring was evenly divided, Carey and Henley netting 6 each, Brown 5 and Withors 4.

The score by quarters:

Charlevoix	6	4	10	5—25
Boyne City	10	9	9	11—39

The line-ups:

CHARLEVOIX (25)	FG	FT	PF
Henley	3	0	1
Carey	3	0	4
Brown	2	1	1
Bissell	0	2	0
	11	3	6

BOYNE CITY (39)	FG	FT	PF
Hosegood	7	2	3
Shaeffer	4	1	1
Dietz	5	0	0
Lockman	1	0	1
Stackus	1	0	3
	18	3	8

Charlevoix's reserves continued their losing streak, dropping the preliminary to Boyne's reserves by a 33 to 13 score.

The Rayders play their last scheduled game away from home Friday evening of this week at East Jordan. Subsequent contests will be with Grayling, Boyne City and Harbor Springs on the home hardwood.

MONT WITHERS' HOUND WINNER CADILLAC CHASE

Fox Hound "Lindy" Placed First in Field of 35 Entries Suoday

Mont Withers' fox hound "Lindy" defeated a field of 35 entries to win the first competitive fox trials staged Sunday at Cadillac by the Cadillac Big Game Club.

The chase was conducted in view of 1500 spectators on a series of large hills just south of the Cadillac city limits on M-131. The course was 3 miles and the win gave Mr. Withers $40 first prize money. The chase was close with the first three dogs finishing hut a matter of a few feet apart.

Clare Staley had the only other local entry in a field that was almost state-wide.

TOWNSEND CLUB MEETING IS SCHEDULED THURSDAY

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

While the public is puzzled over the sordid revelations uncovered by announcement in the metropolitan press of the dual life of Jake Vernon Pierce of Petoskey, who is mother of a married daughter, husband of a wife and father of two children, there is no puzzle over the fact this person has made "suckers" of officials of Emmet county and the public generally for a period of four years. Charlevoix county is also involved to the extent of issuing the license. One side of the affair is unfortunate to say the least, the uther side deplorable because it has been allowed to exist.

Perhaps you may have noticed, but didn't know the curly-headed chap farthest to the left of a news reel scene at the Palace Theater the other night showing the signing of Don Budge, international tennis star, for a professional tour of the United States. Well, the fellow was none other than Jack Harris, the Chicagoan who many years was a participant in, the winner of, and great hooster for the Michigan Riviera tennis championships held at Charlevoix. He represented the sporting goods firm of the Belvedere Club Wilsons and has now gone in for big time stuff. Don Budge expects to make around $275,000 out of the tennis tour and Jack's cut ought to be a generous one. More power to him! It just goes to show that the world is rather small, and one of the things making it smaller is the news reels.

Don't particularly aim to find fault with a guy who is smart enough to get elected to the legislature, but there's one from Sandusky who "hacks up going ahead." This fellow introduced a mighty good hill in the legislature which would make the careless use of firearms a misdemeanor, even in cases where no one is hurt, then turns right around and introduces another hill which would

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Just one month old, the new administration at Lansing has revealed several significant policies.

First is economy. Governor Frank Fitzgerald has convinced the most skeptical politician that he is sincere in his efforts to reduce payrolls. Creation of new regulatory bureaus, together with the natural desire of officeholders to entrench themselves in power, have combined to boost state payrolls more than $11,000,000 in two years.

By inducing the legislature to wield an axe on the state public utilities commission, Fitzgerald intends to reduce the salary of commissioners from $7,500 to $5,000. Secretary of State Harry Kelly believes he can save $20,000 in February by putting Detroit branch offices on a salary basis rather than fees. Auditor General Vernon J. Brown took time to hang up his hat this month before he announced the discharge of more than 60 employees on the grounds of economy.

It's all very distracting to county chairmen who think of Lansing solely in terms of jobs.

We are glad to have Mr. Dean announce that his new hotel will not have a beer garden.

The big Gleaner meeting when they vote on selling the 65 acres of resort property on Grand Traverse Bay to the county, will be held at Eastport Gleaner hall Friday of this week. This makes a fine park for the county, and convenient and pleasant gathering place for Sunday school and other picnics. The Board of Supervisors has already voted favorably on its purchase, and it now remains for Gleaner members to vote favorably on selling the property. There is now, we hear, only about 50 members left of the former 130 who at one time or other belonged to the lodge at Eastport, called Bay View Gleaners, as they originally held their meetings, and were organized, at Bay View.

It is quite refreshing to hear that the nation is once more coming back to sanity. Speaker Bankhead of the United States senate, announces that with television coming into use, he hopes to see the day when the senators and representatives of the United States will not be seen using tobacco, with their feet stuck up on top of the desks, and Lieut. Gov. Dickinson has announced that smoking will not be allowed in the State Senate. Many congressmen have declared the inconsistency of allowing people to use intoxicating liquor, and then arresting them for getting drunk and injuring or killing people. An Alabama judge says that one-half of the cases that came before him in the last ten years have been liquor cases. The Readers Digest points out the many people trying to cure themselves of the tobacco habit. Forty per cent of the fires are started by tobacco users.

Dr. Chas. J. McCann and his sister Katheryn arrived here Wednesday to attend the funeral of their brother, Ulysses. Dr. McCann returned to Bay City Thursday and Katheryn returned to Lansing Sunday.

The grim reaper has certainly taken its toll among our island residents, young and old, the past year or so. The latest victim to answer the call is our promising young designer and boat builder, Ulysses J. McCann, who passed away unexpectedly at Charlevoix, where he has resided the past eight or ten years, early Monday morning, January 23rd. The village of St. James was his birthplace, where he first saw the light of day November 14, 1894. From the age of six he attended the district school, making rapid progress in all studies, graduating from the McKinley high school while yet in his teens. From early boyhood he had a penchant for drafting outlines of boats on paper. His father, the late Capt. John McCann, who was a designer and boat builder of no mean ability, early saw the trend of his son's mind and considered it expedient under the circumstances to encourage him in his work by acting as his mentor and advisor. Therefor it is no wonder that U. J., under such excellent tutelage, in after years became one of northern Michigan's outstanding boat builders. For a few years after leaving the Island U. J. worked in different shipyards throughout the country and during the World War built seaplane bodies at Port Clinton and Boston. Drifting back to northern Michigan he located at Charlevoix, where he plied his trade very diligently. The number of fine models, excellently equipped boats he turned out the past few years, attests very forcefully to the efficiency of his handicraft. In January 1924 he was united in marriage to Irene Gallagher, daughter of the late W. J. Gallagher. His marital life was of a short duration, however, as his young wife passed away in March, 1925. Those surviving him are his mother, Mrs. Grace McCann; four brothers, Roland and James of St. James, Emmett of Charlevoix, Dr. Charles McCann of Bay City; two sisters, Mrs. Vern Runberg of St. James and Katheryn of Lansing. Interment in Holy Cross cemetery, Fr. A. Bourdow officiating.

KEROSENE SAFE ONLY WHEN COOL

Although Michigan leads the nation in a march toward rural electrification, too many rural fires result from carelessness with fuels.

Any spot that's too hot to place your hand is also too hot to place a can of kerosene. Although its flash point (160° F.) is much higher than that of gasoline, it is still necessary to store and handle kerosene or "coal oil," carefully to prevent fires. Actually it is safe only when it is cold.

Here are some "don'ts" from extension specialists at Michigan State College on using kerosene around the home.

Don't set a kerosene lamp or lantern on or above a stove or in any other place where the kerosene might become heated. It may flare. Don't locate a kerosene stove, lamp, or heater where curtains may blow over it or against it. Don't place a kerosene lamp close to the ceiling or the wall.

Don't place a kerosene stove against a wall. There should be a sheet of metal behind it and an air space behind the sheet of metal. Don't hang towels on a rack above a kerosene stove. They may catch fire if the kerosene flame should flare up or if they happen to fall down. Don't let wicks get dirty or uneven, and keep burners clean. Don't neglect the drip pan.

Probably the most frequent cause of kerosene explosions or fires is the habit of using it to start a fire in the range quickly. Equally unsafe is it to fill a lamp or stove while it is lighted, or a lamp while it is hot just after being extinguished, or to fill either after dark with the aid of an open light such as another lamp, candles, or matches. If the lamp or stove tank must be refilled at night, use no electric flashlight. Chemical fire extinguishers have saved many homes from being reduced to ashes. Even a bucket of sand or damp sawdust is very effective if used before a fire gets too much start.

Are We Headed for a Widow's World?

Do you know there is a little henpecked midwestern town where a widow's mite pays 75 per cent of the taxes and her might rules the community 100 per cent? There is, as you'll find described in a human interest article in The American Weekly with the February 5 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Sunday morning service, 10:45.
Sunday school, 12 o'clock.

Meets first Wednesday evening each month at 7:45 p. m.

We cordially invite the public to our service and reading room.

"Spirit" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the word on Sunday, February 5.

The Golden Text (II Corinthians 3:17) is "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (I Chron. 29:11) "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou are exalted as head above all."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 228): "There is no power apart from God. Omnipotence has all-power, and to acknowledge any other power is to dishonor God."

BANKS
Serve Every One

Banking is not a class business. It is not identified with any one group—labor, professional, executive, or capitalist. It serves large and small business units by extending credit, by the rapid transfer of funds, and in many other useful ways. Banking also serves the thrifty workers of the community—wage earners, salaried people, housewives, farmers, and professional workers—through its savings and thrift departments, and through its commercial departments for checking accounts.

CHAPTER II

On Christmas day there were gifts for everybody—a sled ond skates and a warm leather windjammer for Pete; a sweater for Aunt Mamie from Mrs. Loring; six yards of heavy brown silk ta be made into a dress for Mrs. Loring, the gift of Ellen ond Mary; ties and gloves and a muffler for Mrs. Loring; books bought at Hormel's at cost for Aunt Linnie ond Lelia; stockings and a sweater each for the girls from their parents.

Lelia, wha had slipped from the room, unnoticed, now returned, her arms laden with long, narrow boxes.

"I'm afraid you'll think I wos terribly unoriginal in my little Christmas offerings," Lelia was saying. "You see, they're all the same." And, with a smile, she extended a box to Mrs. Loring. "Fnr you, Janet, with a great deal of love; and for you, Miss Mamie—"

A second later, Mary was tearing aside the tissue on tha flat oblong box which Lelia had proffered her. There were gloves inside—doeskin, brown, hand-stitched, the kind that Lelia, herself, wore—the kind that Mary had seen advertised in Vogue, but had never thought she'd possess.

"How nice of you, Lelia!" she exclaimed. "But how in the world did you know that I wear a six and a half?"

"And that I take seven?" demanded Ellen.

"Ah, that's due to Aunt Linnie's excellent bookkeeping," Lelia returned with a laugh. "Perhaps she's never told you, but she keeps a little book in which she has jotted down the size glave, stocking ond frock each one of you wears!"

"If only I could always have things like this," Mary was saying to herself. "If only I could travel, meet interesting people, do things, go places! I believe I'm becoming discontented with Hawkinsville and Main street and pot roasts! I wish I could do something! I wish I could dance or act—or write! Of course, I have been writing for years, but the stories have been so putrid that I either destroyed them after the second reading — or later when they'd been hurled bnck at me by at leost six editors! Thank heavens, nobody's ever suspected I wanted to be a writer, and that, so far, it just hasn't worked! Why, the family'd tease me to death if they knew! But I believe I'll try again! It's been two months since the last script came to an ignominious end in the furnace. I simply must make myself write something worth while, and get myself places! Look at Aunt Linnie! Then, look at Aunt Mamie! Now, there are two examples of what can be done with a life . . ."

The Loring Christmas dinner was a success. Phrony positively outdid herself with perfectly roasted turkey, golden brown and succulent; oyster stuffing that would have tempted the most fostidious of epicures; cranberry jelly in the shape of a star; plum pudding and rich, rum-flavored hard-sauce.

Mary, a little tired from her whirl of housework during the morning, sat, silent and contemplative, between Petey and Aunt Mamie. "It's all going off perfectly," she was thinking to herself. And then, irrelevaatly, "I wonder where Chris is having dinner. I wonder if he'll drop in this afternoon."

But three o'clock, four o'clock, then half after four came and went, snd Chris had not shown up.

"Well, girls," demanded Linnie, "what shall we do with ourselves? How about a miserable game of three-hand bridge?"

"It's all right with me, Linnie," Lella agreed. "Where do you hide your card table, Mary, and the other prerequisites for a little lady-like gambling?"

"In the hall closet, Lelia. I'll get the table and some cards—although I bet there isn't a whole deck in the house. Petey and his friends are always playing Casino. But, I wonder, would you mind—"

"If you didn't play?" finished Linnie. "Certainly not, my dear. I'll take Lelia on for a thrilling battle at double solitaire."

"I thought I'd like to take a walk," Mary explained. "I haven't been out all day. Here, Lelia, is the table, ond two perfectly mnngy decks nf cnrds."

Mary slid into her Lapin coat; then hesitated before the hall mirror for an instant to pull the brim of her soft felt hat down over one eye. Linnie, glancing up, regarded her through a ring of cigarette smoke. "You're a pretty thing, Mnry," she said thoughtfully. "Just what are you going ta do with your life? Settle down here in Hawkinsville and marry Chris Cragg, or whatever his name is? Or strike out for bigger and better things?"

A deep scarlet suffused Mary's face and neek. "Marry—Chris Cragg?" she repeoted slowly.

"He's the only eligible mon in the town, isn't he?" countered Linnie distributing her cards into seven disorderly piles. "But I het he's not so eligible, ot that. Probobly makes about ninety dollars a month from his precious practice!"

Mary'a lips straightened into a firm, defiant line. "He took in o hundred and forty dollars last month," she returned in a low voice, something in her heart urging her to rush to the defense of Christopher Cragg. "And that's doing pretty well, considering he's been in prnctice only a short while."

"Hnh!" grunted Aunt Linnie, slapping an ace of diamonds nn the table. "That isn't enough to keep a beauty like you in shoes! You'd better go back to New York with me, my dear, and hitch your wagon to a star. Dnn't, by oll thot's holy, let yourself be satisfied with small tripe."

"Don't worry, Aunt Linnie," Mary retorted, pulling on the gloves Lelia had given her that morning, and reveling in their touch. "Chris hasn't proposed yet. Besides, I'm nothing to be entered in a beauty contest!"

Linnie Cotswell halted herself in the act of placing the three of spades on the deuce. "Oh, but you are!" she returned. "And I want to talk to you about it before I leave town."

"So, Chris is—small tripe, is he?" Mary said to herself as she emerged from the cheerful stuffiness of the house into the cold, brisk air of Concert Street. "Well, he's just about the grandest thing I've ever seen, and I only wish I thought he might—"

"Mary!" shouted a voice from a passing car. "Mary!"

Mary looked up, her heart turning one of those foolish somersaults as she recognized Christopher Cragg's disreputable snow-spattered coupe. He brought the machine to a stop, and leaped out. "Where are you going?"

"Just—out," Mary replied, her dark eyes smiling up at him. "I've been in all day, and I thought it was about time I breathed some fresh air."

Chris took Mary's arm, and propelled her towards his little car. "Well, come on, and breathe it with me. I'm on my way out to see the Haeslip child on Johnson Road, and intended to drop in at your house after I'd made my call. How about it? The call won't take long. You don't mind going along, do you?"

And inside his ear, Chris' shabby laprobe wound about her legs, Chris' laughing blue gaze upon her, she thought, "This is happiness, no matter what Aunt Linnie thinks. Going with Chris to make a call in the country on Christmas afternoon, knowing he's coming back home with me and perhaps staying for supper—just sitting beside him and hearing him talk! I don't want anything better than Chris—ever, as long as I live."

It was the first week in January, and the Loring household had at last settled back into its usual routine. Linnie Cotswell and Lelia hod departed for New York three days after Christmos, and it was almost with a feeling of relief that the Loring family had seen them go. Linnie and Lelia were charming, amusing, good company, but to have them as guests was an expense the Lorings could ill afford.

Mary had returned to her post at Hormel's rental library. She sat there now, looking over the membership cards, jotting down the titles of the books Mrs. Cyrus Phipps had telephoned to reserve for her, her thoughts going back in retrospect over the week that had just passed. Aunt Linnie had sought her out in her bedroom the last night of her stay, and extended to her a glowing invitation to return to New York with her—perhaps, even, to go to Miami later on; but Mary had refused. She was warmed by the memory of Christmas afternoon, when, after their call on the Haeslip child, she and Chris had returned home for supper which they hod all taken part in preparing.

"I wonder if it'd be all right for me to call Chris up and tell him his book is in," she thought. "He's asked about it several times."

With an almost guilty feeling, she picked up the telephone and called Christopher Cragg's number. "Perhaps," she thought, "I'm just finding an excuse to call him, but I want to hear his voice. I want to hear his voice!"

And when she did hear it, an instant later, she experienced a sudden panicky paralysis, and was unable, for a brief second, to say anything in response to his "Hello."

"Chris," she finally brought out, "this is Mary. Your book came in this morning. Do you still want it?"

"Oh, hello there, Mary!" Chris replied, his professionnl tone cast aside, his voice all warmth and friendliness now. "Yes, you bet I still want it. Can you hold it for me? I'll drop in some time this evening before your closing time."

"Yes, I can hold it till then," Mary replied in brisk, businesslike tones. "Good-by."

She sat motionless at her desk for a moment ofter she had hung up, the warm blood coursing through her veins. "Even hearing his voice does things to me," she told herself. "Oh, Chris! Chris! I love you so terribly!"

Then, suddenly seeing a familiar figure pass the Hormel display window, she jumped up nnd ran to the door. "Dad!" she called.

Mr. Loring wheeled about, nnd Mary could tell by the expression on his tired face that he had not wanted her to see him. "Are you on your way home to lunch?" she asked, ond she was struck by the droop of his mouth, the harossed expression in his eyes.

For the length of a block, they plodded silently, wordlessly along; then, taking her courage in her hands, Mary said, "Something's worrying you, dorling. Whot is it?"

Silence, and then, "Well—you'll have to know some time or other, I suppose. Mnry, I've—I've—been let out by the railrood."

They were now in front of Laubersheimer's grocery, and, as if by one accord, come to a sudden halt, and faced each other, quite oblivious of an occasional passerby. There was consternation written in every young curve of Mary's face; bewilderment in the stricken eyes of her father.

"But, Dad!" Mary began in a hurt voice. "How could they let you out? How could they? You've been attorney for this district for fifteen years!"

"Yes," Mr. Loring repeated dully, "for fifteen years, but they can always let a man out—ond they did. I guess I just wasn't up to—snuff, Mary, and now I don't know which way to turn. We've depended almost entirely on my salary from the railroad for the past five years. They said I wosn't aggressive ennugh—that I just dido't have enough—fight in me. But Lord, Mary, I didn't have the heart to fight in those lnst two eases. My symnthies were with the—other side."

"It's because you're so darned good, and fair, Daddy," Mary said compassionately, "but something will turn up, denr. We'll get along. I'm gning to write stories and articles and things, and maybe I'll be making money soon. Mr. Jenkins of the Courier has already oceepted two of my book reviews. I was going to wait, and let you read them in the paper—surprise you and Mother, but now, I think you should know. Of course, he paid only two dollars npieee for them, but his accepting them at all goes to show I have some ability. Don't you think so?"

"Mary, dear, it takes years and years for authors to make a living at their writting. And, darling, you haven't had any training . . ."

Mary smiled grimly. "But, Dad, I hove had training—of sorts! Having been penned up in Hormel's book shop for the past four years, I've read everything worth while that's been published in that time, and besides, I've—I've written a few short stories, myself."

"I don't want your mother to know."

"Darling, don't pin your hopes to a dream. It takes so long to make good at anything. Besides," and here he squared his shoulders with a gallantry that flooded Mary's heart with pity, "I'm the father of the family. God knows, I should be able to support you all.—Mary?"

"Yes, Dad?"

"I don't want your mother to know—until it's absolutely necessary. I've let her down so terribly. I've let her down nbout this—and so many other things. I'm a failure, Mary. Your fnther's a failure."

"Don't, Dad! Don't talk that way, denr. You've been the finest husband and the dearest father in the world—and a man who is those things can't be a—failure. But we won't tell Mother just yet, darling. We'll smile when we go in the house, nnd we'll pretend everything's lovely—ond that we just happened to nreet on the way hnme."

CHAPTER III

Christopher Cragg did nnt show up nt Hnrmel's that afternoon, and Mary, frantic over the news her father had just told her, almost fnrgot, for a time, his failure to appear. She had determined to embark upon her "career" that very day, and during her lunch hour at home had hunted up Ellen's typewriter, dusted it off, and inserted a new ribbon, which she found in Ellen's desk drawer.

She had been reading, for months on end, the "short-shorts" appearing in a weekly magazine. She had even submitted to its editor three or four of her own. The results, however, had invariably been discouraging. Always, after a twa weeks' wait, the scripts had been returned to her, a printed rejection slip attached to their leaves.

"Well, I'll try again," she told herself. "Most writers admit, after they've reached the top, that they had from ten to twenty rejections before their first acceptance."

She placed her typewriter and paper on Mr. Hormel's flat oak desk at the rear of the shop, inserted a sheet of paper, and pounded out a title and her name: At Sea by Mary Loring. For half an hour, she sat there, cudgeling her brain, her vague thoughts for a plot jangling about in her mind along with the harassing

FIRESTONE GROUND GRIP TIRES

First Choice of the Champion Farmers

FOR GREATER TRACTION! FOR GREATER SAVING OF TIME AND FUEL!

CHAMPION farmers know that their tractors give top performance only when they are equipped with the tires which deliver greatest traction. They also demand greatest economy from their tractors and know they must use the tractor tire which saves them the most time and fuel. That is why farmers everywhere follow the practice of champion farmers by selecting and using Firestone Ground Grip Tires. It is only natural that Firestone Ground Grip Tires should lead all other tires in performance, economy and preferance, because Firestone pioneered and perfected the first practical pneumatic tractor tire. Farmers also know that Firestone Ground Grip Tires lead all others, because they are the only tires made with these patented advantages:

52 to 89 extra Inches of triple-braced traction bar length give greater earth-biting power.

Better Cleaning, because of scientific spacing between the triple-braced traction bars.

Longer Tire Life, because of the patented Firestone Gum-Dipping process which protects against penetration of moisture, and provides greater strength. Patented weather-resisting tread compound protects against sun and weather.

Tread Guaranteed Not to Loosen, because two extra layers of Gum-Dipped Cords provide inseparable union between the triple-braced tread and cord body.

With the time and fuel you lose every time you operate your tractor on steel-lugged wheels, you could be making a payment on championship Firestone Ground Grip Tire performance. See your Firestone Dealer—find how little it costs to put your farm on rubber.

WPA IN POLITICS

There is much discussion nowadays about taking WPA and the relief administration out of politics. You may, at some time, have heard someone say that the solution to this problem was to take away the voting privilege of those on relief jobs. This proposal, as Walter Lippmann says, "is shocking when applied in principle to only those on relief."

Mr. Lippmann says, however, that "if all men were disfranchised during the period when they are running for office or are holding public jobs, the thought is not so shocking." This would in principle disfranchise, not for life of course but for the period when they are on the public payroll, and all public jobholders not in Civil Service. It would include all from a candidate for president to a candidate for the WPA.

Granting that this is at the moment a fantastic idea, I submit that it will have to be considered . . . It is perhaps the paramount political problem confronting democratic peoples, and the failure to solve it elsewhere has been a decisive cause of the failure of democracy. When a deciding portion of the voters are part of the government, it will be the government that controls the electorate and not the electorate the government.

For my own part, though I recognize the obvious practical objections, I can find no valid moral objection to the idea of denying the vote to a man who is a candidate for public office or is in public office by means of votes . . . He can recover his franchise at any time by returning to the status of a private citizen.

On the other hand, it is in principle objectionable, and in practice often scandalous, that a man should exercise his franchise as a citizen when he has such a direct and personal stake in the consequence of his vote. On the bench a judge disqualifies himself when he has a personal connection with the case before him; a juror is rejected when he has a personal connection with the case . . . The citizen, when he is voting ought to be no less personally disinterested than a judge or a juror.

And when one remembers that the fate of the nation is staked upon the decisions of the voters, it is not undemocratic, on the contrary it is most truly democratic, to say that the issues should not be decided by voters who are thinking of their own jobs.

TOBOGGAN SLIDE PREPARED AT MT. McSAUBY

WPA Recreational Staff State It Will Be Ready for Week End

The local WPA recreational staff announced today that the toboggan slide at Mt. McSauby will be available to winter sports enthusiasts the coming week end.

Harry Glossenger stated that the forms have been completed, the slide cleared, and the track would be iced before Saturday.

The ski slide, which was improved last summer with the repair of the steps, is also available for use.

THREE OF FIVE HUNTERS VIOLATORS DURING 1938

More Arrests, But Great Number Hunters, Department Reports

One of every 300 persons who hunts, fishes or traps in the state is a violator of the fish and game laws, the state conservation department reports.

The department revealed that 1,400,000 persons were licensed last year and 4,500 arrests were made.

The 1938 number of arrests, highest ever recorded, included 2,200 for fish law violations, 1,000 small game law, 700 deer law, 200 fur law and 600 miscellaneous.

RESORT ASSOCIATION PLANNING A NEW BOOK

Will List Cabin Camps and Tourist Rooms in West Michigan

A new type of tourist information booklet designed to be of assistance to those who come to Michigan and plan to stay in cabin camps or tourist rooms, now is being compiled by the West Michigan Tourist and Resort association and will be ready for distribution about April 1.

The book will list only the better tourist room places and cabin camps. The places will be inspected before they are listed and inspections will be made several times during the year to insure for the travelling public that they maintain a high standard of cleanliness and service.

"We have found that the better tourist rooms and cabin camps are eager to cooperate with the tourist association in making this information available to the touring public," Hugh J. Gray, secretary manager of the association said in announcing the plans for the book.

CAR REGISTRATION REVEAL CHEVROLETS HIGH

New Models Swept Into Lead Month After Their Introduction

Michigan's passenger car registration figures for December, made public, show that Chevrolet swept into a decisive lead the month after introduction of its new 1939 models, finishing the year in first place in the state, as it did in the country at large.

Chevrolet, the figures reveal, registered 4,062 cars in the state in December. This represents 41.7 per cent of price class, and is 23.3 per cent of the total cars registered in Michigan that month by all makers combined.

Registrations for the entire 12-months period ending Dec. 31 show Chevrolet out in front in Michigan as in practically all other states with 37.3 per cent of price class.

Increase Public Hunt Grounds

An additional 98,000 acres of land in northern Michigan counties have been purchased for public hunting purposes during the last two years.

SHERIFFS ARE WARNED REGARDING GAMBLING

Governor Fitzgerald Reminds All of Duty Against Violations

Governor Fitzgerald sent a letter to every county sheriff in Michigan Wednesday, reminding him of his duty to enforce laws against gambling.

Fitzgerald said he deliberately had chosen to send the warning after the uproar over the opening of gambling establishments in Macomb county had subsided.

"Just because it's quieted down, I don't want the gamblers, or local officials, to think it's all right to open up again," he said. "I mean exactly what I say."

For the first time since he took office January 2, the governor threatened use of state police in stamping out illegal betting activity.

"If for any other reason, willful or unwilful, a sheriff does not protect the peace and safety of citizens, in strict accordance with the law, the governor must direct the state police to intercede," he said. "In the event it appears that non-enforcement has been due to willful negligence, he has but one course to follow. He must direct the attorney general to institute ouster proceedings against the offending official.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT SEEKING TEN MILLION

Want General Fund Appropriation for Highway Program

Michigan good roads enthusiasts are preparing to turn the heat on Governor Fitzgerald and members of the legislature in support of a $10,000,000 general fund appropriation for highway construction during the next biennium.

The governor and many legislators have accepted invitations to the second annual banquet of the Michigan Good Roads Federation at Grand Rapids Friday. They know the purpose of that meeting — to promote funds for roads.

G. Donald Kennedy, deputy highway commissioner, and V. B. Steinbaugh, consulting engineer in the department, appeared before the senate finance committee last week to explain why a general fund appropriation is needed.

During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1938, the highway department got $1,750,000 and is expending approximately the same sum from general revenue this fiscal year. This is less than half what the department expected. Former Governor Frank Murphy cut heavily into road funds to obtain money for relief.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION DON'T CHANGE OLD AGE INSURANCE ANY

Persons who receive unemployment compensation benefits under the job insurance law of the State of Michigan do not reduce or change benefits these workers or their heirs will receive later under the old-age insurance part of the Social Security Act.

This statement was made by Clifton H. Little, manager of the Social Security Board field office in Traverse City.

"Now that Michigan is paying job insurance benefits some persons have the idea that this money is coming wholly or partly out of funds which workers and their employers pay unthe old age insurance plan," Mr. Little said.

"The two acts of benefits are entirely different. The fact that a person receives job insurance benefits has nothing whatever to do with payments which will be made later under the old age insurance plan. None of the money contributed for old age inaurance benefits goes toward the payment of job insurance benefits. Job insurance benefits are not defrom old age insurance benefits and the workers' accounts set up by the Social Security Board are in no way affected by any benefits drawn under the Michigan unemployment compensation law," Mr. Little added.

RAILROADS NO LONGER GREAT FIRE HAZARDS

Forest Fires from This Cause Were Lowest During Last Year

When railroad executives reached the conclusion that "we can't make money hauling ashes" they helped establish a policy which has now set a new record low in forest fire causes.

Once one of the most dangerous fire hazards in northern Michigan, the railroad locomotive has become one of the least dangerous. Completed figures summarizing causes of forest fires in 1938 show that only 42 fires originated from railroads last year, the lowest number of railroad fires in the history of the state.

SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY FORESTS ARE INCREASED

Spread of school and community forest movement in Michigan is reflected in a recent check made by the forestry department of Michigan state college revealing that the state now numbers 105 recorded forests. In addition there are a considerable number of community forests some of which have been in operation for a number of years.

IRONTON NEWS

HEALTH AND HYGIENE

Pneumonia in Children

A recent nation-wide health survey has revealed that, in eight large cities acute respiratory diseases account for 40 per cent of the disabling illness of children under 15 years old. Among those of pre-school age, pneumonia is responsible for 16 per cent of respiratory disorders and for at least 18 per cent of the deaths. This represents an incidence and mortality from two to three times greater than in any other age group.

There can be little doubt that the ignorance or carelessness of parents or of others charged with the child's care is frequently responsible for unnecessarily severe illness or death. Physicians report that the simple recommendations for their small patient's care are often disregarded. Instead of compelling the child to rest in bed, the parent will permit it to play about the house or even to join other children in their games. The presence of fever is regarded of little significance. Instead of a light diet, the child is persuaded to partake of the family's regular meals with the mistaken idea of quickly "getting its strength back." Instead of inducing the patient to take a larger volume of fluids daily, to prevent dehydration and flush the kidneys, the average intake is deemed sufficient.

If parents but realized how quickly the initial symptoms of respiratory disease become aggravated and how readily the so-called complications follow, the common cold would be more generally respected. Lobar and broncho-pneumonia follow swiftly in the wake of a neglected cold and in some sections of the country bring death to one in four of the children hospitalized.

Chief of the complications are disease of the middle ear, mastoiditis, lung abscess, dehydration and acidosis. The last results from insufficient food and, in one hospital series at least, was shown to have caused 72 per cent of the deaths in this classification.

Earache, fever, diarrhea, vomiting, breathing difficulty and cough must be regarded as grave symptoms. It is within the power of the physician to check the progress of these symptoms—but he must be summoned at their earliest appearance and his orders must be obeyed to the letter. To yield to the whims or pleadings of a restless, feverish child that it be allowed to resume its usual routine is, often to consign it to a severe illness and a long convalescence—or worse.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By Cora Anthony

Eggs are a food whose use fluctuates greatly with price. Fortunately they are at their best when most plentiful and cheap. At present, even grade B eggs are fresh and delicious enough for poaching and boiling and they are as cheap as at any time last year. Butter, too, and cheese are low in price.

Meats are a trifle higher while poultry is steady. Frost has injured the crops of green beans and peas so that these vegetables are high. Spinach is cheap and broccoli, cauliflower and mushrooms relatively so. Salad greens are reasonable.

Three dinner menus follow.

Hitch Hiking Hen

Dearborn — When Ed. Jones got out of his car as he went to work at the Ford plant one morning, his buddies called his attention to an extra passenger he didn't know he had. Half frozen, but still hanging onto the back bumper was a pet hen, belonging to some neighbor children, that had ridden through the heavy morning traffic on that bumper, and still seemed none the worse for it.

A Pair of Old Socks

Turner—Just a pair of old socks, but their owner, Mrs. Mannie Smith, isn't complaining about them. In fact she finds they offset the present high cost of hosiery. The stockings have been worn in her family for 141 years. First worn at a wedding in 1797, they have been handed down in the Smith family to be worn by brides on their wedding day.

Cop Fined, Then Dies

St. Louis—With a record of 34 years as a law enforcement officer, serving as city policeman and then deputy sheriff, L. W. Van Ostran of Bath was arrested here recently on a traffic violation charge. He paid a fine in justice court on a Friday and on Saturday afternoon he died at his sister's home in Hancroft. He was 76 years old.

Sheriff Picks Wrong Car

Howell — When Frank Anderson noticed that his car was missing, he called the sheriff's department. A stolen car message was broadcast. When the car was found, however, Anderson learned it had been in good hands. Undersheriff Basset had taken the wrong car when he went on a hunting trip with a friend.

Nag vs. Car; Nag Wins

St. Louis—A car belonging to Kenneth Mills was taken to a garage here recently for repairs to the two front fenders, hood, radiator grill, and windshield, as the result of a slight argument with a horse. When Mrs. Mills was driving on a country road one night, a horse walked out of a ditch and into the car. Leaving the car rather badly dented, the horse walked on.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE NEWS BULLETIN

Kelly to Pare Cost of Issuing License Plates in Wayne County

As a result of a recent survey of the sale of license plates in the branch offices of the department of state, in the Detroit area, Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state, has decided to abolish the politically organized, highly paid fee branch offices in the metropolitan area.

$71,661.00 was paid to twelve branch offices of the department in 1938, for the sale of license plates on a fee basis of twenty cents per pair of plates. Kelly points out, that ten years ago the department maintained only one office in Detroit and issued 390,377 sets of plates from that office. In 1938, with 23 offices in Wayne county, the central office at Cass avenue issued only 150,883 plates. It is his contention that 20 cents per set of plates is entirely too large a fee for issuing plates in the metropolitan area, where automobiles are in greater number.

The survey also discloses that the majority of cars are licensed in the months of February and August. During the remaining ten months, the greatest percentage of plates sold are to automobile dealers acting for their clients.

It is his plan to abandon the branches now in existence receiving a fee of twenty cents per set of plates, at the end of the rush period in February, and install a few key branches with specialized services for automobile dealers, these new branches are to be of the fee type but with limited earnings, based on the amount of plates sold in each individual branch, thus lowering the amount paid by the state for issuing a set of license plates.

Kelly is confident that with this new method of issuing plates and by further reorganization, that some $40,000 per year can be saved by the department in this area alone.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

January 30, 1939

The common council of the city of Charlevoix met on the above date with Mayor Bridge presiding.

Aldermen present: Cartier, Erber, Hallett, Heise, Hooker and Wood.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

Moved by Alderman Hooker, seconded by Alderman Wood that the motion made and carried at a meeting of the council held on January 23rd, 1939, whereby the council rejected all proposals received for the construction of a City Hall and Fire Station, and entered on page 442 of Volume 15 of the minutes of the council proceedings, be reconsidered. The motion prevailed, all members of the council present voting aye.

The mayor announced that the question was upon the motion as reconsidered.

Moved by Alderman Hooker, seconded by Alderman Wood that the motion be amended as follows:

That all bids received for the construction of the City Hall and Fire Station be referred to the finance committee and the city superintendent for further computation, and report to the full council.

The question being upon the passage of the amendment, the amendment was adopted, all aldermen voting aye thereon.

The mayor announced that the question was upon the adoption of the original motion as amended.

The motion as amended was carried, all aldermen voting aye thereon.

Moved by Alderman Hrise, seconded by Alderman Erber, that periodical estimate No. 1 of contract No. 4 of Clement Industrial Electric company in the amount of $2,111.52, be approved and order drawn for the amount. Motion carried by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas—Aldermen Cartier, Erber, Hallett, Heise, Hooker and Wood. Nays—none.

On motion the council adjourned.

CHAPTER III

and insurmountable questions: "What will we do, now that Dad's been let out? Where will money come from? How will Mother react when she hears?"

At last, her fingers fell upon the keys. She had an idea. A simple, straightforward idea, about a large family at loose ends financially. She wrote with eager haste, the homely, fluid thoughts of her story conceiving themselves in her fertile mind; passing magically through her fingers and on to the sheet of white paper before her. At last, it was finished—nearly five pages of neatly compiled thoughts, of swift, clearly defined action. She had done it! She had at last written a story that seemed, even to her own critical mind, to be worthy of editorial notice.

"Of course," she thought, "I'll have to read it over again and again, and revise it, and retype it, but, at least, I'm on my way."

It was not until the following night, just before six, that Christopher Cragg made his appearance at Hormel's shop. Mary had retyped her manuscript, shipped the story into a long envelope, and directed "At Sea" to the magazine she prayed would accept it.

The front door opened, and Mary, a copy of Sabatini's most recent tale of adventure clasped mid-air in her hand, turned about.

"The late Doctor Cragg," he announced with a grin. "People will have babies in this town, and thus, my dear Mary, keep enterprising young doctors away from the best sellers. But thank God for it! A baby yesterday at four o'clock! A baby today at half past three!"

"Paying babies, Doctor Cragg?" Mary demanded in mock seriousness. "I do hope you haven't been wasting your time!"

Chris brought his eyebrows together in what was supposed to emulate an expression of severest reprimand. "Any baby is a paying proposition, my dear Miss Loring, for a guy that's just starting out in business. Experience, my child, is nine-tenths of the price, or something to that effect. However, if you must know, one of the arrivals into this vale of tears will bring me absolutely nothing in dollars and cents. The other—well, do you think fifty dollars is too much to charge for the safe, sane, and most—er—modernistic of deliveries?"

"Fifty dollars? Why, it's really pretty cheap, I think, providing the proud new parents possess the fifty.—I've saved your book for you, but not, I must admit, without considerable difficulty. It's hidden away on a shelf in the back of the shop. A bit of favoritism I'm showing, Doctor Cragg. Come on back and I'll root it out for you."

He followed her to the shadowy, rear room of the shop, noting, as he did so, the valiant way she held her shoulders, the slender lines of her young back. "It's up here," she said, pointing to the shelf that seemed to be the carry-all for everything not wanted for display, and, before he could say anything, she had ascended the ladder.

"I could have done that," he remonstrated. "Here, Mary, let me—"

"No. You wouldn't be able to find it. I've hidden it behind a lot of trash. Back there, somewhere—" And, reaching beyond her distance, she lost her balance and toppled to the floor.

For an instant, she felt herself to be swirling in a great, black void. She couldn't remember where she was, or what had happened. Then, she felt Chris' arms about her, and heard his anxious voice.

"Mary! Mary, darling!" he was saying. "Are you hurt, dearest? Darling! Look at me! Say something!"

He had called her dearest and darling. He was clutching her close to his heart as if he would never let her go, as if—as if he loved her! And now, his lips were touching her closed eyelids.

"Mary!" he pleaded. "Can't you hear me, darling? Are you all right?"

Mary lifted a limp hand, and swiftly, fleetingly, touched his lean cheek. "I'm all—right," she murmured, thinking, "I'm happier than I have ever been in all my life. He loves me! Chris loves me!"

His lips were on hers now, bringing them back to joyous consciousness. "I love you, Mary," he was saying in quick, breathless words. "I've loved you from the very first moment I saw you, darling, that night last summer at the country club, but I shouldn't tell you so. My God, I shouldn't tell you!"

"Why not, Chris? Why be afraid to tell me?"

Silently, he lifted her to her feet, and gently, firmly, pushed her from him. "Because," he said, his voice clipped and tense, "I haven't the right. I—I'm going to be married next month—to a girl I've known all my life."

With a vague movement of her hand, Mary sought for something to hold to, found the corner of a table, and clung to it. Thank God, the gathering dusk prevented his seeing her face with any clarity. Thank God, she hadn't told him that she, too, cared—desperately. He would never know now. He would never know. She managed at last to speak, and even to her own ears, her voice sounded calm, almost careless. She said, "Good luck to you, Chris. I wish you the greatest happiness."

"Happiness?" the man repeated sardonically. "Happiness!" And then, "Well, I must be getting on, Mary. Are you sure you're all right? Are you positive nothing's hurt?"

"Nothing—but my heart," she thought; but aloud she said, "Quite positive, Chris. You aren't going without your book, are you?"

Chris was swinging away from her and towards the entrance door. "I don't want the damned book," he almost shouted, and disappeared into the darkened dreariness of Main Street.

"There goes my very life," Mary said to herself. "And now that that is over, there's nothing left for me to do but hitch my wagon to a star. It won't be the kind, though, that Aunt Linnie meant. It will be a career. I'll mail 'At Sea' tonight; and tonight, I'm going to tell the family that, after all, I shall accept Aunt Linnie's invitation to visit her in New York. I can write there, perhaps, really write. And I can't stay here! I simply couldn't bear to stay here, and meet the girl Christopher Cragg is going to marry."

Jim and Janet Loring were quite amenable when Mary informed them that night that she had decided to accept Aunt Linnie's invitation to visit her in New York. Janet, always eager to give her children every possible advantage, felt that a sojourn in her sister's comfortable apartment would be a great treat for Mary.

As for Jim, he thought, "Mary must have her chance. God bless her! A change will do her a world of good, and Linnie will be a fine influence. She's a wholesome woman, in spite of her sophistication, and she has both feet on the ground."

Mary could pay her own expenses, fortunately. There was the magnificent balance of ninety-seven dollars in her savings account—a balance that represented meticulous saving over a period of five years. With a feeling of daring, she went to the First National Bank the following morning and drew out every cent of it. This final gesture buoyed her up considerably.

The entire family went to the station to see her off. "Don't worry too much, Dad dear," she whispered to her father as he held her in his loving farewell embrace. He looked so gaunt, standing there on the wind-swept platform, waiting for the train to pull in, so sort of—hunted. Mary had kissed him first; then, with terror in her heart at his appearance, returned to him, after bidding the others good-by, to give him one last hug. She thought for a mad instant of panic, "I don't believe I'll ever see him again. Oh, God help him. Help us all!"

Lelia met her at the Grand Central Station, a redcap already in tow, and guided her dexterously through a milling crowd that had gathered to pay homage to Robert Taylor, boarding a nearby train for Chicago.

"We'll find a taxi," Lelia said, putting an arm through Mary's, "as soon as we plow through these movie fans who are doing their best to get a lock of that poor man's hair. Aunt Linnie sent me down to meet you, and to inform you, post-haste, that she is simply enchanted over your change of heart about visiting her. She's attending a guild meeting at Saint Thomas' this afternoon, but she'll be home by the time we get there."

Aunt Linnie, true to Lelia's promise, was at home when the two girls arrived at the smart Park Avenue apartment house. Rising quickly from her deep, chintz-covered chair before the fireplace, she came the length of the room to welcome Mary with outstretched arms.

"Darling!" she cried. "I'm so glad, so very glad, that you decided to come. Did Lelia tell you that she's staying with me, too?"

Mary laughed. "Poor Lelia didn't have a chance to tell me anything," she replied. "I was so busy exclaiming about the sights and lights and sounds and smells!"

"And you haven't seen anything yet. Oh, Mary, you'll adore New York! Well, about Lelia here, she's sublet her own apartment for a few months, contemplating, as is her habit, a dash down South later on, so I prevailed upon her to come and stay with me in the meantime, and thus brighten a few moments of the declining years of my life."

"And, at the same time, save me a large number of precious dollars on hotel bills!" Lelia added with a grin, removing her fur turban, and brushing her hair back from her forehead. "Come on, Mary, I'll show you our room, and you can 'rest' your hat and coat, as Addie says."

"Addie?"

"Aunt Linnie's very pretty Mulatto maid, counselor, bodyguard and friend."

"She's been with me for ten years," Aunt Linnie added, "and she's a treasure. Ring for her right this minute, Lelia. We'll have some tea. I know Mary's tired from her journey, and needs something to brace her up. We don't dine till eight."

"Eight?" Mary repeated automatically.

"Darling, you're in a dream," said Linnie.

"I feel as if I were, Aunt Linnie," Mary admitted. "I've never before seen a room to compare with this! Or such loads of flowers! Or so many photographs of fascinating-looking people!"

"Well, you're going to meet some of those intriguing creatures Sunday. I'm giving a party to introduce you to my friends, and," she added dryly, "I hope you'll find them just as fetching as the camera has made them, but I doubt it."

Mary placed a hand on Linnie's shoulder. "Oh, but you mustn't give parties for me, Aunt Linnie. I'm here just to see you, and to work."

"To work! What doing, for heaven's sake?"

"Writing, Aunt Linnie," Mary returned, her dark eyes wide and serious. "I want to be an author."

Aunt Linnie uttered a little shriek.

"Heaven help us! An author! Darling, you're far too pretty to spend your time messing around with words. I've never met a woman writer yet who didn't look like the witch of Endor! Besides, the Cotswe" have never been noted for their brains. It's been all they could do to write a fairly decent letter."

LANSING LETTER

Spending Demands

Counter to the governor's economy program are the financial demands just submitted by department heads for the coming biennium.

If the legislature approved every request made, the state treasury would be drained dry in 10 days. State Treasurer Miller Dunckel, in the heroic role of Mother Hubbard, has been bemoaning the plight of state finances. Continuation of spending habits would make him a fit candidate for the mourner's bench.

Budget Director Harold Smith announces that he is working on another formula whereby the day can be saved. In this connection it will be recalled that Frank Murphy's last act as governor was the abrupt lopping off of millions from department appropriations, a gesture that may have a political value in 1940. Budgeteer Smith, twix the proverbial devil and the blue sea, cannot accomplish fiscal miracles for Fitzgerald any more than he could for Murphy.

Hence the impartance of the governor's economy demands which have all earmarks of sincerity.

Home Rule Policy

A second policy of growing significance in the present administration is that of home rule.

It first came to head when gamblers in Macomb county re-opened palatial establishments and sent printed invitations to former patrons. Detroit newspapers raised a front page storm. Civic and church groups adopted resolutions, and there was a revival of public interest in the duties of sheriff and prosecuting attorney.

The public hue and cry resulted in a court injunction against Danny Sullivan's big place near Detroit, prompting Governor Fitzgerald to point out triumphantly that home rule has its merits and the state shouldn't be a big policeman over local morals.

Last week the governor sent a letter to each sheriff and prosecuting attorney, reminding them of their responsibility in enforcing law. But if gambling continues, the problem will be back on the governor's doorstep, home rule notwithstanding.

Welfare at Home

Home rule for administration of welfare is another plank in the Fitzgerald program. And therein is an expectation that the handling of relief, if performed by persons of authority in their home communities, will save a lot of money for the taxpayers. Predicting drastic slashes in budget requests, Fitzgerald told township supervisors meeting at Lansing that they knew the needs of local people better than anyone else. It was a left-handed criticism of professional welfare workers.

The trend to favor home rule is also shown by views expressed by the auditor general who described township officials as the "last line of defense."

Labor Responsibility

The third policy to be disclosed is that of responsibility for labor.

Legalizing picketing for the first time in Michigan, the proposed labor relations act would outlaw sitdown strikes, an indirect issue in the fall campaign, and would provide a "cooling off" period of 10 days between the declaration to strike and the actual walkout. During this period a mediation board would try to settle differences, while the employer was required to continue payment of wages to the workers.

Company unions would be forbidden, and employers would be required to re-hire workers engaged in legal strikes.

While some of the proposed restrictions may be modified by legislators, the "notice of strike" clause will likely be retained. It is viewed by the governor's advisors as the heart of the whole act.

New Deal Precedent

Although the notice clause appears to be drastic, threatening workers with loss of seniority rights if they defy it, actually the idea was introduced at Washington by New Dealers in 1933 when they sponsored the railway labor act. It has worked well to head off hasty strikes in that industry, so vital to the nation's economic welfare.

For strikes involving public utilities—electricity, milk, and so on—the Michigan bill calls for a 10-day waiting period.

Effectiveness of the strike notice method would depend on public opinion. Labor leaders now recognize that the 1937 sitdown strikes were costly to the cause of labor, simply because public opinion was emphatically opposed to them.

Sweet Sixteen Looks to the Future

What is she like? What are her hopes? What are her ambitions? The Detroit News polled 1000 school girls to get a cross-sectional view of the coming generation of American womanhood. The answers, which have been tabulated, will be published in a series of interpretive articles on the Woman's Pages starting with next Sunday's Detroit News. Be sure to read this interesting series.

deprive state conservation officers nf authority to swear out warrants against game law violators. He contends that should be done by county prosecutors who, he claims, are more likely to be "reasonable" because they are elected officials. Just between us, that "reasonableness" which elected officials would have, probably because they would be afraid they might lose n few votes, would make game laws about as useless as an airplane without wings.

Some fellows have written a bit of verse or some such regarding a local guy who sort of runs to the fleshy side. I got hold of a copy of it and thought that if you folks could get a laugh nut of it like I did, it would be worth passing on. Here's the verse:

You buy books from McFadden that never get read,
Listen to reducing programs while lying in bed;
From the drug store it's pills that never get took,
Corsets nnd dumbbells from the mail order book;
You mince liky a sparrow for a day or two,
Then top it off with a steak and some brew,
Each day you come and tell with a grin,
Of some new way yon've found to get thin;
I've listened to these 'til I'm blue in the face,
And not one inch havy you lost from your waist:
Praised be the day, if the time ever comes,
When you can lose weight by twiddling your thumbs.

By H. O. Humm and O. H. Well.

Bert Studey isn't going to be behind when it comes around to spring house-cleaning time. He's started decorating the interior of his store already. And come to think about it, Spring isn't so far away at that.

Overhrard a group talking about the rost of the hockey rink at East Park the other day. They had it running into the hundreds of dollars so just thought I'd better set this matter right by informing everyone that the lumber set the city back $78.32, the WPA recreational staff did all the work and when they get all through the city still has the lumber left to use for something else if they want to. Wish I could make money grow the way some people's imaginations do.

A radio dramatization of the experiences of Clayton Brown, who three years ago crawled miles over ice floes to reach Goodheart after 48 hours in an open boat on Lake Michigan in a tragedy that took the lives of his two companions, Earl Cunningham, a coast guardsman, and Claude Beardsley, his father-in-law, will be broadcast from Chicago the night of Thursday, February 23rd. We will announce, when information is available, the hour and station.

The high esteem in which the late William Withers was held in his community is expressed in the following communication from the Marion Center school: "Our district extends its sympathy to the family of William Withers. Mr. Withers was director of our school for many years. He was always interested in the children and they enjoyed having him stop to talk with them. Whatever was good for the school he wanted. We have lost a friend. We shall miss him more than we can tell." What is more sincere than the expression of children?

KIWANIS CHILDREN'S PARTY FEBRUARY 11TH

Postponed Xmas Event at Methodist Church on Lincoln's Birthday

What is customarily a Christmas party for Charlevoix kiddies will this year be a Lincoln's birthday affair, for the Kiwanis Club has announced Saturday, February 11, as the date for their annual Children's Party.

Postponed during the holidays because of a scarlet fever epidemic which caused curtailment of activities for younger children, the event will be held at the Methodist church, it was decided at Tuesday night's Kiwanis meeting. Special invitations will be issued to children in the Charlevoix grade and St. Mary's schools.

Other features of Tuesday night's meeting was an address by Dr. R. B. Armstrong on the much publicized and popular but little-known subject of vitamins. Dr. Armstrong drove home his points from a wide background of experiences and was able to clarify the situation more fully through an added touch by C. M. Bice.

Most Kiwanis members expressed intention of attending the oyster supper and meeting of the Ironton Chamber of Commerce scheduled tonight (Wednesday).

READY TO PAY PARTIAL UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFIT

Second Phase of Michigan Wage Security Started Monday, Jan. 30

Beginning Monday, January 30, in 56 Michigan Unemployment offices, the second phase of Michigan's wage security program, the accepting of claims from workers seeking benefits for partial unemployment, was instituted.

James Niles, manager of the Petoskey branch office explained that the commission is now prepared to pay benefits to those oligible workers who may be partially employed, that is to those earning sufficient wages to exclude obtaining benefits for total unemployment, yet not giving them the wage return they would have if they were fully unemployed.

Mr. Niles stated that workers who feel they have a right to partial benefits should obtain from their employer a form known as a "Verification of earnings" report. This report should be filled out by the employer to indicate the wages earned by the individual and must then be brought to the local employment office at 215 Howard St., Petoskey.

If the employer does not have such a form, one may be obtained by the worker in the local employment office It must be filled out by his employer and then returned to the office where it becomes his claim for partial benefits.

SEED DEALERS MUST MEET REQUIREMENTS

Sale of Poor Quality Seed Will Result in Prosecution in 1939

Vegetable seed dealers of Michigan were being mailed warning this week by the department of agriculture that repeated sale of poor quality vegetable seed will result in prosecution in 1939. The vegetable seed law became effective in 1938 and dealers found violating the law last year were dismissed with warnings, according to the department.

Tabulations showing the number of samples of various companies tested and the percentage of samples up to standard have been mailed to dealers, with caution that to repeat sales of poor seeds in 1939 from companies with sub-standard 1938 ratings will make necessary enforcement of the seed law.

Reports disclose that ratings ranged from six companies with 100 per cent standard seeds down to one company with as low as 16.8 per cent of their seeds meeting state standards.

AVIATION ADVANCE IN MICHIGAN IS FORESEEN

New Military Program Expected to Create Greater Activity

A revival of public interest in military and commercial aviation in Michigan was foreseen today by Col. Floyd Evans, state aeronautics director.

If President Roosevelt's proposal to train 20,000 student pilots annually is accepted by congress, Michigan will add 4,000 licensed pilots to its present register of 800 before 1944, Evans believes. He thinks the president's plan would be "one of the greatest steps in aviation history."

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES

G. Russell Parker, Pastor

Sunday, February 5th
SUBJECTS:
11:00 and 12:15—
"Jesus Teaches Us About Man"
7:30—
"Still Looking in the Horse's Mouth"

In our series on the "Teachings of Jesus" we will speak in relation to "Man" next Sunday. One may think he has a fair knowledge of himself and his fellowmen, but he is far from knowing all until he hears Jesus' teachings. What does God require of man, you and me? How can an evil man do good? And why is man's righteousness compared to filthy rags? You should hear this sermon.

Our new venture, the Sunday evening discussion group, is off with a good start. Last Sunday night our subject was "Looking the Horse in the Mouth." Next Sunday night will find us still looking with no intention of overlooking anything. But while we look we are going to discuss "The Problem of Evil." If you plan to attend some of these group meetings do not miss this one because it is the foundation for future discussions. Come and look in this horse's mouth with the rest of us.

Remember the pastor's Bible class for adults, older young people and up. The lesson begins at 10:30 but we would like to have you in the worship service beginning at 10:00.

Card of Thanks

We take this method of thanking our Beaver Island and Charlevoix friends for their kind expressions of sympathy in our bereavement. These expressions have been deeply appreciated. Mrs. Grace McCann and family.—Adv. 5t1pd.

COUNTY 4-H CLUB WORK INCREASES

WINTER ENROLLMENT IS HIGHEST IN HISTORY

B. C. Mellencamp, County Agricultural Agent, Gives Report on Clubs and Leaders

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

Much interest is being shnwn in the winter 4-H club work in Charlevoix county which is demonstrated hy the largo increase in club membership.

Aa the enrollment now stands, we have 120 members carrying handicraft work, 190 clothing, 25 electrical, and 222 hot lunch. This makes a grand total of 557 projects being carried on this winter. Every community carrying club work was visited last week and nearly all the clubs have started work.

This year nearly all the schools in the county are carrying on a hot lunch program which we feel is very essential to the health of the boys and girls, especially the ones who have to walk several miles to come to school. Through the cooperation of the local ERA office it has been possible to supply the schools with surplus foods which has added tremendously to the success of this work. Some of the foods that have been received nre prunes, dried praches, flour, butter, raisins, dried milk, grape fruit juice, and beans.

The following will show the location and leadership of the various club projects:

MILLIONS ARE SAVED FROM HOPPER POISON

2,105 Tons of Bait Saved Farmers Ao Estimated $1,118,158

Grasshoppers could have been a million dollar headache to Michigan farmers in 1938, yet a sufficient number of farmers cooperated in distributing poison bait to save an estimated $33 in crops for every dollar of cost of the bait from county and federal funds.

A state grasshopper control committee has dnduced startling figures in a survey of results in 1938. For 1939 it appears that slightly less bait might do the job, yet reports indicate at least 1,505 tons of poison bait are needed.

Farmers spread 2,105 tons of bait in Michigan in 1938. On 13,761 farms the acreage baited totaled 266,129, with a total protection to 498,971 acres. Estimate of the cost of this is $33,677. Crops savings in 45 counties are placed at $1,118,158. Crops lost to the hoppers were estimaled at $431,903.

FORMER LOCAL CITIZEN BURIED HERE MONDAY

William Thorpe, 73, Died After Long Illness at Muskegon

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon from the See Funeral Home for William Thorpe, former local resident, who died January 27 at Mercy Hospital in Muskegon, following an illness of four years.

Rev. John Alexander officiated at the services and interment was at Brookside cemetery.

Mr. Thorpe was born, March 31, 1866, at Mount Forest, Ontario, Canada. He came to Charlevoix county at the age of 16 years and resided here most of his life.

He was married September 10th, 1892, to Miss Sarah Hyde. To this union were born nine children, eight of whom survive, viz: Will and Fred, this city; Gordon and Harold of Lansing; Ray of Flint; Mrs. Gordon Sheehy of Muskegon Heights; Mrs. Kenneth Scott of Los Angeles, Calif.; and Mrs. John McCullen of Lansing. Other survivors include four brothers, John and Thomas of Lansing, James of Ypsilanti, and Robert of Bay City; three sisters, Mrs. Thomas Shea of Flint, Mrs. G. B. Marsa of Detroit, and Mrs. S. E. Rodgers of Lansing; also 14 grandchildren.

ROMAINE McCALL HEAD MICHIGAN PRESS ASSN.

Second of McCall Family to Hold Office in Half Century

For the second time in a half century the McCall family of Michigan newspapermen has presented the Michigan Press Association with a president.

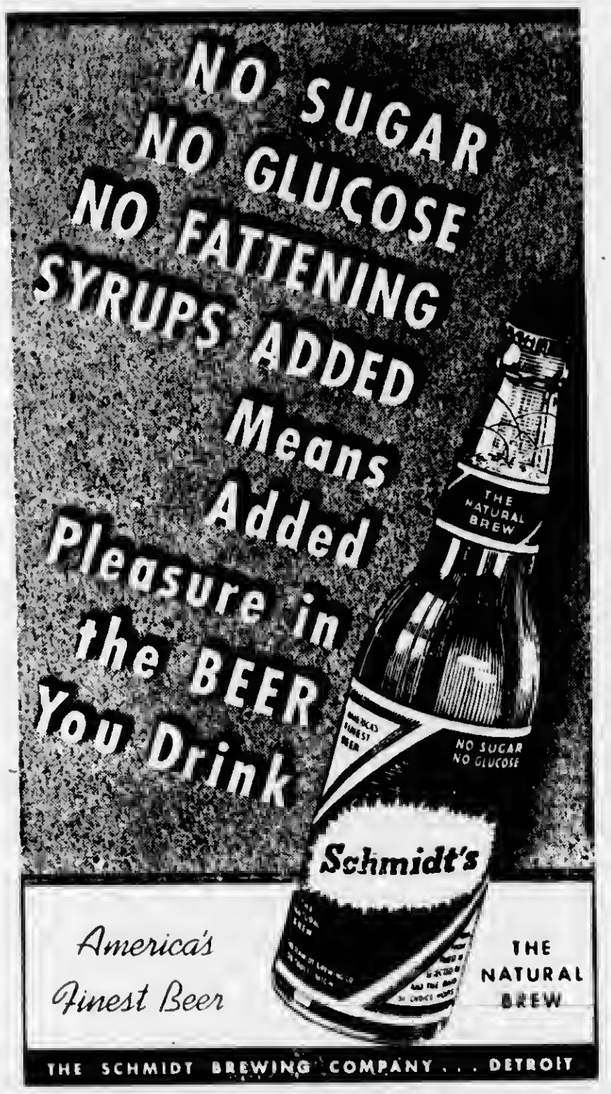
Romaine McCall, one of seven sons of the late J. N. McCall, former publisher of the Gratiot County Herald at Ithaca and past president of the state publishers' organization, was elevated to the office Friday, January 27, during the 64th annual meeting at Lansing and Michigan State College.

Six of the seven McCall sons are active in newspaper work, following the life career set by their father. W. Webb McCall is publisher of the Isabella County Times-News at Mt. Pleasant and Joseph N. McCall is associated with him; J. Watson McCall is associated with Ernest J. McCall, an uncle, publisher of the Grand Haven Daily Tribune; Duane S. McCall is with the Oennto County Reporter at Oconto, Wiaconsin; and George McCall is associated with Romaine in publishing the Herald at Ithaca.

Harlan McCall, the only brother not in newspaper business, is principal of the Charlotte high school. Almon W. McCall, a cousin, is with the Grand Haven Daily Tribune.

The Michigan press leader has been active in community affairs at Ithaca, having served as president of the Chamber of Commerce, high priest of the Royal Arch chapter, and master of the Masonic lodge. He is a member of Rotary, and the Presbyterian church, and he attended Albion college.

Convention speakers included Governor Fitzgerald, Sherwood Anderson, novelist and country editor from Virginia; Dusty Miller, daily publisher from Ohio; J. J. Hartigan, advertising agency executive from Detroit; S. M. Williams, national retail executive from Washington, D. C.; O. J. Libert of the U. S. Department of Commerce, and O. C. Harns, managing director, Audit Bureau of Circulation, both of Chicago.



You knew Sam . . . and Sam knew you

If you were raised in the country you'll remember the old general store. It hasn't been so very long ago since a trip to Sam Barnes at Simpkin's Corner was the one and only way to stock the pantry and furnish the home. You knew Sam and Sam knew you. He'd send you word when he had a bargain in coffee and spices, a new bolt of dotted Swiss, or feathered hats from the city.

A changing world . . . a modern world with countless new desires and a higher standard of living . . . has made it difficult for one man or one store to fill all your requirements. Chain stores and independents, department stores and specialty shops . . . there are many "Sams" and you don't know them all personally. But there is a way to become better acquainted with these men.

Read their advertisements in the newspapers. The advertisement is the advertiser's voice and personality. He tells you about new labor-saving devices, of tasty foods, of new dainties for your home. RAYDERS DROP CONTEST TO JORDAN "5"

DEFEATED BY 19 TO 14 COUNT THERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Inability to Net Free Throws Cost Team Victory in Closely Fought Battle—Grayling Here Feb. 10

East Jordan defeated Charlevoix high school's Red Rayders on their home court last Friday night by a 19 to 14 score. It was the Rayders' third defeat in conference competition and dropped them near the bottom in standing.

The rontost was close throughout and was marked by many personal fouls, particularly on the part of the winners. The Rayders made good on but four out of 21 rhances from the foul line, thus lost through their inability to cash in on free shuts.

Charlevoix led 7 to 2 at the quurter, a murgin East Jordan wiped out with 5 points while holding thr Rayders scoreless in the second period. Jordan tallied three goals and a free shot, compared to Charlevoix's three gift shots to gain a 11 to 10 advantage in the third quarter and marked up 5 points to the Rayders' 4 in the final stanza.

Three East Jordan players went out with four personal fouls and two others had three marked against them. Brown, Rayder center, also went out on fouls.

Cihak netted 9 points to lead the winners. Withers was high for tho Rayders with 8.

The score by quarters:

Charlevoix	7	0	3	4—14
East Jordan	2	5	7	5—19

The line-ups:

CHARLEVOIX (14)	FG	FT	PF
Henley	0	0	1
Carey	2	0	2
Brown	0	1	4
Withers	3	2	1
McGhan	0	1	1

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR NEW CITY HALL

LOW BID OF MUSKEGON FIRM ACCEPTED BY COUNCIL.

Approval of Award by Public Works Administration Awaited to Start Project

Subject to PWA approval, contract for construction of Charlevoix's combination city hall and fire station was awarded by the city council at a special meeting last Saturday night to tho Muskegon Construction Co.

The Muskegon firm's net bid of $67,452.00, subject to deductions of $4,694.00, brings the cost to the city down to $62,758.00. The successful firm was low among three allowed to re-bid on tho job last Thursday afternoon after rejection of nine bids opened January 23rd was reconsidered by the council and an arrangement approved by PWA officials to allow the original three low bidders to re-bid was followed.

The city has available a bond issue of $36,000 and a PWA grant of $29,025 for the project and the bid accepted is below the sum available.

Work on the project, it is understood, will be started immediately after the award of contract is approved by the Public Work Administration.

CHERRY GROWERS WILL ADVERTISE

PLAN NATION-WIDE CAMPAIGN TO PROMOTE PRODUCT

Charlevoix County Growers Will Be Asked to Contributa to Fund From Their Production

In an effort to do with cherries whut hns been so successfully accomplished with citrus fruits and cranberries, cherry growers uf Charlevoix county will be asked to contributr one right of a cent per pound on their total tonnage to launch n national alvertising campaign to promote the cherry.

This was decided at a meeting of growers and canners held in Grand Rapids in December nt which time A. J. Rogers of Ileulah was rhosen chairman of the promotion organization. Since that meeting committees have been namod for all cherry growing districts and it will be their duty to see that every grower is solicited and given an opportunity to participate in the campaign.

Chorry growors of the United States are facing a desperate huttle to keep their industry from perishing, according to statistics. This is obvious to anyone who has lived in a cherry producing section and has witnessed the constant increase in production and the just as constant recession in price to a point where cherry growing is no longer profitable. Two obvious alternatives face the producer, according to economists. Either production must be curtailed or the consuming public must eat more rherries.

Those spunsoring the advertising campaign, which, at one eighth of a cent per pound will raise a fund of $80,000 in Michigan alone, point to conditions which existed in the citrus fruit and cranberry industries not so long ago, which were parallel to the condition today in the cherry market. With a nation-wie advertising campaign the citrus fruit growers lifted themselves by their own bootstraps, increasing production to a point where citrus fruit growing is again profitable.

CHARLEVOIX ICE HARVEST NOW IN PROGRESS

Two Operaters Have Opened Field at West End Lake Charlevoix

Ice harvesting operations for the 1939 summer season are now in full swing.

Two fields have been opened along the west shore of Lake Charlevoix off Ferry avenue. The Charlevoix Coal & Ice Co. has a crew filling their storage place in the old beet sugar factory and another crew employed by Allan Campbell and D. J. Eckinger are filling the Frank Noble ice house. They will also fill Booth Fisheries, Belvedere, Hallett and The Inn hotels and the Chicago Club.

Ice ten inches thick and of excellent quality is available. Due to the fact the local ice supply ran out by mid-fall in 1938, a greater quantity will be stored by all dealers this year.

PYTHIAN GET-TOGETHER NEXT MONDAY EVENING

Pythian lodges of Charlevoix, Central Lake and East Jordan will hold a get-together meeting at the local Pythian temple on Monday evening, February 13. A group of Grand Lodge officers will be present for this gathering.

STATE AWARDS TO COUNTY GROWERS

EXHIBITS PLACED HIGH AT LANSING EXHIBIT

Elmer Hott, East Jordan, Winner Katahdins Prize—4-H Club Displays Awardod Ribbons

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

The 28th annual Michigan state seed show was held last week in connection with Farmers' Week at the Michigan State college. The potato exhibits represented all sections of the state and surely represented the best that Michigan has to offer in respect to this rrop.

While all the announcements have not been received nt the time of composing this artiele, we find that Elmer Hott, East Jordan, won first place in the state-wide competition with his peck of Katahdins. Harry Behling, Boyne City, won second with a peck of White Rurals, third with a peck of Chippewas, and 3rd with his peck of Russet Rurals.

In the 4-H club competition the county exhibit was placed in the white ribbon group and in the individual competition LeRoy Nieloy, East Jurdan, and Raynor Olstrom, East Jordan, were placed in the red ribbon group. Howard McDonald's peck appeared in the white ribbon group. Curtis Nicloy was fifth with a peck of Russet Burbanks in the "any other variety" class.

While we are not entirely certain, tentative announcements state that the Smith-Hughes exhibit from the East Jordan school, was placed in the red ribbon group. We cannot, at this time, state how the individual exhibits were placed within the group collection but without a doubt some of them should appear in the blue ribbon group as they were outstanding in quality.

MICHIGAN BELL IS PROMOTING WINTER SPORTS

Series of Three Ads in 250 Newspapers Tell Michigan Attractions

In the belief that Michigan provides everything in the way of both natural and man-made facilities for healthful winter sports, and that it is in the interest of all its residents that the state be promoted as a winter playground, the Michigan Bell Telephone company is carrying a series of three winter sports promotional advertisements in the Courier and approximately 250 other Michigan newspapers.

These advertisements are designed particularly to direct the attention of Michigan residents to the fact that their own state is unexcelled for winter play. They also contain a list of points where organized programs of winter sports have been announced

If travel to those and other points in Michigan can be promoted, it will be in the interest of the whole state, creating business and employment for many persons, officials of the company believe — for "what helps Michigan helps us all." Therefore the company is advertising Michigan's advantages as a winter playground in the same way it has advertised the state as a summer playground the past dozen years.

Anyone interested in the Townsend Plan can buy the papers at the S. M. Rose Barber Shop.—6t1pd.

SEND SALES TAX REMITTANCE TO LANSING

Payment at Traverse City Eliminated by Tax Administration

Receipt of sales taxes at seven of nine district offices was discontinued by Orville E. Atwood, Managing Director of the State Board of Tax Administration.

Taxpayers who have been making their sales tax returns to district offices at Traverse City, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Flint, Benton Harbor, and Jackson are requested to mail the tax directly to the main office at Lansing, Atwood said. Upper Peninsula taxpayers should continue to make their returns as usual to the district office at Marquette. Taxpayers in the Pontiac district should forward the tax to the Detroit district office, 200 Transportation Building.

The change will simplify accounting procedure by elimination of duplication and will shorten the time elapsing between payment of the tax and the depositing of it to the credit of the state's general fund.

IRONTON COMMERCE GROUP ENTERTAINS

GET-TOGETHER WEDNESDAY NITE LARGELY ATTENDED

Fine Oyster Supper and Talks by Civic Leaders of County Foatures of Meeting

Business leaders of Charlevoix county were guests of the Ironton Chamber of Commerce at a "coming out" party held Wednesday evening, February 1st at Ironton.

A fine oyster stew supper was served and, among other things, they learned a mighty good motto adopted by the Ironton civic group which has something to do with the wood chuck, or, in other words, "You have to dig to get anywhere."

William M. Sanderson was chairman of the meeting and George Hanson acted as toastmaster. Speakers, drawn from members of East Jordan, Charlevoix and Boyne City commercial groups, the Charlevoix Kiwanis and East Jordan and Boyne City Rotary clubs, included Mayor Robert Bridge, Clair S. Webster and O. P. North of Charlevoix, James Fairchild, George R. Hemingway and Rev. Stanley Buck of Boyne City, Edwin K. Rueling and Howard Porter of East Jordan, as well as other individuals. The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club favored with a song.

The meeting was largely attended, drawing a crowd of over one hundred. The idea of such a get-together meeting has proven very popular as a means of cementing relations between the various civic groups of the county.

"JAM SESSIONS" ARE POPULAR AT ARGONNE

Northern Michigan Musicians Gather As Guests of Management

Frequent "jam sessions" are proving popular mid-week features at The Argonne.

Musicians from Charlevoix, Petoskey, East Jordan, Boyne City and other points in northern Michigan gather for these sessions and are guests of W. J. Kerns for the evening. The impromptu entertainment is provided by the guests.

Saturday night parties at The Argonne continue to draw capacity crowds.

SOILS PROGRAM IN COUNTY UNDER WAY

FARM-TO-FARM VISITS ARE NOW BEING MADE

County Committeemen Are Making Personal Contacts Following a General Instructiun Meeting

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

This year the new 1939 provisions of the agricultural conservation program are being outlined by farm visits to each operator in the county. In the three former years of this program several series of educational meetings were held to announce the procedure. However, it is felt that by making farm visits a much clearer picture will be left than by merely attending some public meeting.

Last week, Tuesday, Vernon Spencer, state committeeman, and C. W. Wing, district supervisor, met with all township committeemen and outlined in detail the new program and gave instructions in regard to the farm visits. Then, on Thursday another day was spent in again discussing the provisions so that each committeeman would have complete knowledge of all phases.

Upon the visit to the farm the committeeman will have a map showing the location of all the fields and size of fields, and an intention sheet which clearly indicates the maximum amount of money that can be earned by each farm and how to make compliance. Also, he will have data showing the past histories on each farm, how allotments are set up, and all other information that the farmer needs in analyzing his farm program.

It is felt that those personal calls will certainly give each farmer a true picture of what must be done to make compliance. By informing the committeeman of what you expect to do this coming year, he will be in a position to tell you to what extent it will meet compliance. Also, there are several options that might be selected to meet different conditions.

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION TO BE EXTENDED AGAIN

Addition of 310 More Miles of Lines to System Announced

The Rural Electrification Administration has approved a contract between the project sponsors and the Monroe Electric Co., Chicago, Illinois for building another section of the Top O' Michigan projects in the counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, (including Beaver Island) Emmet, Otsego, and Cheboygan counties, intending thereby to bring the total mileage of rural lines in that area up to 602 miles with 2660 members.

The successful bid was $234,196 and includes materials and labor. The total cost, with substation, meters and overhead added, will be $275,664. This is an average of $889 per mile. Administrator Carmody has urged the engineer to have work start at once. The contract calls for the work to be completed by early spring.

The Republic Creosoting Co. will furnish 70 carloads of poles, General Cable Corp. and American Steel and Wire will furnish about 775 miles of wire and the Kuhlman Elec. Co. will ship 556 transformers, ranging 1 1-2 kva to 10 kva.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

In view of the number of inquiries received, it appears that an article in last week's issue of the Courier announcing there would be no primary election this spring was not quite plain enough. The article was meant to explain that there would be no county primary election. There will be a city primary election on Monday, March 6th, as usual

And speaking about elections, I was promptly taken to task for stating Ray Hamilton had been city clerk for 15 years. It isn't true, he's only been city clerk 12 years. Beg pardon'

Have on the desk in front of me a Charlevoix Cook Book, published in 1907 under sponsorship of the Congregational church, I believe. It contains 120 pages of recipes submitted by local women and to run through the pages and see the names of the donors is like turning back pages of history. There are many who are still with us, but more that are not. The advertisements listed such former merchants as J. L. Crane, dry goods; Ivy Drug Store, A. R. Fleischer proprietor; B. B. Blair, florist; F. E. Frazier, footwear; the old Charlevoix Hardware Co.; F. N. Chapel & Co., drug store; Graphos & Moutsatson, confectioners, and others. Bet some of those old fashioned recipes have got the high-fallutin' dishes of today beat a mile. Don Clothier found the cook book behind a cupboard in the old Francis home on Belvedere avenue which is now Gray Gables Inn.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Can Governor Fitzgerald stave off the rising tide of civil service resentment among Republican legislators?

Pledged publicly to support of the merit plan, the governor has a ticklish situation on his hands in the threatened revolt of law-makers. The growing hostility to the law is a result of current investigations, led by Senator Elmer B. Porter of Blissfield, which have convinced many legislators that the statute merely blanketed deserving democrats in state jobs, left the door wide open to the raising of campaign funds through "voluntary" assessments on salaries, and on top of all this imposed unnecessary expense on an already unbalanced state budget.

House leaders admit privately that the majority of Republican members are just itching to scalp the act.

Two Detroit democrats, Representatives John Hamilton and Chester Fitzgerald took the opportunity last week to introduce a bill to "correct" the civil service evils and thus rescue it from impending disaster. This, in more ways than one, Governor Fitzgerald is on the defensive.

MICHIGAN—for All Sorts of Winter Sports!

MICHIGAN'S natural facilities for winter sports, perhaps unexcelled anywhere in the country, are worthy of promotion. Thousands of visitors should be attracted here from outside the State, and Michigan residents can be shown that they need not leave their own State to enjoy the finest of winter sports.

All Michigan will profit from such promotion, in which the Michigan Bell Telephone Company wishes to do its part. This is the first of a series of three advertisements, appearing in 250 Michigan newspapers, to promote Michigan as an outstanding winter playground.

CHAPTER III

"Dun't discourage the child, Linnie!" admonished Lelia. "There's an exception to every rule I think it's grand that Mary wants to try her hand at something sensible."

"Nothing's sensible for a pretty woman except a good marriage,"

"Nothing's sensible for a pretty woman except a good marriage," Linnie decreed.

Linnie firmly decreed. "I know—because I've never been either beautiful or married!"

CHAPTER IV

The days which preceded Linnie Cotswell's cocktail party were like a dream to Mary Loring—beautiful, enchanting, unreal, yet bedeviled by the ever-present worry over home conditions in Hawkinsville, beset at all times with thought of Christopher Cragg. Aunt Linnie dragged her triumphantly through one mad orgy of shopping after another, on to lunch at the Marguery or Pierre's; thence to a first showing at Knoedler's or Harlow's; then on to someone's apartment for tea; finally back home for a quick bath and change to evening clothes, and dinner at the Plaza, or the Waldorf.

Swank-looking boxes of all sizes, shapes and colors were daily being delivered to her from the shops, and although she reveled in the luxuries which Aunt Linnie insisted on presenting to her, her enjoyment was decidedly tempered by the thought: "The money spent on these frivolities would just about support Mother and Petey and Dad for a month."

"I suppose I do look well enough," she conceded to the person in the mirror, "but what difference does it make? Chris is marrying someone else and this thing called beauty doesn't get you to first base in a literary career."

It was at this moment that Lelia, taking a hasty shower in the adjoining bathroom, called to her. "Mary! I say, Mary! Did you find the letters that came for you in the afternoon?"

Mary, applying a dash of color to her lips, glanced towards the door which Lelia had opened a fraction of an inch in order to be heard above the noise of the shower. "No, I didn't, Lelia Where are they? Is there anything from home?"

"Yuu'll find them on the bedside table, propped against the lamp. I believe there was one from Hawkinsville. Sorry I forgot to tell you sooner."

Mary's lipstick fell to the dressing table, and with a mad dash, she made for the table between the twin beds. Two letters reclined intriguingly against the lamp. The top one, she could tell at a glance, was from Ellen. Dear Ellen! Darling Ellen! She hungrily tore open the envelope and began to read Ellen's cramped school-girl scrawl; then, having got just to the end of "Darling Mary, we do miss you so," her eyes wandered to the other letter that awaited her. It was a long, legal-looking affair; her address was typed; and in the upper left-hand corner was printed those magic words: The National Weekly.

Placing the fluttering pages of Ellen's letter on the bed, she gazed, as if fascinated, at the unpressive, businesslike envelope staring at her from beneath the lamp's soft glow.

Almost afraid to touch the thing, yet frantic to know its contents, she picked it up, and feverishly slashed open one end. A sheet of paper, folded twice, dropped out, and glancing toward the bathroom, hoping Lelia would not come out until after she had read whatever news the letter held for her, Mary started to flatten it out. At last, her fingers ceased their stupid trembling. At last—

It was a check on the Corn Exchange Bank of New York, and it read

New York, January 22nd, 1937
Pay to the order of Mary Loring . . .
. . . . . $100.00
One Hundred and no-100 . . Dollars
The National Weekly

"Lelia!" Mary shrieked, rushing towards the bathroom and pounding on the door. "Lelia! Lelia!"

Lelia, a bathrobe of Turkish toweling wrapped hastily about her, apened the door. "What's happened, Mary?" she demanded apprehensively. "Have you had bad news?"

Mary pirouetted about on her silly silver-and-scarlet sandals, and waved her precious bit of paper in the air. "Bad news!" she cried. "Darling, it's good news! Grand news! The best I've ever had! Lelia, my story's been accepted by The National Weekly, and they've sent me a check for a hundred dollars."

"Mary! That's wonderful! Congratulations, darling. I'm proud of you."

"What in the world is going on?" demanded Linnie Cotswell, crossing the hall from her own bedroom.

Mary rushed towards her aunt and engulfed her in a bear-like embrace. "Aunt Linnie, my story, 'At Sea,' has been accepted, and the magazine's sent me a check for a hundred dollars. Just think of it! A hundred dollars!"

"But," Linnie Cotswell demurred, her speech somewhat hampered by the chin-strap that bound up her face, "why didn't they write to you first and make you an affer, instead of just taking it for granted that a hundred dollars was satisfactory to you?"

Mary looked dubious. "Perhaps that's their regular price for a short short-story."

"Well, Edna Ferber gets . . ."

"Darling, I'm not Edna Ferber! Besides, a check for a hundred dollars looks colossal to me."

Stooping, Mary retrieved from the floor the letter which had accompanied the check, and hastily glanced through it. "They say they like 'At Sea' very much," she murmured as she scanned the typed lines, "and they want to see more of my work. Work! Doesn't that sound professional? A man named Buchanan, Phillip Buchanan, has signed his name."

"I know Phil Buchanan," Lelia offered casually, returning to the bathroom, and reaching for a gold-and-white box of bath powder.

"No!" Mary exclaimed. "Not really! What is he like? Terribly learned, and everything?"

"Terribly — human," Lelia returned. "And utterly wrapped up in his work. He started The National Weekly about twelve years ago, soon after he graduated from Harvard, and he's built it up until today it's just about the biggest thing in weekly magazines. The circulation is enormous, you know."

"Is he married?" Aunt Linnie inquired.

"You would ask that!" Lelia replied, chuckling with amicable derision as she started to close the bathroom door. "No, Linnie. He's wedded to his magazine and, from all I hear, he wouldn't consider being dragged to the altar by anybody on earth."

"I'm merely interested in Life as it should be led," Aunt Linnie retorted with mock wistfulness as she left the room, the little train of her satin negligee swishing about her heels.

Mary, left alone, fingered her check from The National Weekly with loving fingers. "I've finally written a story that was good enough for someone to buy," she told herself with awe. "Now I'm started on my life's work."

Opening the top drawer of the dressing table, she extracted the new brown suede purse Aunt Linnie had just given her, opened it, and slipped the check inside the zippered pocket. Then, turning eagerly towards the bed, she picked up Ellen's letter.

Darling Mary, we do miss you so

The house seems so dull without you, and poor Dad appears absolutely lost. You see, he has always depended on you more than anyone else, and while I try my best to take your place, we both know it isn't quite the same.

Well, Mother has heard about his dismissal and the shock of the discovery has gone rather tragically for all of us. It happened this way. She was buying some tape in the notion department at Sullivan and Ourwerda's, and Miss Pattie Carson came in to get some thread, and breezed right up to Mother with, "Oh, Janet, I want to tell you how sorry I am about Jim's losing his position." And right before all the clerks!

Mother hadn't the vaguest notion what she was talking about, and although Miss Pattie's remark almost made her faint, she managed to hold her head up and smile, and say, "Why, Miss Pattie, Jim just had to resign because his private business is demanding so much of his time."

Then, she paid for the tape, and walked out of the store as calmly as she could, but as soon as she got past the store window, she fairly ran up to Dad's office, and demanded an explanation. And when darling Dad admitted the whole thing, she fainted, and he and I had a dreadful time bringing her back to consciousness.

Mother says we'll have to let Phroay go, and, no doubt, we will in time, and Aunt Mamie says she can't do a lick of work, what with her arthritis or neuritis, or whatever it is she's supposed to be having this winter.

And what do you think? A report's going around town that Christopher Cragg's going to be married soon—to a girl he's known for some time. Her name's Lisa Grateland, and she's the daughter of a Chicago doctor. Have you heard anything about it? Everybody seems awfully surprised, and really, for a bridegroom-to-be, I must say Chris doesn't look particularly radiant.

Darling, do you love New York? Do write me about everything.

Give my love to Aunt Linnie and Lelia, but save most of it for yourself.

Mary, so blinded by tears that she could scarcely see, folded the letter, and tucked it beneath the pile of handkerchiefs in the little right-hand drawer of the highboy. Lelia was coming into the room, and she must not see her tears.

Mary, her back to the other girl, hurriedly applied a handkerchief to her eyes; then, with apparent casualness, reached for the powder puff and dusted it over her straight little nose. "I shall get that check cashed tomorrow," she said to herself. "Aunt Linnie'll tell me where to go. And I'll send all but fifteen dollars of it to Dad. Something will have to be kept out for my pocket money. Poor Dad. Oh, poor, dear Dad!"

A thin blue haze of cigarette smoke hung like a delicate cloud over Linnie Cotswell's living room,

IT'S HERE! The NEW Firestone CHAMPION TIRE

with the NEW Safety-Lock Cord Body and NEW Gear-Grip Tread

Plus FAMOUS TRIPLE-SAFE CONSTRUCTION

FLOYD ROBERTS
1938 National Race Champion

Champion race drivers, whose very lives and chances of victory depend on tire safety, know tire construction and that is why they select and buy Firestone Tires for their racing cars.

FIRESTONE triumphs again! This time with the new Firestone Champion, the tire that sets the safety standards for 1939. This new tire provides a combination of safety features never before built into a tire. It is a completely new achievement in safety engineering.

From the experience gained on the speedways of the world and in the Firestone laboratories, Firestone engineers have developed a revolutionary new type of cord body called Safety-Lock, which provides amazingly greater strength. This outstanding achievement makes possible the use of a thicker, tougher, deeper tread which assures much greater non-skid mileage. Because of this new Safety-Lock Cord body and Gear-Grip tread, the modern streamlined Firestone Champion Tire establishes completely new standards of blowout protection, non-skid safety, silent operation and long mileage.

The Firestone Champion Tire embodies the famous Firestone Triple-Safe construction — you get the exclusive and patented Firestone construction features of Gum-Dipping, two extra layers of Safety-Lock cords under the tread and Gear-Grip tread design. Never in all the history of tire building has there been such a triple-safe combination to protect you against the dangers of blowouts, punctures and skidding.

Come in today and equip your car with a set of new Firestone Champion Tires — the only tires made which are safety proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

URGE FARMERS TO USE MICHIGAN GROWN SEED

Michigan Stock Will Give Better Results in Michigan

With every mail bringing new nursery catalogues, Michigan Department of Agriculture officials have pointed out the advisability of considering first those bearing postmarks from within the state. Michigan grown stock will give better results in Michigan, providing variety you desire is available, than that grown in other localities.

"Michigan nursery products," said Commissioner John B. Strange, "are acclimated to Michigan climate. They are hardier than those from states with warmer climates and for this reason it is to the prospective purcher's advantage to consider Michigan grown stock first."

"Michigan is recognized as the producer of the best strawberry and raspberry plants, these products finding favor in many southern states because of their very hardiness, grown in a colder climate. In addition, Michigan stock is recognized because of its cleanliness from disease."

"This state, according to the department, is a surplus producing state of nursery products, with practically every known type of plant and shrub characteristic to the Middle West begrown by Michigan nurseries."

RECOMMEND INCREASE IN DIESEL FUEL TAX

Highway Commissioner Seeks Funds to Protect Roadside Work

Recommendations for legislation to increase the tax on diesel fuel and to protect Michigan roadsides were made this week by State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner.

The commissioner urged a tax increase in line with a conclusion that diesel units obtain 69 per cent more miles per gallon of fuel than gasoline units operating on Michigan highways. The conclusion was included in a report of a nation-wide factual survey on the problem by the research and testing division of the state highway department.

In urging the increase to "remove discrimination against gasoline vehicles and protect our state revenues," the commissioner said he was aware the Diesel truck industry was in its infancy. He said, however, that it would be "much fairer to the industry" to increase the tax now than later when "the industry has attained greater statute." The tax rate is now 3 cents a gallon, the same as gasoline.

"There is need for an intelligent law to protect our roadsides against grotesque signs, hot dog stands, broken down shacks, and all the other developments that ruin the beauty of a matchless landscape," the commissioner said. "We want particularly to protect our strictly tourist routes aginst such encroachments."

The commissioner's recommendations were made at the second annual banquet of the Michigan Good Roads Federation at Grand Rapids.

KIWANIS CHILDREN'S PARTY IS SATURDAY

Belated Christmas Affair to Be Held at Methodist Church

Children of the public and parochial grade schools are looking forward to Saturday, February 11th, date set for the annual Kiwanis Children's party.

This yearly event, originally scheduled for the Christmas season, was postponed due to a scarlet fever epidemic. In addition to a venison "feed," with Kiwanians donning aprons to tend the serving, bags of candy and nuts intended for Christmas will be distributed.

The party will be held at the Methodist church. The children will be divided into two groups. One will be served at 11:30 and the other at 12:30.

ANNOUNCE DATES FOR COUNTY FAIR

Exhibit at East Jordan Is Scheduled September 5 to 8

Some fourteen directors and officers of the Charlevoix County Agricultural Society met at East Jordan's municipal building, Thursday night, Jan. 26, and made further plans for the 1939 exhibit.

Dates of the coming exhibit were set for Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Sept. 5-6-7-8.

The midway this year will be supplied by the "World of Pleasure Shows" consisting of merry-go-round, ferris wheel, chair plane, tilt-a-wheel, kiddie ride, etc. Also a number of sideshows.

For Wednesday afternoon and evening — Sept. 6 — a well-know and popular "Thrill Show" will be presented. It consists of automobile stunts including jumps, driving through a brick wall and an auto collision going at the rate of forty miles per hour. This was a stellar feature last year at the Traverse City fair, the State Fair at Detroit, and the Ohio State Fair. It is considered one of the best thrill attractions of today.

For the night attractions on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 7-8, the "Pine Ridge Follies" have been secured from the Gus Sun Booking Agency. This attraction consists of sixteen people, including their own band of radio artists and the program will run a trifle less than two hours of entertainment.

For the same two days — Thursday, Friday afternoons — the Wells Brothers Trio will present a program of high-wire and platform stunts. This trio is a well-known attraction each year among the larger circuses.

Mistaken Apprehension

At this board meeting a petition was presented, signed by 95 voters and taxpayers of East Jordan, asking that no beer be sold on the fair grounds during the 1939 exhibit. The board to clarify things, passed a resolution to this effect. In the past years there has been some informal talk about this matter — but has never been considered seriously by the fair board.— Charlevoix County Herald.

Thief Disturbs Court

Bangor—This is a fairly law-abiding community, and the justice court is usually a pretty calm place. However, this peaceful atmosphere was rudely shattered when Judge Guy Howard awoke one morning and found his prize holiday turkey had been stolen. Right then, as far as the judge was concerned, Bangor was in the midst of a crime wave; dire punishment was promised the culprit, should he be apprehended.

It's Papa Who Pays

Birmingham — Although women have for some time worn men's suits and men's shirts and men's ties, some Birmingham high school girls have gone a bit farther. It has been reported that a number of them are wearing their dad's sox to school, the loudest one's they can find in pop's dresser drawer.

Seeks Unseen Mother

Dewitt—Seventeen-year-old Lloyd Adams of Dewitt still hopes to find his mother, whom he has not seen since he was four years old and whom he cannot remember. In 1922 his parents were divorced, and Lloyd went to live with his father. He cannot remember anything about his mother, and all his father has told him is that her name before marriage was Miss Bertha Fuller.

Recipe for Long Life

Flint—"Rest—take a nap daily." That is the formula which Mrs. Frances Speir, 1107 Matthews street, Flint, says has helped her reach the age of 93. She celebrated her 93rd anniversary and the opening of the new year in one big celebration.

Fire Loss Record

Ovid—It looked for a while as if Ovid's record fire loss would be spoiled, but everything turned out all right. The fire loss in this village totaled one dollar for 1938 until December 28. However, there was a garage fire on that date that caused $50 damage. That brought the total loss for the year to $51, which is still pretty low.

Big Trousers Stolen

Dearborn—Stealing a pair of policeman's trousers is bad enough, but stealing Patrolman Arthur Paul's trousers is twice, or maybe three times, as bad. Anchor man on the police tug-of-war team, the Dearborn Press says Paul's weight is listed officially at 260, but is believed to be five pounds less than city hall. While visiting in Alabama recently, thieves took Paul's mammoth trousers, including $30 and a watch, out of the room in which he was sleeping.

County-Wide Dairy Meeting at East Jordan Thursday Night, Feb. 16

Selecting more carefully the dairy sires in Michigan dairy herds would assist dairymen to have a larger volume of similarly bred cattle raised for home purposes and also available for sale of surplus livestock, according to A. G. Haltzer, extension specialist, Michigan State college.

To assist dairymen in, first locating sires with good inheritance, and second, developing plans to stimulate use of such well selected sires over a longer period of time will be among the topics discussed in connection with the dairy breeding school on Thursday night, February 16, in the East Jordan city building starting promptly at 8:00.

Through record keeping in dairy testing organizations, valuable information is being gained relative to the transmitting factors of milk and butterfat test in dairy cattle. Using such information in selecting young bulls for future herd sires is a possibility that Michigan dairymen can use to improve the dairy cattle inheritance.

The Jordan Valley Cooperative creamery is cooperating in this series of dairy meetings and, as an added inducement for you to attend, are contributing a free lunch at the conclusion of the meeting. This is the second meeting held in the series with the third one scheduled for Thursday night, March 16. Some entirely new information will be given you in regard to the selection of the dairy sire which should be of great interest to you as a dairyman. Don't fail to attend. A most profitable evening can be assured you so make your plans now and bring your neighbors with you.

Farm Woodlots Now Being Improved In Charlevoix County

The past two or three weeks has seen much activity in several woodlots in this community. Recently five acre areas in three different woodlots have been covered by the boys from Camp Wolverine in a cooperative agreement with the owners. Later on public demonstrations will be held at each place to enable neighbors to study and to observe the results of this activity.

The owners involved in this work are Creo Mackie of Boyne Falls, James Rayman of Charlevoix, and A. J. Bolhuis of Charlevoix. In each case the trees to be removed were marked by the forester in charge of the camp. The forester, in making his decision, kept in mind the fact that the woodlot should be just as productive 25 years hence as at the present time. Thus he leaves the new small growth so that it can develop and take the place of the larger trees. Then again, he thinned out certain areas to permit greater development in the maples and other desirable species. Those old beach trees which have huge tops and discourage growth for great distances around them, were eliminated in most cases.

This spring it is possible to have three more planting demonstrations. In this project the owner buys the necessary young seedlings and the CCC boys set them out. Last year six new plantings were set out under this same arrangement. If you would be interested in this activity kindly get in touch with your county agent at once. Preference will be given to farmers in the west end of the county in this program, as the six already completed are largely in the east half of the county and, of course, the objective of demonstrations is to so scatter them throughout the county that every farmer may be near at least one. Also bear in mind that if you want to improve your own woodlot for payment in the Charlevoix county soil conservation program, it would be well to inform your township committeeman or nearest county committeeman so that you will know what to do to make compliance.

The cranberry picture is an interesting one. Twenty years ago cranberry growers faced a tremendous over production and resultant low prices. In 1916, when the price of cranberries was $5.76 per barrel an advertising fund was created thru a small assessment per barrel. For the next ten years, while the advertising was being carried on, the average price per barrel, after the advertising assessment was deducted, was $8.49 per barrel. From 1027 to 1936, during the depression years, the price actually advanced to an average of $9.84 per barrel. During this this same period national production increased from 480,000 barrels to 528,000 barrels.

Perhaps the clinching argument of the value of advertising is a comparison of how the cranberry and cherry industries met almost the identical situation in July of 1038. The national cranberry production was 412,000 barrels, 80 per cent of a normal crop. But 160,000 barrels had been carried over. Through advertising the crop will sell at an average of $12 per barrel, a two dollar increase over the ten year average.

At the same time the cherry industry harvested but 60 per cent of a normal crop and had carried over only ten per cent of the previous year's pack. But cherry growers and canners, having an cooperative advertising plan, saw the price slip from $6.50 per case to where it is today, around $5. This decrease in the price of the canned product represented roughly a two cent per pound drop in price for the producer. This situation, those promoting the advertising program believe, is sufficient evidence to convict the cherry industry of being asleep on duty.

"The citrus and cranberry growers have shown us the way," Mr. Rogers said. "If they can do it we cherry men can do it. All we need is the wholehearted co-operation of the growers."

The term "mangeurs de lard" or "pork eaters" was applied to new arrivals during Michigan's early fur trading days because it took them some time to accustom themselves to the rough diet of the country and were provided with such delicacies as pork.

MINNIE PAYTON, LIBRARIAN, KIWANIS SPEAKER

Traced History of Library From Charter Down to Present Status

Miss Minnie E. Payton, librarian, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club meeting held Tuesday evening.

Miss Payton, in an interesting and instructive talk, traced the progress of the library from the poiot where the charter was received up to its present state of widespread usefulness.

A large number of interesting questions are placed in the hands of the librarian. On one instance a little girl inquired for a book on vegetables. It turned out she wanted "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." Another reader wanted a book entitled "Bells of China," and insisted it was in the library. Further inquiry showed that the book, "Flutes of Shanghia" was the correct title.

Miss Payton indicated much appreciation for the cooperation she has received in establishing the resources of the library as a necessary part of community life.

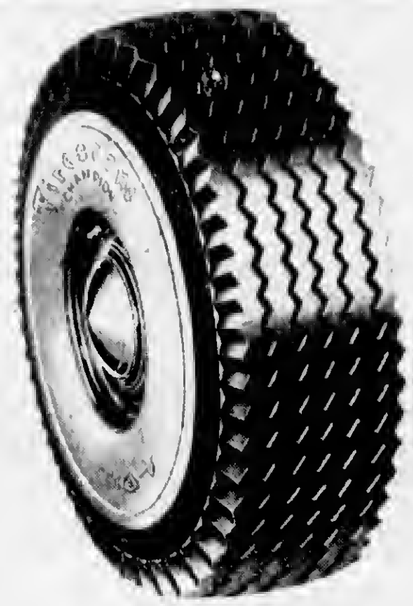
New Firestone Champion Tire



The new Firestone Champion tire, a product of years of speedway experience and laboratory research. Streamlined and ultra-modern in appearance, this new tire introduces several revolutionary features of design and construction, including a new gear-grip tread and a safety-lock cord body.

The new tread design provides greater traction efficiency and retains its superior non-skid qualities after many thousands of miles of service. The cotton fibre of the safety-lock cord is tightly twisted into a strand of high tensile strength, treated by the patented Firestone gum-dipping process, and locked together to form the tire body. This construction affords a new measure of blowout protection.

AT THE MOVIES

"Kentucky" Newest Technicolor Hit

Opening February 11 at the Palace Theatre, "Kentucky," a 20th Century-Fox production filmed in technicolor, is a romance of the Blue Grass state, and it features in the leading roles Loretta Young, Richard Greene and Walter Brennan. Also included in the cast are Douglas Dumbrille, Karen Morley and Moroni Olsen.

From all reports, "Kentucky" contains the most spectacular climax of any picture in recent years as it presents, for the first time in the history of the motion picture, the Kentucky Derby filmed in Technicolor.

Screen Drama Marks Triumph for Tamiroff

Akim Tamiroff has played some pretty amazing characters during his Hollywood career, but none so colorful and arresting as the one he brings to life in "Ride a Crooked Mile," new thrill-drama, which opens February 15th at the Palace Theatre. The picture shows Tamiroff at his best, and the performance he gives secures his recently-acquired reputation as the screen's outstanding character actor.

Tone to Rejoin Group Theatre

"The Girl Downstairs," the romantic comedy coming to the Palace Theatre February 15-16, will be Franchot Tone's last appearance on the screen for several months at least.

have Delco systems, have not yet booked up, although signed up.

We have been visiting several country schools the past week, all taught by county normal graduates, and certainly congratulate the teaching staff on the high grade graduates of the school. Harvey Essenberg of Mapleville school has Bible reading every morning, and is teaching patriotism to even the primary grades. Harvey Harter at Eastport has a nice school, and the eighth grade certainly can work problems on finding solid contents of pyramids and cones. Quite a few schools are preparing for the Traverse Eagle's spelling contest in April. We attended the national spelling contest during the NEA meeting at Cleveland, Ohio, and certainly found it interesting. A negro girl of the Cleveland schools was the winner.

Now, Therefore,

Be It Resolved by the common council of the city of Charlevoix:

That the contract for the construction of a City Hall and Fire Station in the amount of $67,452.00 be awarded to the Muskegon Construction company, Muskegon, Michigan.

That the mayor and city clerk, be and hereby are authorized to execute and deliver such contract for and in behalf of the city. That this award is made subject to the final completion of the plans and program of the city for defraying the cost of construction of the building all appearing in the minutes of the proceedings of the council and mutually understood by the city and awardee and the award shall not be effective until the awardee has been notified in writing by the city clerk of the city of Charlevoix of the award of the pertinent contract.

The resolution was adopted by the following yea or nay vote: Yea—Cartier, Erber, Hallett, Heise, Hooker, Wood. Nay—none.

Alderman Hooker offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Alderman Hallett.

Resolution Authorizing a Contract Change

Resolved by the city council of the city of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, as follows:

1. That it is deemed advisable and for the best interests of said city that the contract between the said city and the Muskegon Construction company, the contractor, covering work on the project of said city, be changed in the following respects:

(1) Eliminate all sheet metal work and fans for air intake and exhaust in addition to the work eliminated under alternate No. 2 in the proposal, leaving only exhaust fan in basement toilets. Deduct $1,220.00.

(2) Basement walls now detailed 10" to be changed to 12" in thickness. Footings detailed at 28" to be changed to 24" with thickness the same. All sand stone to be backed up with 8½" of common brick with exception of living quarters over garage. Outside of this portion of building shall be backed up with 1" of common brick. Deduct $1,133.00

(3) Change all interior brick walls to 8½" in thickness in place of 12½". This applies to basement floor, first floor, and second floor. Where 12" walls on the present plan are supporting concrete beams, 12" thickness shall remain directly under beam with 1" offset from there on. Deduct $512.00.

(4) Substitute 1" gypsum tile where 6" gypsum tile is called for. Deduct $8.00.

(5) Omit plaster in record storage room and boiler room and coal bin. Omit ornamental plaster cornice detailed for community room, Justice's room, council room, first floor lobby and second floor lobby, substituting plaster cove as detailed for remainder of building. Deduct $332.00.

(6) Eliminate electrical equipment for installation of overhead doors. Doors to remain the same but to be hand operated. Torsion springs to remain the same as originally specified. Deduct $311.00.

(7) Decrease distance from the finished second floor ceiling line to top of roof slab over Justice of Peace's room and common council room to 3' instead of 4'3". Deduct $192.00.

(8) Eliminate vitreous tile drain line for areaways and 4" drain tile line on top of footings around entire building. Floor drains themselves to remain in areaways but shall drain into approximately 10 cubic feet of gravel placed underneath the areaway by this contractor. Deduct $50.00.

(9) Change reinforcing bars to rail steel in place of new billet. Deduct $75.00.

(10) Substitute 4" rock wool over the entire second floor ceiling in place of 2" gypsum fill. Deduct $50.00.

(11) Eliminate all case work in record storage room. Deduct $350.

(12) Omit eight interior door checks, eight aluminum kick plates and one dozen 18" convenience clothing carriers specified under hardware. Deduct $117.00.

(13) Eliminate concrete walks and concrete curb as shown on the plot plan. Concrete drive opposite garage shall remain as shown and called for. Approach from wall to front entrance to remain. Deduct $181.00.

(14) Omit water heater specified under electrical specification. Deduct $100.00.

(15) Eliminate four ceiling fixtures as specified under electrical specification, paragraph entitled "Record Storage Room and Vaults" substituting 8" open bottom white globes and fitters. Omit six ceiling fixtures in boiler room and coal bin substituting open bottom globes and fitters. Deduct $30.00.

2. That it is hereby determined that all the data necessary to obtain a comprehensive and intelligent bid, which data, prepared and assembled by D. F. Herrick are referred herein and made a part hereof, were properly submitted to said contractor with a request that such contractor submit a proposal to said city covering such proposed change.

3. That the supplemental proposal of said contractor, a copy of which is on file, and made a part hereof, to make the said change and accept therefor, a decrease in the contract price of $4,694.00 be and the same is hereby accepted for and in behalf of said city.

4. That such acceptance of the contractor's proposal shall be in full force and effect when a certified copy of this resolution is sent to the contractor by the engineer of the said city, and not until then.

Adopted by the following yea and nay vote: Yeas—Aldermen Cartier, Erber, Hallett, Heise, Hooker and Wood. Nays—none.

Moved by Alderman Cartier, seconded by Alderman Heise that the council adjourn. Motion carried.

Ray S. Hamilton, City Clerk.

CHAPTER IV

and the smell of tobacco, Ophelia roses, and the last word in imported perfumes filled the air. It was Sunday afternoon, and Linnie's friends were dropping in to meet Mary Loring.

Miss Cotswell flitted about from guest to guest, exchanging a welcoming word here, a bantering sentence there. Lelia Ormsby presided over a silver tea service that had once belonged to a Russian grand duke; while Mary remained entrenched behind a group of men in front of the fireplace.

"And why has Linnie kept you a secret all this time?" a tall man with a gardenia in the buttonhole of his cutaway coat was saying. "I, for one, demand an apology. To think you've been walking in beauty all these years, and I've been totally unaware of your existence!"

He was a distinguished-looking person, with pepper-and-salt hair and that intriguing assurance of manner which only those who always get what they go after possess. Mary cudgeled her memory for his name. Taylor! That was it —Taylor. Jerome Taylor.

She smiled back at him mockingly. "All this time, and all these years!" she quoted. "Aren't you making me fearfully old—almost passee?"

Jerome Taylor held a cocktail glass, frosted with sugar, to the level of his laughing eyes. "My dear," he said softly, lifting the glass in an almost imperceptible toast to her, "you are ageless!"

"Fol-de-rol!" commented Linnie Cotswell, pushing her way towards Mary, a dark, intense young man in tow. "Jerome, don't be trying any of your well-known allure on this child of mine. She's far too young and sweet to be contaminated."

"Linnie, my darling," Jerome Taylor returned, completely unabashed, blatantly amicable, "forget, for a moment, how violently you disapprove of me, and tell ma which night this week I may entertain you and Mary Loring at dinner. Any night, dear Linnie. Any spot. Any play."

"Hush, Jerry. I'll tell you later. Right now, I want to introduce Balianci to my niece."

"I await with eagerness that pains —with impatience that sears," the young Italian announced oratorically, attempting to wither Jerome Taylor with a glance.

"Mnry," said Aunt Linnie, trying to control the corners of her mouth, "this is Count Umberto Balianci. Balianci, Miss Loring." Then, turning to Jerome Taylor, "Trot along to the tea table, Jerry. Lelia hasn't been able to coerce anybody except the Bishop's wife into taking a cup of tea. Even the Bishop balked!"

Aunt Linnie's sentence was drowned in a roar of laughter from that corner of the room where Judge Byford was holding forth; and Mary suddenly realized that her hand was still clasped in Balianci's, and that his grip was unpleasantly moist. "How do you do?" she remarked inadequately, smiling at the handsome, dark person whose gaze upon her had never flinched.

"It is an ambition attained," he replied in a voice that struck Mary as being too soft, almost oily.

"An ambition attained?" she repeated uncomprehendingly.

LANSING LETTER

Favoritism Charged

That political favoritism prevailed in administration of the state sales tax was a target for Senator Porter's legislative committee at Detroit.

Robert K. Healy, accounts examiner, testified he had been mysteriously pulled off his audit of a deficiency of $6,000 to $8,000 existing in the sales tax account of a Detroit firm, whereas another firm, known to be friendly to Republicans, was sent a notice demanding immediate payment of the deficiency although a "month or so" in time usually elapses for such action.

Urbah V. Hill, clerk in the state unemployment compensation's main office in Detroit, testified that campaign funds were solicited in offices during working hours. Miss Frances Sutton, timekeeper in the sales tax office, told how many workers were kept on payrolls while they were absent because of political campaigning. Miss Dorothy Frainbrink, employee of the unemployment compensation commission; told how the state's mailing list of some 300,000 applicants and beneficiaries of unemployment compensation was used for the addressing and mailing, on state time by state employees, of campaign cards urging the re-election of Frank Murphy.

These were some of the highlights during the Detroit inquiry which was conducted by the "ins" at the obvious political expense of the "outs."

Brownrigg's Report

Whereas civil service is still suffering birth pains, William Brownrigg, state personnel director, has given ammunition for its defense through his annual report.

A total of 3,142 employees won their jobs during 1938 through open, competitive examinations. Tests were given to 54,569.

Qualifying tests eliminated 1,300 and demoted 570.

Governor Murphy pressed for a $90 minimum monthly wage, while the commission fixed it at $75.00.

The civil service study commission was appointed by Fitzgerald during his first term; Murphy forced it through the 1937 legislature.

Spending Trends

Another question on Governor Fitzgerald's doorstep is this one: Can he "deliver" the economy which he promised to the voters during the fall campaign?

One pledge made frequently by the governor was to reduce the state payroll $8,500,000 in 90 days.

A few administrative heads have lopped off employees on the ground of economy, but the total saving to date is of questionable proportion. Even the governor is said to have his own misgivings whether it will be possible to accomplish half of what he thought he would in twice the time. Yet in all public utterances, as well as those made privately, he has convinced hardened politicians of a sincerity to "deliver the goods."

Again, desire for economy is meeting resistance, and not all of it can be blamed on legislators.

Do You Remember Those "Comic" Valentines?

The "comic" remembrances that used to vulgarize every February 14 began with the pagans and happily ended in the Gay 90's with the sourest smells imaginable—but they may have done some good, after all, as you will learn if you read the article on Valentine Tokens in The American Weekly, the great weekly magazine with the February 12 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times more weeks of winter just the same. And that's that!

Well, I'm happy to report that from all outward appearances everybody successfully got by that "Eat More Beans Week" Governor Fitzgerald proclaimed for the period of February 2-8.

They say that when Lizzy Longnecker from Too Nail Hill, came in and asked one of our shoe merchants for a pair of "mules" he started looking for "calves."

See where Sen Clyde V. Fenner, R., Detroit, has introduced a bill to require display of the United States flag in every class room of all public primary schools. Isn't it a shame that it should be necessary to pass a law requiring such a patriotic gesture?

As a barber Tim Whitley would make a good coal dealer. Tim won the guessing contest put on by the Charlevoix Coal & Ice Co. They bargained to give a big piece of coal to the person who came the closest to guessing its weight. Tim guessed 158 pounds and the chunk of coal weighed 157½ pounds. The next nearest guess was 155 pounds.

Wouldn't it be swell if the building of a new city hall at the corner of State and Mason streets would furnish the desire among county supervisors to have a new court house on the opposite corner? It's something to look forward to anyway.

Have had summer residents ask: "What in the world do you do to keep occupied in the winter time?" That's not hard to explain. This week's schedule for instance, included a Board of Commerce committee meeting Monday night, basketball game Tuesday night, Republican county convention at East Jordan on Wednesday night, the Pa and Ma banquet Thursday night and basketball game again Friday night. It's the old small town custom to take a bath Saturday night and Sunday night the wife makes you go to the movies or see the judge Monday. That's just one schedule and could arrange two or three more of different variety if necessary. Every individual follows their own inclinations and there's plenty of affairs to go around. In the daytime we try to make a living and in the summer cut out all these things and really get down to work to keep from starving the next winter. So there's the whole thing in a nut shell!

MONTHLY REPORT OF THE D. H. I. ASSOCIATION

January, 1939

Average production per cow for the month was 543 pounds of milk and 23.8 pounds of butterfat. Thirty-seven cows, or 13% of those on test, were dry.

In the medium class of 9-16 cows the highest butterfat average was made by Albert R. and Bert Elliott's herd of grade and registered Guernseys. Average production per cow was 859 pounds of milk and 37.5 pounds of butterfat.

In the smaller class of 9 cows or less the highest butterfat average was made by Sam Straw's grade herd with an average of 652 pounds of milk and 29.6 pounds of butterfat per cow.

High cow for the month was owned by George Meggison, a registered Jersey, which produced 1070 pounds of milk and 57.8 pounds of butterfat.—Dortan Gibbard, Tester.

POLAR BEAR CAGERS DEFEATED PETOSKEY TEAM

Won by 37 to 25 Score from Petoskey Merchants Tuesday Night

The Charlevoix Polar Bear basketball team defeated the Petoskey Merchants by a 37 to 25 score at the high school gymnasium Tuesday night.

The Polar Bears showed marked superiority as indicated by a 23 to 15 lead at the quarter, 29 to 15 margin at the half and 33 to 17 at the third intermission.

Radle led the Polar Bear attack with 15 points. Pearl scored 9, Wilmot and Supernaw each 5. White was high for the visitors with 9.

The victory gave the Polar Bears two wins in three games. Plans are under way to schedule the undefeated East Jordan Canners in the near future.

Subject:
"The Teachings of Jesus Concerning Man" (Continued)
7:30 Discussion Group:
"The Problem of Evil"

Time did not permit us to finish our subject last week so we will finish this coming Sunday. Current opinion about "Man" varies from the harsh to the sentimental. But what does Jesus teach about him? Reserve your final decision until after you have heard these sermons.

At 6:30 the Christian Endeavor will entertain the C. E. from the Presbyterian church in East Jordan.

The Sunday night discussion group at 7:30. To say that our meeting last Sunday night was interesting is only putting it mildly. Closing time came but no one wanted to leave. The attendance has increased and no one seems backward in the discussion and asking questions. It is just the place for anyone who wishes to learn more about Christianity. Our subject still under discussion is, "The Problem of Evil." This service is not just another Sunday evening service, it is entirely different, and you are welcome.

DON'T FORGET THE BIRDS

When snow and ice cover natural food, the birds may need human help to survive the winter. Above is a simple and practical type of feeding station. A wire basket is formed out of hardware cloth and fastened to the side of a tree on the ground. It may be filled with scratch feed, wheat, barley or shelled corn. One advantage of this kind of feeding station is that such animals as the squirrel cannot carry off any amount of the grain because it is almost completely enclosed, while the birds can feed through the wire mesh.

ODD FELLOWS WINNERS 6TH CRIBBAGE CONTEST

Out-Scored Masons by 321 Points to Trail by 852 in Winter Series

After four successive defeats in the winter cribbage series the Odd Fellows defeated the Masons by a margn of 321 points in the sixth contest of the series of ten Monday night.

With nine and a half tables playing, the Odd Fellows turned in total scores of 17,096, compared to 16,775 for the Masons. The victory left the Odd Fellows trailing their rivals by 852 points. Edward Goldstick led the winners with a score of 955, while Leo Carey turned in a card of 959, the high Masonic score.

The seventh contest of the series is scheduled for Monday evening, February 13, at the I. O. O. F. hall.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET NEXT THURSDAY

Rev. W. H. Helrigel, Traverse City, To Be Guest Speaker

An approaching event of interest is the annual Father and Son banquet, scheduled for Thursday evening, February 16, at the Methodist church.

Rev. W. H. Helrigel of Traverse City, will be the guest speaker of the evening, speaking on the topic, "Where Do We Go From Here." George Hanson will act as toastmaster. Other program features for this popular feature are being arranged.

The banquet will be served in the church basement.

PA AND MA BANQUET SCHEDULED THURSDAY

Fine Program Is Arranged for Annual Rebekah Program

The annual Pa and Ma banquet, sponsored by the Rebekah lodge, is scheduled at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening, February 9th, at the I. O. O. F. hall.

The customary annual banquet will be followed by an interesting program which has been prepared. Cards and dancing will also be features of the evening.

JANUARY SALES TAX RETURNS WERE NEAR PEAK

State sales tax collections last month, based on December retail trade, were the second highest in hisory, Managing Director Orville E. Atwood of the state board of tax administration reports.

A boom Christmas business swelled receipts to $5,427,769. The highest was in December two years ago when collections mounted to $5,596,954. Last year in December receipts were $5,150,712.

CROP KINGS GET CROWNS DURING FARMERS' WEEK

Outstanding Growers Given Awards at Michigan State College

Michigan's outstanding crop growers won state honors and the trophies that went with the selections in the annual Farmers' Week competitions at Michigan State college last week.

Two upper peninsula men are the potato chiefs, but the lower peninsula entries won other principal crowns.

Premier certified seed grower of potatoes for 1938 is Amos Ismay, Jr., Crystal Falls in Iron county. He obtained 491 bushels to an acre, 97 per cent U. S. No. 1 grade. Potato tablestocks sweepstakes were gathered in by John Parkka, Atlantic Mine, Houghton county.

Production went to three men. Jesse Pickett, Caledonia, took one trophy for his seed corn production. Jesse Treiber, Unionville, was named for outstanding work in small grains seed work; Fred Katona, Glennie, for production of alfalfa seed.

Another crown went to Jesse Pickett in the corn show for showing the best sample of 10 ears. P. A. Smith, Mulliken, won championship honors for the best peck of white pea beans with a sample of the Michelite, recently developed by the agricultural experiment station at the college as a service to Michigan agriculture.

For the best peck of malting barley another of the trophies awarded by the farm crops department of the college in cooperation with the Michigan Crop Improvement association went to George Aldrich, Fairgrove. Ward Small, Curran, had the best four quart sample of alfalfa seed.

GOP NAME PALMER FOR SCHOOL BERTH

PRESENT SCHOOL COMMISSIONER VOTED 76 TO 7

Ten Delegates, Each With Half Vote, Named to Attend State Convention at Flint

Republican delegates to the county convention held Wednesday evening at East Jordan, nominated Wm. C. Palmer, Charlevoix, the incumbent, as candidate for county school commissioner.

Palmer received 76 votes to 7 for Kenneth Rehkoph of Bay Shore, as delegates for the first time functioned under the new election law which gives them the responsibility of naming the party candidate for this office. Only delegates with proper credentials were seated. An attendance of 83 of the 100 duly elected delegates was present

Ten delegates, each with one-half vote, were named to attend the Republican state convention at Flint. Those named were: William J. Pearson and Fred Denise, Boyne Falls; Wm. J. Gallagher and James H. Gallagher, St. James; Clarence B. Meggison and Oscar Stroud, Charlevoix; Lyle White and John H. Parker, Boyne City; A. J. Rodgers and R. G. Watson, East Jordan.

The delegates will go to Flint uninstructed, as numerous requests for endorsements by candidates for state offices were disregarded in conformance with a policy of many years' standing.

Resolutions endorsing the Republican state administration and Republican national officers were unanimously adopted.

Democrats Name Delegates

Charlevoix county Democrats, in convention February 7 at Boyne City, chose the fullowing delegates and alternates: Fred Mitchell, Mattie M. Dean, Jesse Mitchell and R. A. Muma, Boyne City; alternates—Merrit Shaw, East Jordan; Pat Moran, Charlevoix; Delbert Pouquette, Boyne City; Joe Topolinski, Boyne Falls.

MARCH 1 IS DEADLINE FOR OLD AUTO PLATES

Date Is Set by Law and No Extensions May Be Granted

Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly warns that 1938 automobile license plates will be illegal after March 1.

That date is set by law and there cannot he an extension of time, he reminded. He estimated that about 1,600,000 plates for all kinds of motor vehicles will be issued this year.

A total of 1,558,286 were sold during 1938. Up to Feb. 1, this year, only 204,984 sales were reported to the Lansing office, but Kelly explained that thousands have not yet heen reported from the 150 branch offices.

PROPOSE TAGS FOR PHEASANT HUNTERS

Would Adopt Same Identification Used for Deer Hunters

Michigan pheasant hunters next fall may wear identification tags on their backs if a proposal now being considered by the conservation commission is given favorable action.

The proposal was offered before the commission at its February meeting as a possible method of bettering relations between farmers and sportsmen.

Deer hunters for several years have been forced to wear identification tags on the back of their hunting coats, the tags bearing large numbers identical with the wearer's license number. According to conservation officials the method has not only been successful in identifying hunters involved in game law violations, but it has had a deterring effect in that hunters hesitated to violate the law knowing that they could be easily identified. It is proposed to extend the same system to apply to Michigan's half million small gnme hunters.

SKATING PROGRAM SCHEDULED SUNDAY

WINTER SPORTS COMMITTEE ARRANGES ICE RACES

Skaters from Other Northern Michigan Cities Invited to Enter Competition Here

Sponsored by the winter sports committee of the Charlevoix Board of Commerce, a program of competitive skating events has been arranged for Sunday afternoon, February 19th, nt the municipal skating rink on the school grounds.

The program will be run off between the hours of 3 and 5 p. m., under supervisiun of members of the WPA recreational staff. There will be prizes awarded to winners of speed and fancy skating.

Events listed for speed skaters include:

Juniur girls under 16 years.
Girls over 16 years.
Junior boys under 12 years.
Boys from 12 to 16 years.
Boys and men over 16 years.

The program fur fancy skaters is now being acranged by John VanZon, who is assisting the committee in charge of the event.

Invitations have been extended to skaters from Petoskey, Harbor Springs, Boyne City and East Jordan to enter the competition.

The events scheduled for Sunday mark the first competitive winter sports of the season. Plans for a winter sports ball tu be held in the near future are now being made.

ENFORCEMENT OF POTATO GRADING LAW STRESSED

Convinced that evasion of the potato laws hy retailers is responsible for preference being given by Michgan housewives to outstate potatoes, Commissioner John B. Strange has instructed inspectors to concentrate upon the enforcement of this law. The orders were issued after road patrol disclosed that shippers were complying with the law in regards to the movement of graded potatoes.

Charlevoix Pioneer Recalls Battle Mormons, Fishermen

Two years ago Stephen H. Smith wagered $10 with a local physician that he would not live 10 years longer. He reached his 90th birthday on Saturday, February 11th, and if good health, surprising activity and mental attitude is any indication, he'll luse the bet.

Having lived 87 years of his life in this region, Smith is believed to be one of northern Michigan's earliest pioneers. He was born at Redford on February 11, 1849, and at the age of three was brought by his parents to Beaver island, where the father, Thomas Smith, was lighthouse keeper. He is familiar with Mormon history, is the only living witness of the historic Battle of Pine River between the Mormons and fishermen, and remembers the killing of "King" James J. Strang, Mormon leader.

Driven From Island

Before the Smith family was driven off Beaver island because they refused to join the Mormons "King" Strang was a frequent but unwelcome visitor at their home. During the spring following the Mormon famine of the winter of 1852-53, an attempt to rob the Smith home of food supplies was frustrated when an ice field drifted between the Mormon boats and shore, preventing a landing.

Stephen Smith witnessed the first Fourth of July celebration ever held in northern Michigan. It was staged in 1855 at Cross Village and was attended by more than 200 men and

DR. DEAN WAS KIWANIS SPEAKER TUESDAY NIGHT

State Officers Come Next Tuesday to Discuss Convention Details

Dr. Carleton Dean, director of District Health Unit No. 3, gave an instructive talk on the work being carried on for underprivileged children before the Kiwanis Club, Tuesday evening.

He pointed out that Charlevoix ranks at the top in its rural dental program and emphasized that there is much to be done in laying out a consistent program for the future by demonstrating how large a proportion of coming generations are likely to need aid in some form.

Kiwanians are looking forward to next week's meeting, at which Nels K. Knudsen of Pontiac, district governor, and Forney W. Clement of Ann Arbor, state secretary-treasurer, will be guests of the local club. One of the chief purposes uf their visit will be discuss details of the state convention to be held in Charlevoix late next summer. Members of other Kiwanis Clubs of this district have been invited to participate in this round table discussion.

REP. TIBBITS SEEKS TO MODERNIZE LAWS

Would Wipe the Cobwebs Out of Michigan's Statute Books

Rep. Douglas D. Tibbits, Boyne City Republican, has started a campaign to wipe some of the cobwebs out of the Michigan statute books.

He is preparing bills for introduction which would delete a vuluminous section dealing with toll roads which at one time were prevalent in Michigan. Today there is one privately-owned toll bridge near Trenton but it probably will not be affected by repeal of the law.

Tibbits also is unable to fathom any reason for retaining the law which provides that if a horse is pulling a sleigh in the uppen peninsula it must have at least one sleigh bell dangling from its harness.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER UNION SERVICE PLANNED

Church Societies to Join at Methodist Church February 24th

World Day of Prayer will be observed in Charlevoix at a union service to be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, February 24, at the Methodist church.

All local church societies are cooperating in the program. The theme for the service is: "Let Us Put Our Love Into Deeds—and Make It Real." There will be an interesting presentation of "Recollections of Jesus" by Mrs. H. J. Pulsipher; presentation of the four union missionary projects sponsored this year by the offering taken at this service will be given by women of the various missionary societies of local churches. Mrs. G. R. Parker will give the breadth and scope of the World Day of Prayer. Mrs. W. H. Rauch will present thoughts for meditation and intersession. Special music will be provided.

Mrs. John Alexander will be the general chairman for the union service to which all women of the community are urged to attend.

DEADLINE FOR DOG TAX LICENSE FEBRUARY 28TH

Present Rate is Doubled After Expiration of Time Limit

Elsewhere in this issue is the announcement of County Treasurer Lillis M. Flanders, calling attention to the deadline for paying dog license without penalty.

State law sets the deadline as February 28th and, contrary to procedure in the past, no extension has been granted by the board of supervisors beyond this date.

The dog license fee up to the deadline is 50c for male and unsexed dogs and $1 for females. The rate doubles after March 1.

Payment may be made with the county treasurer or with city and tuwnship treasurers.

ESTIMATE '38 BUCK KILL CLOSE TO 50,000

Conservation Dept. Report Based Upon 40% Complete Returns

Latest compilations of the Michigan department of conservation's game division covering hunter success during the last deer season show an estimated kill of 48,603 bucks. This is based on the 40 per cent of licensed hunters who have reported. On the basis of these latest tabulated reports it is shown that better than 30 per cent were successful.

Last legal date for the returning of reports by hunters was February 15. The law constitutes failure to return such report a misdemeanor.

PROPOSE MEETING ON DEER PROBLEM

WOULD INVITE ALL INTERESTS TO STATE VIEWS

Sportsmen, Farmers and Resorters May be Called to Conservation Meeting at Lansing

Sportsmen, farmers and resorters will sit at the same table to talk over Michigan's seriuus deer damage problem if a plan of the Michigan Conservation Commission is carried through.

The commission, at a meeting at Lansing, decided to ask the cooperation of Michigan State college in calling a meeting of all groups interested in a problem that is becoming increasingly serious in the north half of the southern peninsula. The damage problem received state wide attention recently when permits were given a few farmers to kill deer that were damaging crops and when scores of deer were shot under the permits.

Under the proposal favored by the conservation commission, and which was suggested by Casper Bloomer, Alcona county agricultural agent, representatives of the farmers, private hunting clubs, sportsmen, the tourist and resort interests, and Michigan State college will be asked to meet to consider remedies.

The deer dnmage problem has created widespread interest among all of the agencies that will be invited to participate in the conference. Several meetings have been held in various parts of northeastern Michigan during the past few months but no solution has been decided upon.

The department of conservation has heen experimenting with several possible solutions. One of these involves an "electric fence" around grain fields, hut it has not proved to be entirely successful.

RAYDERS WINNER OVER ALUMNI "5"

SCORED VICTORY BY 23 TO 18 SCORE FRIDAY NIGHT

Practice Game Substituted When Icy Roads Prevent Appearance of Grayling — Meet Boyne This Week

When icy highways prevented the appearance of Grayling high school for a scheduled conference contest here last Friday night, Charlevoix high school's Red Rayders took advantage of the opportunity to even the score with the Alumni in a practice game.

The Rayders, losers in a holiday tilt with the Alumni, defeated the former stars hy a 23 to 18 count in a contest which was close and interesting.

Trailing 2 to 0 at the end of the first period, the Rayders opened up in the next two quarters to gain a 17 to 9 advantage at the third intermission. The count at the half was 11 to 7 and in the third period the Alumni were limited to a single goal.

Harry Withers scored 10 points to lead the Rayders. Pearl was next with 6. Radle was best for the Alumni with 7 points.

The line-ups:

RAYDERS (23)	FG	FT	PF
Pearl	3	0	2
McGhan	1	0	1
Brown	1	0	1
Withers	4	2	0
Henley	0	1	0
Carey	0	2	0

ALUMNI (18)	FG	FT	PF
Pearl	0	0	2
Radle	3	1	1
Supernaw	2	0	1
Ance	2	1	2
Bergman	1	0	1

The Rayder reserves and Junior high school teams provided an interesting preliminary contest, the former wioning by 13 to 12 count.

In all probability the Grayling contest will be cancelled entirely and the Rayders will go on with their present schedule, meeting Boyne City, conference leaders, in an important tilt Friday night. Boyne defeated the Rayders by a comfortable margin on their home court. The Rayders will he without the services of Bruce Henley, who sprained his ankle in the Alumni tilt Friday night. Bert Pearl, who has heen absent from the line-up a greater part of the season, is again in uniform.

CLAYTON BROWN RADIO BROADCAST POSTPONED

Originally Set for February 23, Has Been Set Ahead Until Spring

A radio broadcast over the Columbia network featuring Clayton Brown, local resident, has heen postponed indefinitely, Mr. Brown announced Tuesday.

A dramatization of Mr. Brown's experiences three years ago when he crawled miles over ice floes to reach Goodheart after 18 hours in an open boat on Lake Michigan, was scheduled for Thursday evening, February 23, by the Inside Story hour.

The broadcast will be given in the spring at a date to be announced, Mr. Brown stated.

PRIMARY ELECTION VOTING HOURS ARE SET BY COUNCIL

Through a resolution adopted Tuesday night, the city council designated the hours for voting at the city primary election of March 6 from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Our Barnard correspondent, Mrs. Clyde Smith, sent a pussy willow in full bloom along with her items this week. Under ordinary circumstances we might call it a harbinger of spring, but at noon today drove to the top of Grant street hill and saw Lake Michigan choked with ice as far as the eye could see, so will have to wait until a more convincing time to come out with that "first sign of spring" story. Incidentally, Charlevoix harbor is ice-locked for the first time this winter.

The sun is getting nearer to the "other side of the fence" every day now. It was daylight way after 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon

Friday's storm sure was a ripper while it lasted That 50-mile wind leveled the big barn out on the Shaw farm between here and Ironton and caused considerable damage to other buildings throughout the country. It sleeted up the roads Thursday night, thawed Friday morning and froze later in the day. Before the sanding crews got out you could have skated from here to almost any place you might have wanted to go without any trouble, and most of us are still skating. Nobody wanted to drive their car any place because that's as far as you would have got.

A city administration should, and most generally is, judged by its accomplishments for the good of the community served. The administration of Mayor Robert Bridge, who is seeking nomination at the March 6th primary, has been one of accomplishment. Citizens of Charlevoix are being given an electric light system adequate for the city's needs; a city hall and fire station; a public parks system second to none in northern Michigan; sorely needed improvements to a sadly neglected sewer system—just to mention a few of the more important items. One of the

A paradoxial situation whereby Michigan, the nation's leading state, has permitted commercial interests to exploit landscape heauty along scenic highways this week prompted Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, to propose remedial legislation.

In a public statement released this Thursday, Van Wagoner reviewed the progress in roadside beautification and declared:

"Experience has shown that roadside projects have invited commercial development which has destroyed the beauty of these projects. The state highway department needs a new weapon in its roadside heautification program. That weapon must he a statute banning grotesque signs, shacks, etc., along our roadsides.

"I favor some type of so-called billboard legislation, broad enough to include hot dog stands, shacks, etc., being introduced in the current session of the legislature."

Such legislation," the commissioner pointed out, "should have a two-fold objective. It must protect the

ROCK ELM

Miss Dorothy Mason and Frank Lawton were united in marriage at 8 o'clock the evening of February 10th at the farm home of the bride's parents near Nashville, Barry county, by Rev. E. E. Branch of Grand Rapids, uncle of the groom, who a little more than forty years before, while pastor of the Nashville Baptist church united the groom's father and mother in marriage there. Two solos were beautifully rendered by the bride's youngest sister, who was accompanied by a niece at the piano. The wedding march followed and the bride on the arm of her mother and the groom by her father's side, moved to the altar. The bride was given away by her brother and the double ring ceremony was performed. The service was almost in the nature of a double wedding as the father and mother were celebrating their 39th anniversary that day. Only near relatives were present, among them being the maternal grandparents of the bride, who but a short time ago celebrated their 62nd wedding anniversary. The young couple were given a reception and shower at the school house on Saturday evening, over one hundred being present with their gifts and congratulations. For the present they will make their home in East Jordan.

CENTRAL LAKE

We'll take it all back. Torch lake isn't frozen over. The thin ice disappeared.

Mrs. A. B. Warner, at Lockwood Hospital, appears about the same. Here's hoping she soon is better.

1938 Grasshopper Control Campaign Shows 1505 Tons Dry Bait Used

We ran all remember the serious losses in crops last summer. In fact on a wet bait basis, 133 tons were used by 142 farmers. The state summary indicates that 198,971 acres were protected. The cost in the counties was $14,462 while the value of materials contributed by the Federal Government came to $19,550. It was estimated that $131,903 worth of crops were destroyed but, as a result of the poison bait used, $1,118,158 was saved. 45 counties participated in the battle against the grasshoppers.

The general grasshopper situation in Michigan for 1939 seems to be somewhat improved over last year. Egg surveys indicate a much lighter egg crop than last year but they cover a larger territory. Based on the results of the survey it will require around 27 tons of dry bait to combat a 14 per cent infestation which is in prospect. In the near future plans will be developed to organize the campaign for this summer. In spite of a lighter crop in prospect, it would seem just as important to clean them up as if they were in great number. So "A Stitch In Time Saves Nine" still holds true.

O. I. Gregg, Landscaping Specialist, To Give Lecture February 23

O. I. Gregg, Landscape Extension Specialist from the Michigan State College, will give the first of a series of lectures on Thursday afternoon, February 23, at 2:30 in the Boyne City Library on the subject "The Way to Beautify the Home Area." His lecture will be illustrated by beautiful slides taken in direct color and covering many homes in Michigan.

The speaker is well known in this county, having made outlines for a large number of folks interested in beautifying their home surroundings. Several slides will be shown of scenes in our own county.

During the last twelve years 75 plans have been made by Mr. Gregg. At the present time there are 14 plans completed and 23 are in the process of completion.

Remember that you are cordially invited to enjoy this lecture. Nothing in the world can be done easier and more inexpensively to make your home more attractive and more livable than to set out shrubs and flowers. There is nothing that will give you more pleasure and satisfaction than to work among the beautiful plants throughout the season. Don't come alone! Bring one or two of your neighbors with you. Be sure to be on time Thursday afternoon, February 23, at 2:30 in the Boyne City Library.

CHAPTER IV

"But yes!" he returned with fervor. "I saw you at the Stork Club two nights ago, and, since that moment my eyes fell upon you, it has been my ambition, my sole thought, to meet you."

Mary felt a little dazed. A fixed little smile forced itself to her lips. The man was still devouring her with his somber eyes, all the while extracting a flat, gold case from an inner pocket, removing a cork-tipped cigarette, lighting it, and exhaling a puff of heavily scented smoke. "Egyptian cigarettes," thought Mary. "That heavy fragrance makes me a little sick." Aloud, she said inanely, "I didn't see you at the Stork Club."

"One does not expect a queen to notice a serf," purred Baliani.

Mary thought perhaps she was going to scream. When would this asininity ever end?

At nine, Jerome Taylor came to bid her good-by. "We're seeing each other Wednesday evening," he told her. "Linnie has actually agreed to let me have a little party for you. Dinner at my house, and, afterwards, seats for 'High Tor.'"

As for Baliani, he left ten minutes later, and too, wedged his way through the crowd to say good night. Again, he took Mary's hand in his damp grip, and focused the full warmth of his brooding gaze upon her. "Fate is being kind to me," he said softly. "We are meeting again very soon."

He was gone before Mary could reply, and with an ague of revulsion, she thought, "Good heavens, has Aunt Linnie made an engagement with him, too?"

Later, when the guests were gone, and Addie and Louella were putting the apartment to order, and opening the windows to let in the crisp February night air, Aunt Linnie informed Mary that she had indeed made an engagement for her with Count Baliani. "He wants to take us to dinner Tuesday evening," she said.

Lelia, nibbling a much-needed sandwich, turned swiftly about. "Not me!" she said sharply. "I won't go anywhere with that gigolo!"

"He's not a gigolo, Lelia!" Linnie replied almost angrily. "I don't know why you're so suspicious of all foreigners with titles. Besides, he—he didn't ask you."

"He knows I wouldn't be seen with him!" Lelia retorted, sinking into the depths of a chair, and kicking off her high-heeled pumps.

"Well, you've snubbed him so often," Linnie admitted, "that, no doubt, he's finally taken the hint. But, after all, he is a charming person, and a perfectly legitimate count."

"It is an ambition attained," he replied in a voice that struck Mary as being low-toned.

"As if that meant anything these days!" Lelia retorted.

"I want Mary to have every opportunity," Linnie went on, "and after all, Umberto has a title, goes everywhere, belongs to one of the oldest Italian families. In fact, he's a sort of cousin of the king's."

"He might travel faster if he were a cousin of Il Duce's," Lelia observed icily.

"He's terribly taken with Mary," Linnie continued happily, "and really, it would be rather fun for her to be the wife of a diplomat."

"I'm not at all interested in marriage, Aunt Linnie," Mary said harshly, her heart contracting as she thought of Chris. "All that I care about is writing—and making a lot of money in the quickest possible time. In fact, I'm starting a new 'short' tomorrow morning, the minute I wake up. Please, Aunt Linnie, please don't plan anything for me, at least during the day, for the next two weeks."

Miss Cotswell rose from her chair, and started towards the hall which led to her bedroom. "All right, Mary," she said coldly. "I'll leave you to your own devices for a few days, knowing only two well that you'll soon get over this foolishness about being a woman with a career. Every young girl who comes to New York entertains that complex for a while—and then eventually reaches the sane conclusion that, after all, marriage is the one and only thing for a woman."

Mary leaped to her feet, and rushed to embrace her aunt. "Please don't think I'm ungrateful, Aunt Linnie, for all that you're doing for me. I appreciate everything absolutely everything. And thank you, darling, for the wonderful party."

Linnie Cotswell, restored to good humor, brushed Mary's cheeks with her lips. "All right, my dear. As far your working on one of your little stories, you just start right in tomorrow. I, for one, hope to sleep all day."

CHAPTER V

Mary woke with a start at seven the next morning, and, for an instant, lay in her comfortable bed wondering just where she was. At home in Hawkinsville? And was the slim figure beneath the covers in the other twin bed that of Ellen? Then, as consciousness came fully upon her, she realized that she was in New York, in Aunt Linnie's apartment, and that the sleeping girl beside her was Lelia Ormsby.

It was while she sat scanning the headlines of the Herald Tribune, a second steaming cup of coffee in one hand, a third piece of jam-covered toast in the other, that Addie brought in the mail. "Anything for me, Addie?" she asked.

The Mulatto woman consulted the names on the envelopes with maddening precision, finally extending a letter towards Mary. "Just one, honey. Looks like a man's writing, too."

Mary caught the letter from the long, olive-tinted hand. "I hope it's from my father," she said, almost as if to herself. Dad had not written to her since her arrival in New York, and she was hungry to hear, in his own words, how he was getting on.

It was from her father—just one page of his small, scholarly handwriting—neat, modest, suppressed, like the man himself. She read, with affectionate eagerness, what he had to say.

My own little girl:

Your money-order for eighty-five dollars came today, and it is with inexpressible embarrassment, and deep gratitude that I am accepting this loan from you. There is no use trying to conceal from you that I am terribly hard-pressed, and that your generous offering has arrived as something of a god-send, but Mary, I shall pay you back. I am doing everything I can to make a contact, and hope for something good to break this week.

Don't, I beg of you, ever mention to your aunt the straitened circumstances in which I—through my inadequacy—have thrown my family. I could not bear the chagrin of having your dear mother's sister know the true state of our financial affairs, let alone suffer the embarrassment of an offer of help from her.

Try not to worry about us, dear. Have a good time while you may. Something, I am sure, will work out for me soon.

Mary placed her unfinished piece of toast on the blue Spode butter dish. She could not eat any more. Her ravenous young appetite had deserted her. Poor Dad, trying to "make a contact" at his age! Hoping for "something good to break this week!" Begging her never to divulge to Aunt Linnie, who could so very easily spare a thousand or two thousand dollars to relieve, at least temporarily, the devastating worry that gnawed at his heart and mind! No, she would not "let on," by word or act, how desperate the Hawkinsville situation was. She would never betray Dad's confidence, or do anything to hurt his pride.

Hastily, she picked up the breakfast tray, with its powder-blue dishes and silver coffee pot, and carried it to Addie, who forthwith remonstrated with her for "doin' my work." Then, returning to the sunlit living room, she placed the typewriter on the table, inserted a sheet of white paper and put on the glasses which Ellen said made her look typically librarian.

She had an idea for a plot—a simple idea, but so had been the idea for "At Sea." Mr. Buchanan had liked that well enough to accept it. Her story was to concern a little boy whose mother and father were on the brink of a sensational divorce. Just as things were reaching a crisis, he was hit, but only slightly injured, by an automobile, and this near tragedy brought the parents together again, the tale concluding in a sane and happy manner for all concerned.

Fifteen minutes later, she was still waiting for an introductory line that would inspire within Mr. Buchanan an avid interest to read the rest of the story, but the portentous words were fearfully slow in coming. At last her fingers fell upon the keys, and sharply tapped out a sentence—a sentence that did not please her in the least, but which would simply have to do for the time being. She would have to get on. She couldn't sit there all day, waiting to begin.

Paragraph after paragraph slowly but surely stretched themselves over the pages, but the story unrolled with painful effort. "I've waited too long since the last one. My thoughts simply can't get down to business. Too many things have happened to me since I wrote 'At Sea.' If only I'd begun another story the very day after I finished that! I suppose your mind's just like any other kind of machinery. You've got to keep it working all the time, or the wheels get rusty, and are hard to start up again."

Mary worked on "Their Son" again the next morning, rewriting whole sentences, transcribing phrases, deleting words that appeared unnecessary, but the conformation remained the same, and she could see no way in which to improve it. She was not satisfied with what she had done. The story lacked something. At one o'clock, she put it aside, telling herself grimly, "I'm so saturated with the thing that I can no longer look at it from an unbiased standpoint. I'll go out for a walk. Maybe the fresh air will drive the cobwebs out of my brain, and I can get to work on it again tonight with a fresh outlook." Then, she suddenly remembered that Aunt Linnie had made an engagement for the evening with Umberto Baliani, and, with a sigh, she resigned herself to waiting until the following morning to work on the script again.

Baliani called for them at seven, just shortly after Lelia had ensconced herself comfortably in bed with Somerset Maugham's new book at her side, and a tray of delectable food over her knees. "Well, thank heavens, I'm not going out with you and Linnie tonight," she said with a mischievous grin.

"Aunt Linnie said to wear a street dress," Mary remarked.

Lelia yawned luxuriously. "Oh, of course, with Baliani footing the bill! He will, no doubt, treat you to an eighty-five cent table-d'hote in some wretched place in the Village, and smugly feel that you and Linnie are in his debt for the rest of the winter. He's so accustomed to having somebody else pay the check that, when he does come across with an invitation, he damn' well sees to it that his output of cash is of the smallest possible denomination. He's a sponger, darling, looking for a rich wife, and nobody on earth can make me believe anything to the contrary."

Mary pulled on her Lapin coat and caught her gloves up from the dressing-table. "You do look cozy, Lelia," she said, "and heaven knows I wish I were staying at home tonight instead of going out into that horrid, raw weather. I'd have liked to work on my story."

"The afternoon paper says we'll have a regular blizzard by morning," Lelia announced, crunching a Julienne potato with tantalizing enjoyment. "Thanks be to Allah for my bed and board! See you later, my dear, unless you get lost in a snowdrift. I doubt if Baliani has the price of a taxi!"

IT'S A HIT! The NEW Firestone CHAMPION TIRE

Because IT'S THE ONLY TIRE MADE WITH THE NEW SAFETY-LOCK CORD BODY and GEAR-GRIP TREAD

AB JENKINS
World's Safest Driver

Ab Jenkins, holder of 87 world records for safety, speed and endurance, who has driven more than a million and a half miles on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires without an accident, says, "On the speedway or on the highway, I insist upon the extra safety of Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires on my cars."

CAR OWNERS everywhere are acclaiming the extra blowout protection and non-skid safety of the new Firestone Champion Tire. And automobile manufacturers, knowing its outstanding performance, have adopted it for their new 1939 models. On every hand you hear, "It's the most effective tire we have ever had on wet pavement and in mud and snow!" It's the hit of 1939!

The Firestone Champion Tire is a completely new achievement in safety engineering and the result of a new and revolutionary means of locking greater safety into the cord body of a tire. This is accomplished first, by the use of a new type of tire cord called "Safety-Lock," in which the cotton fibers are more compactly interwoven to give greater strength. And then the fibers in each individual cord, the cords in each ply and the plies themselves are all securely locked together by a new and advanced Firestone process of Gum-Dipping, which provides amazingly greater strength—and greater strength means greater safety.

The new Safety-Lock cord construction gives the added strength that makes possible the use of the new thicker, tougher, deeper Firestone Gear-Grip Tread, which provides remarkably longer non-skid mileage. This sensational new tread is called "Gear-Grip" because of its unique design which has more than three thousand sharp-edged angles that grip the road with a sure-footed hold to protect against skidding and to assure a safe stop.

Come in today and equip your car with a set of new Firestone Champion Tires, the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

X-RAY MOST ACCURATE DETECT TUBERCULOSIS

Shows Presence in Early Stages When Disease is Cureable

The diagnostic chest x-ray is the most accurate means for detecting tuberculosis in the early stages, the Michigan Tuberculosis association declared this week. Emphasis was placed on the need for x-raying particularly people who have a positive reaction to the tuberculin test and those who have been exposed to an active case of the white plague.

The tuberculin test shows whether or not tuberculosis germs have ever entered the body, it was explained. But the x-ray's magic eye peers beyond the outer chest wall and records on film a picture of the lungs. Tuberculosis specialists who read the association's films can then tell whether the germs have damaged the delicate lung tissue.

The chief value of the x-ray lies in the fact that it searches out evidence of the white plague while the disease is still in the symptomless, curable stages, the association declared. Early tuberculosis does not have symptoms, it was emphasized. The common signs of the disease — tiredness, loss of weight, indigestion, and a persistent cough — are danger signals that should not be neglected. These signals make their appearance after the tuberculosis germs have begun to damage the lung tissue, according to the association. X-ray examination can detect tuberculosis long before physical signs appear.

In Michigan modern x-ray examination for tuberculosis is provided by the Michigan Tuberculosis association. The association's technician travels throughout the state with the portable x-ray equipment. All x-rays are financed by pennies raised in the annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals. In buying and using the tiny tuberculosis health seals Michigan people assure themselves of modern protection against the menace of the white plague.

Wet Fire

Clio—A recent rainstorm here not only got firemen wet, but caused a false fire alarm as well. About midnight, when the rainstorm was at its height, the call came. It was found later that rain had caused a short circuit, thus making the connection that sounded the false alarm.

Hard Luck Champ

Caro—Clayton Ryan broke his arm a short time ago, about which there is nothing unusual. However, Ryan believes he can claim the title of "hard luck champ" for it was the third time he had broken that same arm. In the past Ryan has also suffered a fractured collar bone, fractured shoulder, and has received fractured ribs in an auto accident and while playing high school football.

Screwey Egg

Bad Axe—An egg that was literally screwey was laid by one of A. F. Brelow's flock here. Starting out to be a small egg at one end, the rest of the two-ounce specimen ended up in the resemblance of a cork screw. Something went amiss halfway thru the formation, and the shell changed directions and started off on the curled formation.

Owns Valuable Paper

Grand Blanc — Fred Atherton is the owner of a paper which gives an account of the funeral of George Washington. The issue, a copy of the Ulster County Gazette, has been in the Atherton family for years. It was printed January 4, 1800, at Kingston, N. Y.

No More Rescues

Mason — Mrs. Albert Smale of Dansville does not care to serve as peacemaker or rescuer any more. When she saw two squirrels engaged in a deadly front-yard fight, she tried to stop the combat. She grabbed the animal which seemed to be on the losing end. However, he apparently didn't appreciate her aid, for he turned on Mrs. Smale and slashed both her hands.

He Called a Cop

Farmington — Roger Bunrow, editor of the Farmington Enterprise, was seated at his desk shortly before midnight, writing a story about two burglaries. His mind was intent upon his story, when he heard a rattling noise at the back of the bulding. The editor called the police booth, but no one answered, so he called the deputy sheriff, reporting prowlers at the newspaper office. A few minutes later, a local police officer answered the call left at the police booth, and explained he was absent from the booth because he was trying doors in the business district, among them the Farmington Enterprise.

MICHIGAN SETS ALL-TIME HIGH IN FARM SALES

To make farm buyers out of renters, and sell 700 farms to Michigan farmers this year, is the aim of federal land bank field men who have returned to their homes in Michigan after a 3-day real estate conference in St. Paul.

A "coming-on appetite" for farms was revealed: For instance there was an increase of 90 per cent in 1938 in number of all-cash offers received by the bank. One out of every four farms bought was paid for in full at time of purchase. Cash paid down on time contracts increased over 8 per cent above 1937.

In Michigan 420 farms were sold last year, an all-time high for the state, and a gain of better than 15 per cent. The bank made the unprecedented record of selling 1,725 farms in 1938, a 47 per cent gain over the previous record year for Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota combined.

EAST JORDAN ANOUNCES SMELT JAMBOREE DATES

Set March 25th for Big Celebration at Jordan This Year

The date for the annual National Smelt Jamboree has been set as March 25th this year, and auto and letter stickers are already being sent to various parts of the midwest.

The Jamboree will again be sponsored by a joint committee from the Jordan River Sportsmen's Club and the Chamber of Commerce. The committee consists of C. W. Bowman, Cal Bennett, Charles Murphy and Sam Rogers of the Sportsmen's Club, and Percy Penfold, Howard Darbee, Ole Hegerberg and Ed. Renling of the Chamber of Commerce. Geo. Secord, Joe Bagai and Paul Lisk again have charge of publicity and communications.

Inquiries have already came in from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, regarding the run and jamboree, and from all indications smelt fever is attacking outsiders earlier this year than ever before.

Joe Bugai, Earl Clark and Geo. Secord met with the Boyne City Rod and Gun Club Thesday evening and discussed ways for the two cities to cooperate with their celebratinns. Boyne City's festival will probably not come the same day as East Jordan's this year, thus the two towns will be able to attend each others celebrations. — Charlevoix County Herald.

MARKETS ASKING FOR MORE MICHIGAN BEANS

This State Leads Nation's Production, But Sopply Insufficient

When surpluses bother farmers, it is news when merchandise outlets inform the farm crops department at Michigan State College that a certain specific crop can be disabled without much danger to the price.

Cranberry beans are the crop.

Michigan leads the nation now in production of these beans. Yet in each of the past three years the bulk of the crop grown in this state has been shipped by February 1. It is so again this year, in spite of 299,000,000 pounds of them produced on Michigan farms in 1938. There is only an estimated 15,000 bags left in elevators.

Miners in several states lead the demand for the cranberry beans, says H. C. Rather, head of the farm crops department at the college. The market lies in areas in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee.

PYTHIANS HOSTS AT GET-TOGETHER MONDAY

Group of Four Grand Lodge Officers Entertained by Local Lodge

Pine Lake Lodge, Knights of Pythias, was host to a group of four grand lodge officers and visiting Pythians from East Jordan and Central Lake at a get-together meeting Monday evening.

A lunch was followed by work in the third degree with John VanZon and Harrison Bedford as the candidates.

Visiting grand lodge officers included Grand Chancellor S. W. F. Garrett of Owosso, Acting G. K. R. S. Frank Berman of Detroit, Grand Prelate George Digby of Bay City and Grand Outer Guard J. Howard Wendorph of Birmingham. Fifteen Pythians were present from East Jordan and a group from Central Lake.

FATHER AND SON BANQUET THURSDAY NIGHT

Exceptionally Fine Program Arranged for Annual Event

An exceptionally fine program has been arranged for the annual Father and Son banquet, to be held Thursday evening at the Methodist church.

George Hanson will act as toastmaster and program features have been announced as follows: Invocation, Rev. H. J. Pulsipher; music, male quartet; Toast to Sons, Harry A. Craig; vocal solo, Charles Hamlin; Toast to Fathers, Ned Wagner; solo, Kenneth Wilson; recitation, Dale Boss; music, Max Smith; address, Rev. Will H. Helrigel; benediction, Rev. Harold Ringenoldus.

Assembly singing will be a feature throughout the evening, led by Rev. John Alexander with John S. Cole furnishing piano accompaniment.

INCREASE CHEVROLET CAR SALES NOTED IN JANUARY

Continuing the advance that has been apparent ever since introduction of its new 1939 models, Chevrolet sold 51,966 new cars and trucks at retail in January, W. E. Holler, general sales manager, announced. This compares with 39,469 units in January 1938, and is an increase of 12,566 units or 31.7 per cent.

Steel traps were used by Virginia fur hunters as early as 1790, at least 50 years earlier than their introduction was recorded elsewhere in North America, according to National Park Service researchers.

ODD FELLOWS WINNERS 7TH CRIBBAGE CONTEST

Out-Scored Masons by 264 Points to Trail by 588 in Winter Series

By winning the eighth contest of the winter cribbage series Monday night, the Odd Fellows clipped 264 points off the Masonic lead of 852 to trail by a margin of 588 going into the ninth contest.

With ten tables in play Monday night, the Odd Fellows turned in a team score of 18,074 to 17,810 for the Masons to chalk up their second consecutive win and bring greater interest in the series.

C. V. Miles led the winners with a perfect score of 968, the first of the series. John Macey was high for the Masons with 948.

The 9th contest of the series is scheduled for Monday evening, February 20, at the Masonic temple.

Exercise, Tuberculosis

Speaking before a recent meeting of physicians in Detroit, Dr. Lawrason Brown of Saranac Lake, N. Y., stated that many a person suffering from incipient pulmonary tuberculosis had "conscientiously and literally" walked themselves to their graves.

Dr. Brown reiterated a principle which should be obvious even to the layman, that "injury ever demands rest for repair."

Like cancer, tuberculosis in its early stages is rarely associated with pain. This is unfortunate. The sufferer is too often lulled into a false sense of security and, since the wish is father to the thought, easily persuades himself that he is rapidly recovering from what was only a slight indisposition after all.

It is, perhaps, quite natural that such patients should argue that a sense of weakness, their chief complaint, can best be overcome by exercise since regular use of the muscle structure ordinarily strengthens it. No program could be more detrimental to recovery. The body, seeking to throw off the enervating effect of the tubercle bacillus, is forced to assume an additional load—recuperation from induced fatigue — with which it cannot cope. The result frequently is collapse with permanent impairment of the lungs and associated organs.

Acting on the revelations of recent research, physicians now generally order early-stage tubercular patients to bed for a period of at least six weeks. The majority are allowed to attend to their needs; a few are permitted to sit at meals if served in their rooms, but none may dress and descend stairs.

A return to normal activity is carefully regulated, usually by allowing the patient to walk for one or two minutes twice daily after the first six weeks. Thereafter, the exercise period is increased by only two minutes daily until the patient is walking a total of 40 minutes daily. When that point is reached, permission is given to resume street clothing.

For one week they may walk out of doors for 10 minutes daily. Week by week the period is lengthened until at the end of the fourth week they are exercising for three-quarters of an hour. The convalescents are cautioned to confine their walking to the level and to rest at the first sign of returning weakness.

Dr. Brown holds that "the recollection of this slow progress has a very salutary effect on their future actions." Confinement is abhorrent to the ordinarily active person and the threat that the recuperative program may be reinstituted is often sufficient to insure that the patient will avoid overtaxing himself and thus allow the lung the greatest possible functional rest.

The beaver in primitive times occupied suitable habitats throughout almost the entire extent of North America, excepting the region north of the tree limit and the arid western deserts.

PIONEER RECALLS BATTLE OF MORMONS, FISHERMEN

women who came from throughout the upper lake region by boat. The purpose of the gathering was not so much to celebrate Independence day as it was to formulate plans to stop the Mormon depredations upon the fishermen. At that time boats, cargoes and crews were disappearing, nets were stolen and burned.

Climax to Trouble

The trouble between the Mormons and fishermen reached a climax in 1866 and the incident was one of the most eventful in Smith's life. In June of that year the historic Battle of Pine River was fought at a point on the Lake Michigan shore opposite the present Charlevoix tourist camp. Smith, then 7 years old, was an eye witness. His account of the battle follows:

"The fishermen, sighting the Mormon boats approaching shore, concealed themselves in the woods. When the Mormons landed, they went to a house where the fishermen's wives were holding a quilting 'bee.' When they told the women they would kill their husbands, the fishermen opened fire, and in the ensuing battle wounded many of the invaders and drove them off. In the excitement, I found myself with Louis Geboo. I hung onto his pant-leg as he advanced with the others. In the exchange of shots, a Mormon bullet struck Geboo in the knee of the leg I was holding."

About six weeks after the battle "King" Strang was slain.

In 1864 Smith cut the first trail from the Lake Michigan shore into the wilderness to a location in what is now Marion township where his parents established a homestead that was Smith's home until 1903. At the age of 23 years, Smith voted for Ulysses S. Grant for president.

While his vision is slightly impaired, Smith today is more active than most men half his age. He expects to live to be 100 and won't mind losing the $10 bet.

Sunday morning service, 10:45.

Sunday school, 12 o'clock.

Meets first Wednesday evening each month at 7:45 p. m.

We cordially invite the public to our service and reading room.

Reading room open Saturday, 3 to 5 p. m.

"Mind" will he the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, February 19.

The Golden Text (1 Peter 3:8) is: "Be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, he pitiful, he courteous."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Romans 11:33, 34): "O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? Or who hath been his counsellor?"

Correlative passages to he read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 469): "There can be hut one Mind, because there is but one God; and if mortals claimed no other Mind and accepted no other, sin would be unknown. We can have hut one Mind, if that one is infinite."

CHURCH OF GOD
Rev. H. J. Pulsipher, Pastor

You are invited to the services at the following hours.

BANKS

Serve Every One

Banking is not a class business. It is not identified with any one group—labor, professional, executive, or capitalist. It serves large and small business units by extending credit, by the rapid transfer of funds, and in many other useful ways. Banking also serves the thrifty workers of the community—wage earners, salaried people, housewives, farmers, and professional workers—through its savings and thrift departments, and through its commereial departments for checking accounts.

beauty of our roadsides. It must be designed to make our highways safer.

"It should not be a punitive measure designed to kill a legitimate business. It should not primarily be a revenue measure. Rather, should it aim at regulation.

"Along scenic or tourist routes, commercial boards and signs should be restricted to special zones adjacent to cities and towns. The state highway department would be authorized to designate such routes and zones."

Safety of Motorist

Chairman Van Wagoner feels that commercial boards on other highways should be permitted on a selective basis with the state department, together with the state police, designating the areas where signs could not be erected. Highway safety for the public would be the principal control factor.

Billboards would be regulated under a license plan with the license fee only nominal, such license to be issued jointly by the highway commissioner and the state police commissioner, both of whom would have the right to approve the design of such signs.

The proposed legislation also would require "adequate and regular maintenance of the signs by the owner." License fees would be used to defray cost of inspections and to further the roadside beautification development.

Bill Two Years Ago

During the 1937 legislative session at Lansing a bill was introduced, in both the house and senate under sponsorship of the Garden Clubs of Michigan. Although public opinion was strong for its enactment, as evidenced by resolutions passed by women's clubs, civic groups and other organizations, the measure was amended to death and was finally buried in committee.

At that time there was a legislative tendency to seek revenue from billboards, rather than to control them.

Commissioner Van Wagoner's latest move in behalf of highway scenery protection is but another step in a department program designed to promote Michigan as a tourist state. Highways have been related to bring them closer to the Great Lakes shorelines. Natural stands of timber along scenic roadsides have been conserved through the purchase of right-of-way as wide as 100 feet.

Scores of roadside parks have been created. More than 2,500 picnic tables have been set out along roadsides throughout the state.

Convention Reform

Reform of the political convention system in Michigan is demanded by a militant newspaper editor in Wayne county, Representative Elton R. Eaton of Plymouth.

As one of the Republican delegates to the Grand Rapids convention who never received his credentials and who had no voice in the voting, Editor Eaton is determined that so-called boss control of conventions shall be done away with.

In two bills, aimed broadly at the so-called Edward N. Barnard-Frank McKay alliance, Eaton proposes to accomplish the following:

1. Abolish county conventions in Wayne county and substitute for them congressional district conventions.

2. Amend the constitution to permit the governor-elect to appoint the secretary of state, attorney general, auditor general and treasurer in much the manner that the president selects his cabinet.

Plan No. 1 has the enthusiastic support of young Republicans. Its passage is forecast in both houses of the legislature.

Registration Notice

For City Primary Election Monday, March 6th, 1939.

To the qualified electors of the city of Charlevoix, state of Michigan:

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the "Michigan Election Law," I, the undersigned city clerk, will upon any day, except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said city not already registered who may apply to me personally for such registration. Provided, however, that I can receive no names for registration during the time intervening between the second Saturday before any regular, special, or official primary election and the day of such election.

Notice is Hereby Given that I will be at the city offices Tuesday, February 14, 1939, the twentieth day preceding said election, as provided by Sec. 1, Chapter 3, Part II, Act 351, P. A. 1925, Amended 1931, from 8 o'clock a. m. until 8 o'clock p. m. on each said day for the purpose of reviewing the registration and registering such of the qualified electors in said city as shall properly apply therefor.

The name of no person but an actual resident of the precinct at the time of registration and entitled under the constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next election, shall be entered in the registration book.

The last day for general registration by personal application for above election will be Saturday, February 25, 1939.

Provision in Case of Removal to Another Precinct

Any registered and qualified voter who has removed from one election precinct of a city to another election precinct of the same city shall have the right, on any day previous to election, or primary election day, on application to city clerk, to have his or her name transferred from the registration book of the precinct from which he or she has removed to the registration book of the precinct in which he or she then resides. Such elector shall have the right to have such transfer made on any election or primary election day by obtaining from the board of inspectors of such election or primary election of the precinct from which he or she has removed a certificate of transfer and presenting the said certificate to the board of election inspectors of the precinct in which he or she then resides.

Ray S. Hamilton, City Clerk.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Heart Disease

On the basis of current statistics, about 10,000 residents of Michigan may expect to die of heart disease during 1939. While this number is far lower than it would have been a generation ago, before methods were developed to reveal a heart ailment in its early stages, it is still far too large. Were it to become a common practice for all persons more than 40 years old to seek a periodic physical examination which would reveal disturbances of the circulation, the annual death rate from heart trouble could be materially decreased.

In general, heart patients fall into two groups. Relatively youthful individuals who owe their trouble to acute inflammatory rheumatism producing damage to the heart valves; and the older group whose hearts have been affected by high blood pressure, resulting from excessive fat or, often from a chronically disturbed mental state.

Neither group need regard a diagnosis of heart disease, confirmed by the electro-cardiagram or x-ray, as equivalent to a death warrant. Authorities now assign heart sufferers to one of five classes: Those who given proper supervision and treatment, are able to carry on all their usual activities; those who must curtail their work to a slight degree; those who may be active to a moderate extent; those forbidden all save the mildest forms of exertion and, finally those who must be confined to bed in order to avoid overtaxing the heart in any manner.

Each year, research contributes additional knowledge respecting the proper management of the patient with heart disease. Indeed, it may be said that a heart condition, discovered early, need not shorten the victim's useful life. A normal span depends only on the willingness of the patient to observe a few definite rules designed to conserve his health. Treatment of the heart patient includes:

Removal of local areas of infection about the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, prostate gland and the like.

Budgeting the day's work and so regulating both physical and mental activity that sufficient rest periods are provided for the laboring heart.

Administering drugs, especially stimulants like digitalis, particularly to advanced cases.

Equally important, perhaps, are careful records of the heart's performance, to be taken at regular intervals and preserved for comparative study. It is these which will indicate whether treatment is successful in checking further damage and preserving function or whether other measures must be instituted.

American Boy Magazine Companion to Thousands

Hundreds of thousands of boys and young men read The American Boy magazine every month and consider it more as a living companion than as a magazine.

"It's as much a buddy to me as my neighborhood chum," writes one high school senior. "The American Boy seems to understand a boy's problems and considers them in such a sympathetic and helpful way. It gives advice and entertaining reading on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. It is particularly helpful in sports. I made our school basketball team because of playing tips I read in The American Boy."

Many famous athletes in all sports credit much of their success to helpful suggestions received from sports articles carried in The American Boy magazine. Virtually every issue offers advice from a famous coach or player. Football, basketball, track, tennis, in fact every major sport is covered in fiction and fact articles.

Teachers, librarians, parents and leaders of boys clubs also recommend The American Boy enthusiastically. They have found that as a general rule regular readers of The American Boy advance more rapidly and develop more worthwhile characteristics than do boys who do not read it.

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce in The American Boy, the sort of reading matter boys like best.

The American Boy sells on most newsstands at 15c a copy. Subscription prices are $1.50 for one year or $3.00 for three years. Foreign rates 50c a year extra. To subscribe simply send your name, address and remittance direct to The American Boy, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan. —Adv. 7t2pd.

The great blue heron, American bittern, kingfisher, American merganser, watersnakes and garter snakes have shown themselves to be the most damaging predators about Michigan fish hatcheries and rearing ponds.

The northern pike is the only member of the pike family found outside the United States, it being found in fresh waters of the northern parts of Europe, Siberia and Asia.

Canadian investigations indicate crows may destroy more than 30 percent of the duck nests on important breeding marshes.

SHOT AT RANDOM

first steps of the present administration was to employ a city superintendent who was a qualified civil and electrical engineer. Through his efforts in conjunction with the mayor and council, federal grants totaling $136,454 have been obtained for these improvements. Of this sum $85,695 was awarded by PWA and the balance of $50,739 from WPA. The city has matched the PWA grants with its own contribution of $104,775, or 55% of the cost of projects involved, and is contributing $13,538 against $50,739 on the WPA projects, with a considerable portion of the city's share absorbed by equipment loans and materials. Going back to a year ago it will be remembered voters approved a $98,000 bond issue for electric light system extensions. The city was to get a new diesel generating unit, plant addition to house and repairs on the Bellaire hydro plant. A legal technicality kicked the plan into a cocked hat. The present administration won voter approval of a $70,000 bond issue for the same purpose, obtained $56,690 from PWA and when they're through will present the city with a new diesel generating unit plant, addition to house the unit, new power line from the Charlevoix-Antrim county line to Bellaire, improvements at the Bellaire hydro plant and a warehouse thrown in to boot, all for $28,000 less than the first bond issue. Then they asked the voters for another $36,000 for a city hall and for a cost of $106,000 as compared to the original $98,000, give the citizens of Charlevoix the whole kaboodle. That's not bad management in anyone's language. Some folks may wonder how the city superintendent earns his salary. The easiest way to explain is to point out that the two PWA projects would have cost the city 5% of $191,490 or $9,574.50 for engineering supervision. The superintendent is supervising the projects, so he'll earn his salary for a couple years or more. Could go on and write another column or so about what we're going to get out of the WPA projects which have so far been only mentioned in figures. The Ferry avenue bathing beach is going to top anything in northern Michigan and another just as good will be located on the north side when the matter of site is straightened out. The north side sewer system which summer residents have had a perfect right to complain about is to be put in first class condition. East Park improvements will be completed and a dozen and one other improvements are being made. If it is progressive government, properly administered, that we want, there should be no squawks from anyone.

Ray Cornell, after tobogganing across Bridge street on his back the other day, says the ice is as hard in the middle of the road as it is on the sidewalk.

Would hate to think the conservation department was out-and-out for a one-deer law for Michigan, but it makes a fellow suspicious when they start telling that unsolicited letters received by the department are two to one in favor of such a change. Probably those 222 writers they're talking about are some disgruntled birds who place more value of meat than they do the privilege of bunting even if they don't get anything. Those 222 fellows are but a tiny portion of the army that treks to the woods for deer hunting every fall, and until more express themselves, there's nothing to get excited about. It is encouraging to note that organized sportsmen's groups throughout the state are against any change in the deer laws. The grunters are usually those guys who go onto a farmer's land after pheasants and come off with anything from a white leghorn rooster to a cow.

Never saw any better ice than they're taking out of Lake Charlevoix. It was 10 inches thick when they started and is now around 13 inches and as clear as a bell.

KIWANIS CHILDRENS PARTY FINE AFFAIR

Over 300 Kiddies Were Served Saturday at Methodist Church

The belated Kiwanis Christmas party for Charlevoix kiddies, held Saturday as a Lincoln's birthday affair at the Methodist church, was a happy occasion for over 300 youngsters.

In order to accommodate the large number of children attending, the Kiwanians served the younger group first and the larger children later. To be exact, 302 kiddies were given their dinner and the way food disappeared was something to watch. Bags of candy and nuts were provided for all. It was a question who had the most enjoyment—the kiddies or the Kiwanians whose efforts contributed to the happiness of the youngsters.

The Kiwanis wishes to thank nonmember contributors as follows: Michigan Bakeries, Inc., Ron Ton Bakery, Wood and Martin Creamery, Swift & Co., Northern Creamery Co., E. J. Kibbe, Martin Block, Mrs. Elizabeth Moon, Conservation Department.

POCKETBOOK THEFT LANDS BOYNE YOUTH IN CO. JAIL

Fay Sheldon, 23-year-old Boyne City youth, is serving a sixty-day sentence in the Charlevoix county jail imposed by Justice Gilbert Lindsay after his confession to theft of a pocketbook from Mrs. Jesse Dexter of Boyne City.

Subject:
"The Teachings of Jesus Concerning Satan and Demons"
7:30 Discussion Group:
"Salvation"

Before leaving the teachings of Jesus on the personalities of the Bible we cannot resist the urge to take a look at Satan and his hosts through the eyes of Jesus.

There are plenty of people who discount the reality of Satan. Have they just jumped at a conclusion? Are they afraid, or why? Yet Jesus certainly believed in him. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan says "It is a conspicuous fact that the incarnation resulted, not only in the manifestation of God, and the interpretation of man, but also in the unmasking of Satan." Paul said: "We are not ignorant of his devices." If you do not believe in the Devil come over and we will give you something to think about.

In the evening at 7:30 the Sunday night discussion group will consider "Salvation." We are anxious to get through these preliminary steps so that we can begin in earnest to consider such subjects that make for "Living Religion."

THREE LOCAL PLAYERS ON ALMA FROSH SQUAD

Yearling Team, Best in Years, Has Kirby, Carey and Gallagher

Coach Hank Howe, former mentor at St. Josephs high school, in his first season as freshman coach at Alma College had the good luck to have the best and largest turnout for freshman basketball in the history of the college. Several of the players were all-state selections while in high school while others were outstanding players from their own localities.

His starting five ranks as the outstanding freshman quintet in the state this 1938-39 season with three of the five from the Charlevoix high team of last year which was runner-up in the state finals. They are Tinker Kirby, Danford Gallagher and Keith Carey, who is leading scorer for the games already played. Rex Holmes of Niles, and Sammy Turner, Farmington star of last season complete the starters.

TRAVERSE HOCKEY SEXTET REPEATS VICTORY

Blanked Local Team by 5 to 0 Count at East Park Rink Thursday Night

Traverse City's independent hockey team white washed Charlevoix's sextet by a 5 to 0 count in a return engagement played at East Park rink last Thursday evening.

In a previous game played at Traverse, Charlevoix was defeated by an 8 to 5 count, but Thursday night were unable to score. The visitors' attack was led by Spoore, who scored three goals. Tarchinski and Hemming accounted for the other two.

Despite being nearly washed out by a sleet storm, the contest afforded the spectators plenty of good hockey.

AT THE MOVIES

Shirley Temple's Pet is in Her New Picture

One reason why Shirley Temple will always remember her latest 20th Century-Fox picture, "Just Around The Corner," which opens February 18 at the Palace Theatre, is that it marks the first screen appearance of her favorite pet, "Ching-Ching," a Pekinese.

For over a year now, "Chingy," as everyone calls him, has been a familiar nuisance on the set of every one of Shirley's pictures. On many occasions his asthmatic wheezing has been loud enough to cause the sound man to remonstrate. But regardless of what anyone said, Shirley insisted on having "Chingy" with her at the studio.

Gail Patrick Plays Portia in Law Story

Gail Patrick, who has been called the screen's "most perfect brunette beauty," as well as Hollywood's best-dressed actress, has the biggest dramatic role of her career in Paramount's "Disbarred," a dramatic story of the experiences of a modern Portia. With Otto Kruger and Robert Preston, sharing the limelight with Miss Patrick, the picture will open locally next Wednesday, February 22, at the Palace Theatre.

In "Disbarred," Miss Patrick plays a brilliant young Portia whose career takes an unexpected turn when a disbarred lawyer, played by Kruger, flatters her into accepting a post in the law office of one of his not-yet-disbarred friends. Seeing his chance to use her as a "front," Kruger teaches her his masterful technique

SALES TAX DODGERS FACE STATE ACTION

Delinquent Levies on Sales Must Be Settled in Four Months

The state board of tax administration has placed into effect a new set of rules, designed to smoke out sales tax dodgers.

Merchants delinquent in sales tax payments, if permitted to pay deficiencies in installments, must complete the payments within four months under the new regulations, Chairman Vernon J. Brown said.

"In the past this delinquency business has been handled in a hit-or-miss fashion," Brown asserted. "A field auditor would check up or a merchant and find him far behind in his payments. If the merchant happened to be on the right side of the fence politically the auditor would make an oral agreement with him to clean up the deficiency in small payments.

"The sales tax department never knew anything definite about these agreements. From now on they must be in writing and they must be carried out to the letter."

The sales tax department has about $2,800,000 on the books as delinquent bills receivable. Estimates as to the amount that can be collected from that source range from 10 per cent to 40 per cent. Brown cited one case, an automobile service station, with a stock valued at about $300, owing the state nearly $2,000.

Be It Resolved by the common council of the city of Charlevoix, state of Michigan, that

Whereas it is deemed advisable and for the best interests of the said city that the original estimated project costs of the City Hall and Fire Station, PWA Project No. Mich. 1796-F, be revised in order that sufficient monies may be available for the construction of the project as follows:

1. That the estimated cost of preliminary expenses of $300.00 be paid from general fund.

2. That the architect's fees originally estimated at $1,000.00 be revised to $2,530.00, $1,000.00 of which be paid from general fund and $1,530.00 from the construction account.

3. That legal estimated costs of $200.00 be paid from the general fund.

4. That interest during construction estimated at $1,000.00 to be paid from the construction account as outlined in the original estimate.

The resolution was adopted by the following yea or nay vote: Yea—Cartier, Erber, Hallett, Heise, Hooker, Wood. Nays—none.

Moved by Alderman Cartier, seconded by Alderman Heise that the mayor and clerk be authorized to enter into agreement with P. M. R. R. Co. for electric conduit on their property. Motion carried.

OUTLINE KIWANIS PROGRAM TUESDAY

STATE OFFICERS HERE FOR MEETING LOCAL CLUB

'39 Convention Topic of "Ladies Night" Session with Visitors Present from Northern Districts

Skeleton plans for the 1939 state Kiwanis convention, to be held in Charlevoix on August 31 and September 1 and 2, were outlined at the Kiwanis meeting held Tuesday evening at the Masonic temple.

Forney W. Clement, state secretary-treasurer, indicated that between $1,600 and $1,700 was awarded to the entertaining club for necessary expenses and this, in addition to registration fees of $1.50 for Kiwanians or guests, makes the program financially sound.

A program framework was outlined, evolved through many years of similar conventions, with provisions for flexibility to conform with the entertaining community's resources. Considerable stress was placed on the need of cooperative program with other clubs in districts 8 and 9, also the need of enrolling the aid of the ladies.

Remarks from representatives of the Cheboygan, Petoskey and Traverse City clubs indicated whole-hearted backing. Dr. Christie assured that at least 30 registrations could be expected from Cheboygan.

Tuesday night's meeting was "Ladies night" and in addition to the wives of members and other local guests, visitors included Nels K. Knudsen of Pontiac, district governor; Forney W. Clement of Ann Arbor, state secretary-treasurer; Lacy Sargent, Fred Smith, William Ellis and A. J. Dau of Petoskey; Immediate Past Governor Gladwin Lewis and Kiwanis President Poling and Mrs. Poling of Traverse City; Lieutenant Governor Christie, Mrs. Christie and M. A. Hohlen of Cheboygan.

The dinner was served by the Eastern Star at the Masonic temple. Diet lists were laid on the table in view of the excellence of the courses and service.

TUBERCULOSIS FILMS TO BE SHOWN SCHOOLS

Schedule Starting March 2 Sponsored by Michigan Tuberculosis Asso.

Three tuberculosis films are to be shown to high school groups throughout Charlevoix, Antrim, Emmet and Otsego counties beginning March 2nd and continuing through until March 10th.

The films are sponsored by the Michigan Tuberculosis association with the cooperation of the District Health Department. The schedule for Charlevoix county follows: March 3, Boyne City, 9 a. m.; Charlevoix, 11 a. m. and 1:15 p. m.; St. Mary's school, Charlevoix, 2:30 p. m.; March 6 East Jordan, 9 a. m.

The films are very educational and will be shown to students from the 5th to the 12th grades. Parents are urged to attend if the hour is convenient, for they will find it very worthwhile to learn the newer methods of tuberculosis control.

CHARLEVOIX-DETROIT CLUB TO HAVE PARTY

Annual Get-Together is Scheduled for Friday, March 3rd

A communication from W. A. Carey of Detroit, who is president of the Charlevoix-Detroit club, outlined plans for the annual club party. His communication follows:

"The eighth annual pot luck dinner and party will be held Friday, March 3rd, at 6:30 p. m. at the Highland Park branch of the Y. W. C. A., 13130 Woodward avenue, corner of Winona Ave.

"Bring basket with hot dish, rolls, salad or cake to the kitchen and the committee will take charge of same. Hot coffee will be furnished.

"Get the word along to any Charlevoixites you may know and invite them to come and eat with old friends. There will be a musical program, games and radio program for dancing. The committee is working to make this party the best one yet. Invitations will be mailed out very soon to all whose addresses are on file. However, everyone is invited to come and a hearty welcome is extended to all."

Further information will be made available later if plans are changed to a later date.

WINTER CARNIVAL THURSDAY NIGHT

POSTPONED SUNDAY PROGRAM AT SCHOOL RINK

Conclude Winter Sports Season With Queen's Ball at Gym Tuesday Evening, March 7th

A sleet storm and otherwise unfavorable weather conditions caused postponement Sunday afternoon of a winter sports program planned by the winter sports committee of the Board of Commerce.

The program, under supervision of the WPA recreational staff, will be held Thursday evening at the school grounds skating rink, beginning at 7 o'clock. Events listed for speed skaters include: junior girls under 16 years, girls over 16 years, junior boys under 12 years, boys from 12 to 16 years, boys and men over 16 years. Competition in fancy and figure skating is also listed with prizes for winners in all events.

Miss Estelle Livingston, Charlevoix winter queen, will be honored at a winter sports ball scheduled at the high school gymnasium the evening of Tuesday, March 7th. This event will conclude the winter sports season in Charlevoix.

Invitations have been extended skaters from Petoskey, Harbor Springs, Boyne City and East Jordan to compete in the Thursday night program of speed and fancy skating events.

MAIL PLANE DAMAGED IN LANDING AT ST. JAMES

Its landing geer damaged while alighting on the ice of St. James harbor, Tuesday afternoon, the Charlevoix-Beaver Island mail plane piloted by Rudy Pekrul remained at St. James overnight.

A welding outfit was brought from Traverse City by plane to repair the damage and the ship returned here Wednesday.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Keo Usher

Tuesday was the first day this winter that there was fishing through the ice on Round lake. Probably the latest in a good many years and it must have been that the ice wasn't very thick for there was just one single, solitary fellow out there in the center of the lake. Wednesday was a different story. There were plenty of fishermen and no doubt the sport will continue for a few weeks, anyway.

Editor "I'm sure it an awful ny now."

Assistant Editor "What is the trouble?"

Editor. "I've lost my glasses and I can't look for them until I've found them again."

The district basketball tournament to be held March 2-4 at Boyne City should be a hot session this year. The competing teams, particularly in class C, are probably more evenly matched than in quite a few years. There's little to choose between Charlevoix, Boyne City and East Jordan. No one team stands out above the other to an extent they are considered a cinch to take the title as was the case a year ago when Charlevoix's Red Rayders romped through an undefeated season and carried off the tournament in its class. Pellston, this year campaigning in class C, might prove a dark horse and surprise the faithful

Those boys down at Traverse City sure go after things in a big way, when they start. Just a few days after a campaign was opened to raise funds for the 1939 program of the Chamber of Commerce they had rounded up $10,000 of the $25,000 figure set as the goal.

If folks who spread stories around would keep somewhere near the truth it would save a lot of explaining. Right now the air is full of yarns.

CHARLEVOIX EXHIBIT IS SET FOR CHICAGO SHOW

Don Clothier Promoting Display at National Boat and Sport Event

Charlevoix's participation in the Chicago National Boat and Sport Show, scheduled for February 26 to March 5, inclusive, has been arranged by Don Clothier, owner and operator of the Clothier Trolling Camp, in cooperation with the Charlevoix Board of Commerce.

Mr. Clothier leaves Thursday for Chicago with Charlevoix's exhibit which will be included in the booth of the West Michigan Tourist & Resort association. Charlevoix photographs will be shown and resort advertising materials distributed.

Through Mr. Clothier's efforts Charlevoix was represented at the show last year. The event is the largest and most colorful of its kind staged in the mid-west. It is expected over 300,000 people will attend. Leading boat builders and accessory manufacturers of the United States have displays.

FOREIGN WAR VETERANS SEEKING NAME FOR POST

Contest for School Children Provides Them Chance of Selection

Seeking a name fitting for this community and its location, Charlevoix County Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has inaugurated a contest, giving Charlevoix children an opportunity to select the name.

To the boy or girl submitting the name chosen by the Post, a pair of shoe skates, which are now on display in a store window on Bridge street, will be given.

A circular describing the contest and its purpose has been distributed to all school children. They may write the name they chose on this circular and return same to their teacher before March 23rd, when the contest closes.

The name may be selected from consideration of the beauty and location or from the nature of the organization.

COUNTY STATE BANK REVEALS STEADY PROGRESS

Shows Resources More Than Double Since Reorganization

With the present week marking the completion of the fifth year of its existence, the Charlevoix County State Bank presents interesting figures on its growth since reorganization in 1934.

In an advertisement elsewhere in this issue, resources are listed at $554,699.00, a growth of $329,853.48 or more than double in the five-year period. Local loans and discounts increased from $40,150.00 to $120,000, and local real estate mortgages from $22,418.00 to $120,000, indicating the extent of the institution's participation in financial assistance to the community.

The bank's record of growth is a fine reflection on the efforts of the officers and directors of the institution.

KENTUCKY MISSIONARY TO ADDRESS MEN'S MEETING

Rev. R. Rolland Armstrong, recently returned from missionary work at Hyden, Ky., will be the speaker at a meeting of the Men's Brotherhood at the Methodist church, Thursday evening, at 6:30 o'clock. CLARION MAN IS VICTIM OF AUTO MISHAP

Alfred Eastwood, 32, Died Sunday Night at Charlevoix Hospital

Alfred Eastwood, 32, of Clarion, died at 7 o'clock Sunday night in Charlevoix Hospital of injuries suffered Friday afternoon when his car collided on M-75 between Boyne City and Boyne Falls with a car driven by Edward Pitts, 74, of Boyne City.

Mr. Eastwood received a skull fracture in the crash and never gained consciousness before his death.

Three others were injured in the collision. Miss Georgia Penfold, who suffered a fractured leg and severe shock. She is reported improving at Charlevoix Hospital. Her brother, Cleve, 15, was treated at Boyne City for cuts and bruises and Mr. Pitt suffered minor injuries.

Mr. Eastwood was an employe on a farm near Clarion.

MASONS WINNER EIGHTH GAME CRIBBAGE SERIES

Out-Scored Odd Fellows by 18 Points in Contest Monday Night

The Masons halted the Odd Fellow winning streak in the eighth contest of the annual winter cribbage series Monday night, emerging with an advantage of 18 points to boost their lead to 606 for the series.

With 10½ tables in play, the Masons turned in a team score of 18,902 to 18,884 for the Odd Fellows to produce the smallest winning margin of the series. John Macey led the winners with a score of 943, while Fred Christainsen was the high Odd Fellow with a card of 955.

The ninth and semi-final contest of the 10-game series will be played Monday evening, February 27, at the I.O.O.F. hall.

CHARLEVOIX MARINE CLUB NAMES OFFICERS

Clair S. Webster Chosen Commodore at Annual Meeting Wednesday

At its annual meeting last Wednesday evening, the Charlevoix Marine Club elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

Commodore, Clair S. Webster; vice commodore, James Bellinger, rear commodore, Hollis Drew of East Jordan; secretary, Dr. F. W. Young; treasurer, Henry Partridge.

One of the principal activities of the Marine Club is the staging of the annual Venetian night boat parade, this year to be held during the state Kiwanis convention scheduled for August 31 and September 1 and 2.

CAGE TOURNEY OPENS AT BOYNE MARCH 2ND

Charlevoix Among Class C Schools to Compete at District Event

One of the northern area's district basketball tournaments will be held in the Boyne City gymnasium on March 2, 3, and 4.

Teams eligible for Class C competition are East Jordan, Charlevoix, Harbor Springs, Pellston, and Boyne City. Class D teams will be Mackinaw City, Alanson, Indian River, and Boyne Falls. Officials for this tourney are Robert Cornell and W. M. Loveless of Petoskey.

The tourney should be of especial interest this year as many of the Class C teams are very evenly matched. While Boyne City has held a slight lead during the winter, the difference is so small that almost any of these teams may emerge with the district trophy. Another feature will be the appearance of Sam McClutchey's Indian River outfit. McClutchey presents a first class team with but seven boys in high school.

The winners of the Class C and Class D competition will go to Petoskey for the Regional tourney the following week. Drawings will be held at Boyne City on Thursday, February 23.

JUNIORS TO PRESENT CLASS PLAY

3-ACT COMEDY "THE PATSY" NEXT TUESDAY

High School Students Preparing for Performance to be Given in Gymnasium

Charlevoix high school junior class members are busy in the preparation of their annual class play, the popular 3-act comedy, "The Patsy," to be presented the evening of Tuesday, February 28th, at the school gymnasium.

The play, written by Barrie Conners and produced by special arrangement with Samuel French, is under the direction of Miss Phyllis Hustin, speech and English teacher and class sponsor. The play is claimed to present comedy at its best.

The part of Patricia, or "Patsy," is taken by Louise Young. Other characters are Glen Arvilla, Frances Meggison, Betty Willis, Sidney Clarke, Bill Eccleston, Margery Edwards, Kenneth Wilson and Max White.

Miss Josephine Schurr, language and sewing teacher, is assisting rehearsals and with costumes and make-up. Leota Hutzler is the play prompter.

PRESIDENT'S BALL COMMITTEE REPORTS PROFIT

The financial report of the President's Ball, held at The Argonne the evening of January 30th was released last week by H. O. Wiles, chairman of the ball committee.

The gross receipts were $91.00, Wiles said and the expenses were $26.98. This leaves a balance of $64.02, half of which is to be sent to the infantile paralysis fund and half of which is to remain in the county.

RAYDERS WINNER OVER BOYNE CITY

NOSED OUT CONFERENCE LEADERS IN OVERTIME PLAY

Beat Grayling 32 to 23 Tuesday Night to Gain Second Place! Meet Harbor Here Friday

Charlevoix high school's Red Rayders nosed out Boyne City by a 33 to 31 count in an over time contest here Friday night to atone an earlier defeat and deadlock the northern Michigan class C conference leadership between Boyne and Grayling.

The customary rivalry between the two schools produced a typical Charlevoix-Boyne affray before a crowd of frenzied fans that packed the local gym. The main contest followed a hair-raising preliminary in which Charlevoix's reserves lost 16 to 15 to Boyne's reserves.

Dopsters who placed Charlevoix as the underdog in this second meeting of the two teams appeared right for three periods as the Rayders trailed by a wide margin. Boyne led 12 to 1 at the quarter and were seemingly headed for another victory. Their margin at the half was 16 to 10, but at the third intermission it had narrowed to 3 points with the count standing Boyne 23, Charlevoix 20.

The fourth quarter was a thriller with the advantage changing several times. The combined efforts of Brown, Withers and Pearl, however, produced 11 points to Boyne's 8 and regulation play ended with the count knotted 31-all. Brown's goal in the over time period provided the winning score and ended one of the most interesting basketball contests played here in two years.

The Rayders made good on 5 of 14 chances from the foul line and Boyne tallied 3 out of 8. Charlevoix was charged with 8 personal fouls and Boyne 12.

Brown led the Rayders with 11 points, followed closely by Withers with 10 and Pearl 8. Hosegood was outstanding for Boyne, scoring 20 of their 31 points.

CITY OFFICIALS WILL INSPECT NEW DIESEL

Mayor, Aldermen and Light Plant Employes Go to Toledo, Ohio

Inspection of the new diesel engine under construction at Toledo, Ohio, for the Charlevoix electric light extension program will take a group of city officials on a junket trip Friday.

Making the trip are Mayor Robert Bridge and Aldermen Karl Erher and J. J. Hallett, together with City Superintendent Don Herrick and Forrest Plum, foreman.

The diesel, now ready for tests, is being manufactured by the Rathbun-Jones Mfg. Co., low bidders for the unit.

A conference in Detroit on location of a bathing beach on the north shore of Lake Charlevoix is also scheduled for the city officials making the trip.

IRONTON PIONEER CITIZEN IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Funeral Services Conducted Here Sunday for Hans Jensen

Funeral services for Hans Jensen, pioneer resident of the Ironton district, whose death occurred last Thursday evening, were conducted Sunday afternoon from the See Funeral Home by Rev. G. R. Parker.

Mr. Jensen, a native of Denmark, came to this country 57 years ago and had resided most of that time near Ironton. He is survived by several cousins residing in that district.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

How the Fitzgerald administration is going to rescue the schools, increase old age pensions and perform other heroic acts of financial generosity, while at the same time it effects that much-promised $8,500,000 payroll saving appears now to merit the classification of a first rate miracle.

Six weeks of consistent economy efforts by the governor have achieved some headway, but the goal is still a long ways off.

Senator McCallum of Ann Arbor, who solemnly warned voters last fall that the state deficit was in the neighborhood of $66,000,000 took his legislative colleagues to task the other day by reviewing appropriation demands, already $55,000,000 a year in excess of anticipated revenue, and calling attention to the mounting cost of state institutions. It was a most gloomy talk.

Hospital Additions

The state hospital building program, conceded by everyone to be imperatively needed, will cost $2,000,000 more from the treasury before it is completed. The institutions

WINTER'S STILL HERE—

In Michigan!

Do you know that Michigan offers fine facilities for winter sports . . . that probably no State excels our own as a winter playground? And do you realize the advantages of making this fact more widely recognized?

It will stimulate a growing Michigan industry. It will bring additional money into the State. It will create more jobs for Michigan men and women.

Progress has already been made in this work. Every one should help—you can help by telling your friends about Michigan's Winter Carnivals and centers of winter sport.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company is publishing this advertisement, one of a series, in 250 Michigan newspapers to help gain wider acceptance of Michigan as a great State for the sport that winter brings.

Bolianci had the price of a taxi, or else had decided to spread himself for the evening, for, upon descending to the street, he ordered the doorman to whistle for a cab. "Corliani's," he told the driver, "in the Village."

A startled look sprang into Linnia's eyes, but was quickly, diplomatically, succeeded by a smile. "Corliani's, Bolianci?" she inquired brightly. "Is that a new place?"

Bolianci plumped himself down on one of the small side seats, and lighted a cigarette. "It is a place I have but recently discovered, Miss Cotswell, and the food is most excellent—cooked as only the chefs of my country can cook. I thought perhaps Miss Loring would like a bit of atmosphere—something different from what she has been accustomed to seeing and doing since she has been in New York."

Corliani's was crowded, garish, and shabby and the bare wooden tables were set so closely together that it was almost impossible to wedge a way through them. Sputtering candles, set in wine bottles, furnished the only illumination, and the air was heavy with the stale, accumulated smell of garlic and cigarette smoke.

Mary wondered, during the long, spasmodic serving of the meal, if they were going some place later on, but her speculations as to that were soon brought to an end by Bolianci's saying, a tentative tone in his voice, "The weather, it is execrable. Should we not be happier to remain here for the evening?"

Miss Cotswell, who had scarcely touched her food, replied that perhaps they would, lit a cigarette, and sat back resignedly in her chair. After which, Bolianci divided his attention and his eyes equally between the tawdry floor show and Mary. Once during the evening, he put his hand over Mary's as it lay on the table, caught it to his lips and murmured, "A hand so beautiful it needs no jewels."

Mary hastily withdrew her hand, and the corners of her mouth twitched with amusement as she thought, "Just as well—since I haven't any!"

"You are so right, beautiful lady," Bolianci continued, his voice reminding Mary of the purr of a large Maltese cat. "The lily should never be gilded."

Miss Cotswell caught Bolianci's eye at this moment, and neatly conveyed to him by her expression that his remarks were not altogether to her liking.

Eventually, at eleven o'clock, she rose. "We must be getting home," she said tersely.

Bolianci managed to squeeze into the same seat with the women on the homeward trip in the taxi, and to take advantage of this closeness of the quarters by pressing his shoulder rather too tenderly against Mary's. "He can't be doing it on purpose," Mary told herself. "It's simply that this seat is so narrow."

Miss Cotswell turned abruptly, just as they reached the elevator in her apartment house, and extended her hand to Bolianci in an undeniable farewell. Later, in the privacy of her apartment, she said to her niece, "Umberto was loping right along with us into the lift. No doubt, he intended to come up for a nightcap, but I couldn't stand another moment of his company. Dreadful evening, wasn't it?"

Mary, warming her chilled fingers before the dying fire on the hearth, smiled. "Maybe it was for you, Aunt Linnie. You're so accustomed to nightingale's knees on toast that I can imagine how low-life you consider a place like Corliani's. As for me, however, it was rather fun. Remember, hot chocolate and salted crackers at Bowen's drug store have been the high points in my night life for years! I'd never tasted real Italian food before, and I was even intrigued with some of the rather strange-looking creatures that practically sat in our laps."

For some inexplicable reason, Mary woke at six the next morning. Linnia and Miss Cotswell were, of course, still asleep, and even Addie could not be heard stirring about. The script of "Their Son," which she had tucked away in the bottom drawer of her bureau the day before, sprang to her mind, and with a sudden spurt of energy, she decided that now, in the early hours of this cold morning, with not one sign of life to disturb the calm, was the time to read it over. She could look at it from a fresh viewpoint, and, no doubt, discern in its structure glaring flaws which she had been too weary to notice the day before.

A second later, she settled herself in an armchair before the living room window and began to read "Their Son." It really went rather smoothly, she told herself. The phraseology was perfect; her choice of words, beyond criticism.

"I shan't do another thing to it," she decided. "It's as good as it'll ever be, and it may be far better than I think. I'm going to submit it to Mr. Buchanan today, and it's got to sink or swim." With eager fingers, she slipped it into a large, manila envelope, and, securing Aunt Linnie's fountain pen from the tray of odds and ends on the desk, wrote across its front in large letters, "Mr. Phillip Buchanan, The National Weekly."

She settled herself in an armchair and began to read.

"I'll take it to him myself," she thought, "and if he's not there, just leave it with his secretary. I wish it were later. I don't suppose these editors ever think of rolling into their offices until at least ten. Well, I'll just have to take a long bath, eat a long breakfast, and spend an hour getting dressed. Maybe that'll consume the time between now—and then!"

CHAPTER VI

It was half past ten, and Mary sat with flushed face and icy hands in the reception room of The National Weekly. She had arrived exactly at the stroke of ten, and, after giving her name to the efficient receptionist, had been told that Mr. Buchanan was in, that he was occupied at the moment, and to sit down, please.

Two other persons had now entered the reception room; a good-looking young man with an intense air; a swarthy girl of twenty-five or so. "But I'll be next," Mary told herself excitedly, her hands like blocks of ice beneath their tan suede gloves.

The other callers had disappeared through mysterious doors and Miss Hickenlooper, the secretary, was now speaking through one of the telephones in response to a buzz that had resounded throughout the reception room. "All right, Miss Loring," she said. "Your turn now."

Mary jumped to her feet, dropping her purse as she did so. Miss Hickenlooper raised a supercilious eyebrow. "Your purse, Miss Loring," she said coldly. "And you'd better take your coat with you."

"Hateful woman!" Mary thought, her face suffusing with a deep red. "She probably knows I'm excited."

"To the right please," Miss Hickenlooper was saying. "Office at the end of the corridor."

"Thank you," Mary said coldly and, elevating her chin ever so slightly, stepped through the door that led into the working quarters of The National Weekly.

Offices opened off to the right and left of the long narrow hall but, with eyes straight ahead, she made for the one at the end—the sanctus-sanctorum of the lot—the office of Phillip Buchanan.

She stood in the doorway an instant before the man at the desk became aware of her presence. He was scanning a typed letter, and a deep frown made a furrow between his eyebrows. He looked austere, and Mary, none-too-assured at best, felt increasingly nervous. He was younger than she had expected to find him, perhaps thirty-five, and his hair looked sunburned, as if he had just returned from a fishing trip in Florida, which, indeed, he had.

Suddenly, he glanced up, and seeing her standing there, rose hastily from his chair, a puzzled expression on his face. He was taller than one would have guessed, seeing him sitting down, glaring at that letter. He was as tall as Chris. "Is this—Miss Loring?" he asked, and the fear that he had inspired in her was instantly dispelled. His voice was kind, young—with the faintest trace of a Harvard accent.

She smiled at him. "Yes, I am Mary Loring."

"You took me rather by surprise."

"Oh! But I thought Miss Hickenlooper announced me!"

"She did, of course. I mean that I was hardly prepared for a debutante. 'At Sea' has the wisdom of years in its theme."

"I'm twenty-two," Mary replied, as if that explained everything.

Phillip Buchanan smiled, and his teeth seemed very white because of the contrast they made with the tan of his face. "All of that? Do sit down, Miss Loring. I'm so glad you dropped in. I've wanted to tell you how very much we liked 'At Sea.' It's scheduled for publication April fifteenth."

Mary seated herself in a chair which faced him across the desk, the envelope containing her manuscript held tightly beneath her right arm. "Oh! Not until April?"

"Not until April?" Mr. Buchanan repeated. "Why, that's giving your story an early publication! Don't you know that our material—at least as far as fiction is concerned—is planned months in advance? In fact, we shelved a story we had arranged to publish on that date in order to make room for yours. By the way, have you written anything since you sent us 'At Sea'?"

Mary produced the envelope containing her precious script, and placed it on the desk before him. "Indeed I have, Mr. Buchanan, and here it is. Another short short."

Phillip Buchanan glanced at it, put it on a pile of papers at his left, and then casually lit his cigarette. "That's fine. I'll turn it over to Mr. Johnstone today."

Mary's eyes clouded with disappointment. She had supposed that Mr. Buchanan, himself, would read the story—perhaps this morning while she sat there in his office. "Mr. Johnstone?" she repeated numbly.

Auto Tag Deadline Final Kelly Warns

If the motor vehicles now registered in Michigan are to "get under the wire" by March 1st, the deadline for the purchase of 1939 license plates, or half year permit plates, an average of 50,000 motorists per day will have to purchase their plates after February 16, it is estimated by Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state.

With only ten days left in which to purchase plates, Kelly stresses the fact that Section 6A of Act 279 of the Public Acts of 1937 prohibits any officer or municipality from extending the time to purchase new plates.

The 1939 plates which were placed on sale last October 27th have been selling at the rate of less than 3,000 per day. The total plates sold by the middle of February is estimated at 400,000, with total registrations of 1,558,286.

"It will tax the department to issue 50,000 sets of plates per day, but if the bulk of the applicants come in the last few days, everyone can't be served," Kelly said, adding, "The deadline is March 1st, but if too many people wait for it, it simply won't be possible to handle the business."

Kelly has ordered all branch offices in the metropolitan areas to remain open until 9 p. m. to take care of the last minute buyers.

THOUSANDS OF HUNTERS FAIL TO MAKE REPORT

Conservation Dept. Considering Action as Deadline Passes

What action may be taken against hunters who have failed to send in their 1938 season reports as required by state law is a question now ander consideration in the law enforcement division of the department of conservation.

The deadline for making the reports, as fixed in the statute, was Febraary 15, but thousands of hunters have not yet sent in their cards. The number is even larger than the number who were tardy a year ago, notwithstanding a last minute rush just before the deadline.

Approximutely 80,000 deer and bear hunters and approximately 150,000 small game hunters had met the requirements of the law by the deadline. A year ugo at the same time, however, nearly 100,000 deer and bear hunters and more thun 200,000 small game hunters had reported.

No action was taken last year against hunters who failed to report, but this year's decline in the number who have complied with the law, combined with the importance of the information sought in the reports, is regarded with considerable concern. Under the law, failure to report constitates u misdemeanor the maximum penalty for which is a fine of $100 or a sentence of 60 days, or both.

As explained by game investigators, the purpose in setting up the report system was not to create an annoyance for hunters but to provide a more reliuble and comprehensive method of obtaining information regurding hunting and game conditions throughout the state.

SNOW STORM HALTED HOCKEY GAME THURSDAY NITE

A heavy snow storm halted a hockey game between Charlevoix and Cheboygan at East Park, Thursday night. Weather permitting, the game will be played the night of March 5. Snow fell so fust it was impossible to continue the game after 10 minutes of scoreless play.

GAMBLE STORE OWNER ATTENDS 2-DAY CONVENTION

Ernest D. Robinette, owner of the local Gamble Store agency, returned the latter part of last week from the annual two-day convention of Gamble store managers and owners which was held Febrnary 16 and 17 at the Post Tuvern in Battle Creek.

Police—Not Cossacks

Iron River — A stranger in Iron River this winter might think some Russian Cnssacks had become stranded here. However, the men in the black seal-skin caps are not Cossacks, but officers of the law. Winter is officially recognized here when the chief of police and his officers don the warm, farry headgear.

PHELPS NEWS

A group of young folks were gathered on McElroy's and Ernest Fulting's bill Saturday evening and a very enjoynble time was enjoyed by all attendants.

On uccount of stormy weather the attendance at the Phelps church has lessened, but we hope it will be back to perfect attendance soon.

Many automobiles have been backstopped in their drivewnys on account of large snow drifts.

For pastime on stormy days we children enjoy playing "Chinese Checkers." We have three games.

The eighth graders are reading the story of Rip Van Winkle by Washington Irving. He certainly explains the country and landscapes around the Catskill Mountain region.

On Thursday, Febraary 16th, the recently organized Phelps Community Farm Bureau met for its first regular monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mascho. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Chas. Mascho. The minutes of the organization meeting, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bulch, on Friday, Jaauary 20, were read by the secretary, Mrs. Chas. Mascho. A discussion of certain proposals now before the state legislature resulted in the meeting unanimously favoring a bill appropriating $9,000,000 for rural school aid, a five cent tax on oleomargarine. From this report it is apparent that the purpose of this organization is to keep informed on measures closely connected with the interests of rural communities, und wherever possible to muke our influence felt with the law-muking bodies of our state. After the meeting was adjourned a delicious lunch was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. DeJong, on the second Tuesday of March.—Wm. DeJong, Publicity Chairman.

Charlevoix Township Caucus

Township cuacus for the township of Charlevoix, Charlevoix county, will be held at the Town Hall, Monday, March 6, at 1:30 p. m., for the purpose of nominating township officers for the coming year and term requared by law, and for the transaction of such business as may legally come before the meeting. Oscur Stroud, Township Clerk.—Adv. 8t2.

In Memoriam

4-H Forestry Clubs Active This Winter

The Boyne Falls Forestry clab und the Melrose township group enjoyed a very fine program Tuesday forenoon, February 14. W. Ira Bull, extension forester, Michigan State college, gave an illustrsted lecture on reforestation. By means of colored slides he shows these young forestry members the way in which pine seedlings were developed in the nursery, the various stages of growth, proper locations, und other muterial closely related to reforestation.

Another meeting will be held either in March or April. Then the forepart of May several thousand pine seedlings will actually be set out by the club members. In Boyne Falls great interest has been munifest in the construction of a log cabin to be constructed in the school forest.

Coop. Managers, Board Members to Hold Secood Meeting Tues., Feb. 28

The date for the second meeting in the present series of meetings for officials and managers of the various cooperative agencies, has been set for Tuesday, Febraary 28, in the Dilworth Hotel, Boyne City. It is expected that something like forty folks interested in the development of cooperative marketing will be present. All the agencies in these four or five nearby counties will be represented.

These meetings are sponsored by the Cadillac Growers Exchange and the Michigan State college. Subject matter will include many items of daily interest to cooperative managers. At the present time there are many problems in regard to taxation, employment conditions, and administration, that make these meetings so valuable and profitable to attend.

Jersey Breeders in This District to Meet in Ellsworth March 1st

All Jersey breeders from Grand Traverse, Antrim, Emmet and Charlevoix counties will hold their annual meeting on Wednesday, March 1, beginning at 11:00 a. m. The meeting will be held upstairs in the Ellsworth Co-op. Following a brief session in the forenonn, the group will have a dinner together.

H. E. Dennison, state Jersey field mnn, and probably George Cooper, president of the State Cattle club, will be present. A report will be given concerning the Jersey Parish Show held at last year's county fair. Plans and suggestions will be discussed in preparation for another event. This show has been a feature of the Jersey development in this locality for the last two years. Also, officers will be elected for the new year. It is hoped that Grand Traverse will be interested in the Jersey Parish Show program. We expect every Jersey breeder to attend this meeting. Certainly anyone interested in Jerseys can well afford to take half a day each year to talk about the features of interest to their chosen breed of cattle.
